Iced out: Dekhockey gaining popularity

BY VALERIE OLANDER

The players are pint-sized, but the sport is huge.

The Bruins and the Hornets, ages 4-6, faced off in the second game of the season Tuesday in the Chipmunk division of street hockey at Michigan Dekhockey in Canton.

Pre-game follies included one mother directing her son's small hands inside what appeared to be miniature-sized hockey gloves. The rules of this game: one finger per hole.

The youngsters were clad in blue or yellow T-shirts, shin pads and elbow pads and their little faces were barely visible underneath their protective helmets and face guards.

Some of the players smacked the ground with their hockey sticks and were ready to dig in when the whistle blew. However, for 4-year-old Colton Vaughan of Belleville, it was a test in

On Friday, Wayne County Circuit Judge James J. Rashid dismissed all counts of the lawsuit brought by former state Rep. Jerry Vorva of Plymouth against the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools and board of canvassers for the district.

Meet the assistant principal, A3

Pack those lunches, sharpen those pencils, and move bedtime up a notch. Come Tuesday, it's school time.

Approximately 16,020 students will walk through the doors of the district's 21 elementary, middle and high schools on Tuesday morning to begin the 1997-98 school year.

"Just the presence of young people in a school is exciting," said Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Superintendent Chuck Little. He said the district gained an estimated 300 students over last year.

The district also hired 18 additional instructional staff for the new school year, including a principal at Gallimore Elementary and assistant principals at Central Middle School and Canton High School. The new teachers spent part of their orientation last Thursday touring all the district buildings by bus.

Little said he looks forward to working with the district's 851-member teaching staff, including expanding the presentation on Vietnam he gave to high school students in the Spectra program last year. A history buff, Little also said he is stocking up on books like "Early City Life" and "Settlers' Sayings" to read to fifth-graders during March reading programs.

"It's going to be a great year. We have a lot of enthusiastic staff. We're looking forward to a great year of teaching and learning," said district spokeswoman Judy Evola.

Students at the Educational Park will notice the library at Canton High School has a an updated look. The library was renovated over the summer with new paint, carpeting, shelving, desks and chairs. In addition to more fiction, there's a free reading area well-stocked with national magazines and newspapers.

"We've worked on a two-year vision for the library, and that vision is becoming a reality. Kids will be happy to come to the library. They'll be flocking in here. We have padded seats, the best seats in the school," said Sherry Frazier, the school's media specialist.

Class size this year is 22-23 students to one teacher for kindergarten; 25.2 to one for elementary school; 28.7 to one for middle school; and 29.3 to one for high school. Little said Isbister Elementary will have five or six sections of kindergarten students, "more than they can accommodate." Additional Isbister kindergarten students will go to Bird Elementary.

Elementary students will have a new music textbook series titled "The Music Connection." Also, the middle school health education curriculum has been revised to include instruction about HIV and AIDS.

"The teaching now will be more uniform," said East Middle School principal Ellison Franklin, who led a review committee on the reproduction health portion of the curriculum. Franklin said it will be a district guideline that parents must review the material before requesting their child be excused.

Woman killed while driving wrong way on I-275

BY VALERIE OLANDER
STAFF WRITER

An 80-year-old Belleville woman was killed Thursday when she crossed the median on I-275 near Koppernick and drove the wrong way for about a half mile. Her 1988 Ford Tempo collided head-on with a semi in the northbound lanes.

The victim was identified as Myrtle Rikus.

Cellular calls to 911, apparently from motorists on I-275, warned of a wrong-way driver and an imminent accident, according to dispatch records from the Michigan State Police.

"A report came in to us as a fire at 10:09 a.m., but what they apparently saw was the initial impact," said Plymouth Community Fire Chief Larry Groth.

Firefighters used the Jaws of Life to extract the woman from the car and called in medical assistance via a helicopter from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. The doctor arriving at the accident location, south of Ann Arbor Road, pronounced the woman dead at the scene, Groth said.

An autopsy was set for Friday by the Wayne County Medical Examiner's Office to determine if the woman had a heart attack or another medical condition that may have caused her to swerve across the median and into the four lanes of oncoming traffic, said state trooper Bill Vannette.

A 32-year-old man driving the truck was taken to St. Mary Hospital in Livonia suffering from pain to his shoulder. He was released about an hour later, Vannette said.

It is believed Rikus, reportedly a retired teacher, entered the freeway at Michigan Avenue. "Her family said it was possible that she was on her way to visit people in Livonia," Vannette said.

Baracy named superintendent

BY KIMBERLY A. MORTSON
STAFF WRITER

District administrators bid farewell to resigning Superintendent Duane Moore and simultaneously welcomed his successor, Greg Baracy, following a 6-1 decision by trustees to hire Baracy.

Baracy, a district employee since 1988, was first hired as the vice principal of the William D. Ford Vocational Technical Center followed by promotion to principal, before he made the transition to the central administrative offices as assistant superintendent in 1992.

"I'm delighted by the board's action," said Baracy. "It will be a privilege to serve the district and the community in this capacity."

While all of the Wayne-Westland trustees verbally expressed their support of Baracy as the natural replacement for Moore, board member Ed Turner prefaced his "no" vote with the statement that his opposing vote was not "directed toward Greg Baracy but in the manner of which this selection was made."

Turner said he battled for a long time with whether or not the board should have conducted a national search in spite of Baracy's knowledge and experience he will bring to the job. Turner said trustees would be wise to search to "guarantee the best candidate was appointed to the position."

Trustee David Cox said he believed "Greg Baracy has been on a four-year job interview for the district" since he accepted the post as assistant superintendent of general administration in 1992.

Cox said he was more than satisfied with Baracy's track record and put faith in Moore's recommendation, knowing Moore had "his house in order" before his departure and recommend a replacement worthy of the task.

WAYNE-WESTLAND SCHOOLS

Other board members said they felt Baracy's appointment would ensure a smooth transition following Moore's two-year stint in district at a time when Wayne-Westland finds itself facing an uphill financial battle and an impending deficit.

"I believe we're doing the best thing for the district at this time," said Debra Fowlkes, school board president. "We don't need a breakdown at this time and Greg can offer the necessary continuity we are hoping for."

Banking on a smooth leadership change, Baracy said he is aware the district faces several challenges, both immediate and long term.

"We need to work with the Legislature to make sure their kept abreast of our needs both legislatively and to insure a quality and equitable education for all students," said Baracy.

Other actions on his agenda include the proposal to board of education members of an upcoming bond issue to "bring district buildings up to code, equipment at our physical plants and technology for students."

The superintendent said he looks forward to maintaining unity with the board and strive to address issues "as a team" such as renewing trust in the community, raising state test scores, securing the districts financial stability, and lowering the current dropout rate.

"We are very cautiously optimistic that something might happen down the road," said Baracy, "but we can't bank on that and need to be realistic that there are a lot of real inequities out there."

Baracy referred to this period as "post Proposal A time," when individuals, legislators and the governor realize that Proposal A's quirks are catching up with the state.

On a positive note, the Westland administrator said he's looking forward to the upcoming school year and has prepared himself educationally and professionally for this moment.

