CANTON CONNECTION

Dance with Yack?

Organizers of the third annual Canton Winter Ball are promising lots of fun this year for a good cause.

"Maybe you will be able to macarena with Canton Supervisor Tom Yack. Maybe not. Anyway, you will enjoy the evening with great food, great people and great music," touts a press release about the event.

Regardless of musical or entertainment preference, you can join an estimated 1,000 other individuals Friday, Jan. 10, at Laurel Manor in Livonia, with money going to help local organizations and student scholarships.

Sponsored by the Canton Community Foundation, the semi-formal annual dinner-dance is the group's largest fund-raiser of the year. The event includes a gourmet meal, open premium bar and music by the Mark Phillips Band. The reception begins at 6:30 p.m. with dinner at 8 p.m. and dancing at 9. The event runs through 1 a.m.

Tickets are $60 for an individual and tables of 10 are available for $600.

Money raised will help fund scholarships to local students and provide grants to local organization projects.

Some of the past year's awards have included: 12 student scholarship and grants to the Canton Community Youth Initiative, the Community Literacy Council, Canton Project Arts and continued support for Canton Family Services.

Call Ellen Tucker at the foundation offices at (313) 981-3002 for information and reservations.

Megastore expands

The company building an auto megastore on the east side of Canton just acquired an established Sterling Heights used auto outlet.

AutoNation USA is building a store on Ford road just east of I-275 which is expected to open next spring. The company just bought the 68,000-square-foot showroom and service facility formerly operated by CarChoice.

AutoNation USA's first store opened in Florida in October 1996, followed in November and December by four stores in Texas. Another 25 sites around the country with projects in excess of $10 billion are planned by the year 2000.

Each store boasts 1,000 reconditioned and warranteed vehicles, an in-store computer to assist buyers, a child-care center and an auto parts and accessories store.

Growth squeezes elementaries

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

Burgeoning growth in Canton has prompted a call for portable classrooms and attendance options in the Plymouth-Canton schools, and sharp comments from some residents concerned about the future of their children's education.

Recommendations for the overcrowding were made recently to the school board by the district's Housing and Facilities Committee.

The committee's proposal would:

- add portable classrooms to both Bentley Elementary School and neighboring Hulsing Elementary.
- allow students in grades K-5 east of Canton Center Road to attend Bentley, and do not allow the enrollment to exceed 665.
- send kindergartners and first-graders west of Canton Center to Hulsing with the following option as space allows: Families can keep siblings together at Hulsing.
- offer an option to parents of the Bentley attendance area with students attending Hulsing in grades two through five to have their children stay at Hulsing.

The changes were suggested because space is so tight at Bentley. One of the two newest schools in the district, Bentley is on Sheldon Road near Proctor.

PLYMOUTH-CANTON SCHOOLS

The plans were drafted independent of a $79.7 million bond issue proposed for the March ballot which, if passed, would finance the building of a new elementary school in southwest Canton.

"If there is a new elementary built, that would certainly solve the problem," said housing committee member John Filios.

More students

Committee members said the geographic area "served by Bentley — which includes students who attend Hulsing — has 696 students. Currently, 58 students attend Hulsing and 638 attend Bentley. It is projected that 160 additional students will live in this attendance area within the next three to five years (400 new homes at .4 students per

Global voyage

Family to leave for trip around the world

■ A family from Canton's Geneva Presbyterian Church is going on what most would only dream about: a sailing trip around the world. They're looking forward to the excitement, but also the tranquility.

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

Around the world: The 45-foot boat Encore will carry the Horst family on their journey.

The best thing about sailing the ocean? "It's peaceful. There's no phones," said Nancy Horst.

"You're away from civilization. You go weeks without reading newspapers or watching TV – just visiting new places," said husband Paul.

And there are the times when schools of playful dolphins swim alongside the boat, leaping out of the water like Sea World performers.

The Horsts, who serve as elders at Geneva Presbyterian Church in Canton, like sailing so much that they're sailing around the world. They're leaving Jan. 27 and won't return until May 1998.

And they're taking their two children with them. Jennifer, 11, will take correspondence classes on the boat and Geoff, who'll finish at Plymouth Salem High in January, will put off college for a year.

To say farewell before the voyage, the family invited friends and neighbors to an open house on a weekend before Christmas at their Plymouth Township home. About 150 showed.

Paul Horst taught sailing as a youth on Higgins Lake. The family bought its first boat in 1977, and for 15 years sailed the Great Lakes. In 1992, they sailed to the eastern Caribbean. Since then, they've cruised extensively from the Virgin Islands to Venezuela and Trinidad.

On their 45-foot boat Encore, the Horsts will join about 55 other sailboats in the Expo '98 Round the World Rally. It is a 16-leg race with entrants from Europe, Mexico, Canada and the United States.

It begins at St. Lucia in the West Indies, continues west through the Panama Canal then to Ecuador.

The fleet then visits the Galapagos Islands, French Polynesia, Tonga and Fiji before reaching Australia and the Great Barrier Reef.

The journey will continue to Bali, then across the Indian Ocean to Mauritius and South Africa then back to Brazil and the Caribbean. It's a 24,000-mile trip.

A typical day involves a radio check-in with other boats, charting courses, a family Bible study, trolling for fish and baking bread. Evenings are divided into three-hour watches when everyone will take their turn at the helm, checking radar, navigating and stargazing.

To relieve boredom during bad weather, the family plays board games. "Nothing that can roll around," Nancy Horst said. "We bake things, that always seems to keep the crew happy."

"We read a lot," Paul Horst added. "On this rally we'll be able to chat on the radio with other boats."

Upon approaching land, it's typical for boys in dinghies to approach boats with vegetables, fruits and other items for sale. At each stop the crew will spend one to two weeks exploring, meeting people, snorkeling and hiking.

Paul Horst retired as president and CEO of industrial computer maker Nematron Corp. in 1995. Nancy Horst, a former elementary teacher, said she plans on doing a comparative religion study on the trip.

Also joining the crew is Ray Fullerton of Whitmore Lake. He intended to sail a new boat in the rally, but delivery delays forced him to cancel that plan. A retired auto engineer, Fullerton has sailed in three Port Huron-to-Mackinaw races and one transatlantic race.

Is such a journey dangerous? The Horsts smile at the question. "On this particular route it's all downwind, the sailing tends to be fairly easy," Paul Horst said.

"I think it's fascinating to get your kids out of the U.S. and see what these cultures are really like," Nancy said. "It's important to see the whole world isn't affluent, the people don't have all these things."

Paul added, "You learn you can live a much simpler life and don't need all the appliances."

One neighborhood says 'no' to cable option

Residents in Embassy Square subdivision south of Saltz between Sheldon and Canton Center most likely will not have the option of subscribing with Americast for cable services.

The new cable carrier has finished installing underground fiber optic lines throughout Canton Township, but reached a snag with residents who don't want cable pedestal boxes cluttering the front yard of their homes.

Typically, easements for public utility is in back yards. The 100-home Embassy Square subdivision was built with public utility easements in front yards.

Representatives from Americast — a subsidiary of Ameritech — met with residents several months ago and agreed to move the public utility to the back yard if there was 100 percent consensus in the neighborhood.

"Only 30 to 40 percent of the homeowners agreed to it," said Sara Snyder, spokesperson for Ameritech.

"The community has been vocal, saying they don't want it there because they already have one (public utility) pedestal in the front and don't want another. I think we're just kind of in limbo," she added.

Sue Folsom, Canton Township engineer, said Americast has fiber optic system installed in three-quarters of the township and that all construction is expected to be com-

Area code change in 1997 is on way

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

By late 1997, folks dialing Plymouth and Canton will be punching in a new area code — 734.

Why the change? "It's explosive telecommunications growth," said Ameritech spokeswoman Marcia Sayles.

Ameritech is trying to give the public plenty of time to get used to the change, and other area code changes planned this year. While the 734 area code will be effective starting Dec. 13, 1997 folks will be able to dial 313 or 734 for seven months, until July, 25 1998.

"The 734 area code will be for a majority of western Wayne County, all of Plymouth and Canton all the way through to Ann Arbor," Sayles said.

More new numbers are needed to serve the growing demand for services including fax machines, pagers, voice mail, cellular phones, computer modems, security systems, automatic teller machines and additional phone lines.

The area code expansion won't alter rates, Ameritech officials say.

The plan was developed by an eight-member Citizen's Advisory Committee and approved by a team of telecommunications industry members representing local telephone companies, long-distance companies, cellular carriers and paging and alarm companies with customers in southeast Michigan.

Ameritech says that over the new year will introduce customers to the 734 area code through advertising, direct mail, the news media, public service announcements and other outreach efforts.

The company also plans to target materials to businesses, residences, school children and senior citizens.

Since 1995, a total of 55 new area codes have been assigned across the United States.

Customers can get answers to their questions about the area code change by calling toll-free 1-800-831-8989.

Communities that will retain the 313 area code are Hamtramck, Highland Park, Dearborn, Dearborn Heights, Detroit, Redford, Lincoln Park, Ecorse, River Rouge, Harper Woods, the Grosse Pointes and part of Livonia.

A 248 area code will go into effect in May for several Oakland County communities, and in portions of northern Washtenaw and Wayne counties including part of Livonia and much of Northville Township.

The number "734," Plymouth and Canton's new area code, was assigned by the North American Numbering Council, the national administrator of area code assignments.

Canton embraces cellular towers

BY ZACHARY GORCHOW

GOVERNMENT

A third cellular communications tower is in the works for Canton.

The Canton Township Board of Trustees will decide Jan. 14 whether to give final approval to a proposed Ameritech tower that would provide expanded service for cellular phone customers.

The tower, which would send and receive cellular phone signals, would be located south of Michigan Avenue and east of DeWitt Road. Other cellular towers are located at Michigan Avenue near Haggerty Road and at the Canton Administrative Building. Plans for a fourth tower also are planned, officials said.

Angela Wolosiewicz, a Canton Township planner, said she expects the board to approve the construction of the tower because it meets all regulatory guidelines for such equipment.

"I have no concerns with (the tower) because it's located within the industrial zone," she said.

Wolosiewicz said the tower also meets the requirement that the tower be set back from all property lines by the same distance as its height.

Canton has welcomed the building of communication towers because the area needs to improve its communication coverage, Wolosiewicz said.

Under the federal Telecommunications Reform Act, municipalities cannot ban cellular towers because of health concerns. Studies done while the Congress was considering the legislation indicated the towers do not pose a health risk to humans living nearby.

In nearby Plymouth Township, some allowable restrictions have been placed on such towers.

Sara Snyder, an Ameritech spokeswoman, said the company's goal is to improve service to its cellular customers.

"We work with communities to meet their zoning ordinances and needs, whatever they might be," she said.

home).

Priorities include "providing stable housing for families, maintaining class size and maximizing the number of students who can walk to school, and providing the opportunity for siblings to attend the same school."

The committee also suggests that students moving into new subdivisions Central Park and Fairways West, south of Cherry Hill and west of Beck, should go to Gallimore Elementary rather than Hulsing.

Enrollment at both Bentley and Hulsing will be provided on a first-come, first-served basis, the report recommends. At the point that enrollment exceeds the target at Bentley, students would be sent to Hulsing. When enrollment exceeds the target at Hulsing, students will be sent to Gallimore.

Reaction to plan

The plan drew plenty of reaction at the school board's last meeting.

Trustee Jack Farrow asked if the proposal means that a student moving into a home whose yard abuts Bentley would potentially have to be bused to another school. The answer was "yes."

Concerning portables, board treasurer Michael Maloney said, "Just because we have used them historically, it isn't a good reason to continue to use them."

Superintendent Charles Little agreed, but said, "I just don't know with all the growth if we can guarantee anything."

Anne Alatalo, media specialist at Bentley, said the school is so crowded that facilities and resources are severely strained.

Lisa Durak of Canton addressed the board about keeping siblings in the same schools.

"My big fear is that every year, we won't know where our kids will go next year," she said. "They will possibly be in three schools. Many people are planning to go to private schools, including the new Catholic school in the fall. You are going to lose people anyway. We are ready to move if the district doesn't handle this."

Bentley parent Judy Bendig asked whether there is any coordination between Canton (township) and the schools. "I don't want to continually wonder what is going to happen in the district because you don't know what is going on with planning.

"There should be some restrictions (on builders) based on space in schools. Your reputation is going to go down as property values go down," she said.

Sending siblings to two schools and two day care centers is a hardship on working parents, she added. "That's the reality of day-to-day life."

Bentley teacher Julie Wilson said the overcrowding affects both education and safety.

"These are endorsements for new buildings," said Little. "Even with the passage of a bond issue in March, we will have two very difficult years."

pleted by mid-summer. Incumbent carrier Continental Cablevision also has been installing its new fiber optics system; it was completed in August.

Continental spokesperson Bill Black said workers will return in the spring to remove the old cable from utility poles and old pedestal boxes.

It has taken approximately one year for the cable companies to complete their construction.

Folsom said it has been a "major undertaking" on behalf of the township, which has acted as mediator because the project has created numerous complaints from residents. By midsummer all construction and renovations should be completed, she said.

Due to the enormous job, Ameritech contracted with at least eight construction companies to complete the fiber-optic work. Some of the laborers did not notify residents before entering backyards where public utility easements are typically located, said Folsom.

Installing the fiber optics involved a process called "directional boring." A pit is dug and the boring extends for three or four houses. Although, several back yards would not be disturbed in the process, cable boxes would have to be installed about every other house, she said.

In several instances, Edison and Continental lines where hit during the boring causing a disruption in their service, she said.

Snyder would not say how many subscribers have signed up with Americast. "For competitive reasons we keep that close to our vest," Snyder said.

Continental issued a press release in August, claiming they have increased subscriber base by 8 percent despite Americast's competition in the marketplace. It also alleged Americast has achieved a penetration rate of less than 7 percent, "a significantly lower number than is necessary to generate any reasonable return on investment."

"We looked at that and don't know how Continental is coming up with their results. We've been more than thrilled with the response," said Snyder.

Ski, skate, sled for winter fun

BY ZACHARY GORCHOW
STAFF WRITER

Sharpen your skates, grease up your sled and break out your ski equipment.

With winter officially under way, area parks and recreation departments are offering a variety of cold weather recreation to local residents, including ice skating, skiing and sledding.

Programs range from family-oriented activities to those that allow older students to have fun without having mom and dad tag along with them.

Canton Township features a family skate night on three outdoor ponds behind the Canton Administration Building, said Bob Dates, Canton Parks and Recreation supervisor.

The area is in Heritage Park, off of South Canton Center Road, between Ford Road and Michigan Avenue.

One pond is for hockey and the others are for open skate.

The ponds get "into the hundreds" of skaters on an evening with good weather, Dates said. Hot chocolate and cookies are served and the event is free to anyone from the area.

"It seems like any family activity here in Canton is very popular," Dates said. "There are so many young families in Canton."

Depending on ice thickness, skating will begin Jan. 23 and run through February.

Bring your own equipment and skates.

Young skiers who aren't old enough to drive or don't have access to a car can make it to the slopes without having to rely on their parents.

Canton Parks and Recreation is sponsoring a weekly bus trip to Alpine Valley Ski Resort in White Lake for students 13 years and older on Friday evenings through February, depending on weather conditions, Dates said.

The bus is usually packed, he said. Area students like the program because local ski clubs primarily ski at Mount Brighton Ski Area, he said.

"A lot of teenagers in this area like to ski and snowboard," he said. "(Alpine Valley's) a different scene, something new."

Students from throughout the area are welcome to participate, with a cost of between $20 to $30 per week depending on whether you rent equipment, which is available at the ski lodge.

Ice skating enthusiasts who prefer the smoothness of an indoor rink to the choppiness of a frozen pond can glide across the ice at the Redford Arena.

Bob Proudfoot, a retired Redford resident, said he began skating regularly after he had a mild heart attack in 1990.

"The best thing I could do was exercise," he said. "So I asked (my doctor) if I could skate — it was something I used to do as a youngster."

Although Proudfoot joked that his hockey days were "long gone," he said he still loves to skate.

"It gets your heart rate up fast and it beats riding a stationary bike — that is so boring," he said.

Nicole Loar, 11, came to the Redford Arena with her fellow Safety Patrol members from Redford Union's Roosevelt Elementary School as part of a pre-winter vacation field trip.

Although some of the students were making their first attempt at ice skating, Loar said she sometimes skates on a rink behind her house. She said she likes skating because of the variety of stunts one can perform, or at least attempt.

"I like all the tricks you can do, like turning and trying to stop," she said.

The arena offers open skating most days through Jan. 5. Skating times vary depending on the day.

For a schedule, call the arena's hotline at 937-2757. The facility is off of Beech Daly Road, between I-96 and Plymouth Road.

Livonia's Eddie Edgar Sports Arena also offers open skating to the public.

Kathy Ortiz, a Canton resident, visited the arena for the first time Monday with her family.

"It seems to be well-situated in a nicer area and better lit," she said. "It looks like the facility is kept neater and cleaner."

The arena's regular open skate times are from 1 p.m. to 2:45 p.m. weekdays, 3 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturdays and 4 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. Sundays.

Some specials that the arena is sponsoring include: a hot dog, pop and skating pass for $2.50 from 1-2:45 p.m. Friday and Jan. 17; a discount skate for $1 from 3-4:30 p.m. Jan. 11; and a family skate for $2 per family from 4-5:30 p.m. Jan. 26.

There is a 5 person limit for each family. Additional skaters must pay an extra 50 cents each.

The arena does not rent skates.

It is near Lyndon and Farmington roads, between Five Mile Road and I-96.

Livonia also has cross-country skiing at three golf courses — Fox Creek Golf Course, Whispering Willows Golf Course and Idyl Wyld Golf Club.

Skiing is open when weather permits. For ski conditions, call 261-2260.

For those who lack the agility to skate or ski without fear of taking a nasty tumble, they can turn to an old fashioned sled to enjoy the season.

In Farmington, sledding is available at "Shiawassee Hill" on Farmington Road just north of Shiawassee Street, said Paul Smith, assistant director of public services.

Andrew and Ryan DeFilipi, 9 and 7, braved a recent cold snap with their dad, Terry, barreling down the thin, crusty layer of snow on Shiawassee Hill.

Ryan said he liked the hill because it allows sledders to catch a little air.

"I like to jump ramps," he said.

Despite the night's subzero windchills, Terry said it would take more than frigid weather to dampen his sons' resolve.

"It's pretty chilly — that won't stop them though," he said.

Smith said the city also is planning to have outdoor skating in City Park when the weather becomes cold enough. Skating will be open daily from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m., weather permitting.

For those who enjoy cross-country skiing, Farmington Hills offers one of the area's more popular courses at Heritage Park. It is a different facility than the Heritage Park in Canton Township.

The park, between 10 and 11 Mile roads off of Farmington Road, has 4 miles of trails with varying terrains, said Andrew Lang, Farmington Hills recreation superintendent.

"The terrain at Heritage Park allows for a change of pace," he said. "It's the complete package for cross-country skiers."

Skiers who need to rent equipment can do so at Heritage Park on weekends from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at cost of $8 for 2 hours and $3 for each additional hour.

Skate, ski at local facilities

Here's a rundown of more places to skate and cross-country ski in the area.

In Plymouth:

The Compuware Arena is opening up its new facility to the public for skating and drop-in hockey.

Skating is from 9:10-11 a.m. and 12:40 p.m. to 2 p.m. Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays and Sundays from 12:40 p.m. to 2 p.m.

Rates are: $4 per person and $2 for children under 4 and for seniors. Skate rental is $2.

Hockey is from 7-8:50 a.m. and noon to 2 p.m. Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

The charge is $7 per player. Goalies can play for free.

The Plymouth Cultural Center Ice Arena has holiday skating times and special rates. Times are:

Carving kings: Artists slide into Plymouth in January to carve their creations of ice.

Ice show approaches

The Plymouth International Ice Sculpture Spectacular that annually attracts more than 500,000 people to the area each January is turning 15 years old this year.

The festival will kick off on Wednesday, Jan 15, and run through Monday, Jan. 20. It's located in an around Plymouth's Kellogg Park.

This year a light show will replace ground fireworks. Also new this year will be a carousel made from not only ice carvings, but also painted wood. Another new feature will be a food concession and warming place set up at the Plymouth Rock Masonic Lodge located near Kellogg Park.

COP CALLS

Domestic violence

Nine domestic violence incidents were reported between 3 p.m. Christmas Eve and midnight Christmas. Officer Lou Stevens said the number of reports was slightly higher than normal.

"During holidays when people are home and drinking it's typical," he said.

Most of the cases were boyfriend-girlfriend disputes and childhood visitation disputes, he said.

Break-ins

■ Two Garden City men were arrested for stealing lumber from a home under construction on the 1000 block of Wildwood. A construction supervisor at a nearby construction site saw a suspicious pickup truck and two men loading lumber in it about 5:45 p.m. Friday. Police stopped the vehicle at Lotz and Ford Road and found the stolen lumber in the bed of the truck.

■ Approximately $2000 worth of jewelry was stolen from a home on the 47000 block of Foxrun about 9 p.m. Christmas day. The burglar set off an alarm, but was able to escape with the jewelry before police arrived. The burglar entered through a kitchen window, apparently set off a motion detector in the foyer, stole the items from an upstairs bedroom and escaped through a doorwall on the main floor, police said.

■ Two televisions and a VCR was stolen from a home on the 1300 block of Heritage sometime between noon Friday and 8 p.m. Saturday. Police said the homeowner returned to the house and discovered a table and chair had been pushed against the front door. A doorwall was left open by the burglar.

Larcenies

A large pizza with pepperoni, ham and mushrooms, valued at $20.12, was stolen from a Hungry Howie delivery person about 1:15 a.m. Saturday. A person on the 42000 block of Barchester ordered the pizza and then, called the restaurant several times complaining about how long it was taking to deliver it. During the third call, the homeowner told a pizza worker, "Never mind your delivery person is here I'll take care of it my way."

■ Approximately $4,900 worth of office equipment was stolen from a construction trailer on the 5800 block of Haggerty about 2:15 p.m. Friday.

Police said the trailer was left unoccupied for about 25 minutes. A witness saw the subject put the items in a red Chevy truck.

Stolen cars

■ A 1986 Chevy Camaro was stolen from the parking lot of The Crossings at Canton apartment complex sometime between 11 p.m. Christmas day and 8:30 a.m. Thursday.

■ A 1986 Oldsmobile Cutlass was stolen sometime between 6 p.m. Friday and 7:30 a.m. Saturday from the Crossings at Canton apartment complex.

Felonious assaults

■ A 25-year-old Canton man was treated by Canton firefighters for head injuries after being hit with a baseball bat several times at a motel on Michigan Avenue 11 p.m. Dec. 24. A fight ensued over a football bet, police said. A 36-year-old man was arrested for the assault.

■ A 21-year-old Canton man suffered minor injuries when he was stabbed behind the ear by an acquaintance at the Sherwood Mobile Home Park on Michigan Avenue about 11:30 p.m. Saturday. The fight apparently was over a woman, who has children by both men, according to the report.

Assault reported

An eight-year-old girl was reportedly assaulted by four older boys who grabbed her sled and threw it into a creek near the Lincolnshire Apartments about 5:30 p.m. Sunday. The girl ran off, but returned a few minutes later to retrieve the sled. One of the boys also returned and pushed the girl in the creek.

Health insurance bills OK'd

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

A compromise package of health insurance bills provided "a positive note" for state Rep. John Jamian as he closed five years in the Michigan Legislature.

"I left tonight knowing that we restored the people's rights regarding health care and insurance providers," said Jamian, R-Bloomfield Township, as the lame-duck Legislature shut down. Jamian, 42, didn't seek reelection.

The Health Insurance Association of America, at blistering odds with Jamian for months over the package, praised Senate efforts to reach a compromise that wouldn't drive up individual health insurance contract price.

"The bill now avoids the significant rate hikes the House-passed legislation may have caused," said HIAA.

Democratic Reps. Sharon Gire of Macomb County and Laura Baird of Okemos called "this bipartisan and historic legislation a win-win situation." Senate majority leader Dick Posthumus, R-Alto, praised it as pro-consumer legislation.

The House on Dec. 11 concurred in Senate amendments to the five bills by overwhelming votes ranging from 101-0 to 96-5. Voting no most often was Rep. David Gubow, D-Huntington Woods. All other area lawmakers voted yes.

Gov. John Engler is expected to sign House Bills 5570-74.

Jamian's first goal was to require insurers to cover "preexisting conditions" of an individual under a group policy. "Preexisting conditions" include such ailments as diabetes, hypertension and heart problems.

His second goal was to allow insurers to exclude an individual buyer from coverage of a preexisting condition for six months.

Critics of health insurers, such as Sen. John Schwarz, R-Battle Creek, accused them of "cherry picking" good risks on which they could make money.

Small business critics of the bills said uninsured people often demanded coverage the day before they were due for an organ transplant.

Jamian said the package, as passed, still calls for full disclosure of information by insurance companies "in plain English" and permits denial of coverage for preexisting conditions only in limited instances.

"The main focus of the legislation is intact," said Jamian, chair of the House Health Policy Committee. "Patients now will have everything they need to make informed decisions about which insurance plans are best for them and their families."

The Michigan Health and Hospital Association gave this outline of the package:

- HB 5572 permits third-party insurers with group policies of more than 50 members to deny coverage for persons with pre-existing conditions for six months if the person had been diagnosed or treated in the previous six months.
- For individual or small group (2-50 members), coverage could be denied for 12 months if treatment for the condition had been received six months before assuming the policy.
- HB 5571 and 5573 prohibit the Blues and health maintenance organizations (HMOs) from excluding coverage for preexisting conditions for persons covered under group policies; but they allow a six-month exclusion for non-group policies if treatment was received six months prior to enrollment.

Health insurers said they have long practiced "guaranteed renewability" of health policies, "and this provision will put that practice into law."

Insurers said the bills "shorten the time insurers can look back in determining preexisting conditions that can be excluded from coverage as well as the time that conditions can be excluded after a policy is in force."

Insurers predicted the limit on excluding preexisting conditions "may require some insurers to raise rates," but won't cause the significant price increases that may have been caused by the original House bills.

Friends group has tips for homeowners with septic tanks

The Friends of the Rouge recently released a fact sheet for the public about septic systems, maintenance and problems that can be caused by those systems.

The report is part of the federally-funded Rouge River Wet Weather Demonstration Project.

Here are excerpts from that tip sheet:

Septic systems are waste water treatment systems that use septic tanks and drain fields to dispose of sewage in the soil. They are typically used in rural or large lot settings where a sanitary sewer is not available.

When a septic system is correctly located, adequately designed, carefully installed and properly managed, it will act as a waste disposal system that is simple, economical, effective, safe and environmentally sensitive, according to the Michigan State University Extension Service.

A septic system is usually made up of a septic tank and a drain field. The septic tank generally is constructed with reinforced concrete, is buried and watertight. This tank receives untreated household waste. The drain field consists of a series of perforated pipes, which distribute the liquid from the septic tank to the surrounding soil.

Even though the best designed and installed system eventually will fail, proper maintenance will ensure a longer lasting waste disposal system.

A failure of a septic system can cause serious problems. Sewage can pond on the ground near the drain field or back up into buildings. Animals and people can become ill from contact with these discharges.

Pollution may enter surface waters and shallow drinking water supplies. In addition to public health concerns, there are costly repair bills to repair or replace the system.

■ Septic tank owners should have their tanks pumped out by a licensed contractor once every two or three years.

How septics work

Waste material from the house enters the septic tank where:

- Heavier solids settle to the bottom and form a sludge layer.
- Lighter wastes such as oil and grease rise to the top and form a scum layer.
- Between these two layers is liquid waste water.

When waste enters the tank, bacteria begin to break down the solid materials. This breakdown reduces solids, but also leaves a residue behind in the tank.

As time passes, this residue builds up, and must be removed to prevent it from entering the drain field and clogging the system. The center liquid layer flows slowly from the tank into the drain field. Perforated pipes allow the liquid to be equally distributed in a gravel-filled disposal field. Once the liquid reaches the disposal field, it soaks into the soil.

The soil acts as the final filter to treat waste received from the septic system.

Maintenance tips

Have your septic tank pumped out by a licensed contractor every two or three years. Have the operator check to make sure a tee or baffle is located on the outlet of the tank. The baffle stops scum from floating into the disposal field.

Check with the health department if you are having problems. They can assist with operation, maintenance and design questions.

Learn the location of your septic tank, drain field and well. Keep a sketch of it handy with your maintenance record for service visits.

Divert other sources of water, like roof drains, house footing drains, and sump pumps to lawn areas away from the septic system. Excessive water floods the system, keeping the soil in the drain field saturated and unable to adequately treat the waste water.

Take leftover hazardous household chemicals to your approved hazardous waste collection center for disposal. Use bleach disinfectants, and toilet bowl cleaners sparingly and in accordance with product labels.

Cut the grass over the disposal field. Shorter grass (about 2 or 3 inches) increases plant activity called evapotranspiration. This process removes nutrients from the disposal field through the root system and increases evaporation.

What not to do

- Don't enter a septic tank. Toxic gases are produced by the natural treatment processes in septic tanks and can kill humans in minutes. Extreme care should be taken when inspecting a septic tank, even when just looking in the lid opening.
- Don't place heavy machinery or vehicles to park over or drive on the drain field.
- Don't plant trees or shrubs on the drain field. Plant roots can damage the system.
- Don't cover the drain field with concrete, asphalt or decks. The area should only have a grass cover.
- Don't overuse a kitchen garbage disposal unit, or add commercial septic tank additives.
- Don't use your toilet like a trash can or poison your septic system and the ground water by pouring harmful chemicals and cleansers down the drain. Harsh chemicals can kill the beneficial bacteria that treat waste water.
- Do not flush coffee grinds, disposable diapers, sanitary napkins, cigarette butts, fat, paper towels, dental floss, kitty litter, tampons, condoms, grease or oil, or hazardous materials, such as paints, thinners, oils, photographic solutions, varnishes, pesticides or old gasoline.

Signs of a failing system

Your system may be failing if you notice one of the following symptoms:

- Sewage backup in drains or toilets.
- Slow flushing toilets, sinks or drains.
- Visible liquid on the surface of the ground near the septic system.
- Lush, green grass over the drain

DIA showcases film and video festival

The 1997 Michigan Student Film and Video Festival will be Saturday, May 3 at the Detroit Film Theatre in the Detroit Institute of Arts.

This festival is the only event of this kind in the United States which showcases productions from children in kindergarten through 12th grade. The major focus of the festival is to positively reinforce children's participation in film and video production.

All entries are awarded with a certificate and medal. Selected winners also receive various special awards including scholarships. The festival is organized by Detroit Area Film and Television (DAFT), a charitable statewide educational association.

The festival is open to K-12 students from Michigan public schools, private schools, cable companies, community service organizations, or can be produced by children independently at home. Students compete in either the elementary, junior or senior levels, depending on their age.

In addition, handicapped children may choose to enter their programs in a special division where they would only compete against other handicapped children of their own age.

The festival is a juried event. Entries cover a wide range of topics and subject maters, styles and techniques--reflecting the unique and creative forces in today's youth.

Student entrants are given the judges' evaluations plus written suggestions on how to improve their production, as an educational support for their growth and development as student media makers. Many past festival winners have gone on to receive great success in the film and video industry, winning Emmys and Academy Awards.

If you are interested in getting more information about this event, would like a workshop presentation on student film/video production, or would like to see the 1996 festival award video, contact festival director, Margaret Culver, Harrison High School, 29995 W. 12 Mile Road, Farmington Hills, 48334 or call (810) 489-3491.

Severe weather focus of poster contest

The Michigan Committee for Severe Weather Awareness is sponsoring a Severe Weather Awareness Poster Contest, open to all students currently enrolled in fourth or fifth grades.

The deadline to enter is Feb. 1, 1997.

Posters must emphasize the importance of being prepared in the event of Michigan severe weather, such as tornadoes, floods, snow storms, severe cold, lightning and thunderstorms, according to contest sponsors.

The first-place winner will receive a $200 U.S. Savings bond; second place will be awarded a $100 U.S. Savings bond; third place will receive a $75 U.S. Savings bond and honorable mention will be awarded a $50 U.S. Savings bond.

Posters must be 15-inches by 20-inches and submitted on quality poster or illustration board. The work must be original and may be in any media with the exception of pencil, chalk, charcoal or glitter. All posters will become the property of the sponsoring organization.

The artist's name, age, grade, home address and telephone number, along with the name, address and telephone number of the student's school, and art instructor (if any), must be attached to the back of the poster on a 3-by-5 index card.

Entries must be postmarked no later than midnight on Feb. 1. To enter, send posters wrapped flat to National Weather Service, 9200 White Lake Road, White Lake, MI 48386.

For further information, contact Gary Campbell at the National Weather Service at (810) 625-3309, ext. 726, or Lori White at the Michigan Association of Insurance Companies at (517) 482-1643.

The Michigan Committee for Severe Weather Awareness was formed in 1991 to coordinate public information efforts regarding flood, tornado and winter safety. The Committee includes representatives from the National Weather Service, Emergency Management Division of the Michigan State Police, Michigan Association of Insurance Companies, Michigan Emergency Management Association, Department of Natural Resources, Michigan Association of Insurance Agents, American Red Cross, Michigan Association of Broadcasters and WDIV-TV in Detroit.

Child safety seats recalled

Kolcraft, a manufacturer of child safety seats, has announced the recall of over 51,400 car seats.

The defective seats have crotch straps which are incorrectly installed.

Models affected are the Travel-About, Plus 5, Plus 4 and certain models of Infant Rider manufactured March 4-April 20, 1996, July 17, 1996, July 25, 1996 and Aug. 19. Also affected are the Kolcraft Travel-About, Plus 5 and Carters Travel 5 (nos. 16833, 13842 and 13852) manufactured May 1-Sept. 30, 1996.

Owners of these seats are instructed to call Kolcraft at 1-800-453-7673 to receive instructions on how to examine the strap retainer for proper installation and how to properly install the clip, if necessary.

Parents are reminded that children under 13 should be properly buckled in the back seat of vehicles with passenger-side air bags. Adult drivers should sit as far back from the air bag as comfortable and practical when driving.

Anyone wishing to receive more information or register a complaint concerning this recall campaign are encouraged to call the Auto Safety Hotline at 1-800-424-9393.

Want to get in shape? S'craft has aerobic workouts

Schoolcraft College is determined to help you look and feel your best with an expanded program of aerobic exercise.

Starting Monday, Jan. 6 participants can begin an eight-week program of three times a week aerobic workouts, with the option of extending it for a second eight weeks in March. The class meets Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. The fee is $74. The second session begins March 10 and extends another eight weeks.

For those not quite so ambitious, a 12-week session meeting twice a week begins at 7:05 p.m., Monday, Feb. 3 or at 9:30 a.m., Tuesday, Feb. 4. A session meeting once a week for 12 weeks begins at 1:10 p.m., Sunday, Feb. 2.

There are also 12-week programs of step aerobics meeting both one and two hours a week and aerobic/weight training, meeting either one or two hours each week. Fees for all classes are $74 with reduced rates for seniors.

For information on physical fitness classes, call 462-4413. Schoolcraft College is located in Livonia at 18600 Haggerty Road between Six and Seven Mile roads just west of I-275.

Crafters can apply now for spring show at Schoolcraft

Crafters of every ilk are encouraged to apply for a spot in the 1997 Spring Craft Show at Schoolcraft College March 8.

The show features about 150 crafters and attracts crowds of more than 2,000. The show is juried, and a limited number of exhibitors are accepted in each category to maintain a balanced representation in each craft. Crafters are asked to submit a photograph of their work with their application if they have not been accepted for a previous show.

The show features all types of handmade crafts including painting, sculpture, pottery, jewelry, textiles, needlework, photography, glass, leather and woodcarving.

The fee for a 12-foot by 12-foot space is $80; a 10-by-10 space costs $55; a 8-by-9 space is $40 and an 8-by-4 hallway space costs $40. Exhibitors who want electricity will be charged $15 for that service.

Applications must be received by Jan. 10. To obtain an application, contact the Department of Marketing and Development at (313) 462-4417.

Martin Luther King Jr. Day observed at Madonna University

Madonna University will cosponsor the second annual Martin Luther King Jr. Observance on Jan. 20. The observance is organized by People of Livonia Addressing Issues of Diversity and there is no charge.

"The purpose of the event is to increase awareness within the community and recognize Martin Luther King's efforts," said Donna Pomerson, chairperson of the observance.

The flashlight observance will begin at 6:30 p.m. from the Civic Center Library, 33000 Civic Center, in Livonia, along Five Mile Road to the Bentley Center Auditorium, 15100 Hubbard. Participants are asked to bring a flashlight.

The program begins at 7 p.m. and includes musical selections performed by high school choral groups and a dramatic recitation by LaRon Williams, an African-American storyteller. Refreshments will be provided after the presentations.

Sr. Martinez, director of Madonna University's office of multicultural affairs and coordinator of Madonna University's participation in the event, said: "Our university had a very large turnout at last year's march. This is our second year sponsoring the event, and I hope to see many students and faculty participating again."

1996'S UNFINISHED BUSINESS

CATCHING UP ON WHAT HAS (NOT) HAPPENED IN THE LAST YEAR:

For a decade, western Wayne County's system of state freeways, county roads and local streets has been deteriorating. Our Leaders in Lansing just aren't embarrassed by it. They would rather boast about "21 tax cuts" than about "21 worst road problems fixed." In the lame-duck session, the Legislature juggled a few million out of the Secretary of State's office for road and bridge work, but it was a fraction of what is needed.

So area cities like Plymouth, Northville and Novi have given up waiting and are voting their own bond issues and taxes to take care of city streets. Townships in western Wayne County are desperately seeking "their" share of county road funds. Lazy Lansing has succeeded in shoving the problem onto the locals.

It is a bad solution, but locally voted taxes may be the only way around the state's political quaking at the "T" word.

The attack is still on against public schools by those who would raid the treasury for "voucher" money. Meanwhile, western Wayne school officials have assigned themselves the daunting task of getting a better deal on school funding. They say Proposal A helped rescue poor school districts in mid-Michigan but put a lid on increases for the former "out-of-formula suburban districts. As their revenues rise 2.7 percent per pupil each year, their built-in expenses for special ed and pensions edge up at 4 to 6 percent. Something has to give.

Keep in mind suburban districts no longer have control over their revenue streams by asking for more local property tax hikes. The state now controls the purse strings.

Officials in 10 western Wayne school districts operate through MAISL, the Metropolitan Association for Improved School Legislation. MAISL clearly must make an alliance with Oakland County school districts and Ann Arbor, which have similar problems.

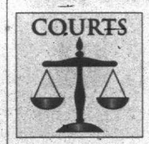
A good sign is that the state House of Representatives will turn over dramatically in 1998 as term limits kick in. New lawmakers are less likely to have the fanatical devotion to tax cuts that have characterized past deterioration of state government.

The state Senate passed one bill to allow a regional property tax for the arts. The House passed a different bill. The differences didn't get resolved before the lame duck session of the Legislature adjourned.

Maybe it's just as well. The truculent Detroit City Council refuses to surrender an inch of political control over the Detroit Institute of Arts, though the city provides only a sliver of DIA's budget. Ditto with the Detroit Zoo, which receives big doses of state funds but remains entirely under Detroit's political thumb.

Suburbanites, for their part, will be unwilling to pump tri-county money into a department of one city's government. Already suburban voters have coughed up more tax money for public transportation, county parks and two downtown stadiums. An arts tax would be a tough sell at any time, under any governance system. But the timing and Detroit's iron political hand make it especially difficult now.

A great opportunity lies ahead for the Big Four – Wayne Executive Ed McNamara, Oakland Executive L. Brooks Patterson, Detroit Mayor Dennis Archer and whoever emerges from the Macomb County brawl.



The big push for "court reform" was precipitated in large part by requests for more judges in western Wayne County, along with Oakland County and the Ypsilanti area. The Engler Administration put a lid on adding ever more judges until judges are better deployed.

As 1996 ended, we were inching toward a single "trial court" system as the circuit and probate courts share more powers. The notion of having a separate criminal court just in Detroit clearly is no longer acceptable to the suburbs.

Meanwhile, State Bar leaders are probing "merit" selection of judges – a potentially vast improvement over blindly picking "name" candidates at the polls.

A good sign is that in 1998 we no longer will see people fresh out of law school winning important judgeships that call for courtroom experience as well as good report cards. State voters amended the constitution to require five years as a licensed lawyer before one can become a judge.

QUESTION:

What issues do you think the Michigan Legislature should address in 1997?

Education problems

The problem with public education, in my opinion, is twofold. First, like almost every institution in our society it is competition-based. The typical argument is that without competition people get lazy and don't work. It is also used as a way to categorize children.

I can't think of a better way than using competition in a learning environment to kill a child's love of real learning. A child begins with an irrepressible sense of curiosity and wonder. Formal schooling, instead of encouraging this, kills it.

The second "great evil" in public education is the grossly biased emphasis on left-brain thinking. We extrude our children through the modern mold of left-brain analytical thinking with complete disregard to their own preferred modes of learning, again robbing them of joy and self-esteem.

The primary purpose of public education is to enable the individual to lead an informed, happy, productive life. This includes preparing them for adult contribution to society (i.e., a job).

At this point, industry is ahead of education in changing its philosophy about learning and working. We are being given more freedom to do things in unique and different ways. Our training (classes) are hands-on, group-oriented, and process-oriented with brainstorming and encouragement to accept all ideas (and to evaluate later). Diversity is important in industry. Companies try to maintain a diverse workforce because they realize that this is the way to get fresh ideas.

Public education fails the child at the most personal level, telling them that they don't know how to think and they are not as good as, or are better than, their peers. It fails the children at the professional level by not giving them the skills that industry looks for.

The kind of radical reform it would take to make public schools work would never be paid for by the public. All the more sad: We are training our children for despair and defeat.

The idea that there is only one right answer for a problem or only one way to learn is a dangerous lie. I wish teachers could get the support they need from parents and administration so they could have small enough classes and enough freedom to do their job the way they know they can and should.

Party time?

On my first reading of the editorial titled "Tis the season for miracles" I assumed the author hit the eggnog a little early and feeling all warm and fuzzy, penned this collection of thoughts and sentences.

On my second reading, after a few shots, I could discern a message coming out; something about believing things will turn out for the better if we continue to believe they will (I think).

Anyway, no matter how much I drank, I could not figure out why the lady wanted to step into the Red Sea before it parted.

Party on, dudes!

Against 3rd code

I am one of the several households in Livonia that will be affected by Ameritech's plans to keep the 313 area code when the company adds a third area code to the city in early 1997. And I, along with my neighbors also affected, am not happy.

Like usual, this is an example of a utility being able to do what it wants. Utilities, in general, are monopolies. Currently, we as citizens do not have a choice where to purchase our natural gas or electricity — or who our local phone carrier is.

Meanwhile, Ameritech is always guaranteed to make a profit, no matter how many area codes they make or how many residents they disturb. Therefore, my neighbors and I believe this matter will not be resolved by Ameritech and we are sitting ducks. There are numerous reasons why we oppose the third area code.

First of all, Ameritech claims that the three area codes are necessary because there are three "central service facilities" in Livonia. Why should this matter to the customers? Because it may be easier for Ameritech's administration, let's make a few customers inconvenienced?

We also don't believe it's fair that we'll have to call the pizza place across Seven Mile Road using a different area code and then a third area code calling our relatives two blocks to the west.

I have a pair of simple solutions. Divide up area codes fairly like a split down a mile road. People on the same side of the block on the same street should have the same area code. Is that too much to ask for?

And if the increase in beepers, cellular phones and fax machines are to blame for using up all the phone numbers, why not make them change their area codes? All beepers will now be 243. All cellular phones will now have the area code 714 (or whatever).

It's not fair to make businesses change their letterhead or categorize residents for the sake of making things simpler for the monopoly ... for Ameritech.

POINTS OF VIEW

Area groups on road to improvement

The Michigan Legislature is stalled over a series of bills to curb urban sprawl. Luckily, local officials, business people and other concerned residents of established communities are not waiting around for whatever state lawmakers finally put together.