"The time has come and I'm looking forward to the challenge," said Baracy.

Motorcycle accident follows patrol class

BY VALERIE OLANDER

A Flat Rock police officer suffered minor injuries in a motorcycle accident Wednesday afternoon after just completing a six-day training seminar to be certified as a motorcycle patrol officer.

A Ford Escort driven by a Plymouth teen and occupied by the teen's mother was stopped at a red light on southbound Canton Center, north of Ford Road, when the accident occurred. The police officer was on his way home from the training held at Plymouth Canton High School.

"The motorcycle bumped the car in front. It wasn't anything major," said Canton Sgt. Rene LeBlanc.

The officer was taken by Canton Fire Rescue to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, where he was treated and released.

"He looked like he was OK. He was using both hands to hold his head," said Mark Haosch, an employee at Classy Chassis car wash.

Firefighters and police on the scene seemed to be concerned with his leg, Haosch said.

The occupants of the Escort were not injured in the crash, although the young driver was a bit shaken, said LeBlanc. The mother was seen driving away from the accident after police completed their investigation.

Traffic was backed up for about 20 minutes as Canton Fire Rescue and police cleared the accident scene.

The Flat Rock officer and two other police officers from Wyandotte and St. Clair Shores participated in the six-day training exercises offered by Canton police instructor Brian Darow.

No tickets were issued in the crash, which is still under investigation by police, said officer Lew Stevens.

It's an opportunity to show one community to other communities," he said of the collaborative arrangement, entitled First Thursday Town Meeting with Jimmy Barrett.

Tedd Schneider, Canton Observer community editor, will serve as co-host for the Sept. 4 program.

Scheduled guests include Canton Supervisor Tom Yack; Michigan Rep. Deborah Whyman, R-Canton; Chuck Little, superintendent for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools; and John Santomauro, Canton public safety director.

The fast-paced format will create a forum for public debate on local issues and an opportunity for non-residents who tune in to learn more about the spotlighted cities, townships or villages. The guests will take on-air questions from callers as well as members of the "studio" audience.

Canton residents and members of the business community are welcome to participate. A complimentary lunch will be served following the broadcast.

Those who wish to be a part of the audience Sept. 4 should call Damon's, 207-7427, prior to the event.

election for a new high school, elementary school and capital improvements within the district. In that election, the district's new touch-screen voting machines failed to register 716 ballots out of almost 11,000. The bond won by 96 votes.

Rashid, for the most part, based the suit's resolution on one criterion: The plaintiff, as represented by Plymouth attorney Stephen Boak, had to prove that a defect or malfunction of the voting apparatus "materially affected" the outcome of the election.

Boak failed to offer sufficient proof, according to the judge. He based his arguments against the "voting system" – which included violation of a state statute requiring election-by-election permission to use the machines, changes made in the machines' programming, possible improper representation of the machines' recount capabilities by the manufacturer and inadequate voter education.

"You haven't been able to come in and show me there was something clearly wrong with these machines," said Rashid.

Rashid also said there are numerous state statutes that have no judicial remedy. "It would be rare circumstances in which a court would void an election."

"Assuming everything you've said or think is accurate and there was a violation of state law, does that amount to anything more than an error that has been committed in any election?" asked Rashid.

Before a short break in proceedings, Rashid asked Boak to provide evidence other than "speculation and inference" that the touch-screen voting apparatus did not meet minimum requirements.

Afterward, Boak replied: "No matter what is discovered, there is no way that anybody will ever know that absent a special election limited to the 714 voters."

■ 'No matter what is discovered, there is no way that anybody will ever know that absent a special election limited to the 714 voters.'

Stephen Boak, –plaintiff's attorney

Rashid also dismissed the suit's contention that Vorva and the 714 unknown voters were denied equal protection under Michigan's Constitution. Rashid said no person can claim violation of another's constitutional rights. In addition, he said such a claim "is kind of a stretch, especially as it relates to your client."

Rashid refused to grant the district's motion for sanctions against Vorva for filing a frivolous lawsuit. "I can't conclude it was a frivolous suit. There were some substantial questions raised. I would be concerned about the chilling effect of granting sanctions. Mr. Vorva had a right to pursue these issues."

Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Superintendent Chuck Little, who attended the proceedings, said about the outcome: "I'm not surprised since this is the fourth time that there has been proven no fault with the machines. The school district did nothing wrong. It's a great opportunity for everybody to move ahead."

When asked if there would be an appeal, Boak said: "Don't know. We have 21 days to decide."

She's learning her job from A to Z

BY RENEE SKOGLUND
STAFF WRITER

Karen Green, the new assistant principal at Central Middle School, may have a permanent crook in her neck by the time school starts on Tuesday.

By last Monday, she had made over 400 calls to students' homes to introduce herself. She was up to the K's. She's halfway through the student roster.

"It's been an unbelievable response. Sometimes the kids answer the phone, and I say you're not going to believe this but this is your assistant principal. It's almost like there's a pause in the conversation, an 'Oh' or silence, and then I pick up the conversation from there. I ask them how their summer was. They share some of their experiences with me. They ask me about Mr. Cooper and where he was." (Former assistant principal Nick Cooper, who took a job in the Saline school district.)

Green has a genuine affection for middle school students. She's been involved with that age group since 1976. Before coming to Central, she taught music and was a counselor at Orchard Lake Middle School. She also taught middle school in the Oak Park School District.

"I like the age because I talk to them like adults, but they're young enough to take a chance on things. Apathy hasn't set in. Middle school kids are wonderful when it comes to being motivated. I've always found I've been able to motivate and influence."

To say that Green is energetic is nothing short of redundant. During her 10 years of being a vocal music teacher, she put on numerous musicals, concerts and talent shows, many of which involved staff. She also plays the piano and a bit of guitar and ukelele. "So maybe I can accompany myself."

She plans to be part of a "Tireless Teaching Award" program, in which deserving teachers are paid a surprise visit by the administration and recognized for their tireless efforts. "I will be composing a short ditty and singing for them."

For more fun, Green plays competitive racquet ball. She started playing in tournaments seven years ago and is nationally ranked. So kids, be warned: this is one toned and tough assistant principal.

Green wants it known that she has an open door policy at school. "I don't want the parents to be reluctant to call me or come in." That goes for the students as well.

Green said her ultimate goal is to make a difference in Plymouth-Canton. "I really like the sense of community here. Like I said at the board meeting, I haven't stopped smiling. It's the relationship that you treasure and take with you – the students, parents, colleagues."

separation anxiety as he turned away from the game to make sure his mom was still standing on the sidelines.

"He's so aggressive when he plays at home, I don't know what happens to him when he gets here. I guess it'll take a few games," said mom Dana Vaughan.

The kids' league plays the width of the regulation-sized 160-by-80-foot rink of dek tile, a rubberized surface for sneakers or in-line skates.

The popularity of playing in-line roller hockey and street hockey has grown to such proportions, a second enclosed rink will be added at Michigan Dekhockey this fall.

Only in its second year of operation on Michigan Avenue, east of Canton Center Road, owners Doug and Amy Mueller said the expansion is needed to provide enthusiasts with four-season play and a haven from rainouts.