They are beefing up the quality of life in our older suburbs, making it more desirable to remain or locate a home or business where culture and services already exist. One important way is by improving our roads, which has become an important benchmark in assessing quality of life.

"At one time, roads were just for traversing through the community," U.S. Rep. Joseph Knollenberg, R-Bloomfield Township, said last week at a ceremony celebrating a new road beautification project spanning Southfield and Oak Park. "We've started looking at our highways as having to be pleasing to the eye and having to provide a better quality of life."

Telegraph and Greenfield roads will be upgraded with walkways, crosswalks, trees, shrubs and colorful wildflowers thanks to $526,000 in federal funds together with $250,000 from the cities of Southfield and Oak Park. The Telegraph project includes the three-mile stretch from I-696 to Eight Mile. Greenfield will undergo 1.3 miles of beautification between Mount Vernon and Eight Mile.

It's probably no coincidence that both projects tie-in to Eight Mile Road. That's because the Eight Mile Boulevard Association has been hard at work since 1993 improving the 27 miles of that road, from I-94 on the East to I-275 on the West — in terms of both beautification and safety.

The road, previously a much-maligned border between Detroit and the suburbs of Oakland and Macomb counties, is showing the results of the cooperation of the 13 communities and three counties along its route.

In its first three years, the Eight Mile association has generated more than $700,000 for improvements through a combination of federal, state, local and private contributions. Their objectives include landscaping the median, reducing litter and blight, improving bus stop facilities, coordinating police enforcement and crime prevention activities and helping developers and brokers attract or expand business establishments.

JUDITH DONER BERNE

Specifically, more than 30 businesses have improved, opened or expanded since 1993, according to Sharlan Douglas, EMBA director. "They've added three-quarters of a million square feet and a thousand jobs." The association has created a Business Advisory Council and an annual Eight Mile Clean Team Day to encourage businesses to clean and spruce up their properties. Working in cooperation with neighborhood groups, they have prevented the expansion of topless bars and closed one bar outright.

And they urged the joint sweeps against prostitution that six police departments and the Wayne County Sheriff's Department conducted this past summer. Next up is creating 24 perennial gardens on the Eight Mile median from Grand River to Vernier at a cost of $400,000. Five are scheduled for this year.

Not to be outdone, the Grand River Corridor Study Group was launched in 1994-95. Redevelopment plans for the sector from Eight Mile to west of Middlebelt in Farmington Hills, attracted about $600,000 in combined state and federal grant money and city funds. Curbs have been replaced, landscaping and lighting improved and blighted property purchased and cleared. Still to come are improvements west of the West River Shopping Center to the Farmington border.

Now plans have just been completed to re-beautify Woodward Avenue, Michigan's major artery. The Woodward Avenue Action Association begins work this spring on a mile-long $93,000 pilot project from Catalpa to Lincoln. Most of the money comes from two state grants.

Long-range, the association is seeking $800,000 to beautify the stretch from Eight Mile to Quarton, says Will Hicks of Beverly Hills, who chairs the Woodward Avenue Action Committee. Beautifying the median is the number one priority, Hicks says. Redesigning parking, urging individual businesses to improve storefronts and assigning more logical addresses are also on the docket. The latter includes changing the name of Hunter to Woodward and Woodward to Old Woodward.

Business owners and officials from Birmingham, Berkley, Royal Oak, Huntington Woods, Pleasant Ridge and Ferndale are united in the effort to improve Woodward, Hicks reports. "It was felt that no other road was such a major representation of Michigan."

Roads are for moving along. It's obvious that many people and communities are involved in making them reasons for staying put as well.

Welcome school changes or face stagnation

BY EDWARD A. SKOLARUS
GUEST COLUMNIST

Leaders of private educational institutions must become aggressive and militant if charter schools, vouchers and schools of choice are to become a reality throughout the United States.

Recycled arguments, emotionalism and lack of rational analysis have hindered and deterred the implementation of this issue. Due to the nature of these institutions, pacificism reigns.

Lack of historical analysis has caused confusion and chaos among educators.

In 1791, freedom of religion guaranteed the right to worship as one chooses without interference from Congress. The Supreme Court has interpreted this amendment as a guarantee of the separation of church and state.

I believe that the founders of this nation, who came to this country to be free from religious oppression, intended this amendment to prohibit Congress from establishing a national religion or church. The archaic decision of the Supreme Court must be reversed if the United States is to maximize the brain power of this country.

In 1868, the 14th Amendment to the Constitution guaranteed "equal protection under the law." In 1896, in the case of Plessy vs. Ferguson, the Supreme Court ruled that separate facilities for different races, as long as they were of equal quality, did not violate the provisions of this amendment.

In 1954, Brown v. Board of Education of Topeka, the Supreme Court declared that separation is inherently unequal and thus gave birth to the Civil Rights movement. It is time for the Supreme Court to re-evaluate the issue of separation of church and state in light of 1996 and the future.

Education segregation exists today throughout the United States whether it be geographic or the economic status of the parents.

Why do we shackle our students to the school bell in the district in which they live? Colleges admit students from other states and countries, but our students are confined.

Handicapped, alternative education and special education students might be able to attain maximum self-esteem and academic excellence if they had the choice to attend schools which specialize in these areas.

Public education has maintained a monopoly on education and now is the time to free parents and students.

Parents pay taxes and should have a voice in how their tax dollars are being spent and whether they choose to send their children to private institutions of learning should be a matter of right not choice. Taxation without representation has been the penalty for choice too long.

Charter schools, vouchers and schools of choice must become a reality if we as a nation wish to continue to be a world power. Educational opportunities must be available to all students regardless of school districts or economics.

Educational achievement and structure are directly proportionate to the greatness of that nation. Time creates changes in our society, but change is feared by people reluctant to change and pursue the status quo. Let us not fear change but welcome change, because without change there is only stagnation and decay.

Edward A. Skolarus is a retired educator.

Cable company should adjust customer survey

If you read a stack of community newspapers, such as this company's, one issue stands out nearly everywhere. Although there are several cable television companies, most articulate folks hate the local cable firm, and for the same reasons.

Once they get the franchise, cable TV companies hike rates faster than inflation. And while people in different towns deal with different cable companies, we tend to cuss them out in the same language.

The thought occurred as I paid my own January cable bill. The notice said the cable company "has adjusted some of its monthly service rates." "Adjusted," my eye. The total bill is up 10 percent. The regulatory fee paid to the Federal Communications Commission is down 20 percent, from 5 cents a month to 4 cents, but the big ticket items are mostly up.

"Standard cable service" is up 12.1 percent to $16.12. Combined broadcast basic and standard service is up 10.3 percent to $26.42. And the addressable converter fee is up 18.9 percent to $2.08. Some "adjustment."

The cable company added insult to injury by enclosing a customer survey. Here are some of the significant questions: "Have you ever spoken with one of our customer service representatives? If so, how would you rate the customer service representatives when you've called or visited our office?

"Have you ever had a technician come to your home for a service call? If yes, how would you rate our repair service?

The survey is a phoney, of course, and designed by the company to make itself look good. Here's what an honest cable TV survey would ask:

■ We are raising our basic service rate 10 percent. Did you get a 10 percent pay raise this year?

■ We are eliminating CICO, the Canadian public channel with its arts and drama programs, and substituting a home shopping channel. Do you approve?

■ What do you think of the way we promote high-price programs such as boxing matches or first-run movies on a pay-per-view basis?

■ What do you think of the increasing number of one-star and two-star movies shown on premium channels? Do you suspect the networks are deliberately reducing their quality to prompt you to buy "pay-per-view" programming?

TIM RICHARD

The cable company's alibi is that "costs" are up. What they hide is the fact that costs have two components – price per unit and the number of units (customers).

For example, suppose the price per unit is $1 and the company has 10,000 customers. Its total cost is $10,000, right?

Now suppose the unit price drops to 90 cents, but the number of customers rises to 12,000 as more homes are wired in. The total cost now is $10,800, an increase, even though the price per unit has dropped. Do you see the little mathematical trick the cable company plays?

Moreover, in this example, the cable company's total costs have risen, but so has its revenue, even if fees stay the same. It serves more than 20 percent more homes. It switches from a commercial-free educational channel to one where it can sell sponsors, so ad revenue rises.

In short, the alibi of a "cost" increase doesn't begin to justify a fee increase that's more than triple the rate of inflation.

Your impulse will be to call your local franchise authority, in either city hall or township hall. Will that do any good? Doubtful, because as I said at the outset, the handful of cable companies operate pretty much the same way.

What to do about it? I'm not certain, but I have this environmental book that I got for Christmas called "A Sand County Almanac." Maybe we all should read more. The price of a library card still is zero.

Tim Richard reports on the local implications of state and regional events.

KAREN MEIER

You can call me foolish optimist

At some point in Peter Ustinov's life he said, "The point of living, and of being an optimist, is to be foolish enough to believe the best is yet to come." I wonder if Mr. Ustinov said that on a day like today, the second of January, the beginning of a brand new year, when hope and uncharted waters and a year full of calendar pages stretched before him.

It'd make perfect sense if he had. It makes perfect sense to me, but then I'm one of those foolish optimistic types he spoke of.

Now, most of us fools know we are fools. Yet others insist on telling us how foolish we are, telling us over and over, getting madder at us at each retelling, and sometimes yelling at us for it. Such is the life of a fool. But beyond that, a foolish optimist is told he is devoid of sense, pain and reality.

The optimist, though, knows considerable pain and reality. It rains down on him, too, in buckets, but somehow he's equipped with a bucket for bailing it out and surviving the deluge. And he works really hard at this effort. The work is back-breaking and heart-wrenching and lonely. And foolish to a whole bunch of passers-by. But for the optimist, it's the only way to survive.

And that part, that it's-the-only-way-to-survive part, I know about.

I tried it the other way; it doesn't work. It's icky. Living on the flip-side of foolish optimism makes me grumpy, vindictive, jealous, bitter. It makes me think mean things about people and life. It makes me suspicious and judgmental of everyone.

When I experimented with this other way of looking at things, I didn't look for the good in people, because that's being optimistic. I looked instead for the evilness residing on the surface and inside people.

And yikes, it was there. And it was pretty easy to see it once I was in that flip-side frame of mind, the frame of mind I was encouraged to

Kids learn music the Kinder way

■ When Jaclyn Niedermeyer hears the Era laundry soap commercial, she knows it's the "1812 Overture," an impressive accomplishment for the 2 1/2-year-old music aficionado.

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

Cheryl Niedermeyer has seen a definite increase in her 2 1/2-year-old daughter Jaclyn's appreciation in music since she began Norma Atwood's Kindermusik program.

"There's an Era commercial where they play the crescendo to the '1812 Overture.' Miss Norma plays that here in class and every time that commercial comes on Jaclyn stops what she's doing and starts dancing," said Niedermeyer of Detroit.

Kindermusik, taught at Arnoldt Williams Music in Canton is a music program for children ages 18 months through 7 years old and their parents. Through singing, moving, listening, playing simple percussion instruments and creative activities, Kindermusik encourages musical instincts and fundamental skills.

Kindermusik was developed in 1976 by Lorna Heyga of North Carolina. Since its inception, the Kindermusik program has grown into an international movement with more than 2,100 teachers in the United States, Canada and 10 other countries.

"She saw the need in the United States for a early childhood development music curriculum," Atwood said. "She saw how advanced the German children were and how there were so many benefits from early childhood music further on down the line."

Heyga brought the program to the United States and redesigned it with colleagues.

"They put it to American folk tunes and developed further programs with it," Atwood said. "Originally it was just a young child program but now we start at 18 months with the beginning program," Atwood said.

Atwood, a Canton resident, heard about the class four years ago while teaching in Farmington Hills.

"I first found out about it in Farmington Hills when I was an early childhood music instructor teaching a curriculum I had developed," she said. "Someone gave me a brochure of Kindermusik. I went to the training and just fell in love with it. It's a marvelous program for little people."

3-stage program

The program is taught in three stages. The classes are one day a week and range from 45 minutes to an hour. The "Kindermusik Beginnings" class, which costs $100 plus materials, is designed for children ages 1 1/2-3 1/2.

"The young classes are for parent and child," Atwood said. "We sing, we dance, we do rhythm instruments, we do finger play and creative movement. We use different types of instruments like the xylophone and the glockenspiel.

"We do a lot of rhythmic activities because what we're trying to do is internalize rhythm into the child, and also tonal patterns which are sung so they can start to hear pitch and they can duplicate it and repeat it and echo it."

Children ages 3 1/2-4 1/2 move on to "Growing With Kindermusik." The children are with Atwood for 45 minutes and then the parents come in for 15 minutes. In that class they learn larger concepts – highs and lows, softs and louds.

"We do a lot of imagination work, pretending that we're forest animals or that we're cats and mice or whatever," Atwood said. "They know that they are these specific animals by the sound of the music, so they can interpret the music and hear it."

The children also work with more of the rhythm instruments and more ensemble type work with rhythm instruments, Atwood added.

The three "Young Child" programs, which like "Growing With Kindermusik is priced at $125 plus materials, come next. During those classes Atwood gets into the more technical aspects of music.

"We get into the theory concepts," Atwood said. "They learn about the music staff. They learn about music notations. They start to read off of music at this age.

"Then we get a glockenspiel and they're reading their notes onto the glockenspiel which is then interpreted onto the keyboard."

They also learn how to hear the music and compose music as a result of their knowledge of the staff and the notes and the placement of the notes on the music staff, she explained.

By the time children graduate from the class, they will have composed a composition and learned how to play it on the glockenspiel and keyboard. They are also into a lot of music appreciation and delve into different cultures around the world.

"We put it to dance, to singing, and to instruments," Atwood said.

Provides reinforcement

Along with teaching the children about music, Kindermusik reinforces the child's self-esteem, according to Atwood.

"It's amazing what comes from these children. The littlest ones come in here and they actually start to rhythmically tap or clap and they actually sing out for us," she said. "It's amazing because some little ones like that are not really vocal yet; they especially aren't that coordinated yet.

"Through the use of the rhythm stick or working with rhythm their confidence and their abilities are strengthened and they become quite the little musicians after awhile."

That's one of the reasons that Kathy Fowler of Plymouth Township enrolled her 3-year-old son Michael in the program. She heard about Kindermusik from her sister.

"They say there's a definite link between this and math," she said. "I think it's great for him to come here. Music is food for your soul. By taking these classes maybe he'll have the confidence that he wouldn't have had otherwise."

Steve Thornburg of Northville sees his 3-year-old son Robbie get up and do things that he normally wouldn't do.

"Like singing, he'll get up and sing in front of people. He does it because it's normal here," he said.

Like Fowler, Thornburg says that the program will help Robbie develop his logical and sequential thought processes.

"I never made that tie to mathematics," he said.

Atwood hopes that the Kindermusik program encourages the children to start music lessons at Arnoldt Williams Music.

"We're trying to develop within the center here a conservatory program so it's basically starting with the early Kindermusik children and building into the piano labs and into the private lessons."

Niedermeyer wants her daughter Jaclyn to be one of those children.

"I'm hoping this is something we can take to the completion," she said. "As an adult, we don't have a lot of outlets. It's my hope that when she's an adult and she comes home from work that she'll come home to play the piano or sing as opposed to going to the bar."

Professional career

Atwood is convinced that she was born singing. She started her professional training at the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston as a special student in voice when she was 8 years old. Two years later she was singing professionally.

Atwood studied at the conservatory until she enrolled in Northeastern University in Boston where she earned a bachelor of arts degree in theater and music. The former Ohio resident has appeared in "The Sound of Music" in Chicago, "No Sex Please. We're British" in Ohio with June Lockhart, and "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" in New York.

Her three daughters have followed in her footsteps – Kim plays the flute and oboe; Karen is a clarinetist; and Karla plays the drums as well as figure skates. Her husband, David, is "totally non-musical but says he's my best critic."

Recently she has cut down on her performances to concentrate on teaching and directing the children's choir at First United Methodist Church in Ann Arbor and the newly formed Rising Star Singers. The singers is an "Up With People"-like program, designed for youths ages 8-18. Auditions will be held from 7-8:30 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 15, at Arnoldt Williams Music, 5701 Canton Center Road, Canton.

"I really enjoy seeing the people around me achieve some success and to see them get out of performance what I always got out of it," Atwood said. "Music has always been my life. It's my passion. I've seen so many people who have worked with teachers who have made it a negative. I was compelled to go out there in the world and say, 'No it's a passion.'

"You have to approach it that way and you have to love what you do. I try to impart this passion and love of it and to really enjoy it. It's a lot of hard work and that's a definite. But there's a lot of joy to be involved with it."

OFFERS AND COUNTER-OFFERS Part 1

The beginning of negotiations is usually the end of many months of hard work for the buyer or seller. The work ahead requires skill in order to maintain a strong position.

Sellers can lose their advantage if they do not counter an offer that a buyer has make. Even if the opening offer is beneath what the seller feels is reasonable, it is advisable for the seller to respond with a slight reduction from the asking price. The most important component in negotiating is good communication.

The best way to handle a low offer is to counter it with definite terms that are favorable to the seller. A counter offer has two advantages: 1) it keeps the buyer interested, and 2) it moves the negotiation forward and gives the buyer the opportunity to submit another offer that the seller is more likely to prefer.

If there is a move in your future, Chris Knight is ready to serve you. Call Chris at Coldwell Banker Schweitzer Real Estate, (313)453-6800.

visit by several who live there.

I visited, but I can't figure out how anyone can live there. Honestly, how can anyone LIVE there? I experimented, and I couldn't do it. I couldn't figure out how to actually LIVE like that, because what I wound up doing was existing. Day to day, going through the hours in rote fashion, forcing myself to believe that the best was not yet to come, that the best may have already happened or worse, that it just never does, ever, that folding clothes and scrubbing the floor and cooking spaghetti and washing the dishes was it and moreover, it meant nothing to anybody.

I forced myself to not be optimistic. It was unbearable. It wasn't living. It was robotic. Robots and machines have no faith, they have no optimism, and that's how I felt in this experiment.

The experiment, the foray into this way of viewing life and living life, was at best unsettling. At worst, the experiment, had I continued it much longer, would have produced a new me, a new me that saw life as joyless and hopeless and faithless and just not worth living.

A life without optimism would be JOYLESS, at least that's what was starting to come out of this whole terrible thing. To not look on the bright side, to not look FOR the bright side particularly when the bright side is next to impossible to see, took the joy right out of everything. Like when Jack wet his pants three times in four hours.

Without optimism that could only be viewed as hideous drudgery, but with a foolish dose of optimism, there could be some joy there, because a 2-year-old was wearing pants that were indeed getting wet which meant he wasn't wearing a diaper which meant he was in the middle of potty training and things could only improve from that point on and the best was yet to come.

Being joyless was terrible, but worse than that, much, much worse, was finding myself teetering on the edge of FAITHLESSNESS during this experiment. That was frightening.

After seeing that, after feeling that, I didn't just kind of go back to my old foolish ways of being an optimist, I RAN back, I leaped back. It was a leap back into faith.

Being an optimist is inextricably tied up with looking towards the future, towards the things yet to come, towards possibly good things, possibly amazing things, yet to come. That's where faith comes in, because that's all we have where the future's concerned.

Oh sure, machines prognosticate and predict and prophesy and forecast what lies ahead given current statistics and current gigabytes of data, but what does a faithless, soulless machine really know about things like miracles, or acts of God, or the strength of the human spirit?

Nothing.

So I ran back. I'm back now, just in time for the new year. I'm optimistic. I'm foolish. And I believe the best is yet to come.

Happy New Year to you all!

For more information, call the church at (313) 721-4801.

Interfaith marriage is focus of workshop

Intercultural or interfaith marriages often represent incredible challenges for all members of the families involved ... from the couple themselves who must adjust to spiritual and cultural changes to their parents who must deal with feelings of disappointment, confusion, even denial, and children who grow up sometimes torn between two very different families.

Too often these families lack the support they need to help them bring harmony to their relationships and form respect for all members of their extended families.

The Birmingham Temple is offering an intercultural marriage workshop, "Making Intermarriage Work," 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 25, to address issues pertaining to such relationships and provide an enlightening and provocative time for those who attend.

The workshop will examine the issues of personal identity, raising children, developing a shared philosophy of life and celebrating two cultures as well as such community issues as resources and interest groups.

An annual event at the temple since 1983, the sessions have resulted in the formation of a ongoing forum in which to share ideas, offer support, socialize and listen to speakers.

The workshop registration fee is $15 and includes lunch.

To register or for more information about the workshop or forum, call Judy Schneider at (810) 541-7034 or the Birmingham Temple at (810) 477-1410.

The Birmingham Temple is at 28611 W. 12 Mile Road, Farmington Hills.

Madonna VP national group's president

The Catholic Coalition on Preaching has elected the Rev. Francis S. Tebbe as president.

Tebbe is vice president for planning and mission effectiveness at Madonna University in Livonia.

Established in 1990, the CCOP consists of 13 national organizations or institutions with a deep interest in the continuing development of Catholic preaching.

The CCOP's primary goal is to support and enhance effective preaching in the Catholic Church.

At this same meeting the group reaffirmed its commitment to the goal and voted to restructure the CCOP with a governing board, an executive committee and officers.

Tebbe will also serve as chair of its newly established governing board and executive committee. A member of the CCOP steering committee since 1990, Tebbe has assisted in planning the organization's biannual convention on Catholic preaching.

He is also president of the National Organization of Continuing Education for Roman Catholic Clergy.

In his role at Madonna University, Tebbe chairs the institutional committee on planning and mission, directing campus-wide planning initiatives and enhancement of the university's mission.

He is also the self-study coordinator and chairperson of the steering committee for Madonna University's continued accreditation by the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools.

Tebbe earned a doctor of ministry degree from Andover Newton Theological School in Massachusetts, a master's degree in education from Boston College and a master's a divinity from St. Leonard School of Theology.

Prior to joining Madonna University in 1993, he was associate director for the Institute for Church life and director of the Sabbatical Program for Church Leaders at the University of Notre Dame.

Madonna University, which will celebrate its 50th anniversary in 1997, offers associate and bachelor degrees in more than 50 professional areas of study and awards master's degrees in the diverse areas of business, education, hospice, health services administration and nursing.

SPOTLIGHT ON: TAX STRATEGIES & FINANCIAL MATTERS
by Pat J. Paige CPA

CLIMBING THE LADDER

One of the strategies that investors can use when purchasing certificates of deposit (CDs) is a technique known as "laddering." It involves choosing different maturity dates so that the CDs mature in a staggered manner. This way, if rates drop, only a part of the total investment in CDs need be invested at the lower rate. By the time the next set of CDs matures, rates could be up again. Thus, laddering enables investors to keep their investments fluid and at the same time, protects against investing all funds allocated for CD purchase at once if rates are low. Laddered investment can also be used as a regular source of income. As they come due, the funds can be used to meet living expenses. With proper planning, these cash infusions can be used as regular income, thereby avoiding the necessity of selling off other investments that would continue to produce income, such as stocks, long-term bonds, and mutual funds.

Deciding which stocks are the right investment for you has everything to do with how long you intend to hold on to the stock before cashing it in.

Our professionals at PAIGE & COMPANY, P.C. have the ability to help you achieve your financial planning objectives. Let our years of experience and training work for you. MEDICAL BRIEFS

Accreditation announced

The American Institute of Ultrasound in Medicine's Ultrasound Practice Accreditation Commission recently announced that the Division of Maternal Fetal Medicine/Oakwood Healthcare System is one of the first ultrasound practices nationwide to achieve accreditation in obstetrics and gynecologic ultrasound.

The Division of Maternal Fetal Medicine, under the directions of Drs. George Kazzi, M.D., David Moses, M.D., and Michael Bork, D.O., has achieved accreditation in recognition that their practice has met voluntary standards set by the diagnostic ultrasound profession. The entire practice was reviewed including the practice's personnel, the physical facilities, the documentation, storage and record-keeping practices, policies and procedures, quality assurance and how the practice meets AIUM's standards.

The division successfully completed the application process for OB/GYN Ultrasound Practice Accreditation and was awarded accreditation in this area for three years. "This is an example of the culmination of hard work and commitment to perinatal care. We have a team of perinatologists, nurses and ultrasound sonographers who are committed to the overall quality care of women in childbearing years," said Moses.

Well managed

Crain's Detroit Business has named the Epilepsy Center of Michigan a winner in its seventh annual "Best-Managed Nonprofit" contest. The announcement was made in a recent edition of the weekly business publication.

The Epilepsy Center was a winner in the category of nonprofit organizations with budgets under $3 million. Nonprofit organizations in Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Washtenaw and Livingston counties are eligible for the contest.

"This is incredible news," said Arlene Gorelick, executive director of the center. "We are elated to have the work we do for people affected by epilepsy recognized in this manner."

Organizations that enter the contest are evaluated in the following areas, according to Ruth Benedict at Crain's Detroit Business:

- overall financial health and diversity of funding sources;
- effectiveness and efficiency of management, board, staff and volunteers;
- evidence of agreement between the organization's stated purpose, mission and goals and its actions;
- innovation and problem-solving;
- and use of diverse resources (from money and volunteers to in-kind gifts, training and technology).

Judges cited the center's strategic management and courageous changes, including the transferring of medical services to the Detroit-based Henry Ford Health System, as noteworthy. They also praised center efforts in legislative advocacy, noting a successful campaign to block a repeal of the state's motorcycle helmet law.

Founded in 1948, the center is the state's only nonprofit organization focusing solely on epilepsy. Epilepsy is a disorder of the brain characterized by a tendency to have recurrent seizures. A seizure is caused by an unusually large burst of electrical energy within the brain. More than 90,000 people in Michigan have the disorder.

Empowering parents

A peer-led educational program for parents of children with hemophilia and other bleeding disorders is being launched at Children's Hospital of Michigan and more than 20 hemophilia treatment centers nationwide. Parents Empowering Parents is a peer program developed by the hemophilia treatment center at Children's Hospital through an educational grant from Bayer Corp. The program promotes effective parenting skills while focusing on the unique challenges faced by parents of children with bleeding disorders. Ten weekly sessions are presented to parents by parents of children with bleeding disorders, in tandem with a social worker and a nurse.

The program was developed by Danna Merritt, MSW, a social worker at the Regional Comprehensive Hemophilia Diagnostic and Treatment Center at Children's Hospital, and by Dr. Sandra Joseph, director of the MapleTree Counseling Center in Livonia. It was piloted at Children's Hospital more than a year ago.

Following the course, social workers, nurses and parents from 23 hemophilia treatment centers across the country spent three days at a training seminar held last May in San Antonio, Texas. They studied the process-oriented program with Merritt and Joseph before bringing it back to their centers.

Hospital programs aim to help seniors stay healthy

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
SPECIAL WRITER

Nearly a decade ago the medical community noted the advancing age of the population. As a result, more and more hospitals began instituting programs like ElderMed at Botsford General Hospital and CareLink at St. Mary Hospital to address the health needs and issues of those age 50 and over. Benefits of membership vary but all aim to enhance general health and well being. The best part- membership is free.

"ElderMed is part of a committment to the community to improve health," said ElderMed manager Sandy Baumann.

"Research has showed that when people have supportive help in their life, they live longer. ElderMed produces social activities, lectures on health care, a monthly newsletter, outreach programs, screenings, and walking clubs at Laurel Park Place and Livonia Mall.

"It's a way to expand their social network, and the stimulation and socialization is something to look forward to," said Baumann of Livonia.

In 1988, Eldermed at Botsford began with a few members. Today, seniors enrolled in the program number more than 24,000. The 1994 recipient of the State of Michigan Older Learners Award in the mental/physical health category, ElderMed takes a different approach in programming activities for its members. Among the upcoming events are a lecture dealing with forgiveness and anger by the hospital chaplain, and two trips to Alaska on Princess Cruise Lines in July and August.

A monthly luncheon with speaker gives members the chance to expand their horizons as well. On Friday, Jan. 10 a Detroit Institute of Arts docent will give a tour of the great masterpieces in the museum's collection after a 12:30 p.m. lunch at Vladimir's in Farmington Hills. The cost, including lunch, is $8 for ElderMed members, $9 for nonmembers. To register call (810) 471-8020.

"This is a member driven organization. We survey members once a year for their likes and dislikes and the types of programs they'd like to have in the future. Because of my own background, I taught chemistry at Madonna University, I come at programming from an educational angle instead of a medical."

Promoting Fitness

CareLink, a St. Mary Hospital program for adults 55 and over, co-sponsors a walking program at Wonderland Mall in Livonia which allows members to walk in climate-controlled comfort without worrying about slipping on snow and ice in winter or being deluged by rain in spring and summer. As part of membership in the Wonder Walkers, blood pressure screenings are offered 8-10 a.m. on the second Monday of the month at the information desk.

"We're always encouraging them to exercise. There are security guards to ensure their safety. All they need to do is register," said Marianne Simancek, St. Mary Hospital health education and wellness program coordinator.

"CareLink is really a very unique program to meet the educational needs and problems of a certain population. The goal is to help a person's health and well being. We offer financial planning and health education programs."

A pharmacy discount of 10 percent on most purchases at the Fairlane Pharmacy in the Marian Professional Building is part of CareLink membership benefits as are a variety of health education programs and classes, a physicians referral service, and a newsletter.

To stress the importance of mental and heart healthiness, CareLink, in cooperation with the American Heart Association, will present "HealthScore '97: Fit in Fitness" 1-3 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 4 in St. Mary's Auditorium. Co-sponsored by the American Heart Association, the seminar's focus is to help seniors fit fitness in their lives. To register call 1-800-494-1650.

"We'll be offering fitness assesment and different exercises, strategies to get started and maintain and exercise program," said Simancek.

At Garden City Hospital, the name of the 50 and over program is Growing, Caring, Healthy Senior Club. Membership benefits include discounts on hospital services and a monthly luncheon during spring, summer and fall with speakers which include physicians and hospital personnel. The Senior Club also co-sponsors the Westland Walkers at Westland Shopping Center. Speakers including Karen Parsell, manager of the hospital's Sleep Disorder Center, discuss current health issues such as the myth that seniors need less sleep. Time to resolve to become a healthier you

BY LAURIE HUMPHREY
STAFF WRITER

Now that the new year is here, it's time to make those life-altering resolutions – no swearing, more reading, more family time, and the ever popular, better health.

For some, better health could mean a change in eating habits. For others, better health could mean more exercise. According to Michael Guerra, physician assistant at Oakwood Canton Health Center, better health should mean both.

There is no easy way to lose weight, explained Guerra, although people keep trying.

"People often want the magic bullet," he said, citing the relatively new Redux pill. "But experience has shown me that most people will be disappointed in the long run.

"Dieting is not effective if you don't modify a person's behavior."

Julie Carrigan, chief clinical dietitian at St. Mary's Hospital in Livonia, offers these tips to keep in mind when trying to lose weight.

- Eat breakfast.
  "You need to eat breakfast because the metabolism stays at a resting rate until the first meal of the day. "Even though you can be up for six hours, your metabolism is still sleeping until you eat something."
- Everything in moderation.
  "To cut way back will cause the metabolism to slow down dramatically.
  "Even (cooking) oil can be used if it's in moderation"
- Exercise.
  "Do anything that gets the heart rate up."
  "Walking is just as good as running," she said, adding "but weight-lifting won't work."
- Concentrate on overall well-being and health.
  "Concentrate on inches, not pounds" she said because once people start exercising, they may gain weight from increased muscle mass. Muscle weighs more than fat.
- Don't give up.
  "If you fall off the wagon for a day or two, that's only a day or two in a lifetime of healthy habits."

According to Guerra, "body weight loss is metabolically a challenge." It is a challenge that some people can't overcome because they set unrealistic goals.

"People choose a regimen of exercise that is not realistic for them," said the 11-year practitioner. "They have to chose a regimen that they can commit to long-term."

For those who are not already in fair health, Guerra suggests just a brisk walk. For those needing a little more activity, he suggests aerobics, or something that works the cardiovascular system.

"In order to burn fat calories, you need aerobic activity," like treadmills, rowing machines, cross-country skiing machines.

In terms of use, Guerra explained that it is much better to have moderate resistance and use the machine for longer than to have a higher level of resistance for only 10 or 15 minutes.

"If they can commit to 20 minutes, four times a week, they're doing good."

One fallacy Guerra hopes to squelch is the belief that people who skip meals will lose weight faster and keep it off.

"People seem to think that skipping meals and fasting is a good way to lose weight, but it is one of the first things people should eliminate from their plan."

He recommends "gradual weight loss" and encourages people not to give up if they don't see results immediately.

"It takes an excess of 400 calories per day in a week to gain 1 pound," he said. "If it takes that long to gain one pound, it takes that long to lose it."

For those who fall from the routine, Guerra warns against giving up. He said people should try again or else "they often feel bad and eat more."

Drinking a lot of water is one trick to help stay on a weight-loss course.

"Water makes you feel full more prematurely, although, it does not add anything metabolically," he said.

To help people stick to a course for better health, St. Mary's offers a Healthy Eating Program called Life Steps, a 10-week course. A free orientation session will be held in mid-January. People should call (313) 655-8660 for more information.

"We're coming up on the busiest time," said Carrigan, because there are new people joining the course as well as those who refuse to quit trying.

Good home page requires content that changes

EMORY DANIELS

O&E ONLINE

You've heard of team teaching? Why not team writing?

My colleague Barry Jensen in today's At Home section is completing a two-part series on doing your own Web page. (Part One ran in At Home on Thursday Dec. 26.) It's a broad subject, so I thought I'd collaborate. So when you are done with this column, read Barry's, or vice versa.

To have your own home page on the Internet, you hopefully will have content on it and will change that content from time to time. So let me talk about preparing content for the Web site Barry will help you construct.

A Web site document, like a page, is nothing more than a text document – ASCII text, that is. If you prepare your home page documents using word processor software, make sure you use your "save as" option and save it as text file. ASCII DOS text is best, if available.

Web documents also can be prepared on a standard text editor, like "notepad" in Windows or "Simple Text" in MAC land.

Personally, I think it's best to learn to prepare hypertext documents or home pages using a text editor and doing all your commands by hand. The discipline of doing so provides the understanding and knowledge that later will allow you to proof your work and find errors faster when things go wrong.

If you write your content using a word processor, in all likelihood there will be elements that will be foreign to Unix and will not be recognized when introduced. When you upload a document for your Web site and find odd characters like little squares or apple-like icons, what you see is the result of Unix trying to handle foreign markup code.

For instance, Unix may not know what to do with the bullets your word processor produces. So while still in your word processing software, do a search and replace and replace all bullets with asterisks (*), double hyphens (--) or whatever substitute you choose.

The same is true with paragraph marks your word processor generates. Select the "show codes" option and determine what symbol your processor uses for paragraphs. Replace that symbol with . The process is cumbersome, another reason why I think it's best for beginners to start with a text editor, then all you have to worry about is inserting paragraph  marks.

As Barry indicates in his columns, most hyper text markup language (html) codes require beginning and ending elements. Examples of such pairs are: <h1>, </h1> (heads); , (bold face); , (italic); , (part of href statement for linking); , . Some coding does not, such as , (hard return), and <hr> (horizontal rule). You learn by doing because the absence of a required ending element will cause visible and obvious results.

There's a lot of advanced coding to learn that has to do with tables, frames, background colors, Java applications, etc. But get the nuts and bolts down first and do it well before moving on.

Some of the Web page and document creation software will let create tables, frames or other advance features with a click and point. Once you know the basics, take advantage of any feature your software provides.

All hypertext documents that use standard convention, like home pages, begin and end with <html><body> and </html></body>. This knowledge plus using  for paragraphs and  for hard returns is enough to get by with.

Get a hold of a listing of html codes (available at several online sites or any standard text on Web authoring), and you are off to the races. When you name your document, keep the name short, simple, descriptive and use the extension .htm or .html, such as index.htm or archive.html.

Any hypertext document you generate, or any home page you create with or without Barry's help must make it from your hard-drive to your online directory. Next week's column will talk about how to use FTP to upload Web documents and place them online.

To edit a document once it is uploaded, O&E Onliners will use Telnet. Viewing, of course, will be done with a browser so you will be employing three pieces of Internet software in the process. Or, you also can make your changes offline, upload it again with FTP, and place it. Whatever works best for you.

The third piece in my series will be what to do once you've have mastered Barry's instructions and have a home page in place. How do others learn of its existence?

No. 1 1996 story: Sheila Taormina winning the gold

Ring out the old, bring out the new?
Not quite so fast, guys.
1996 had some epic moments that this scribe would like to share with you one last time.
It was a year to remember, for sure.
Here are my top eight golden moments as Livonia-Westland Sports Editor:

BRAD EMONS

1. Olympic gold medalist Sheila Taormina: We should all know the story by now.
July 25 . . . Atlanta, Ga. . . . Olympic Games . . . longshot to make the finals for the U.S. women's 800-meter freestyle relay team . . . swims fastest split (2:00.57) . . . Swims third leg and helps U.S. win gold medal by beating favored Germans while setting Olympic and American records . . . meets President Clinton and daughter Chelsea . . . Instant celebrity . . . Not bad for 27-year-old in her last hurrah.
On Monday night, Livonian Sheila Taormina, former Stevenson High standout and University of Georgia star, had some quality time to herself.
She was in her new house, eating ice cream and watching a movie with a friend.
She's been on a whirlwind schedule since her Olympic gold medal moment.
It started with an elaborate Livonia City Hall celebration and it hasn't stopped since.
"My schedule was really hectic in September and October," Taormina said. "Sometimes I make 10 to 15 appearances a week. I can't count how many I've had."
Taormina is back at her full-time job at Northern Engraving, but she also has another full-time gig _ speaking engagements at schools, swim clinics, nursing homes, auctions, charity events, open-houses, homecomings — you name it.
"Things are quieting down a little, I do appearances mostly on the weekends now," she said. "I work a full day and then visit places. Some days I'm really exhausted. I don't get home until 11 at night."
Taormina has traveled all over the country — the White House, Georgia, Idaho, Phoenix and New York.
But despite the numerous demands on her time, she feels a special obligation to reach out.
"I visited a girl in the hospital who has leukemia and that hit close to home," Taormina said. "It reminds me I don't have it so bad, and that most of the little things I get upset over are very small in comparison.
"Once I get to an event, I see what other people are doing to help others and it touches my heart. I'm impressed with their energy because they're doing things on their own time as well."
A New Year's resolution for the Olympic Gold Medalist?
"I've been focused so much on running around that I've missed church a lot," she said. "I need that closeness with God."

2. John Buffington, cyclist: Amazing guy.
The 43-year-old Livonian was only one of 10 finishers in the Race Across America, a gruelling 2,905-mile bike ride from Irvine, Calif. to Savannah, Ga. But the ex-Purdue footballer did it in 9 days, 23 hours and 3 minutes.
He's now back on the job at Office Depot.
Quite a feat.

3. Livonia Stevenson, state Class A boys soccer champions: Coach Walt Barrett gained his second title by pulling one out of the hat as the Spartans defeated Troy, 2-1, in overtime, on a goal by Mark Dietrich to win the coveted crown.
Many thought the 19-2-1 Spartans didn't have a chance after losing five Division I scholarship players from the year before.

4. Western Lakes football: Does anybody doubt how strong this league really is anymore?
Walled Lake Western won the Class AA title by surprising Sterling Heights Stevenson, 34-18.
Ironically, Westland John Glenn, the WLAA champion, beat Western twice during the regular season (28-17 and 24-0). The 11-1 Rockets lost to Sterling Heights Stevenson in the semifinals, 17-7, after two tough playoff wins over Redford Catholic Central (15-14) and Dearborn Fordson (22-8).
And then there was Farmington Hills Harrison, which finished 11-2, losing to Rockford, 24-17 in the state Class A finals.

5. Wayne Memorial boys basketball: What a run the Zebras made, becoming the first Observerland team to reach the semifinals since Redford Bishop Borgess did it in 1988 with Parish Hickman, Dwayne Kelley and Shawn Respert.
Wayne, behind the playmaking of Lorenzo Guess, the long-range bombing of Jameel Wooden and the rebounding of Richard Johnson, scored some dramatic wins, including a tough district triumph over Belleville.
The run stopped at the Breslin Center when Southfield-Lathrup rallied in the final quarter for a 77-67 victory. All in all, a great year at 23-3.

6. Anne Aristeo, state champion swimmer: The senior from Livonia Stevenson won two individual state crowns and was a member of the first-place 200-meter freestyle relay squad along with Jordyn Godfroid, Marti McKenzie and Adrienne Turri.
Aristeo set a state record in the 500 freestyle (4:48.67) and broke an Eastern Michigan pool mark in the 200 freestyle (1:49.41).
All told, Aristeo finished her prep career with six individual state titles, a slew of league records and a whole lot of respect.
Aristeo is headed to Stanford University.

7. Lorenzo Guess signs with MSU: He kept them Guessing right until the final moment.
Many thought he was going to be a Wolverine basketballer, but the 6-foot-3, 190-pound two-sport star will get a crack as a quarterback under the guidance of Nick Saban at Michigan State.
Wayne Memorial hasn't seen an athlete of his stature since Pat Sheridan.
If anybody can play and excel at two sports at the big-time college level, it's Guess.
Tom Izzo has to be smiling, too.

8. Madonna University volleyball: The Lady Crusaders made their third NAIA nationals appearance in four years led by the play of four-year performers Kelly McCausland (Redford Union) and Julie Martin (Livonia Stevenson).
Under the guidance of coach Jerry Abraham, Madonna finished with a school-record 52 wins (against only six losses).
In the NAIA Nationals earlier this month in San Diego, Calif., Madonna went 2-2 in pool play, bumped out by the national champion (BYU-Hawaii) and runner-up Point Loma Nazarene (Calif.), the host school. Quite a tough pool.
McCausland earned first-team NAIA All-American honors, while Martin was selected to the third team.

Lady Ocelots capture classic

Engel MVP as SC gains tourney title

Redford Thurston's Kristi Engel took MVP honors Saturday as host Schoolcraft College won its own holiday women's basketball classic with an 80-76 victory over Lakeland (Ohio).

The win improves the Lady Ocelots' overall record to 8-3.

Engel, a 5-foot-11 sophomore, had a team-high 21 points in the victory.

Three others scored in double figures including 5-6 forward Julie Schmidt (15), who was also named to the All-Tournament team; Sheila Coulter (12) and Theresa Cooper (11).

Crissy Harmon (Walled Lake Central) also contributed nine.

Engel was instrumental on both ends, coming up with a total of 14 steals in two games, including a first-round 67-33 victory Friday over George Brown (Ontario).

"Since high school Kristi has improved game-by-game," Schoolcraft coach Ed Kavanaugh said. "She's taking the ball to the basket, shooting 60 percent from the field and playing strong defense."

Schoolcraft played even (33-all) throughout the first half with Lakeland, a team that was 25-4 a year ago.

The Lady Ocelots put the clamps on sharpshooter Lakisha Price, who scored just six first-half points.

Price, however, finished with a game-high 32 points. (She made the All-Tourney team along with teammate Candy Williams, Georgia Risnita of Windsor and Triesha Hylton of George Brown.)

"We changed up our defenses," Kavanaugh said. "We went half-court from a man-to-man. We made some key stops and scored at key times."

Schmidt finished with 16 rebounds and seven assists. Engel added 12 rebounds and blocked three shots.

"Julie guarded their best player, and had two great games," said Kavanaugh. "She was close to double figures in rebounds both games."

Against George Brown, Christine Edwards paced the Lady Ocelots in scoring with 16 points. Engel finished with a unique triple-double — 15 points, 12 rebounds and 10 steals.

Schmidt added nine boards. AlanaCaver had nine points, six steals and five assists. Harmon contributed nine points.

In the other first-round game Friday, Lakeland advanced with a 75-61 win over the University of Windsor. In the consolation final Saturday, Windsor topped George Brown, 54-33.

The Ocelots travel this weekend to Ontario for the Seneca Classic before opening Eastern Conference action Wednesday, Jan. 8 at home against Delta.