They knew the sport would take off after being sold on the idea by a college roommate, Amy Mueller said.

The sport is big on the East Coast, she said. They figured it would be big in Canton, too, since the community is young and growing.

Dekhockey guru, Chris Housser of Lexington, Mass., came to Michigan in 1995 to help them design the sports complex, which the Muellers literally built themselves – with help from friends. They assembled the bleachers, the board system and laid the dek tile.

Michigan Dekhockey now boasts 70 teams on seven no-checking leagues that play seven nights a week. Leagues vary by age group, beginning at age 4 up to anyone 30 and over.

With the addition of the second rink, which will be enclosed with a universal fabric dome, teams will be able to play year-round. The 35-foot-tall dome will be a permanent tent-like structure, not a seasonal bubble used by softball or golf complexes.

Originally from Pittsburgh, the Muellers have lived in Canton for eight years. Amy worked as a nurse on the maternity wing at the University of Michigan Hospital until one year ago when she decided to dedicate herself to the rink.

Doug is a national sales manager for the Special Electric Company. He spends evenings at the rink and coaches the Hornets' team.

The Muellers have two children: 5-year-old Shawn, who plays with the Hornets, and 8-year-old Sara, who isn't the least bit interested in Dekhockey

Newcomers Club plans a busy fall

Beth McGinnus remembers being the new family on the block last year when she moved to Canton. McGinnus' husband transferred to a job at nearby Ford Motor Company from Philadelphia, Pa.

The Canton Newcomers helped cushion the move by helping her meet new friends. The group meets monthly and offers numerous activities from September until June. McGinnus has three children, two of whom are school-age.

One of the first activities McGinnus signed up for was the Mom and Tots program in which she and her 4-year-old daughter visited Domino Farms. She also participated in a costume Halloween Party at the Salvation Army and a spring fashion show, in which her daughter modeled clothes from the Dress Barn.

Other activities the Newcomers sponsor include: arts and crafts, playgroups, the couples social, dumb bunny bridge, babysit coop, book club, professional speakers, wallyball, ladies night out, bunko and euchre night.

"It was nice to walk through Kroger and see familiar faces from Newcomers," she said.

As this year's publicity chairwoman for the Canton Newcomers, McGinnus speaks from recent personal experience when touting the group during its fall membership drive.

The 100-member Newcomers group will meet for the first time this fall at 7 p.m. Sept. 3 at the Sunflower clubhouse, 45800 Hanford, west of Canton Center Road. The group meets the first Wednesday of every month. Some speakers include township Supervisor Tom Yack and Plymouth-Canton Community School Superintendent Dr. Charles Little.

"No matter how long you lived in Canton, you're welcome to join," she said.

The Newcomers is a social, civic and charitable non-profit organization designed to acquaint women with other women in the Canton area.

Call the membership and welcoming committee at 451-5426 or 207-7617.

Basins, wetlands, lake dredging help clean up Rouge

Project update: Joe Edwards, a senior engineer with Environmental Consulting and Technology, explains the Newburgh Lake dredging process to tourgoers.

BY TONY BRUSCATO
STAFF WRITER

The Rouge River is a much cleaner waterway than in the recent past.

That's the theme a group of nearly 50 people, consisting of citizens, county and federal officials heard during a tour Wednesday of the Rouge River watershed.

The expedition was for those interested in the revitalization of the Rouge, a demonstration of three ways which have been utilized to help clean the river, once one of the most polluted in the country.

Most notably, the group visited a created wetlands site in Inkster, a combined storm sewer overflow basin in Inkster, and the Newburgh Lake restoration project.

Members of the tour, which was organized by the Rouge Remedial Action Plan Advisory Council and hosted by the Wayne County Department of Environment, heard first-hand from senior engineer Joe Edwards of Environmental Consulting and Technology that Newburgh Lake will not be open for the 1998 summer recreation season.

Newburgh delays

"We are having some problems dredging the lake because of how wet it is," said Edwards. "While we are still hoping for a July or August completion date, I'm afraid it will take us until October."

Edwards said there had been some talk of dredging 24-hours a day to complete the project on time. However, the contractor, John Carlo of Sterling Heights, has not committed to that.

Carlo, which is being paid $7.4 million for the project, faces fines of $2,500 per day if Newburgh Lake is not finished by next July.

Edwards described for the group what dredging the soil is like.

"Imagine having a bowl of pudding with the rubbery layer on top after it sets a while," said Edwards. "We've run into a lot of problems. In fact, today we had a bulldozer stuck for three hours."

Tourgoers saw first-hand what Newburgh Lake soil is like on a rainy day. Edwards indicated that's what it's like all the time because the soil absorbs water and remains in a sludge state until partially dried out at a nearby location. It's then taken by truck to a landfill in Salem Township. If the contractor decides to keep dredging, instead of more conventional methods of removal, Edwards indicated the lake level will be increased to about 2 feet because the dredges need to work in water.

When all is said and done, 750,000 tons of soil will be removed from Newburgh Lake. Some of it will be contaminated with PCBs, the main reason for the clean-up project and some will be removed to make the lake deeper for recreational boating and fishing.

"The highest levels of contaminants are in the first 2 feet of soil," said Edwards. "Some of the other soil we take out can be taken to landfills or other parts of Newburgh Lake for fill."

Restaurants promote cleanup activities

Nearly 1.5 million people live around or near the Rouge River, making it one of the most publicly accessible rivers in the state. And, there are a lot of activities in and around the river, which makes the Rouge River one of the most popular recreational areas around.

In an effort to publicize the activities surrounding the river, a placemat featuring recreational activities such as golf courses, parks and nature preserves has been created by the Rouge River National Wet Weather Demonstration Project, Friends of the Rouge Education Subcommittee, and the Rouge Remedial Action Plan Advisory Council's Education Subcommittee. It's all part of a campaign to improve the water quality of the Rouge River.

Along with listing recreational areas, there are watershed facts and information, as well as a picture for children to color on the back.

The placemat is the first of two materials to focus on recreational opportunities in the watershed. A Rouge River Watershed recreational guide is expected to debut by spring, 1998. The map will contain information for all 48 communities in Wayne, Oakland and Washtenaw Counties which comprise the Rouge River watershed. An enlarged map showing recreation areas and a table listing the features of each area will also be included.

The newly-designed placemats are currently being used by several restaurants, including Johnson's in Canton; Big Boy, Bill Knapp's, Lakepointe Yacht Club, Mama Mia and Ram's Horn in Livonia; and Nankin Mills Inn in Westland.

For more information concerning the Rouge River Recreation placemat and guide, contact Noel Mullett, Wayne County Department of Environment, at 313-964-8868.

about 3 feet deep," Edwards told the group. "When we're finished, the bottom will average 8 feet deep. It will be shallower in areas where we put shoals."

Edwards says the plant life still growing will be removed. However, plants will be put around the shore, with the lake level to be carefully monitored so as not to cover the new plantings.

The group was able to see what part of the project will look like when finished. One area had a 6-foot bottom with rocks and gravel along what will be the shoreline.

Wetlands working

Tourgoers actually had a chance to walk in the mud while visiting the Inkster wetlands off Michigan Avenue.