Schoolcraft is favored to win the conference this year after finishing second behind St. Clair CC last season.

"This was a big win for us," Kavanaugh said of the Lakeland conquest. "I think we're improving each time out. We've played a tough schedule and we've faced a number of ranked teams."

Owens Tech seizes crown from S'craft

If only coach Greg Thomas had another five minutes in his championship game Saturday.

The Schoolcraft men's basketball coach switched to a zone defense in the second half, but the Ocelots' comeback fell short as Owens Tech of Toledo, Ohio won the SC Holiday Classic with an 81-71 victory.

Trailing 46-31 at intermission, Thomas went with his head instead of his heart.

"I think if we had played zone earlier we would have been in better shape," said Thomas, whose team fell to 4-7 on the year. "I should have taken the advice of some other coaches in our conference. I thought we could run with them and I should have gone zone to slow them down."

SC, which lost by 17 in an earlier meeting with Owens, outscored the perennial JC power 40-35 in the second half.

"We were right there (in the second half) and then we missed a couple of shots here and there, I got a technical and all the sudden we were down six points," Thomas said.

Naron Burks, a 6-foot-1 freshman guard from Willow Run, and 6-6 sophomore forward Naron Burks of River Rouge, scored 20 and 15, respectively.

Both were named to the All-Tournament team.

Tymon Marshall added 11 points and 12 rebounds, while Dwaun Warmack dished out seven assists.

Antoine Jones and C.J. Captain scored 18 and 15, respectively, to lead Owens Tech. Captain was also named to the All-Tourney squad along with Concordia College's Jim Balow, a 6-5 freshman from Livonia Stevenson, and Rodney Hampton of Lakeland (Ohio).

Tournament MVP Wesley Lamb of Owens Tech was held to six points by SC.

SC opened tourney play Friday with an 81-73 triumph over Lakeland as Warmack and Reeves each poured in 20 points. Marshall added 12 points and eight rebounds, while Burks chipped in with 10 points and 12 rebounds.

Guard Pete Males (Garden City) had six assists and eight points.

Tim Robinson led Lakeland with a game-high 22.

"It was a good tourney for us and we played well," Thomas said. "I thought we outplayed Lakeland throughout because we didn't let down. We went at them inside and outside."

In the other first-round game, Owens held off Concordia, 87-77.

Lakeland took the consolation game with a 68-60 win over Concordia.

Crusaders earn split

MEN'S HOOPS

The Madonna University men's basketball team lived and died by the three-point shot last weekend at the Findlay (Ohio) College Tournament.

Madonna split a pair of games to come home before the New Year with a 4-12 record.

Spalding College made 12-of-22 shots from three-point range on Saturday en route to an 86-72 win over the Crusaders. On Sunday, Madonna made 15-34 from three-point range and used balanced scoring to roll past St. Mary's College, 103-69.

Madonna had a better shooting percentage than Spalding, finishing at 48.3 percent (29-60). Spalding was 30-68 for a 44.1 percent clip.

Kristian Magro scored 26 points and grabbed a game-high 17 rebounds for Madonna. Brandon Slone added 21 points and eight rebounds. and Mike Maryanski contributed 12 points.

The Crusaders struggled at the free throw line, making only 9-17. Spalding had a 35-34 rebounding edge.

The Crusaders committed 17 turnovers to Spalding's 12.

Four Crusaders scored in double figures on Sunday, led by Maryanski with 27 and Magro with 24. Slone added 18 points and Christian Emert 13. Emert also had 11 assists, most going to either Magro or Maryanski.

Maryanski was 10-14 from the floor while Magro made 10-16 shots.

Maryanski was 7-10 from three-point range and Emert 3-6.

Magro led the rebounders with eight.

Shamrock trainer does more than tape ankles

Trainer extraordinaire: David Broz played at Ball State.

BY STEVE KOWALSKI
STAFF WRITER

Chris Young, Detroit Catholic Central's 6-foot-10 junior center, received an elbow in the chops one day during a preseason practice.

Sensing a fat lip coming on, Young looked around, rather helplessly.

You see, the blow came from David Broz, a 6-10 former basketball player at Ball State University who happens to be the CC trainer. Broz had received similar treatment from Young a few trips earlier down the court.

An incident like this will make Young grow up in a hurry.

"David was pushing Chris pretty vigorously and Chris boinked him in the ear with his elbow," recalled CC assistant coach John Mulroy. "About two or three trips later, David let him know who's boss, kind of like the old Gordie Howe stories. There was a low rumble that started about David's tennis shoes. I don't think anyone in the gym thought he was kidding."

Now, Broz is far from a Bill Laimbeer type.

While his primary job is to tape and ice players' injuries, it's an added bonus that he can suit up and practice. Broz scrimmages with the Shamrocks and even participates in some of their drills.

Funny, but Young probably appreciates him as much as anyone.

"He's shown me a lot of moves," Young said.

Broz is also there to offer encouragement, like the night he spent a good 15 minutes talking to star guard Marc McDonald after CC's loss to Orchard Lake St. Mary's.

Broz assists other sports at CC, but he stops short of lacing up the skates for hockey coach Gordie St. John.

"People who are champions learn from their mistakes," said Broz, explaining what he said to McDonald, who has signed with Loyola (Ill.). "I enjoy the competitiveness of sports, have played Division I and would like to help by passing that knowledge along."

Seeing Broz on the sidelines next to Mulroy and head coach Rick Coratti, the first thing opponents must think is how fortunate they are that he isn't playing.

At 24, Broz is still young enough to pass for a player.

"Either that or a coach," Broz said. "I've been given every title except trainer, which is fine because as a trainer I consider myself an extension of the team."

Broz came to CC from MedHealth shortly after the start of football season. That's when Coratti, a defensive coordinator with the CC football

Chargers take 1st

■ VOLLEYBALL

Livonia Churchill put together a 4-0-2 record Saturday en route to the Ypsilanti Lincoln Invitational volleyball tournament title.

The Chargers, now 6-0-2 on the year, split their first two matches in pool play — Monroe St. Mary's (12-15, 15-13) and Warren Woods Tower (15-2, 7-15).

In their other two pool play matches, Churchill defeated Walled Lake Western (15-2, 15-1) and Novi (15-10, 15-3) to reach the elimination round.

In the semifinals, Churchill ousted host Lincoln (15-5, 15-3) and won the crown with a win over Monroe St. Mary's (15-13, 15-10).

Megan McGinty, who came up with some key blocks in the championship game versus St. Mary's, was Churchill's top hitter on the day with 28 kills.

Lori Leszczynski was next with 27 followed by Amanda Eszes (20), Lisa Fabirkiewicz (12) and Jessica Sherman (10).

"We had very nice balance and scoring," Churchill coach Mike Hughes said. "It was very competitive volleyball. We hadn't faced Warren Woods Tower in a couple of years — they were very quick. It was a nice day for us."

Defensively, Danielle Sockolosky led in digs with 22, while Andrea Will contributed 18.

team, met him.

Imagine the kind of defensive end he'd make.

"We've always had outstanding trainers," said Coratti, noting that the tradition started after he gave up training on a part-time basis. "but having David is just like having another coach. He knows his training stuff, is great with the kids and so insightful."

Mulroy couldn't stop thinking of basketball when he first saw Broz at a football game.

"I showed up one day for the DePorres game and here's this big rascal blocking out the sun," Mulroy said. "I asked somebody 'Who's that assistant coach?' Somebody said 'That's the trainer.' "

Every other player in the CC program needs a step ladder to cover Young, so at 6-10, Mulroy said Broz was going to suit up at practice even if he couldn't walk and chew gum at the same time.

He is far from that.

The son of a coach from Westchester, Ill., Broz started four seasons at BSU from 1990-94. Broz was a member of the Mid-American Conference all-freshman team and an academic All-America honorable mention selection before his career ended.

The Cardinals reached both the NCAA Tournament and the National Invitational Tournament in Broz's four years.

Broz played at Proviso East High School. East's big rival was West, which incredibly had current NBA players Michael Finley, Sherrell Ford and Donnie Boyce in its lineup during Broz's playing days.

"Even if he had never seen a basketball, he was going in there to bang Chris Young," Mulroy said. "He's a coach's son who really is steep in his knowledge of basketball. He can see things that really are pretty specific, not like 'Oops, that's real bad' or 'Hey, that's real good.' "

Injuries actually led to Broz changing his major from communications to sports medicine as a sophomore at BSU. Broz suffered two dislocated shoulders and underwent one knee surgery at BSU, helping him get to know the trainers pretty well.

Before long, he was taking classes with them. He took his current job after finishing a two-year commitment at BSU in the training field.

"I'm in it for the kids," Broz said. "I love it here. This is a great group of guys and coaches here at CC and I'm really enjoying my time."

Good taste involves selectivity

NAOMI STONE LEVY

Is it possible to legislate good taste? Who becomes the authority? I'd like to think I have the answer, but that is arguable. What would make me right and my neighbor wrong? Having set out the questions, let's examine some replies.

I may be stirring up a huge argument as a very longstanding member of the American Institute of Interior Designers when I state that in my opinion, that membership doesn't entitle one to claim good taste. I have viewed some of my cohorts' completed interiors that I thought were appalling. I repeat the thought: Who is the authority? Surely, not me!

My definition of truly good taste expects discrimination. Selectivity is an important ingredient. As an amateur or a professional you must discriminate. You cannot use everything you see that you like, even though each item of itself may be tasteful. Too much gives way to the famous "Less is more," and I say that advisedly.

Fabrics, furniture, lamps and accessories should never compete for attention. If a very strong printed fabric is used that has a multitude of colors, the accompanying fabrics should play "second fiddle," as in a symphony orchestra. They must blend with the primary fabric to resonate good taste.

Furniture is another case in point. Overloading a small room with ponderous pieces should never occur. Likewise, it is just as incorrect to have everything tiny in scale in a large room, having no focal point. This, again, is where you must discriminate. Good taste will tell when you have reached correct proportions.

Lamps should never dominate an interior. They can beautifully blend with other components. And, heaven forbid, the lamp shades should ever overpower the lamp. Haven't you driven by a home and seen in a picture window a huge lamp with an overdraped shade? Not good taste!

Accessories are an integral part of any design. Some can be small; others quite large, such as a piece of sculpture on a stand. Depending on the background of the room, add complimentary pieces of pewter, brass, glass or pottery. If you have a wonderful pitcher, it would be in good taste as an accessory, but don't overload any room with too many bits and pieces. Not good taste!

How does anyone know who has displayed that elusive and singular and mesmerizing talent? I have to allow you to make the final judgment for yourself.

You can leave Naomi Stone Levy a message dialing (313) 953-2047 on a touch-tone phone, then her mailbox number, 1897.

JOE GAGNON

A few days ago while doing a radio show I mentioned that there was a list in one of the newspapers which had names of companies and products that could cure many homeowner problems. The list contains local and national phone numbers that every consumer should have at their disposal and was written by America's Master Handyman, Glenn Haege.

The minute I mentioned this name on my talk show, my producer whispered in my ear that I couldn't do that and in most cases that is true. On my radio show things prove to be a little different than those that have to do with issues. This is a consumer help and awareness program, which management at WJR gives me free rein to do, with one thought in mind: help the radio listening audience.

This newspaper you are reading today does much the same. It doesn't object to my telling you that the article written (mentioned above) was in the News and Free Press on Dec. 21. It is the object I'm sure, that journalism, whether it be in print, for the eye or for the ear should always focus on the betterment of each individual's knowledge.

The relationship between this writer and The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers is one of admiration on my part. What began a year and a half ago has extended from how to maintain your refrigerator to many articles dealing with consumerism and a few trifles from my personal life.

The editor of this column has not interfered in what I write for you the reader, and out of that comes a feeling of trust that I enjoy immensely.

I believe that this newspaper has gotten to know me just as you have and from the comments I receive from many of your who read this column, I feel very proud of what I do. To be able to say columnist after my name is quite a thing for a fellow raised in the northern wilds of Canada.

Of the many seminars I do annually, there is one coming up on Jan. 15 that I feel very humble in being invited to speak.

The Livonia Town Hall is going into its 34th year of bringing a series of lectures into their community with world renown speakers on different subjects.

The list of past speakers such as Dan Rather, Barbara Walters, David Niven and so many others is quite intimidating to this washer repair man. I'm sitting here looking at the list and saying to myself, "this must be a joke."

Then again, I wonder how many of these famous people ever realized how little they knew about the service industry when they were having an appliance repaired in their home. Maybe I should invite all of them to return as part of the audience this year, if not, then I hope to see you there.

Many times when doing seminars I am asked about the automotive repair industry which, quite honestly, I can't answer. In the past three weeks I have met three gentlemen who have started just recently a business that will help consumers with repair questions on their vehicles. I have spent a lot of time checking out these three chaps to make sure they are not fly-by-night artists.

I am about to venture into unknown territory to bring you knowledge that makes you a more aware consumer.

I hope that 1997 will be a better year for all of you, and I intend to play a small role in that effort, thanks to this newspaper. Happy New Year to all from the Appliance Doctor.

Joe Gagnon, the Appliance Doctor, will answer your questions about maintaining and repairing large appliances. Gagnon is president of Carmack Appliances in Garden City and does a weekly radio program on WJR-AM. He is author of "First Aid from the Appliance Doctor," available at area bookstores.

It's your move: Time to pare down

By Marilyn Attenson
Special Writer

Even though I'm an interior designer, and am able to think through the logistics of good design, I often must make the same design decisions for myself as everyone else does. For instance, our recent move from a grand old house to a lovely smaller place. The scenario goes like this:

What do I give up? New space is smaller. Ceilings are lower. I like all my armoires. Do I give up this vase? Is it worth something? What will Aunt Matilda think of me if she doesn't see her vase? Look at this bowl. It was a wedding gift. Been in its box for 30 years. Grandfather clock must move. I'll fix it eventually. It is my dining room table. I don't care if it's bigger than the dining room!

All who have moved have gone through this tortuous process of what to move and not move. We have flippantly labeled this agonizing process "paring down."

It is agonizing because most people don't think about incorporating their furnishings in their new place until they have moved into their new place. They don't think of the total move, only each part of the moving process.

Don't forget: You decided to move because you wanted change. Paring down isn't just to clean the basement and garage. It is a selection process.

What to move? Where will you place the armoire, clock, piano, punch bowl? Do you have any room measurements of your new place? Did you do any floor plans? Do you know how much storage space you'll have?

Because people are still emotionally involved in the space they are moving from, not the space they are moving to, they don't bother to gather the right information, and agonize over "possession decisions."

But, no one has to give up anything. You need to choose what you want to move with you, based on your new space's size and shape. What are your decorating plans? What ambiance do you want in your new space?

I just finished paring down. We moved from a very comfortable home to a half-the-size condo. If I couldn't place the possession in the new condo, it didn't make the move.

We chose to move because we wanted an easy lifestyle. With the latter in mind at all times, we went through all furnishings and possessions with the following criteria: We had to really want to still own it. If one of us didn't "just love it," the item didn't make the move; the item had to enhance an area or be a usable object that would complement our lifestyle. All possessions had to have a reason for living with us.

We weren't giving up anything. We were editing our furnishings and accouterments for our new life in our future home.

The value of the item, or who gave it to us, didn't enter into the discussion. Size, shape, where and how were continuously discussed. Our new decor was always part of the conversation. Each item was tagged designating its new place – we were already in the process of moving. It went very well. Somehow, we knew it would.

Make '97 a giving year: Help others

By Lisa Luckow-Healy
Special Writer

On Aug. 31, 1995, my life changed forever. It was the night I lost my 18-year-old brother, Mark, to an automobile accident. My family and I were devastated.

Acquaintances passing the funeral home that week told us they thought a celebrity had died because so many people were going in to pay their respects. The funeral itself was reminiscent of a movie scene with the dozens of caring friends and family converging upon the burial site.

Since that horrible night, my family and I have had many long hours to reflect upon our past, present and future.

Losing a loved one has a profound impact on your life. It makes you realize that all the daily activities, rushing to school, planning your life around a client dinner party, worrying about a forthcoming business transaction or holding a grudge mean absolutely nothing without the love and support of family and friends.

As a family, we've repeatedly reminded each other not to dwell on the "should have, would have, could have" phrases, because nothing is going to change the past.

But the memory of Mark that lives on within all his family and friends has been an inspiration to reach out and touch the lives of others in need of help and support – to make a difference in someone else's life by putting that individual first.

With the New Year just begun, ask yourself and your family how you can combine your love and support through volunteer efforts. There are hundreds of volunteer organizations throughout Michigan and the United States that depend on volunteers like you not only during the holidays but the whole year through.

Ways to help

One such organization is Lighthouse of Oakland County, a non-profit that assists low-income individuals with emergencies. Students, families and church organizations are some of the volunteers reaching out to the Lighthouse.

"One local corporation brings their entire staff to Lighthouse at Thanksgiving to help prepare meals for needy families," said Noreen Keating, president, Lighthouse of Oakland County.

"If corporations can do it, more families can, too, by getting involved as part of their child's school community service project. A local man and his child work with the Comerica Bank Trust office in Birmingham to gather the soft drink can returnables on a monthly basis, turn the cans in for their deposit and submit that money to us to help others."

Sheila Clemons-Steger, manager of development services, Make-A-Wish Foundation of Michigan, said there are numerous ways families can help her organization grant wishes to children with life-threatening illnesses.

"Our new program, called 'Kids for Wish Kids,' is a community service project many schools are tailoring to their needs," she said.

"Basically, students in grades K-12 can participate by working together to raise money to grant a wish for a child in their area. The program teaches students how to focus on individuals other than themselves by demonstrating how they can pool their resources to make a difference in a seriously ill child's life."

"Kids for Wish Kids" is a program that promotes team-building between the students and their families.

"Parents can foster the spirit of giving in their children while encouraging other members of the student body to participate and tackle the awesome responsibility of making another child's wish possible," Clemons-Steger said.

Paint the Town is an organization that selects a community in the city of Detroit and in its surrounding satellite cities to send volunteers to paint homes and perform general repairs. This widespread volunteer effort takes place in mid-August.

"Students in Cub Scouts come out with their parents to lend a hand and receive merit badge credit for their participation," said James Jackson, loan administration, Standard Federal Bank in Troy, a corporate sponsor of Paint the Town.

"The young people who volunteer with their families, many of whom are employees of companies who support the organization, are exposed to community service at an early age."

The Lighthouse of Oakland County, Make-A-Wish Foundation of Michigan and Paint the Town are just a few of the hundreds of local and national organizations looking for volunteers like you to help make 1997 a giving year.

Renovation removes barriers in house

By Linda Ann Chomin
Special Writer

When Irv and Marge Rabideau decided to convert their one-story home on Lake Oakland into a 3,500-square-foot dream home, they knew the first floor must be readily accessible to Marge's 86-year-old mother, Margaret DeMarke. Margaret had hip replacement surgery in 1984 and presently walks with the aid of a cane. A barrier-free floor plan was a must.

Previously, the Rabideaus owned a spacious 5,600-square-foot house in Detroit's Palmer Woods, so moving from an 18-room residence to 900 square feet in Waterford Township was unacceptable.

"We had that spaciousness we didn't want to lose. Because lake property is difficult to acquire, we decided to tear down and rebuild. We wanted a view of the lake from as many rooms as possible," said Irv Rabideau, formerly a librarian at Madonna University in Livonia.

The first step was to contact Michael Trautman, a Bloomfield Township architect who specializes in barrier-free design. As part of Albert Kahn's staff in the early 1970s, Trautman worked on Children's Hospital in Detroit. Since then he has designed homes for paraplegics, clients with closed head injuries and quadriplegics in wheelchairs. Trautman took the Rabideaus' asbestos-sided cape cod and turned it into a multi-gabled home that was readily accessible to Margaret.

After their first meeting in March 1994, work began one year later to remove existing architectural barriers and demolish about one-half of the house built in 1950. Only the shell and footings of the existing structure survived after completion. The house was then raised 16 inches to allow for a walk-out basement to the lake.

"One of the criteria was budget considerations. It's less costly to use the existing facility as a starting off point. There's been a savings of 60 to 70 percent of what it would have cost new," Trautman said.

A wall of windows, running the length of the living room, opens onto a 12-by-50-foot deck. The two-story ceiling combined with the windows creates a magnificent view of the lake.

"I like the openness and the trees are beautiful. It reminds me of where I grew up," Rabideau said.

The barrier-free mother-in-law suite complete with walk-in closet, bathroom and shower is all one level without raised thresholds between rooms. The sleeping area has direct access on the deck.

A gradual incline formed from earth creates a natural ramp for Margaret to enter the home easily.

"What I like about designing barrier-free structures is the impact you can have on someone's life. They improve immediately because they have more control over their environment. They take more initiative to move around," Trautman said.

"The first floor is essentially barrier free. It's what we refer to as a three-generation home."

Since the project was open to modifications while work was in progress, a wrap-around window in one wall was added to the architectural plans. It extends the view from the wall of windows opening onto the deck in the mother-in-law suite.

"The windows turn the corner so you get so much more of a view. The vista you get of the lake is pretty grand," Trautman said.

Plan ahead in buying house plants

Happy New Year! Soon all the decorations and debris of the holidays will be cleared away and we can take stock of our house plants.

This might be a good time to toss out some of the more bedraggled ones and buy something new and exciting to get us through these winter months.

Before you go shopping for a plant, carefully consider the conditions in your home, particularly where you want to put a new plant.

MARTY FIGLEY

Is the light coming from the north, south, east or west? Is the area on the dark side most of the time? Is there an abundance of bright light? Is your home dry or more humid? Do you have a garden room or greenhouse? Do you have time to care for a plant with special needs, or would one that needs less care be more suitable?

Many books are available that include information about these needs. The library is a good resource, or your favorite bookseller will be happy to advise you about a good book.

Before you go on a "house plant shopping spree," become acquainted with the plants that may interest you. Take the book when you go shopping, because some plants may catch your eye and not be at all the one that will thrive in the conditions in your home. Our local nurseries have so many plants from which to choose, we can be easily distracted.

If you are in the market for a flowering plant, be aware of the length of time the bloom is attractive. Also, bloom color is an important factor and can either look perfectly at home, or look like a sad mistake.