The two-year project developed near existing wetlands was derived to collect storm water from 250 acres of watershed area, which used to go directly into the Rouge River.

"The major purpose of this wetlands is to trap the sediment and pollutants in the basin after a storm, then let the water go into the river," said Donald Tilton, of Tilton and Associates, Inc. in Ann Arbor, who developed the project. "We can get in and dig that out over the years, when it needs to be cleaned out."

"The dissolved nutrients, nitrogen and phosphorous, absorb in the soil and vegetation," continued Tilton. "The wetland has adapted to higher nutrient levels, so no damage is done. The same level of nutrients, if absorbed into the Rouge, causes algae growth and excessive aquatic plant growth, which has a negative effect on the river."

Tilton is pleased with the wetlands, and says after more testing he would like to look for other sites along the Rouge to create the same thing.

"The wetlands have met our expectations," noted Tilton. "The wildlife found it right away, the plant community came in real good, there are very few weeds, there are fish using it, and the water quality seems to be just fine."

Storm basin

Everyone was quite careful to "not touch the railings" as instructed when entering the reservoir of the Inkster overflow basin.

The $18.6-million basin collects storm water and sewage when the interceptor pipe to the sewage plant in Detroit backs up from over capacity.

The basin, run by computers, can collect a million gallons of water and sewage for holding, until the interceptor can take additional flow.

However, if the basin fills and needs to overflow into the Rouge River during heavy rains, the water is disinfected, the flow skimmed for debris and solids separated from the water before being dumped into the river. A much more sanitary scenario for the Rouge than before the basin was constructed.

The Inkster basin, as well as basins constructed in Redford Township and Dearborn Heights, will get a two-year evaluation. If all goes well, additional basins could be built at other sites along the Rouge River.

EMU wins award for diversity

Eastern Michigan University's commitment to campus diversity has landed the Ypsilanti school among a select group of America's best institutions.

EMU is being honored for creating an environment where students can "learn from people who have different backgrounds from their own."

Eastern's ranking amid Midwest regional universities has been recognized in the 11th annual America's Best Colleges issue and guidebook released by U.S. News & World Report.

"Our campus community is dedicated to providing a strong learning environment to all students," said EMU President William E. Shelton. "Diversity prepares our graduates for the challenges they will face in a rapidly changing world. I am especially pleased that our values of promoting respect, equity, cultural diversity and integrity have been recognized nationally."

U.S. News & World Report uses a mathematical equation based on the proportion of various groups within the 1996-97 undergraduate student body. Groups included in the calculation were American Indians or Alaskan Natives; Asians or Pacific Islanders, African Americans who are non-Hispanic; whites who are non-Hispanic; plus Hispanics and those who are multi-racial.

Heading the Midwest list is Rutgers University in New Jersey, followed by Occidental College in California.

"We have known for a long time that Eastern Michigan University is one of the finest regional universities in this part of the country," added Shelton. "It pleases us to have U.S. News acknowledge our efforts and our opportunities."

Eastern Michigan University was founded in 1849, and is preparing to celebrate its sesquicentennial in 1999. EMU remains the largest provider of K-12 educational personnel in the country.

Auditions scheduled for S'craft production

The theater department at Schoolcraft College will conduct auditions for Arthur Miller's drama, A View From the Bridge.

The tryouts will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 2 and 3 at 7 p.m. in the Liberal Arts building theatre.

The play involves the lives of a longshoreman and his family when they allow into their home two Italian cousins who have entered the country illegally. When one of the cousins falls in love with a niece the longshoreman has raised and thinks of as a daughter, the dramatic conflict explodes.

Auditions are open to anyone in the community. The play will be presented in a dinner theatre Oct. 24, 25 and 31, as well as Nov. 1. Stand-alone performances will be held Nov. 7 and 8.

For ticket information, call (313) 462-4409, or you can purchase tickets at the college bookstore.

Schoolcraft College is located at 18600 Haggerty, between Six Mile and Seven Mile roads, Livonia.

Quality makes Michaelene's Granola stand out

We've all had this happen to us. Someone brings a dish to work or a party. It's really good, you ask for the recipe, and try to make it at home. You're disappointed though, because it doesn't taste as good when you make it.

This is how Michaelene Hearn got into the business of making gourmet granola 13 years ago.

"I used to be a Lamaze instructor," said Hearn. "I brought some granola in for my students. I told them it was a nutritious alternative to chips and cookies, and helped with morning sickness. I've been making granola for 20 years."

She gave her students the recipe. "They'd say, 'mine doesn't taste like yours, could you please make it?'"

The mother of four girls now ranging in age from 14 to 21, Hearn decided to give granola a try so she could stay home with her kids. "My older sister was one my biggest fans and encouraged me," she said.

Now the Clarkston-based company, Michaelene's Gourmet Granola, is available in 18 flavors, and sold locally in many specialty stores such as Vic's, Strawberry Hill, Papa Joe's, Westborn, Holiday Market in Royal Oak, Betty's Grocery, and Shopping Center Markets.

TWA serves it to their first class passengers, and special ordered it for Pope John Paul II during his last visit to the United States. The pope had Michaelene's apple raisin granola for breakfast.

Quality

In 1994 she won the award for the Best Honey-Containing Cereal from The National Honey Association.

"Our emphasis is on quality," said Hearn. "Everyone starts small and aspires to grow big. We really do want to stay small, we don't want to mass market. Once you do, it's not the same. We want to control our quality."

S'more Sweetnola is the company's newest flavor. "My daughter Elizabeth invented it," she said. "She and her friends came up with the idea a year ago at her birthday party. I made a special granola for them with chocolate chips. They said, 'maybe you should put marshmallows and graham crackers in it.' I introduced it this June at the International Fancy Food & Confection Show in New York City."

Elizabeth, 14, and her friends attend St. Hugo of the Hills Catholic School in Bloomfield Hills. Michaelene's Granola is sold in the cafeteria.

Attention to detail, and refusal to settle for less than the best, is what makes Michaelene's Gourmet Granola stand out from the rest.

"We use whole almonds, cashews, and walnuts," she said. "We're very particular about our ingredients. I don't use chips or pieces of fruit or nuts. I want everything we make to be the best. The flavor is so much richer."

Her Cherry-Almond Crunch Granola is made with dried Michigan cherries. Cappuccino Crunch and Rainforest Naturals are other flavorful choices.

Michaelene's Gourmet Granolas are a mixture of golden toasted whole oats sparked with wildflower honey and brown sugar (no sugar optional) with a selection of quality nuts, premium dried fruits and all natural flavorings.

Her product line also includes low-fat, no sugar, and fancy fruit varieties.

Simply Sunny & Honey consists of oats and sunflower seeds, sweetened lightly with honey and brown sugar. The Original Nutty Raisin has plump California raisins, almonds, cashews, walnuts and sunflower seeds.

Tasty Wake-ups

You can't ever be too late for breakfast at Willow Brook Inn Bed & Breakfast in Canton. Located on a wooded acre, the inn filled with antiques and childhood keepsakes, is a peaceful oasis. Guests enjoy relaxing in the hammock, or sitting on the swing watching ducks and other wildlife by the brook which runs along the back of the inn.

"I try to pamper people when they come here," said Bernadette Van Lenten who operates the inn with her husband Michael. "I serve breakfasts 5:30-10:30 a.m."

Bernadette fondly remembers the anniversary couple who lost track of time reminiscing about their 25 years together after she brought them coffee in the morning, and came down for breakfast late.

"She was apologizing for inconveniencing me, and here I'm thinking what an honor it is to have someone feel so comfortable in your home," said Van Lenten. "What could be more important than talking about your marriage?"

Providing the setting for happy memories, and making good breakfasts too, is something the Van Lentens and other members of the Michigan Lake to Lake Bed & Breakfast Association do very well.

"These are people who have to get up early every morning to put on a good breakfast, and appeal to a variety of tastes," said Roberta Spanbauer of Amherst Press publisher of "Inn Time for Breakfast...Again A Cookbook & Travel Guide from the Innkeepers of the Michigan Lake to Lake Bed & Breakfast Association, released in June.

A line drawing and description of the inn precedes the more than 60 bed & breakfasts featured. Readers will get a feel for the place, and can turn to the directory in back for more information about Michigan Bed & Breakfasts.

"We wanted to address home cooks, and people who want to get away," said Spanbauer. "These are quick and easy recipes." Many recipe introductions include make-ahead tips and substitutions.

Van Lenten's popular Harvest Pancakes, made with wheat flour, buttermilk, grated tart apple, and pecans, was one of the recipes chosen. They're popular with guests, and sure to become a favorite at your house.

"I'm not a real creative cook, but I enjoy playing around with recipes," said Van Lenten. "I'll take a basic recipe and dress it up."

The pancakes were inspired by apple pancakes she and her daughter enjoyed in California.

Married for 29 years July 6, Bernadette grew up in California on the West Coast, her husband in Maine on the East Coast. Their three guest room inn, which includes one suite, with

COOKBOOKS

Books feature innkeepers' best recipes

BY KEELY WYGONIK
STAFF WRITER

"Innkeepers don't need alarm clocks," said cookbook author, Laura Zahn. "They just bake, and people wake up."

Ten years ago she was writing guidebooks in Minnesota. Her first bed and breakfast cookbooks were the regional "Wake Up and Smell the Coffee Series."

She's just introduced a new one – "Innkeeper's Best."

"Innkeepers' Best Muffins," and "Innkeepers' Best Low-Fat Breakfasts," ($9.95, Down to Earth Publications), feature favorite recipes from bed and breakfasts all over the country, including Michigan.

"I've been hearing more and more from innkeepers that they get requests for low-fat breakfasts, which are hard to do," she said. "The muffin one just seemed to fit with bed and breakfasts. I was surprised by the variety of recipes people sent me."

The recipes are practical, created by innkeepers who don't have a lot of time to fuss.

"Innkeepers have tried them over and over," said Zahn. "They are busy people. You can find the ingredients everywhere, and you don't have to be a professional chef to make them."

Both books in the "Innkeeper's Best" series include line drawings and descriptions of the inns whose recipes are featured.

Low-fat Date Bran Muffins, created by innkeeper Diane Shield who owns The Inn at Ludington, have a hint of orange, and can be made the night before.

another in the works, is cozy, and reflects their love for the sea shore.

"By nature we are very home centered people," said Bernadette. "our home has always been the center of our life, and it still is."

While their children were growing up, the Van Lentens stayed in bed and breakfast on vacations. "In a hotel you have no sense of where you are. We wanted our children to have a much more memorable experience. When my son was 12 we stayed in an inn in Lincoln, Nebraska. He was bored because there was no TV. The innkeeper asked if he knew how to play chess. 'Would you like to learn?' she asked. He did, and still plays today. Staying at bed & breakfasts opened a whole new world to us. We started really talking, and sat down and had breakfast together. It opened a whole new world to us."

Chris Mason who operates The Parish house Inn in Ypsilanti, and is president of the Michigan Lake to Lake Bed & Breakfast Association, introduced the cookbook idea.

"It turned out lovely," she said. "It's a useful cookbook and guidebook."

Her Michigan Baked Oatmeal recipe was inspired by a guest who never came. "She sent me a recipe, and said 'you have to try this.' I was skeptical, but it's just delightful."

Founded in 1982, the Michigan Lake to Lake Bed & Breakfast Association is the oldest in the country. There are over 250 members.

Mason and Van Lenten both agree the secret to good breakfasts is keeping it simple, and planning ahead.

"If you can save five minutes in the morning that's a lot of time," said Mason. "It sometimes means the difference between eating breakfast and not eating. On weekends you can make it more special. Use pretty dishes, put flowers on the table, balance out your flavors."

Whether you're looking for ideas for a special weekend breakfast, or something quick and hearty for back-to-school mornings, you'll find it in "Inn Time For Breakfast Again."

It's also a great reference for people who are planning fall color tours. All of the inns have been inspected, and meet association criteria. The book retails for $15.95, and is available in bookstores, Michigan innkeepers, or through the publisher, Amherst Press, 800-333-8122.

Willow Brook Inn Bed & Breakfast is at 44255 Warren Road, Canton. Rates range from $75 to $105. Bernadette is also planning a Spa Weekend getaway package for women to be offered at a later date. For more information, or reservations, call (313) 454-0019 or (888) 454-1919.

her Pineapple Cream Muffin recipe.

"When people go to bed and breakfasts they expect everything made from scratch," said Zahn. "This recipe calls for instant vanilla pudding, but I made an exception to the rule because they're so good."

Tart Cherry Crepes, a low-fat recipe from the Pentwater Inn was another of Zahn's favorite recipes.

Look for "Innkeeper's best quick breads and cookies," next fall.

Zahn's other project is a gifty, hardcover cookbook, "Chocolate for Breakfast and Tea: B&B Innkeepers Sahre Their Finest Recipes," also published by Down to Earth Publications, $21.95, which took two years to write.

"I'm really pleased with it," she said. "People are intimidated by chocolate, but they shouldn't be. These are practical recipes innkeepers make, they're not fancy pants."

Beautifully illustrated with photographs, and descriptions of inns across the country, "Chocolate for Breakfast and Tea," is a mouthwatering collection of recipes, and useful guidebook too.

Three of Bernadette Van Lenten's recipes are included – Chocolate Raspberry Date Bread, Toasted Walnut Fudge Bread, and Double Chocolate Delight Muffins.

"There are upwards of 20,000 bed and breakfasts in the country," said Zahn. "It's a very intriguing concept – the thrill of being able to stay in a house you could never afford to own, and the pleasure of having someone else cook for you."

Zahn enjoys staying at bed and breakfasts, especially when she travels on business. "I feel safer," she said. "I know there will be someone to talk to, and someone who genuinely cares how your trip is going."

She's also on a mission. "What I'm trying to do is promote the smaller bed and breakfast inns," she said. "These are the ones who capture my heart. These are small business owners who are working real hard. The smaller innkeepers don't have five star chefs, but they are doing really good food that you can do at home."