When you visit the nursery or florist, don't pick up the first plant that attracts you, but rather browse around the whole store for a while. Take your time and enjoy the experience.

Have a budget in mind before you begin. Large plants are often more expensive than their smaller brothers or sisters and they may have problems adjusting from their store home to yours when they have been acclimated to that store. It's also fun and sometimes a challenge to buy a smaller plant and watch it grow into a fine specimen with your ministrations.

Figley

Examine your chosen plant carefully (top and bottom of leaves, stems, joint where leaf meets the stem) to be sure there is no insect infestation. A sticky secretion will indicate aphids, while white flies cause leaves to turn yellow and drop. Spider mites give the leaves a speckled, mottled appearance and spin webs. Mealy bugs cause a white cottony mass to form on leaves or stems and scale look like spots or blisters.

Look for yellow foliage, there may have been too much light; look near the bottom of the plant for missing foliage. Leaf damage may indicate cold problems, stay away from leaves that have been broken and are discolored.

Look for as many growing points as possible in the variety you choose – you'll get more plant for the money; foliage plants should have leaves to soil level.

Stick your finger in the pot to check if the soil is soft and loose, and examine the bottom of the pot. If one or two roots are growing out, that is a good sign, but if there are a lot of roots covering the bottom of the pot, it could be pot bound and would need special care and repotting.

Most generally our greenhouses, nurseries and retail stores are very clean and the staffs take care to control these problems. In case you notice a problem when you get the plant home, ask about a guarantee.

Before you leave the store, have the clerk carefully wrap your new plant to protect it from the cold weather. It's also a good idea to warm up the car.

Remember to remove the foil wrapping around the plants and be sure there are drainage holes in the bottom of the pot. An attractive cache pot can hold the plant in its original pot and add its own beauty to the picture. It also catches the runoff when the plant is watered, but water mustn't be left standing in it.

TIMELY GARDEN TIPS

• Order seeds, plants and supplies for the new gardening season.

• Set a paperwhite narcissus bulb just above the water line in pebbles, or use a hyacinth vase.

• Don't walk on frozen lawns – it will damage the grass.

• Pour clear water through your house plants to leech out the buildup of fertilizers and salts.

• Replace mulch around strawberry plants and remove old berry canes at the base.

• Tighten guy wires on newly planted trees if they have been heaved by frost.

Be informed when picking material

Q: I am somewhat overwhelmed by the number of choices of products on the market for my remodeling project, which is a kitchen update. Can you give some criteria for purchasing products?

A: This is an easy situation in which to find yourself overwhelmed. Not only does the product need to fit within a budget and the style of the room, but it needs to work with your other product choices. Below are some considerations to keep in mind when choosing products or materials.

■ Price is not always an indication of quality. Judge each product individually and do not use prices as a factor in determining quality.

■ If you have a question about the life of a product or its effectiveness, talk to your remodeler. If he or she cannot help you, seek advice from professional showrooms or from the manufacturer of the product.

■ Don't make uninformed decisions about a product – find out what it has to offer over the other choices available.

■ Divide the cost of an item by its anticipated longevity to figure the annual cost. An expensive product that will last for 20 years may be a better choice than an inexpensive product that will only last five years. Product life should be a factor in your selection process.

■ Ask about manufacturer guarantees and service options available on each product. Written copies of manufacturer warranties should be available from your contractor.

■ Talk to your contractor about which product will best suit your needs. Some materials wear better than others in given circumstances. For example, painted surfaces might chip and peel more in a humid environment like the bathroom. Your contractors should be able to guide you toward the best choice for your lifestyle and environment.

■ Some products have internal parts which may or may not be replaceable. Ask your contractor about the maintenance and repair costs for each of your product choices. You don't want to spend a lot of money on a fixture that can't be repaired down the road.

■ Some products are better investments than others in adding to the resale value of your home. Your contractor should be able to offer an opinion on whether a specific product is a good choice for a particular situation.

Choose wisely. The product chosen will be a factor in the final cost of the job. A professional contractor will be invaluable in helping you look at all of the products available. They have installed products and have been called for repairs on the ones that give people trouble.

Nature classes scheduled

This winter brush up on your botany or learn the ancient art of bonsai.

Regardless of your level of interest, the University of Michigan Matthaei Botanical Gardens' adult education courses will help get you started.

Call (313) 998-7061 for information.

Classes include:

• Bonsai – 2-4:30 p.m. three Sundays, Jan. 5-19, $45. Classes will be a mixture of lecture and hands-on experience as students will be given time to create their own bonsai. Topics will cover the art and culture of bonsai, including plant selection, styling, fertilization, pest management and other basic guidelines for development and care of these attractive miniature woody plants. Material will be available for purchase. Instructor is Connie Bailie.

• Adult Botany – 7-9 p.m. five Thursdays, Jan. 9-30 and Feb. 6, $65. This is an introduction to the diversity of land plants, from mosses to flowering plants. Emphasis is on the major groups of plants as responses to ancient and modern ecological challenges. Instructor is David Michener.

CONTEMPORARY IDEAS

If there is a guiding principle behind contemporary design, it is "form follows function." One interpretation of this dictum is a large dose of stainless steel on everything from refrigerator doors to restaurant-style appliances. In keeping with the minimalist look of contemporary design, clutter is kept under control with the selection of predominantly closed-door storage. If there is any open storage, it is reserved for books or displays of treasured objects.

January: a perfect time for hot tea

RUTH MOSSOK JOHNSTON

There really is a National Hot Tea Month, and it's in January – just in time for this cold winter weather. Ignite your creative fluids and do "Tea" at home, a nice alternative to doing-lunch, and easier on the pocketbook after the Holidays!

An Anglophile at heart, I do love my tea. I have my specific favorites, as in all foods and beverages – nothing tastes better to me than a really strong black tea, the kind I lived on whilst living in England – perfectly creamed and in a china cup. With trying to avoid heavy doses of caffeine, I allow myself one cup of real strong black tea daily, then I move down a notch to Celestial Seasonings Vanilla Maple – perfectly sugared, then on to herbals the rest of the day.

The history of tea traces back 5,000 years, dating back to 2,737 BC, when China's Emperor Shen Nung while watching a kettle of boiling water for his dinner, observed leaves from a plant blow and infuse into the boiling water. The aroma being so tantalizing, he tasted the brew, hailed its properties, and since that time, shares in the legend of its discovery.

By the 9th Century, tea in China was proclaimed as a royal beverage and the Japanese Tea Ceremony was established. With a value of twice its weight in silver, tea reached European shores in the middle of the 16th Century. Proclaimed for its medicinal benefits, France sold it in pharmacies and importers marketed it to English Puritans as a medicinal draught. Tea became the rage in the 18th Century – the beverage of Kings and Queens, the topics of poetry and writings, themes of still life paintings and a statement of rebellion in Boston.

Today, tea is iced, infused, and used as an ingredient or a marinade – along with the drinking of a hot "cuppa." The innovative and quality conscious company – Republic of Tea's slogan is "Sip by Sip not Gulp by Gulp" – this American Zen-ish phrase is not referring to etiquette of the ancient beverage, but to paraphrase its Minister of Leaves, Bill Rosenzweig, it's a slowing down from the frenetic pace of the '80s, no more gulp by gulp running on (the rush of) caffeine in coffee – but a change to a more moderate and appreciative '90s with life lived sip by sip with tea. The Tea Association of the USA Inc. is hoping Bill Rosenzweig is right – as the bulk of the tea consumed by Americans, is over ice.

Black Teas, green teas, oolong teas, herbal teas and flavored teas make up the market that spans over a thousand types and manufactured by numerous companies. A few tea companies to look for:

Republic of Tea, Celestial Seasonings, * St Michael, Twinings, Benchley, Harney and Sons, Ltd., Crabtree & Evelyn, Jacksons of Piccadilly, R.C. Bigelow Inc., John Wagner & Sons, Fortnum and Mason, Stash Tea, and of course, Lipton (which is now selling flavored teas).

*St Michael – One Cup Extra Strong Tea Bags – Rich, Bright and Malty (these are my most sentimental favorite) can be found at Marks and Spencer, (in Devonshire Mall) in Windsor, Canada – phone:519-966-1940, British shops, or in the U.K.

What began as an English afternoon "pick me up" in between meal times developed into tea-time as a social occasion. In England, it is still acceptable to have tea around 11 a.m. (a typical break for the working-class) and afternoon or high tea late in the day. Early tea usually consists of a light snack, perhaps a scone with jam and clotted cream accompanied by a traditional cup of tea. Afternoon Tea (4-5 p.m.) incorporates not only a pot of carefully brewed tea but delicate finger sandwiches, a variety of cakes, gateaus and frosted confections.

High Tea which divides day from night (generally around 6 p.m.) can easily replace dinner – Dickensian in style, teapots are accompanied by heavier foods such as; rich deep cheeses, smoked meats, egg filled tarts, combination sandwiches and full-bodied cakes.

First and most important, how to brew the perfect pot of tea: A friend of mine who grew up alongside a samovar has only one way to describe proper water for tea, "A mad boil." In the same forceful way she never says rolls or toast must be hot, or very hot. They must be "hot-hot-hot!" This is pronounced as much as possible like a one-syllable sound of intense excitement, about no matter how dull a bun...

The following is from M.F.K. Fisher's "The Art of Eating":

1. In a kettle, bring freshly drawn cold water to a boil – do not wait for a rolling boil as all of the freshness and oxygen will be boiled out.

2. Warm the serving pot with hot water and pour out (the warming of the pot ensures that the kettle water stays at the proper temperature.

3. Add the tea leaves (1 teaspoon per person and 1 for the pot) and pour the kettled water over the leaves allowing them to infuse for 1-7 minutes (one minute for a small-leafed tea which gives off its essence quickly and up to seven minutes for a large-leaf brew). The typical infusion time is 3-5 minutes.

4. Always serve tea with an additional pot of water and milk or cream, allowing for personal taste. Milk or cream is generally added to the cup prior to the pouring of the tea.

5. When pouring the tea into cups, hold a tea strainer above the cup to catch the leaves.

Newsworthy Tea Notes:

■ 1 pound of good quality tea yields 200 cups of brewed tea (according to The Tea Association of the USA).

■ 1 cup of tea has approximately 36 milligrams of caffeine – coffee has 100 (depending on the brewing time).

■ Recent studies indicate that green tea may possess medicinal qualities to ward off cancer.

■ TEA A MAGAZINE™ is published 6 times a year –, this beautiful bimonthly magazine is all about tea. To order: mail to P.O. Box 348, Scotland, CT 06264 – cover price is $4.95 per issue or save 20% by ordering a subscription.

■ Tea Association of the USA, Inc. can be reached at 212-986-9415

■ Afternoon tea in America is usually a combination of British High Tea and Afternoon Tea. Detroit area hotels (The Ritz-Carlton, Dearborn, and the Townsend Hotel in Birmingham), and independent tea rooms offer this type of "Tea" – some offering the option of champagne.

■ Stash Tea by mail (good mail order department):1-800-826-4218

■ Crystallized ginger added to tea is a delicious change from sugar or sugar substitute.

■ A brand new book on TEA – Tea In The East by Carole Manchester (Author of French Tea), 1996 published by Hearst Books, an affiliate of William Morrow & Company, Inc. ($23.00).

The following recipe is from the Lipton Kitchens – this recipe uses tea as an ingredient – it would be delicious on an English muffin, a bagel or a slice of toast to accompany a nice cup of tea.

BERRY TEA JAM

1 cup boiling water

2 Lipton Flo-Thru Tea Bags

2 cups frozen strawberries or raspberries

1 cup sugar

In a teapot, pour boiling water over tea bags; cover and brew 5 minutes. Remove tea bags.

In medium saucepan, combine tea, strawberries (or raspberries) and sugar; bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer, stirring occasionally, 30 minutes or until slightly thickened. Cool slightly before refrigerating; chill until set. Makes about 1 cup jam.

Japanese garden design topic of talk

The University of Michigan Matthaei Botanical Gardens, 1800 N. Dixboro in Ann Arbor, will present the second in a series of lectures and luncheons titled "The Art of Living with Nature" noon to 2 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 16, in the Botanical Gardens auditorium.

Guests will enjoy an authentic Japanese Tein-ben landscape garden box lunch especially designed for the Gardens by Fuji Restaurant and adapted to please American palates.

Author and landscape designer Keith Alexander will present a lecture, "Japanese Garden Design in America: A Natural Response." Alexander's slide-illustrated lecture will be a visual treat, blending the beautiful and the unusual. He will explore the theory and history behind Japanese gardens and share his thoughts on the creation of an American garden with Japanese influence within our own environment.

Tickets for the lecture and luncheon are $25 per person. Tables will seat eight. Reservations are required, due to limited seating. When reserving, indicate the other guests included in your party. Call (313) 998-7061.

FOLK MUSICIANS FIND SANCTUARY AT THE Raven Gallery

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

The legendary Detroit folk music venue The Raven Gallery has had a profound impact on Tom Rice's life.

By going to the club which closed in the late-1970s, he schooled himself on the music that he loved. He and his wife, Rita, attended a concert there on their first date.

"I learned to love folk music by going to the Raven Gallery and seeing guys like Josh White and Ron Coden. People like Joni Mitchell and Gordon Lightfoot, Richie Havens, Jose Feliciano, Steve Martin, who used to be a banjo-pickin' comedian, all started there, although that was before I started going there," Rice said.

In honor of his half-sister Donna, who died from Huntington's disease, Rice held the second in a series of benefits for the disease in 1977. One of those who came out to see Josh White Jr. perform was Kitty Cohen, the wife of the Raven Gallery's owner the late Herb Cohen.

"We sat around and talked a little bit and reminisced about the old club. I told her how my wife and I had our first date there and got married a year later. It was a wonderful place for a first date. It was so intimate and cozy and comfortable. I never thought of it in my life but I said 'Wouldn't that be neat to open a club?' "

Kitty told him that if he ever did he could call it The Raven Gallery.

"It was one of those spontaneous conversations. I don't think she ever thought I would take her seriously. ... I think when she saw a young guy like myself who was really enthusiastic about folk music and acoustic music she thought I'd be the right guy."

Twenty years later Rice took that conversation seriously. After several unsuccessful attempts to buy another building in Northville, Rice opened The Raven Gallery and Acoustic Cafe in an old church at 145 N. Center St. in Northville. The folk/acoustic venue is nestled in a 12,000-square-foot building with Rice's Gitfiddler music store and the Northville Academy of Music and Arts.

"Here's this beautiful sanctuary with incredible history, beautiful acoustics and great ambiance. The stage was already built, the sound booth was already built. We came in and put it all together with a sound system and lights. We've been running shows and people are coming," Rice said.

The Raven Gallery opened unofficially on July 27 with Ramblin' Jack Elliott. The official opening read like a who's who of folk music: Ron Coden, Charlie Latimer, Dean Rutledge, Josh White Jr., Phil Marcus Esser and Barbara Bredius entertained the crowd.

The Raven Gallery offers local and national acts Thursdays through Saturdays with an open mic night on Wednesdays – all in a smoke-free atmosphere. Upcoming acts include folk artists Jan Krist and Tim Diaz on Friday, Jan. 3, David Folks on Saturday, Jan. 4, and jazz/pop musician Brad Hodge on Thursday, Jan. 9. Ticket prices range from $8-$12 for most shows. For more information, call (810) 349-9421.

"This is something I want to say very clearly. We will never allow smoking, even when we get a liquor license. It's not that I'm discriminating against smokers as people, I just want this to be a very clean, smokeless environment. It's very apropos for listening to music, staying in a room for a long time and being comfortable, and being able to breathe. It's also for the artist to be able to breathe and see their people."

To test market the idea of a new Raven Gallery, Rice held concerts at the Northville Recreation Center and a church in Salem. With The Ark opening a new building, and the 7th House in Pontiac occasionally offering folk acts, Rice isn't too concerned about the competition.

"I believe that you don't want to have 100 of them. But

ART EXHIBITION

Popular printmaking exhibit gives peek at peasant life in France

Images d' Epinal

What: An exhibition of late 18th to early 20th century popular printmaking from the town of Epinal, France. Organized by the Musee de Quebec in conjunction with the Musee departmental d'Art Ancien et Contemporain in Epinal, the exhibit features more than 170 woodblocks and lithographs disseminated as children's games, paper soldiers, illustrated stories, posters of political and religious figures, and fairy tales to the lower and middle classes, primarily in France. Admission is free.

When: Through Jan. 5. Hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday, until 9 p.m. Thursday, and noon to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Where: University of Michigan Museum of Art, 525 South State Street in Ann Arbor. For information call (313) 764-0395.

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
SPECIAL WRITER

Ever wonder what printed material existed for children and adults during the late 1700s, 1800s and early 1900s in France? The University of Michigan Museum of Art in Ann Arbor presents a rare look at life in this era with an exhibition of popular printmaking which continues through Jan. 5.

Images d'Epinal documents the printmaking industry during the late 18th to early 20th century in the village of Epinal, France. The exhibition features 170 woodblocks and lithographs illustrating the popular imagery that was disseminated as children's games, decorative wallpaper and clock faces, posters of historical figures and events, devotional pictures, paper soldiers, and fairy tales such as Little Red Riding Hood. It is considered "low" art because it was used primarily by lower class, but also middle class, French who had no access to original art.

Visiting the exhibit raises such issues not only of the targeted audience's social class, but the values underlying the messages in the imagery, and the relationship of "high" and "low" art.

"It's a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to see such a rich selection of images that evoke a lost era that actually has many connections to us today. The same fairy tales we read as children, they did. It's a great exhibit for families, from the littlest child who can't read but would love the images to parents who can rediscover many of the fairy tales they've forgot," said Annette Dixon, University of Michigan Museum of Art curator of Western art.

"Some of these are after engravings or paintings. Popular printmaking made access to art wider for the common person."

Epinal prints have been studied extensively in France during the last decade but never shown in North America. Rediscovery of this art form allows exhibition visitors a look at a culture whose time has passed.

French Imagery: Images d'Epinal allows visitors to revisit the lives of lower and middle classes from the late 18th to early 20th century via the popular prints of France. The exhibition continues through Jan. 5 at the University of Michigan Museum of Art.

The Detroit Institute of Arts, 5200 Woodward, offers a variety of special family programs.

Call (313) 833-7900 for information.

"The Art of Thomas Wilmer Dewing: Beauty Reconfigured" continues to Jan. 19. Docent-guided tours 1 p.m. Wednesday-Sunday. A video, "Murder of the Century," will be shown 2 p.m. Saturday-Sunday, Jan. 4-5, in Lecture Hall. The opulent world of early 1900s New York society sets the scene for the story of architect Stanford White, Evelyn Nesbit and Nesbit's husband, Harry Thaw, who killed White.

A figure drawing workshop is scheduled Sundays, Jan. 5, 12 and 19. In the sessions, artist Gail mally-mack will lead an exploration of the representation of the human figure in the "Beauty Reconfigured" exhibit. The workshop is open to all skill levels and features drawing with a live model. Call for fees and other information.

A seminar, "Seeing through the Museum," will take place Saturdays, Jan. 11 to Feb. 8, in collaboration with the American Studies Program, Wayne State University. The seminar will investigate the museum as both a physical and discursive structure that shapes the visitor's experience and creates value. Instructor is Jane Blocker of the WSU Department of Art and Art History. Call (313) 833-4249 for fees and other information

MOVIES

'Michael' a far-from-heavenly comedy

TICKETS PLEASE

JOHN MONAGHAN

In "Michael," John Travolta's earth angel has a simple philosophy: (1) you should ingest as much sugar as you can and (2) there is no such thing as a bad joke.

Writer/director Nora Ephron apparently lives by that same creed. She has set herself up as queen of the feel-good movies, the '90s answer to "It's a Wonderful Life's" Frank Capra. And when she's good, like in "Sleepless in Seattle," she can bring a smile to even the most crumudgeony critic.

But even Capra had his bad days, and his worst films, dubbed "Capra Corn," set the standard for Hollywood at its most cloying and silly. Such is the case with "Michael," a well-meaning little holiday ornament that has little to hang on to but its charismatic star.

It starts with a letter from Iowa, addressed to the star reporter (William Hurt) at the "National Mirror," an "Enquirer"-style supermarket tabloid. I have had an angel staying at my motel for the last several months, it says, and think you would be interested in writing about him. His name is Michael.

So the reporter heads for the heartland, accompanied by his partner (Robert Pastorelli) and a new writer (Andie MacDowell) who claims to be an angel expert but isn't. Also on the trip: Sparky, a terrier like the one on TV's "Frasier," and a bonafide "Mirror" celebrity.

Arriving at the motel, they soon realize that Michael is no white-robed, halo-wearing angel. A substantial beer gut hangs over his boxers as he shuffles to the refrigerator for breakfast, which includes a can of beer and a bowl of Frosted Flakes literally buried in sugar.

When it comes to wings, however, he's the real McCoy. To women, he smells like caramel, like fresh-baked cookies, like childhood.

When they make the long trek back to Chicago in a beat-up station wagon, "Michael" reverts to the road movie formula, the sanctuary for screenwriters who have no other place to go. That's why we get countless shots of the car driving by cornfields from every conceivable angle, backed by a Randy Newman score that gooily evokes the Heartland.

At one of the predictable stops, Michael gets in a fight in a redneck bar. Seems the local boys don't like strangers dancing with their women, especially all at once.

The real miracle in "Michael" is that Travolta manages to carry some of this silliness off. In the two or three years since his comeback in "Pulp Fiction," he's tackled a half dozen eclectic roles, from villain in "Broken Arrow" to scientific oddity in "Phenomenon," which, like this, mines the star's real-life spiritual side. The other actors are ill-suited for their roles. Andie MacDowell has concentrated her talents on fluffy romantic comedies but she still has no flair for them. Hurt, as Michael's reason for coming down (like the Tin Woodman, he needs a heart), is as stiff as you'd expect him to be in a romantic lead.

Pastorelli, late of TV's "Murphy Brown" and cast in increasingly substantial roles, wouldn't be bad if Ephron had any sense of pacing. Even a movie this light needs some speed to get it off the ground, but it drags when Travolta's off the screen.