Look for "Chocolate for Breakfast and Tea" in bookstores in September. The "Innkeeper's Best" cookbooks are available now. If you have trouble finding them, call the publisher, 800-585-6211.

Got Milk?

Some people outgrow their taste for milk, not me. Melody Farms new portable, resealable bottles, which fit in the cup holder of a car, are great for milk lovers on the go.

"Drivers who are looking for a more healthful drink than soda or iced tea will appreciate these new containers," said Stephen George director of marketing for Melody Farms, which is based in Livonia.

Whole, two percent and chocolate milk are available in the clear plastic bottle, as well as orange juice. Melody Farms has plans to add other fruit drinks in the spring of 1998. The bottles, which retail for 89 to 99 cents, are recyclable too.

Tomato soup is a light dish for summertime dining

AP – Roasted Tomato Soup with a Savory Froth can be served warm or cold. It is a versatile and soulful summer dish that seems to offset the lightness of most of the season's cooking. It is from Molly O'Neill's new cookbook, "The Pleasure of Your Company: How to give a dinner party without losing your mind" (Viking, $26.95).

ROASTED TOMATO SOUP WITH A SAVORY FROTH

For the soup:

12 ripe plum tomatoes
2 teaspoons kosher salt, plus more to taste
4 cups chicken broth, homemade or low-sodium canned
1/4 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper, plus more to taste
Bread crumbs for thickening soup, as needed
1/2 teaspoon fresh lemon zest

For the froth:

4 cloves garlic, unpeeled
1/2 cup plain yogurt
1 tablespoon minced red onion
2 tablespoons minced fresh cucumber
1/2 cup heavy cream
Salt and freshly ground pepper, to taste
2 teaspoons minced fresh parsley

To make the soup, preheat the oven to 325 degrees F. Slice the tomatoes in half lengthwise, place them on a baking sheet and sprinkle lightly with salt, and bake in the oven for 2 hours. Place the unpeeled 4 cloves of garlic for the froth on the same baking sheet and roast until tender, 1 1/2 to 2 hours, along with the tomatoes.

Remove the tomatoes and garlic; set the garlic aside, and place the tomatoes in a soup pot with the chicken broth, the remaining salt and the pepper, and simmer over low heat for 45 minutes. Pass the mixture through a food mill. If the tomatoes are particularly juicy, you may find that several tablespoons of fresh bread crumbs are necessary to correct the texture of the soup. Therefore, add bread crumbs as necessary, season with additional salt and pepper to taste, stir in the lemon zest, and chill the mixture.

For the froth, place the yogurt in a fine mesh strainer and drain out excess liquid for 1 hour. When the yogurt has drained, place it along with the roasted garlic, the red onion and the fresh cucumber in the bowl of a food processor and process until smooth. Remove to a medium-size mixing bowl.

Using a wire whisk, beat the heavy cream to stiff peaks. Gently fold the whipped cream into the yogurt mixture and season with salt and pepper. Fold in the minced parsley. Serve the soup warm or cold, garnished with a dollop of the froth. Makes 4 servings.

In addition to the wine selection, for dessert Emily's will bring in a Black Muscat from Rosenblum Winery for dessert.

Herbed popcorn

For 8-10 cups of hot popcorn, melt 1/2 cup diet margarine seasoned with 1 teaspoon oregano and parsley and 1/2 teaspoon each of basil, garlic powder and onion powder.

Let blend before stirring into hot popcorn.

One cup of buttered popcorn has 40 calories, and one cup of this recipe has 32 calories.

One cup of unbuttered popcorn has 25 calories.

When you've finished the popcorn, you can find other uses for herbs: Basil is known to ward off mosquitoes. Place potted plants in areas where the flying insects are a problem.

Scatter bay leaves in areas that attract creeping pests to keep the bugs far away.

Sole-man: Suede shoes in all colors are big for fall. Shoppers on a budget can find these from Utility at Target, $19.99.

School shoes have class

What kinds of back-to-school shoes are popular with the sixth-grade and under set?

"Nike's and Reebok's," said 12-year-old Cara Saam of Livonia, while shopping with mom, Cissy, and brother, Zach, 7, at Perkos Quality Children Shoes in Livonia recently.

"That's all kids want to wear anymore is tennis shoes," her mother said.

SHOPPING CENTERED

DONNA MULCAHY

OK, but what do kids wear when they dress up?

Saam, whose children go to public school, shook her head. "They don't have dress-up days," she said. "Well; I take that back. There was one day last year, when Cara graduated from the sixth grade. The teachers told the kids they had to dress up for the ceremony."

But even then, some of the boys wore athletic shoes with their dress pants, Cissy and Cara Saam pointed out.

Based on what retailers have told me, that's not surprising. When given the opportunity to choose whatever shoes they want, a lot of kids choose to wear running or basketball shoes, especially those made by Nike and Reebok, and skateboard shoes, particularly those made by Air Walk.

Skateboard shoes kind of look like old-fashioned, flat-soled, lace-up tennis shoes. Only, they have a thicker sole and the rubber trim around the shoe is higher, which is supposed to be good for skateboarding.

They come in canvas or suede, and in a variety of colors, but black is the most popular with boys, retailers say.

Dale Maple, owner of Hansel N' Gretel Shoes & Dancewear in Birmingham explained.

"It (skateboard shoes) started as a West Coast surfer thing about 10 years ago. Then it became part of the grunge look. And now, it's part of a cleaner look for the little guys."

Stephanie Wilhelm, assistant manager of the Footlocker store at Laurel Park Place in Livonia, said Air Walk, Nike and Reebok are extremely popular, with boys as well as girls. Kids want the brand name – and not just on their shoes. If their shoes have the Nike "swoosh" logo, then they want it on their shirts, hats and socks as well, Wilhelm said.

However, there are some kids who aren't into that.

Greg Zivov, one of the owners of Greg Shoes in West Bloomfield said, "Kids are wearing whatever they want to wear. It depends on their individual styles and fashion sense." It also depends on what their schools allow them to wear.

He said he checks to see what types of shoes are allowed at those schools and then stocks at least two or three different variations on each style.

When it comes to non-athletic shoes, this is what's popular, retailers say: Chunky heels, thick "lug" bottoms, T-straps, clogs, and clunky-looking shoes for girls, and oxfords and work boots for boys.

Most people still prefer smooth leather, but nu-buck leather, which is softer than suede, is also popular this year, said Tom Welch, owner of Hershey's Shoes in Garden City. The most comfortable and practical school shoes, he said, are those that can be buckled or tied.

He offered this piece of advice to parents, and other retailers I talked to mentioned the same thing:

"Make sure you don't fit your children's feet yourselves. Come to a friendly, high-quality shoe salesman to have them fitted, because if you don't get the right size, you could do permanent damage to their feet."

Jacobson's show salutes best of fall

The Jacobson's/W Magazine benefit for VARIETY, the Children's Charity, showcased the retailer's fall collections with labels from Montana, Chanel, Escada, Armani and Missoni. The program drew raves, proving Jacobson's is on track with its audience.

VARIETY benefactors enthusiastically applauded the couture fashions presented by Jacobson's at Wednesday evening's benefit at the Birmingham store, which also included a video toast to W Magazine's 25 years of fashion reporting.