SCREEN SCENE

A sampling of what's playing at alternative movie theaters across metro Detroit as reviewed by John Monaghan.

Birmingham Theatre 211 S. Woodward, Birmingham. Call (810) 644-FILM for information. ($6.50; $4.25 matinees and seniors)

■ "Shine" (Australia - 1996). The hit at last year's Toronto Film Festival focuses on David Helfgott, a real-life concert pianist plagued by an overbearing father and mental illness. Though perhaps not as inspiring as you have heard, it does examine the nature of creativity and shows that there are still talented directors in The Land Down Under.

■ "The Crucible" (USA - 1996). Arthur Miller adapted his own play for the screen, the story of the Salem Witch Trials-in which as piteful girl (Winona Ryder) holds the fate of the man she had an affair with. Daniel Day-Lewis and Winona Ryder star.

Magic Bag Theatre 22920 Woodward, Ferndale. Call (810) 544-3030 for information.

■ "Spike and Mike's Sick and Twisted Festival of Animation." 8, 10 p.m. Jan. 2. Last year it played like a "greatest hits" package. This year the fourth annual showcase of animated bad taste features 20 premieres. Among the titles: "Condom Complaint," "The Happy Moose" and new episodes of the perennial favorite "No Neck Joe." ($6)

■ Mario Bava — "Lisa and the Devil" (Italy/Spain/West Germany – 1972) and "Danger Diabolik" (Italy/France - 1967). Starts at 9 p.m. Jan. 7. Two bizarre entries from Italian schlockmeister Bava, the first starring Elke Sommers as a tourist trapped in a mansion where Telly Savalas resides as Satan. The second is psychedelic nonsense about secret agents based on a European comic book and featuring a score by Ennio Morricone. As part of a free weekly series of cult films shown on big screen video. (Free)

Main Art Theatre 118 N. Main Street at 11 Mile, Royal Oak. Films play through at least Thursday, unless noted otherwise. Call (810) 542-0180 for information and showtimes. ($6.50; $4 students, seniors and matinee; $3 twilight)

■ "Ridicule" (France - 1996). In the court of Louis XVI, a man from the country realizes that he must use his wits if he is going to carry out his mission: to save the people of his village from his epidemic. He does everything he can to extract royal favor until he nearly botches it by falling in love. A French export from director Patrice Leconte, starring Charles Berling and Fanny Ardant.

■ "Evita" (USA - 1997). Madonna gets her chance to shine in the role of a lifetime: Argentina's Eva Peron in the musical drama based on the 1976 stage hit by Tim Rice and Andrew Lloyd Weber. Antonio Banderas co-stars.

Maple Theatre 4135 W. Maple, Bloomfield. All titles play through at least next Thursday, unless noted otherwise. Call (810) 855-9090 for information. ($6; $2.95 twilight)

■ "Shine" (Australia - 1996). See Birmingham Theatre listing above.

Gripping tale awakens 'Ghosts of Mississippi'

BY DAVID GOODMAN
ASSOCIATED PRESS WRITER

NEW YORK (AP) — On a June night 33 years ago, Medgar Evers, a prominent black civil rights leader, pulled into the driveway of his Mississippi home and was gunned down from behind by an assassin with a high-powered rifle.

Gushing blood, he dragged himself to his door, only to die as his wife, Myrlie, and their young children stood helplessly by.

Facts discovered later about the murder weapon and other evidence strongly implicated a local white supremacist named Byron De la Beckwith. But two all-white juries deadlocked and Beckwith was freed.

"Ghosts of Mississippi" advances the story to the late 1980s. It follows the real-life story of a youthful district attorney who became interested in "exhuming" the case, to bring justice to Evers' widow Myrlie (Whoopi Goldberg) and to exorcise the ghosts of unbridled racism that still hang over the new, "integrated" South.

History has left us with a gripping tale. And producer-director Rob Reiner ("When Harry Met Sally...," "A Few Good Men," "This Is Spinal Tap") deserves a top grade for unimpeachable intentions. His "Ghosts of Mississippi" is a generally competent drama that succeeds as a detective story and moral fable, one that convincingly answers the question, "Is it ever too late to do the right thing."

But the film's disappointing courtroom scenes lack any kind of real bite and when it turns to domestic matters, "Ghosts of Mississippi" gets as saccharine and artificial as a made-for-TV movie.

When Assistant District Attorney Bobby DeLaughter (Alec Baldwin) first gets the idea that the ancient case can be resurrected, everyone scoffs. Witnesses are dead. Files are long missing. Physical evidence has disappeared. Besides, as his boss (Craig T. Nelson) reminds him, the understaffed D.A.'s office has a full-case load featuring recently buried corpses and other victims who are still very much alive.

The sequences in which DeLaughter barrels along dusty Southern back roads — accompanied by his investigators played by William H. Macy and Lloyd "Benny" Bennett as himself — are brisk and sharp. One impressive scene has DeLaughter's team meeting a reluctant witness at night, in a moonlit swamp hung with vines and moss.

As DeLaughter begins spending his evenings combing old files and traversing the state to interview old witnesses, his wife Dixie (Virginia Madsen) starts to feel neglected and embarrassed — her father was the judge who presided over Beckwith's second trial.

"You're going to pursue this thing" she gasps. "You're going to humiliate me in front of my friends, my family and the entire state of Mississippi." Before long, Dixie is back at her mother's house leaving her husband to play Mr. Mom to their three children.

With his boyish mane and eye-crinkling smile, Baldwin is appealing as the idealistic attorney. Despite doing double duty at the office, Bobby never looks disheveled and even has time to meet and marry a new love interest (Diane Ladd). Even with mom gone, the DeLaughter youngsters are always sitcom well-behaved. And the house is always neat.

Goldberg, swathed in staid clothing, her wild locks tamed under a heavily lacquered matronly hairstyle, is fine every time she appears as the wry and determined Myrlie Evers, but too often she isn't given enough to do, except look as solemn as a figure on Mount Rushmore.

The film owes much of its energy to the supercharged performance of James Woods as the unrepentant, arch-racist De la Beckwith.

Even with layers of latex to give him the crevices, jowls and wattles of a 72-year-old, Woods seems to be having the time of his life playing the swaggering, smirking hate-monger. Woods has always specialized in villains, but this time he outdoes himself.

The murdered man's sons, Darrell Evers and James Van Evers bring authenticity to the project by portraying themselves, while their sister, Reena Evers, appears as a juror. Yolanda King, daughter of Martin Luther King Jr. is cast as Reena in the film.

The Castle Rock Release runs a little long at 123 minutes. It opens at metro Detroit movie theaters Jan. 3.

Restaurant smokin' with the blues

Smokin' Idea: Mike Nash and his partners decided to change Mr. B's on Orchard Lake Road to a Memphis Smoke barbecue restaurant to attract more clientele.

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

When business started to wane at Mr. B's restaurant in West Bloomfield, its principal owners knew exactly what to do to boost sales.

They decided to try to replicate the success of their Memphis Smoke restaurant in Royal Oak.

"With the competition in the area, we just weren't pleased with the performance of the restaurant," said Rob Jackier, one of the principal owners.

"We had always done pretty well, but we feel that we've had a winner with the Memphis Smoke concept. It's been fabulously popular in Royal Oak. We decided there's nothing like this concept in Michigan that we know of – the Southern-style barbecue combined with the blues music. We decided that this neighborhood would be right for that."

The group closed Mr. B's in mid-August and turned it into a Memphis Smoke in about three weeks, general manager Gary Mrochinski said, and officially opened Oct. 7. The interior white brick walls were painted to look as if they were sandblasted. Pictures and paintings of traditional blues artists like Jimmy Rushing, B.B. King, Albert King and Muddy Waters line the walls. A stage, offering entertainment Wednesdays through Sundays, is centrally located in the restaurant with televisions in nearly every corner.

Corporate chefs Dan Schuler, Randy Banish, and Dan Lauwery, created the menu for the new Memphis Smoke. Lauwery, formerly of Fishbone's restaurant, is also the chef of the restaurant.

Memphis Smoke

Where: 6480 Orchard Lake Road (at the northwest corner of Orchard Lake and Maple roads), West Bloomfield.

Hours: 5 p.m. to 2 a.m. Mondays through Thursdays, 4 p.m. to 2 a.m. Fridays, noon to 2 a.m. Saturdays, and noon to midnight Sundays. The kitchen is open until 12:30 a.m. during the week, and 1:15 p.m. weekends.

Credit: Visa, Mastercard and American Express are accepted.

Information: (810) 855-3110.

There is also a location in Royal Oak at 100 S. Main St. Call (810) 543-0917 for more information about that restaurant.

Like the Royal Oak location, Memphis-style "dry rub" ribs ($8.49-$10.99) are the restaurant's signature items.

"Sometimes it's a little confusing in this neighborhood when you ask them if you want them (ribs) wet or dry," Jackier explained.

"Wet ribs are your traditional ribs with barbecue sauce. Sometimes people think that 'dry' ribs are dry – they have nothing. We baste the ribs on the charbroiler with a special basting sauce. They're smoked for 2 1/2 hours and then we put the dry-rub powder on it and it gives just an incredibly unique taste."

The menu offers a variety of barbecue items from beef brisket ($8.49) and pulled pork smoked for more than 14 hours ($8.49) to barbecue salad with beef, pork or turkey ($6.49). A catfish dinner ($8.49), blackened turkey medallions served over Creole tomato sauce ($8.99), Memphis jambalaya ($8.49), an array of sandwiches ($6.49-$6.99), and salads ($2.99-$7.99) are other examples of Memphis Smoke fare.

Children get a choice of three items – chicken fingers, a hot dog or spaghetti – priced at $3.99.

There are subtle differences between the Royal Oak and West Bloomfield locations, Mrochinski and Jackier said.

"At this store (West Bloomfield), we're offering fresh fish specials every day, some with pasta and some without. The Royal Oak store does that occasionally. Both stores offer smoked prime ribs on the weekends Fridays through Sundays," Jackier said.

Each Memphis Smoke has its own personality too, according to Mrochinski, who came to Memphis Smoke from Mr. B's Roadhouse in Clarkston.

"We've got such a wide group of people in here. We've got everything from 16-year-olds on their first date to somebody celebrating their 50th anniversary. It's a step apart from Royal Oak where here it's more relaxed. You're more comfortable or at home here. Here it gives people the opportunity to be themselves," Mrochinski said.

Jackier, a Rochester Hills resident, offered a variation on that explanation.

"Royal Oak being Royal Oak there's tons of foot traffic. Many of the patrons who come to Royal Oak don't come specifically to go to one restaurant or one bar. They come to be in Royal Oak. They'll go to Memphis Smoke, and Mr. B's Pub, Fifth Avenue (billiard hall), and they'll go to Woody's. They'll just cruise around. This location, because there's no sidewalks, is what we call a destination location. Most people plan on coming in."

Jackier, along with Mike Nash, Marty Tuchman and Ralph Gustafson. Mr. B's own nine Mr. B's, two Memphis Smoke, two Monterray Cantina restaurants and the South Lyon Hotel. Mr. B's will celebrate its 20th anniversary in June. Jackier said he and his partners are planning on opening a third Memphis Smoke by the end of 1997.

Mrochinski feels that the change from Mr. B's to Memphis Smoke was a good idea for the West Bloomfield building.

"We feel the investment's worth it. The investment's in the people who walk in the front door. ... Anybody who shows up is going to be definitely pleased."

Mudpuppy finds its musical roots in New Orleans

CHRIISTINA FUOCO

The Detroit blues/funk band Mudpuppy knows when it has found something good.

Starting out as a back-up band at the Holly Hotel, Mudpuppy found its niche after lead singer/bassist Paul Randolph made a trip down south.

"I had gone to New Orleans for Mardi Gras, and I was so blown away by the whole music culture in that city that I came back and I said, 'Man, this is what we need to do,' " said Randolph, a former member of Urban Voodoo Juice.

"Everybody agreed that was really the beginning of Mudpuppy."

Randolph and his band evolved its sound into a blend of Chicago strut, bayou funk, Memphis soul and St. Louis swing.

"It's always nice when you get a gut feeling about something, you go for it and it goes over well. We're pretty much sticking to our guns. Certainly we don't try to come off as being from New Orleans, but we definitely listen to the music and we're all influenced by it."

Mudpuppy's sound is showcased on its self-titled debut record, which is available at Adray Appliance, Photo and Sound in Dearborn, as well as Dearborn Music. The eight-song release include three originals – "Lies," "Make Up Your Mind," and "Better Think Twice" – as well as covers of "Kansas City," "Too Poor," "Voodoo," "Call The Plumber," and "Spoonful."

Randolph, an Oak Park resident, said that although he's happy about the first CD, he's looking forward to heading back into the studio.

"We've kind of fallen into a certain style of playing and writing within the context of Mudpuppy. Everybody comes from different playing experiences and backgrounds. It's nice to have a full library to reference from. We're all very proud of the first CD, but I think we're all very anxious to start on the second one. The second one is pretty much gonna nail it on the head; the direction of Mudpuppy."

The band's resume includes stints with Stevie Wonder, Mary Wilson, the avant garde jazz band Greeo Galaxy, Robert Penn, Alberta Adams, and groups involved with the Parliament-Funkadelic organization.

The album pushed Mudpuppy to the forefront of the Detroit blues scene. They appeared on the "House of Blues Radio Hour," carried by CIDR-FM 93.9 "The River," hosted by Dan Aykroyd. The band also contributed a cover of "Lovin' Machine" to the Autism Society CD "Blues from the Heart II," which also featured Robert Jones, Lonnie Shields and Steve Nardella.

Mudpuppy – which also includes guitarist/vocalist Mark Pasman of Southfield, percussionist/vocalist Lorenzo "Spoons" Brown of Detroit, keyboardist/vocalist Ted Pulker of Walled Lake, and drummer/vocalist Darryl Pierce of Westland – performs Saturday, Jan. 4, as part of the "Anti-Freeze Blues Festival," formerly known as "The Magic Bag's Deep Freeze Blues Festival," Friday, Jan. 3-Sunday, Jan. 5, at the Magic Bag, 22920 Woodward Ave., Ferndale. The three-day event features food from the Mardi Gras Cafe in Southfield.

Sugar Blue, Willie D. Warren with the Garfield Blues Band, Johnny "Yard Dog" Jones and Bobby East, Wailin' Inc. and The Alligators open the festival on Friday, Jan. 3. The following day, Saturday, Jan. 4, Larry McCray and the Bobby Murray Band, The Butler Twins, The Grandmasters with Jeff Grand and Eddie Harsch, and Robert Jones perform. AC Reed headlines the closing day of the festival with Big Dave and the Ultrasonics, Johnnie Bassett and The Blues Insurgents, Joce'lyn B and Alberta Adams, and The Hasting Street Blues Band.

Tickets are $15 per day or $36 for a three-day pass. For more information, call (810) 544-3030.

• In case you were curious about who the kidnappers were listening to in the movie "Ransom," that was none other than Smashing Pumpkins' singer Billy Corgan. He joined forces with award-winning composer James Horner to pen the score for the movie.

Agents remember their first sales

BY NORMAN PRADY
SPECIAL WRITER

Like memories of that first kiss or that first car, thoughts of that first real estate sale can last a lifetime.

And for some sales agents, the experience of their first sale and the feelings they felt then are part of their daily work now, influencing how they do their jobs, how they treat their customers, and what they think their rewards are.

"Money is the icing on the cake," said Sandy Sersen, a sales associate with Mayfair Realty in Livonia.

But there's "a feeling I still get," she said, thinking back to her first sale, "when everyone's happy"

It was a bungalow with a basement. On Evergreen near West Chicago in Detroit. In 1981, "It was all white and orange. White walls with orange trim. They loved it."

For "maybe $23,000," a man in his 40s bought the house for his widowed mother.

Sersen got into the business when she was "a for-sale-by-owner" who was being pursued by agents wanting to list her house. She thought, "I could do this" and now is doing $6 million of it every year.

"Sure, an expensive home is great compared to an inexpensive home as far as your own income is concerned," but more important is "that feeling you get at the closing, knowing that you did it right."

Another agent said that worrying about her customers, from the first one on, is part of a day's work.

"I worry that the buyers don't understand the problems they face – risking their financial futures and their dreams," said Carel Dunshee, sales associate with Chamberlain Birmingham.

It was her experience with her own problems that took Dunshee into real estate sales. They were the problems of relocating back to Birmingham after her husband's out-of-town transfers.

Relocating, she said, is filled with "extreme stress – about kids and school, pets, time, and interim housing. A wonderful agent is someone who understands" the problems "and what you're looking for. You don't know the market, and there's great fear of being sold a house that's overpriced and poor quality for the area.

"After our relocating experiences, I decided this was something I could do and do better."

That first customer, three and one-half years ago, was a young single man looking for a house he could renovate. The challenge was to find a house in sufficient disrepair that he could buy at a bargain price but not in such extreme disrepair that it couldn't be resuscitated.

"It was wonderful," Dunshee said. "The thrill of the hunt to find exactly what he could handle."

They found it in Royal Oak; he handled it; sold it not long ago at a good profit and invited Dunshee to his recent wedding.

David Beardsley, who can't recall all the details of his first sale, is clear about why he wanted to make it.

"I can't remember. I think it was in Westland 21 years ago, over in Tonquish (subdivision) across from Hudson's."

What he does remember is the reason this life insurance salesman went into real estate. "I hated selling life insurance."

While driving past a real estate office on Plymouth's Main Street, he thought to himself that if he can sell life insurance, "I can sell something people want."

He knew from the beginning, he said, that a house is "the most important thing people will ever buy. They live in it; they decorate it; their egos are involved, and they love it."

Is he pleased with his career change? "I love my job."

For Holly Hohnholt, a sales agent with Century 21 Associates, Rochester, first sale memories go back to 1983, to an 800-square-foot Rochester house purchased by a single man who worked at the Orion GM plant.

"People say prices can't keep going up, going up, but they do."

That first house was $46,000. Four years later, it sold again. For $89,000. "Now," Hohnholt said, looking back over the property's 13-year role in her life, "it's maybe $130,000."

John Kersten's first sale was in 1966: a house in Harrison Township. "A 2,200-square foot ranch. About $45,000. Now worth about $275,000 to $300,000."

In the 30 years since, Kersten has built his business "on quality service and making myself as knowledgeable as I can be."

Now president of Century 21 Town & Country, a company reported to have had 1994 sales of almost $700 million, Kersten said his first sale taught him a clear lesson.

"It helped me realize that people really require service. And deserve it."

His definition of service is "attention to detail, devoting time, and the degree of focus to solve people's problems in the home-buying experience."

With his first sale in mind, he offers a continuing message to his hundreds of sales associates:

"When you promise something to a customer, be prepared to deliver."

Developer must disclose existence of flood plain

REAL ESTATE QUERIES

ROBERT M. MEISNER

Q. I am buying a unit having signed a purchase agreement and found that the developer did not disclose to me the existence of a flood plain over my building. I am also told now that there may be additional insurance involved.

Do you have any comments?

A. Unfortunately, I have observed certain situations where the developer has failed to disclose in the disclosure statement and purchase agreement the fact that the property in question is being constructed on a flood plain.

While this may not necessarily preclude the development from going forward, additional protective actions must be taken by the developer in order to ensure compliance with federal regulations. Moreover, the association may be required to obtain insurance at a substantial additional expenditure.

Obviously, this is a material fact that should have been provided to you at the time of purchase. You should look into the matter immediately and decide whether you wish to rescind the transaction based upon the true status of the circumstances.

Q. I am a landlord and have heard recently about a case dealing with a so-called landlord's lien not being valid here in Michigan. Can you give me any insight into that?

A. I presume you are speaking about a recent Michigan Court of Appeals case that held that where a landlord did not file a finahcing statement to perfect his "landlord's lien" on the collateral in question, the tenant is not liable, despite an apparent exclusion of landlord liens from the filing requirements imposed by Article 9 of the UCC.

In a fairly exhaustive opinion, the court of appeals basically indicated that Michigan does not recognize either a common law landlord lien or a statutory lien. Since it can only be created by statute, the court in following other states' decisions, indicated that the exclusion under Article 9 of the UCC regarding landlord liens is inapplicable and the lien in question must fall within the coverage of Article 9, which would require that the lien be perfected as is the case with other security interests.

The court in that case indicated that the security interest entered into was not a landlord's lien as that term is normally defined in Article 9.

The court was saying that a lien set out in a lease does not become a landlord's lien by virtue of the fact that the relationship is between a landlord and a tenant.

You should review this matter with respect to all future lease arrangements that you have with your counsel to ensure that you are protected and secured.

Rethinking making the big down-payment

MORTGAGE SHOPPING

DAVID C. MULLY

As Michigan's long winter begins, one thing that may help you shake off the season's doldrums is the thought of buying a new home. Spring is traditionally the time people begin the process of looking for a new place to live. It's not too soon to start seriously thinking about the move you'd like to make.

While interest rates continue to remain low, many people find this a great time to buy their first home or upgrade to the home of their dreams. As you being to consider the possibilities within your reach, consider that traditional thoughts on home buying have changed.

As one example, one of the cardinal rules of home buying has been to put as much money down on the house as you possibly can. This was considered a good practice both for first-time buyers and buyers moving up to a more-expansive home. The conventional wisdom said take all of the equity out of your first house and use it for the down payment on your second one.

Let's rethink that strategy. Many people feel that, due to changes in the tax laws and current economic conditions, it may make better fiscal sense for buyers to hang on to some of their equity and make a lower down payment.

You may ask, "Why would anyone want a larger mortgage with higher monthly payments?" The reason is, since mortgage interest payments are one of the few tax deductions left for homeowners, you could come out way ahead in the long run.

Let's look at an example. You've lived in your present home for some time and now you're looking to move up. Finding a home you like for $200,000, you sit down to calculate how much you can put down on the house. You find you have $50,000 in equity from the sale of your first home plus $10,000 in savings for a total of $60,000. Lets assume that you also have two car loans totaling $20,000 with combined payments of $525 per month at an interest rate of 12 percent.