As the lights dimmed on the store's second level, the tune "People Who Need People Are The Luckiest People In The World" filled the air, and a 10-minute photo essay chronicling two decades of famous fashion faces flashed across the screen.

Bobbi Queen, editor of W Magazine, introduced the program by praising the sophistication and style of the Birmingham-area, telling the audience, "you have a wonderful way of life here, reminding me that New York is not the center of style and fashion as many of us like to think."

Wearing a long black jacket over easy black trousers with a gray mock turtleneck, Queen pointed out that in reviewing 25 years of W magazine, everything old is new again – "Look what's back – Halston designs, ultra-suede, bell bottoms, Gucci, Chanel and Burberry's plaid."

She reminded the crowd that at W "We have fun trying to make sense. . . or non-sense of it all. . . trying to generate excitement for the designs and the industry."

"And there's not one right solution in fashion and styling," she concluded, "but, many right ways. What's important about fashion, is how you feel about yourself when you get dressed."

Jacobson's was one of just three retailers nationally to host W's anniversary program.

The runway show, choreographed by Douglas Riddle of Jacobson's, was a combination of the store's collections from both European and American designers. The exquisitely-patterned knits by Missoni and the seductive gowns by John Galliano drew applause.

Glamour is back

"There's a new energy in women's wear," proclaimed Beverly Rice, Jacobson's new merchandising director and 44-year veteran of the retail game. "Glamour is back and we've been so void of it for so many seasons. Looks like designers are not playing it safe or silly. They realize, as we do at Jacobson's, that they must respect the knowledge and sophistication of today's customer who travels the world."

Echoing Rice, patron Marcia Auslander of Farmington Hills, called the fabrics and designs presented, "crisp, sharp, and very wearable."

Blanca Q. Fauble of Bloomfield Hills said they were "very exciting."

P. Gerald Mills, former CEO at Hudson's who was called out of retirement in 1996 to become Chairman, President and CEO of Jacobson's, told the audience that he thought the specialty retailer "was a gem of a company, with the best people, best merchandise."

"That's why we're here," he said. "The stores are well-appointed and the relationships between the sales associates and customers is exemplary."

Jennie Cascio, executive director for VARIETY, said the evening's 250 guests helped raise $25,000 for children's charities. Since Jacobson's picked up the tab for the show, music, and food, all proceeds went directly into programs that help disadvantaged children.

Neiman's hosts Humane Society benefit

An auction item, up for bid.

What might turn out to be the social event of the season?

Why the entertainment-packed 120th Anniversary extravaganza for The Michigan Humane Society, Saturday, Sept. 13, at Neiman Marcus at the Somerset Collection South in Troy.

The "PAWS for Celebration" event includes an extraordinary evening of dinner, dancing and entertainment. It will feature the legendary talents of Ed McMahon, Frankie Valli and the Four Seasons, and a fashion show featuring the latest from the country's top designers including Pam McMahon.

(McMahon's collection of unique couture garments signed with collectible buttons and exquisite fabric combinations, is sold through Neiman Marcus.)

The event also includes a live auction of exceptional items including a portrait by the acclaimed Russian artist Serguei Timtchenko, and "humane" art works created exclusively by students of the Center for Creative Studies in Detroit.

Guests will delight in a strolling dinner and enjoy the cuisine of over 20 Metro-Detroit restaurants and dance to the music of Jerry Fenby.

"For 120 years, the Michigan Humane Society has rescued and provided care and shelter for hundreds of thousands of animals, and has united loving pets with countless Michigan children and families," said Lil Erdeljan, co-chair of Paws for Celebration.

"For people who care about animals and desire a wonderful evening of excitement and celebration – Paws for Celebration is a must attend event."

Ticket prices: $300 for Humane Society Benefactors for all evening festivities including a special cocktail reception and VIP loge seating for the fashion show, art auction and entertainment extravaganza.

$175 for Humane Society Patrons for all evening festivities including a special cocktail reception and theater style seating for the fashion show, art auction and entertainment extravaganza.

$75 for Humane Society Friends for dinner, dancing and limited seating and standing room for the Frankie Valli show.

Festivities begin at 6 p.m. until midnight for Benefactors and Patrons; 8:30 p.m. until midnight for Friends.

"Paws for Celebration promises to be the largest fund raising event in Michigan Humane Society history," added event co-chair Denise Lutz.

Gary Tiscornia, executive director of the Michigan Humane Society, said the money raised will go toward maintaining the area's three shelters, arranging animal adoptions, paying medical bills for wounded or rescued wildlife, funding cruelty investigations, providing education programs to schools, and arranging pet visitations to nursing homes and hospitals.

The MHS Pet Education Center will also receive funds for its year-end opening and help hot-line.

Dream fashions cruise the Nordstrom runway

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
EDITOR

Maybe Woodward Avenue was the place to see fashionable cars last Saturday, but Nordstrom's was definitely the place to view fabulous fashions.

At their first birthday party Aug. 16, which doubled as a breakfast benefit for The Detroit Chapter of The Links, Nordstrom treated the early morning crowd to a high-on-style 30-minute trend show. The action followed a presentation by Barbara Smith, Afro-American model, restaurateur and author, who spoke about her career and new nationally-syndicated show B. Smith With Style. (Premiering Sunday, Sept. 21 at 7:30 a.m. on WDIV/Channel 4.)

According to store manager Chris Younker, the morning produced $11,000 for The Links, a volunteer service organization. Among the crowd such Detroit boosters as Trudy Archer, Celeste Stokes McDermott, Martha Vincent, Betty Anne Price and Dr. Velma Mobley.

Smith, 47, was the first black model to make the cover of Mademoiselle magazine in 1976. She retired from modeling at 29, and went on two open to very successful restaurants in New York City and Washington D.C.

She told the audience that the way they treat people along the way "is so important."

"Fashion, style, friends and fun – those are my keys to life," she said with a wide grin. "It's also essential in this time and age to help out in the community."

She ended her speech by singing a few bars of "With A Child's Heart," and remained at the store to meet patrons and sign copies of her book on entertaining.

Nordstrom played on the Dream Cruise theme, sending pairs and couples down the runway behind steering wheels and license plates reading "I brake for Nordstrom." The message of the day was "layering" in unique and colorful ways – like a slip dress topped by a mini skirt, topped by a jacket.

Charcoal-gray chalk stripe and pinstripe men's suits were brought to life by rich-hued shirts and bold-colored ties in shades of orange, royal and green.

Knitwear was mixed with velvets, tweeds, and wools. Suits sported both strong and soft shoulders. The silhouette of the season calls for longer jackets, shorter skirts and higher heels.

Freelance fashion stylist M.J. Burns, said she was glad to see a fuller trouser this season.

"These slacks are definitely forgiving to womans' figure," she said. "And I'm glad to see the higher heels are back. They make a woman's gait more sensual and feminine."

Jill Veneable of Orion Township called the collection "diverse" and "wonderful."

"I'm partial to St. John knits, but I may check out a few of the other departments this year," she said.