You could put 25 percent down on the house, which would use up the $50,000 plus an additional $5,000 for closing costs, leaving you only $5,000 when all is said and done. What if you only put 10 percent down? This will use $20,000 of your available saving plus another $5,500 for closing costs. (The higher closing costs are a result of the larger loon amount.) This leaves you with $34,500.

You can now pay off your car loans and, in effect, convert your non-deductible car loan interest into totally deductible mortgage interest. Even though your monthly mortgage payment will be $310 more, the elimination of the $525 car payment will reduce your total monthly payment by $215. This amounts to an annual savings of $2,580.

After paying off the car loans, you will still have $14,500 or $9,500 more than the original 25-percent-down scenario. Plus, the low down payment will result in $3,522 more deductible interest in the first year alone. Then, if you invest the extra $9,500 into an account paying 7 percent and add the $215 savings each month, in four years you'll have more than $23,000, even after paying taxes on the interest earned.

This low down-payment strategy isn't for everyone. The ideal candidate is a move-up buyer with a strong income, substantial cash reserves and good credit. This plan won't work unless you are committed to carrying in out.

If you have any questions about whether this strategy will work for you, contact your local real estate or mortgage loan professional. If it's right for you, the low-down-payment plan will allow you to get the home of your dreams while retaining your financial flexibility.

Use wintertime to remodel basement into livable space

Homeowners have finished on the exterior for the winter and are turning their attention to the inside of their houses.

One of the most popular winter home improvement activities is remodeling a basement.

In the past, basements were used mainly for storage. Today, homeowners often use their basements as extensions of primary living areas.

They are spending between $10,000 and $50,000 on basement remodeling projects that often include high-tech entertainment centers or home offices, said Keith Paul, president of Home Advantage Referral Service.

His company offers a free public service that refers screened and monitored contractors to homeowners who are planning remodeling projects or looking for home services.

"Basements aren't just for storage anymore, and more and more homeowners are turning them into real, usable living space," Paul said. "And the good thing is that homeowners usually get back at least 75 percent of their investment in a basement remodeling when they sell their home."

Owners of older houses want more space for their children to play and for entertainment purposes, Paul said.

As a result, remodeling often includes carpeting, dedicated entertainment areas, walls that are dry walled and recessed lighting rather than the fluorescent shop lights of the past.

Wet bars also are becoming more popular, and it's common for the bars to have kitchen-style cabinets, islands, microwaves and larger sinks.

Remodeling contractors also are called to convert basements to offices for work-at-home or tele-commuting professionals.

"As the price of newer, larger homes in the Detroit area keeps rising, many homeowners are looking for ways to add space to their current home without having to add a dormer or building an extra room," Paul said. "Often, basement remodeling is the best and least-expensive way to accomplish this."

Before hiring a contractor to remodel their basements, homeowners should always verify the contractor's license and insurance, Paul advises.

He also suggests getting more than one estimate and calling a contractor's references before signing a contract.

Homeowners who are considering a remodeling project can receive more information and a brochure, Seven Tips You Must Know Before Hiring a Remodeling Contractor, by calling Home Advantage at (800) 733-3778.

Don't let frozen pipes put chill in your day

(NAPS) – Turning down the heat while you're away from home this winter may sound like a good way to save some money, but it can lead to thousands of dollars worth of damage to your home.

If your water pipes freeze and burst, a one-eighth inch (3-millimeter) crack in a frozen pipe can spew up to 250 gallons of water a day, destroying floors, furniture, appliances and keepsakes.

That's why State Farm Fire and Casualty Company, the nation's largest insurer of homes, suggests setting the thermostat no lower than 55 degrees Fahrenheit (12 degrees Celsius) when you're away. It's also a good idea to ask a friend or neighbor to check your house daily to ensure it's warm enough to prevent freezing and to see if everything else is OK.

A preventable disaster

There are several other things you can do to make sure you don't return home to find flood-like damage inside your home.

- Insulate pipes in your home's crawl space and attic. These exposed pipes are most susceptible to freezing. The more insulation you use, the better protected your pipes will be. An insulating pipe-sleeve, heat tape or thermostatically controlled heat cables can be used to wrap pipes. Be sure to use products approved by an independent testing organization, such as Underwriters Laboratories Inc., and use the cables only for the use intended.
- Seal leaks that allow cold air inside. Look for air leaks around dryer vents and pipes. Use caulk or insulation to keep the cold out and the heat in.
- Disconnect garden hoses and, if practical, use an indoor valve to shut off and drain water from pipes leading to outside faucets. This reduces the chance of freezing in the short span of time just inside the house.

If you're going to be away for an extended time, it might make sense to shut off and drain the water system. You must be aware, however, that if you have a fire protection sprinkler system in your house, it will be deactivated when you shut off the water.

- If the forecast calls for temperature to fall below freezing, turn your faucets on so that a trickle of hot and cold water runs overnight. This is especially important for faucets on outside walls. Also, be sure to open cabinet doors to allow heat to get to uninsulated pipes under sinks near exterior walls.

Housing starts exceed forecast

(AP) – Builders boosted housing construction in the United States in November at the fastest rate in 16 months with the strength showing in the Midwest and South.

The Commerce Department said Tuesday the 9.2 percent gain is the best since July 1995. It followed two consecutive drops and is much bigger than the modest advance predicted by analysts.

The increase brought the seasonally adjusted annual rate of housing starts to 1.51 million. That's up from 1.39 million in October, slightly higher than originally estimated.

With Federal Reserve policy-makers meeting to consider changes in interest rates, stock and bond market traders studied the report for signs of excessive growth that the central bank might feel compelled to quash as inflationary.

During the summer many analysts were looking for the Fed to boost interest rates, but signs of moderation in the economy since then have allowed it to keep the short-term benchmark rates it controls steady.

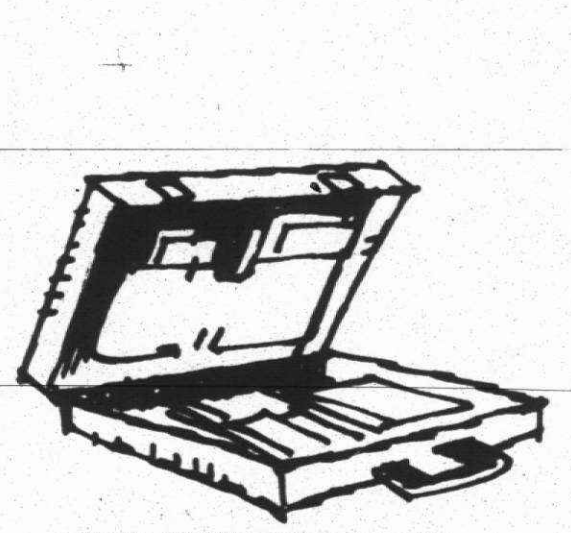
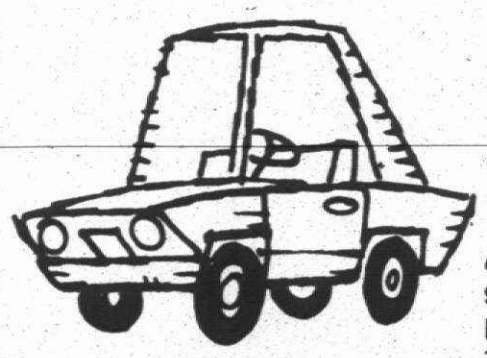
WRITE IT AND REAP!

1. Give the reader specific information. Pretend you are someone reading the classifieds. What would you like to know about the item, service or job you are advertising? Be sure to add details such as color/size, condition, brand name, age, features and benefits. Be accurate! Don't embellish your ad with misleading information. Stick to the facts and reap the rewards!



2. Include the price. Don't waste your time or a potential buyer's time. If you advertise the price of the item or service you offer, the people who respond to your ad will be those who are genuinely interested. Surveys show that readers are more interested in those items and services they know are within their price range.

3. Avoid abbreviations. Don't make a potential customer work too hard! Although you may be tempted to cut down on the cost of your ad by using abbreviations, surveys indicate that many people don't understand such abbreviations as EIK (eat-in kitchen) or WSW (white side wall) tires and won't take the time to figure them out. A confused reader is a disinterested reader. Get the most for your money and use complete words.



4. Include phone number and specify hours. Be sure to let potential customers know when and where to call. Surveys show that even if a person is very interested in your item or service, he or she will not call back after the first attempt. Stay near the phone during the hours you indicate you will be available. Don't risk missing a sale!

5. Run on consecutive days. Your ad will not get results if people don't see it! Therefore, it is important to set up a consistent and consecutive ad schedule with your telephone salesperson or outside sales representative.

This builder prefers low-volume approach

Tom Walsh, a Livonia builder, knows his niche and is in no hurry to expand beyond his capabilities.

Walsh has done only about a dozen houses on scattered lots since starting his own business in 1992. None has come close to $200,000.

"I try to give people all the amenities $200,000, $300,000 houses have – vaulted ceilings, skylights, first-floor laundries, two-story foyers the drama – but they're just smaller," he said.

A big house for Walsh would be 1,600 square feet, like the speculative Cape Cod he has under construction in Farmington Hills.

"I try to stay within $130,000 to $180,000," he said. "It gives a young couple, a young person, maybe someone downsizing, something to choose from other than a 30-year-old, cookie-cutter ranch.

"You can see as we go through these houses, even though they're small, they function very well. They're not only pretty houses. When you go inside, you can live in them," he said.

Walsh said he's studied environmental design at Center for Creative Studies. He's also a painter and sculptor.

"I design everything myself with the client," he said. "My drawings I give to an architect in Plymouth, D.S. Wright and Associates. He does the working drawings.

Sometimes, clients will have a very clear idea what they want. Other times, Walsh will have to lead them by the hand.

"I'll build anything," he said. "I like things that have flavor, drama, a lot of curb appeal, a lot of gables. I like to accentuate the staircase, use that as a kind of visual dynamic. Here, I stacked two bay windows. From the outside, it looks like an octagonal turret."

Walsh currently has a roughed-in 1,600-square-foot spec available in Farmington Hills.

The Cape Cod will feature a first-floor master with vaulted ceiling, vanity with dressing/make-up area, walk-in closet and shower.

The main living area also will showcase a family room with sloped ceiling and fireplace, eating nook with vaulted ceiling, kitchen with the sink oriented toward an opening in the wall and view into the family room, dining room, laundry and half bath.

Two bedrooms and a full bath are upstairs.

The model also will feature a two-car garage, basement and dishwasher. Vinyl siding is the predominant exterior material with some brick and wood accents.

Walsh estimates the completion price at $170,000-$175,000.

"A houses like this looks and functions just like a big one. It's just smaller and more affordable," he said.

A custom house he's building by contract next door, a 1,300-square-foot colonial, features a family room, kitchen/eating nook, living room, first floor laundry, half bath, two-car, side-entry garage and covered front porch.

Three bedrooms and a full bath – with a sliding door to the master and a regular door for the other two bedrooms – are upstairs. The master has a skylight.

That house will price out at $135,000-$140,000, Walsh estimated.

"These houses are probably resistant to glitches in the economy," he said. "They're affordable."

Walsh described his typical buyer as a younger, dual-income couple with kids or one on the way who are building for the first time.

Walsh has learned to be a one-man band.

"I'm a builder, Realtor, salesperson and designer," he said. "The hardest part is finding property now. Lots I used to pay $20,000, $25,000 for are now going for $40,000. I have to be that much more efficient."

Walsh built a colonial in Farmington Hills for Bill and Robin Otto and son, Jackson.

"It was really a nice experience. He constantly called us and updated us on things," Robin said.

"As far as working with us and changing designs, he was fine," she said. "He let us put our own wood floor in the kitchen and dining room and was happy to deduct that from his price."

The Ottos were comfortable dealing with Walsh.

"He's able to give you as a homeowner more attention," Robin said. "My in-laws saw his house on Clarita he was building in Farmington Hills. He said he'd build the house on a lot we were interested in."

Cynthia and Paul Williams, along with sons Daniel, Matthew and Jordan, bought a colonial Walsh built in Livonia.

"He was very agreeable with everything we wanted," Cynthia said. "He just wanted to make us happy and he did. Because he is a single builder and not a big corporation, he seemed to take more pride in his work."

The Williamses found Walsh in a newspaper advertisement, checked out his work and liked what they saw.

"Our house looks huge from the outside," Cynthia said. "It really is a nice, good-sized house. But it's not mammoth. There's no wasted space. It's a house we really use."

Walsh can be reached at (313) 522-5147.

Biabode: This design for a duplex provides for garages, patios and an expanded living space for the owner. The second unit can be rented out.

Nifty duplex provides home, income for owner

Ownership of a duplex can provide many benefits for those interested in acquiring an income property. Some may choose to reside in one unit, while renting the other. Another option is to rent both accommodations and manage the holding.

One of the more modern and innovative duplex plans to hit the market in quite a while, is the Biabode. This two story design has 1210 square feet of living area in unit one, with the master suite on the main level and two bedrooms on the second level. The other side has an 890 square foot unit with two bedrooms, one and a half baths.

Both units have an attached garage that conveniently opens directly into the kitchen. This allows one to unload groceries with a minimum of bother. There is space in each garage to put a washer and dryer.

The master suite, in unit one, is a rarity in duplex design. Extending out from the back of the building, the amenities here include a large sleeping area, walk-in closet and a semi-private bathroom.

Both units have a living room that flows unimpeded into the dining area. The kitchen dimensions vary somewhat, but both allow for easy serving and feature built-in appliances. Unit one's dining room has a sliding glass door leading to a side patio. Unit two's dining room has a sliding glass door to a back patio. Both patios have enough room to relax in the sun, with a barbecue and some lounge chairs.

The top levels in both units hold two bedrooms, each with closet space. The front bedroom is somewhat large. They share a corner bathroom with a linen closet located in the hallway.

For a study kit of the Biabode (4405-080OE48), send $10 to Landmark Designs, 33127 Saginaw Rd. E, Cottage Grove OR 97424. (Be sure to specify plan name and number.)

For a collection of plan books featuring our most popular house plans, send $20 to Landmark, or call 1-800-562-1151.

Mortgage delinquencies are down

The Weekly Do-It-Yourselfer

BY ROB WEELS
AP Business Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) _ Fewer homeowners fell behind on their mortgages in the third quarter, a trend that could extend into next year, an industry group said Thursday.

The Mortgage Bankers Association said mortgage delinquencies fell to 4.16 percent on a seasonally adjusted basis in the three months ended Sept. 30, down from 4.35 percent in the second quarter. It was the third consecutive quarterly decline.

McCord attributed the improvement to lower interest rates, a stronger economy, job growth and a fall in loan-to-value ratios, which shows homeowners have more equity built up in their homes.

Responding to a question, McCord said it's possible the trend in rising personal bankruptcies and credit card debt problems could pose problems for mortgages. But he said that probably wouldn't happen, especially if interest rates decline.

The percentage of foreclosures started in the third quarter fell slightly, but the percentage of loans in foreclosure climbed to 1 percent of all loans from 0.96 percent in the prior quarter.

The foreclosure statistics reflect past credit problems – such as the rise in delinquencies in 1995 – and should improve in the coming months, he added.

The improvements in mortgage delinquencies were seen in all categories. For 30-day delinquencies, the rate was 2.92 percent, down from 3.05 percent in the second quarter; 60-day delinquencies, 0.65 percent, down from 0.67 percent; and delinquencies 90 days or more, 0.59 percent, down from 0.63 percent.

For conventional loans, the rate was 2.67 percent, down from 2.80 percent; for VA loans, 6.68 percent, down from 6.80 percent; and for FHA loans, 7.83 percent, down from 8.11 percent.

Around the country, the Northeast experienced the largest decline, with 4.24 percent of home loans in trouble, down from 4.49 percent. In the South, rates fell to 4.84 percent from 5.06; in the West, 3.40 percent, from 3.60 percent; North Central, 3.83 percent, down from 4.01 percent.

The survey of 22.5 million loans on one- to four-unit homes encompasses about one-third of all residential mortgages.

Radically new fiber glass insulation is encapsulated

Although most homeowners recognize the need for insulation in order to increase home energy efficiency, some shy away from installing it because fibers can cause skin to itch and can create airborne dust.

Now Schuller's new Comfort-Therm insulation is overcoming their reluctance. That's because the popular gold fiber glass found in homes and commercial buildings has taken on a different look and feel.

It's been encapsulated with a high-tech poly wrap system which is extremely user-friendly.

Poly wrap offers more than comfort

Besides handling comfort, the poly vapor facing is superior to traditional kraft paper facing in three ways.

First, the poly facing is twice as resistant to moisture vapor penetration as kraft. The wall cavity stays dryer, and the insulation maintains its thermal efficiency.

Second, unlike kraft facing, the Comfort-Therm facing is Class A rated, and has a fire hazard classification of 25/50 to maximize fire protection.

Third, the poly facing and the triple-reinforced flanges by which the wrapped insulation is stapled to the wall studs are tougher and more resistant to tearing than kraft.

Batts pre-cut for quick installation

ComfortTherm batts are factory pre-cut to fit standard 8 ft. wall cavities for fast and easy installation. This assures a better fit, compared to hand-made cuts from rolls.

Factory cuts also save time and reduce potential itch and dust generated from job-site cutting.

The new batts are available in R-11, as well as the high-performance values of R-13 and R-15. Higher R-values mean greater insulating power.

All three values of batts fit into standard 2 in. x 4 in. stud walls. The R-13 and R-15 batts are made of higher density fiber glass. Although they cost more initially, their cost may be recouped in lower utility bills.

R-11 batts are recommended for interior walls for sound-control, to further add to living comfort.

ComfortTherm is environmentally correct

ComfortTherm, along with Schuller's traditional GoldLine™ fiber glass insulation, is made with recycled bottle glass. Schuller is the only insulation certified to contain at least 25 percent recycled glass by Scientific Certification Systems.

Each truckload of Schuller fiber glass insulation contains over one and a half tons of recycled glass that would have ended up in a landfill.

For more information on Schuller's new ComfortTherm insulation, see your nearest dealer, or contact the Product Information Center, Schuller International, Inc., P. O. Box 5108, Denver, CO 80217. Or call 800 654 3103.

Deep-eave garage

This week's do-it-yourself project plan, an eave entry two-car garage, includes many design options. There are six sizes, from 20' x 20' to as large as 22' x 26'. They can be built as stand-alone structures or attached to your house. Included in the package are three foundations, three roof styles, the option for a side window and door and three garage door configurations. Two complete sets of the plans are included: one for you or your builder and one for the building department. Plans include full framing instructions. Illustrations are drawn with full elevations and cross sectional diagrams. Step-by-step instructions are included. A full materials list will make your trip to a local lumberyard for materials another easy step toward the completion of your new project.

Detroit needs a homestead act to save houses

STEVEN SIVAK

Last week I spent time discussing Detroit and its relationship to other cities. I admit to being critical of the city. Many have thrived in its peculiar form of destruction but, for me, I can only imagine what the city was like during the Jazz Age of the Twenties and Thirties. To imagine that the city was once one of the top five wealthiest cities in the country is almost unbelievable. Money just poured out along Woodward Avenue – the mansions, the performance halls, the fine neighborhoods of Boston Edison and the like. I do not think that stadiums, casinos and automobile race tracks are a first step towards the rebirth of the motor city. They, I believe, are a separate component of what makes a healthy prosperous city.

Not all – and maybe not most – of what a city does to make itself great will come from the private sector, e.g. casinos and stadiums. These are money makers for a group of businessmen – they may work into a city's plan or they may not. I think it foolish to believe that the private sector will supply Detroit with neighborhoods and middle-income job opportunities. Detroit under its own will and ability to attract industrial manufacturers will need to do this for itself.

For me, one of the strongest marks against the city are the elements of destruction, decay and potential for crime. Why not bulldoze dysfunctional and poverty-stricken neighborhoods that have a population density below a certain percentage? Take the existing residents and relocate them to more comfortable and safe neighborhoods. Schoolchildren would then plant oaks and maple saplings, creating parks and something to look at other than burned and destroyed buildings, which only lead people to have little respect for their surroundings. The city would appear to be cleaner and safer, and existing neighborhoods would be reinforced by increasing the population of such areas. It is obvious that the population of Detroit will not be what it once was, and it is also probable that the tax revenues will never be as high as they once were. Natural areas can be left alone, as they are in the wild, but by ignoring a city and not maintaining it will only lead us to the situation we currently have in many parts of the city.

This bulldozing scheme takes care of much – not people who are here to gamble but those who want to paint their houses and rake leaves in the fall and walk with baby carriages down the sidewalks of their neighborhoods. What could possibly encourage young people to come back to this city? Money. Although the city is poor, it does have money in the form of abandoned houses. Why not have a policy similar to the one that was used to attract settlers to the western half of the country; a homestead program if you will. The city of Detroit offers up houses whose title is held by both the city and the homeowner for seven years and, at the end of this time period, the city signs off and the property is fully owned by the resident. The catch is that the residents must renovate the houses and perhaps the city offers low cost loans for those willing to undertake the burden.

Who would be entitled to take advantage of the program would depend on one's politics. I like the idea that this house is both an enticement as well as an award for having completed something that the city so badly needs – so perhaps this is a reward for going to college?

Allowing suburban flight to continue will only create more desire to create Renaissance Centers whereby fast, smooth-running cars quickly move back and forth down the freeways bringing commuters and evening entertainment opportunities. Neighborhoods and jobs must be the cornerstone of a happy and healthy city.

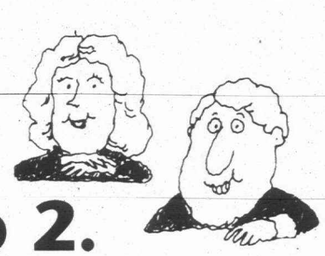
How to make money in three easy steps.

Step 1.

Sell a solution! Your old rattle trap is a teen's dream machine. That old set of golf clubs is sure to be a big hit with a beginner. Here's the point: Your former treasure can bring another pleasure. And if you've got a skill to market or service you'd like to provide–there's someone looking for you in classified.



Step 2.

Aim for an audience. After you've selected a solution for another to seize, bring that person to life. Think about your product or service and its original value to you, then detail its features and benefits to another individual. When you put those benefits into words, other like you will find value too.