Nordstrom featured fashions from Vivienne Tam, Ellen Tracy, BCBG, Dana Buchman, Andrew Marc, Jones New York, Tommy Hilfiger, Escada, Sigrid Ilsen, DKNY, Thierry Mugler, Richard Tyler, Valentino and their own exclusive lines, Great Garbo, Brass Plum and Faconnable.

Drive my car: (Top left) Fashion layering becomes fun and funky when patterns, length and colors are mixed.

YOU AND THE LAW
by Stuart M. Feldheim
Attorney at Law
TANGIBLE EVIDENCE
In many cases, those who suffer injury have the benefit of physical evidence to help prove their case. Such evidence may come in the form of automobile damage or a broken consumer product. Skid marks can be used to reconstruct accident speeds.
After an accident, it is important to try and preserve all tangible evidence that can help prove your case. Photographs should also be taken as soon as possible of the accident scene. Photographs should also be taken of injuries to prove their severity at a later time. Finally, it is most important to get the names, addresses and phone numbers of all witnesses to the accident and individuals, who by reason of their authority, have a right to retain tangible evidence that will be needed to prove your case.
At the The LAW OFFICES OF STUART M. FELDHEIM, you'll find that we have the experience you need to successfully pursue a personal injury claim. We specialize in handling claims involving automobile accidents, medical malpractice, products liability, slip and falls and on the job injuries. We are located at 30300 Northwestern Hwy., Suite 108, Farmington Hills, Michigan. If you have been injured, call toll-free 888-505-4900 or 248-932-3505 to schedule a free initial consultation.
HINT: The typical personal injury lawsuit is settled in private negotiations before trial.

ARTISTIC EXPRESSIONS

Commission awards scholarships

The Livonia Arts Commission promotes art in the community, but now future generations will benefit from a scholarship program aimed at encouraging careers in the fine arts. In addition to presenting art exhibitions at three venues in the city, co-sponsoring the Music Under the Stars series, and producing an annual arts and crafts festival at Greenmead Historical Village, the nonprofit organization awarded a total of $5,000 in scholarships to five students.

Livonia Mayor Jack Kirksey presented the scholarships to the students during a reception at Livonia City Hall in late May.

"I was so impressed with the students' enthusiasm," said arts commissioner Lucy Timmons. "I think this is the best use of money to encourage young people in pursuing the arts."

According to Timmons, a retired Livonia Public Schools teacher, money for the scholarships, offered for the first time this year, was raised at the commission's arts and crafts fair, held each June at Greenmead Historical Village. Timmons chaired the five person committee which chose the winners from 19 entries based on school transcripts and personal interviews. Applicants had to be Livonia residents.

"Need wasn't a primary concern," said Timmons. "Although with the cost of tuition these days, all students are needy."

The $1,000 scholarship will help Andrea Pyrkosz take a bite out of the $16,000 tuition at Center for Creative Studies College of Art and Design. Pyrkosz, a Stevenson High School graduate begins classes in drawing, silk screen and photography on Sept. 2. She hopes eventually to become an illustrator working in the advertising industry.

"I knew, I always wanted to be in art and to always be involved with the concept," said Pyrkosz. "To me, the scholarship means Livonia is really supportive of artists."

Melissa Edmunds will also attend Center for Creative Studies in Detroit. The Scholastics award winner, who spent two years studying in the Creative and Performing Arts program at Churchill High School, plans to major in fine arts but will also explore furniture design and medical illustration.

"I was surprised to win because there were so many entries," said Edmunds. "The scholarship helps a great deal. I'm thankful for receiving whatever help."

The scholarship will ease Mary Beth Snyder's financial burden as well. On Sept. 3, Snyder will begin studies at the University of Michigan School of Art and Design where tuition is $5,000. Add to that the cost of dorms and the total climbs to $11,000. Snyder, a Stevenson graduate, plans on becoming a graphic designer or illustrator in the advertising field. She should have no problem finding work. Last year, she won several Scholastics awards including a Gold Key for a colored pencil still life and silver keys for a print, a charcoal drawing, an acrylic painting, and a black and white drawing of Detroit Red Wing Sergei Federov.

"I was very pleasantly surprised to win the scholarship," said Snyder. "Tuition rates are high and it helps a lot."

Emily Haase will enter her senior year at the University of Detroit as a theater major with fewer financing worries. Tuition costs the Churchill High School graduate $12,000 per year.

The Creative and Performing Arts program at Churchill taught Haase basic terminology, gave her the opportunity to audition for three shows a year, and nurtured the desire to earn a living on stage or in films. In the meantime, Haase performs in productions such as "Lend Me a Tenor" put on by the Livonia/Redford Theatre Guild last March. This fall, she will act with a group from Midwest Aids

What: An exhibition of paintings by Canton artist Jim Isakson presented by the Ann Arbor Art Center. For more information, call (313) 994-8004.
When: Through Wednesday, Sept. 17.
Where: Espresso Royale Cafe II, 214 South Main, Ann Arbor, (313) 668-1838.

Jim Isakson's love for camping and nature shows in paintings on exhibit at Espresso Royale Cafe in Ann Arbor. A 32-year-old Canton artist, Isakson strives to instill an appreciation for Mother Earth in viewers by connecting dots of color in the Pointillism style of French Post-Impressionist Georges Seurat. His exhibition is part of an off-site program presented by the Ann Arbor Art Center at nine different venues around the city.

"In nature, there's so much diversity and mystery conveyed to me that provokes me as an artist to paint what we take for granted," said Isakson, a Center for Creative Studies graduate. "I want to project that there's a lot more to nature than meets the eye. Nature is about reality, mystery and spirituality. It's rhythms, patterns and colors all have a meaning."

Isakson carefully and systematically organizes the series of dots into pictorial order thereby introducing life and rhythmic movement in the painting.

"In my paintings I like to create a strong visual rhythm as if the work were alive in the sense of being one organism." said Isakson. "The shapes interact with one another creating a kind of cause and effect. I like to think of a subject as if it were alive and to have an area that is recognizable but also includes abstract elements as well."

Isakson's first one man show at Clique Gallery in Royal Oak included the acrylic "North Fire," a painting capturing the color and movement of a roaring campfire. Viewers of this second one-man show at the cafe should step back to see the entire image, only then is it possible to decipher the howling coyote, moose and snake hidden in the flames.

In "Fossiland" Isakson depicts the sun's energy and its relationship with the earth over time. The flowing and curving landscape is a metaphor for the sun's radiating power, the dinosaur fossil a symbol of the ancient earth. "Spirit Beast" shows a dead animal decomposing and becoming a part of the earth as blue ghost-like shapes float off from the head.

"Nature entertains me but it also makes me think about its diversity and the role it plays," said Isakson. "As human beings we depend on it and are part of it for our own survival."

Isakson works as a graphic designer during the day. His nights are limited to painting three dimensional illusion in a two dimensional format.

"My objective is for the viewer to interact with the painting," said Isakson. "I strive to project a kind of static energy where dots and color relay the shapes and forms in a profound way."

Visits to his parents' home on Lake Superior's Keweenaw Peninsula provides plenty of subject matter. When necessary, Isakson uses local resources to capture the beauty of nature. He recently spent several hours at Maybury State Park in Northville photographing dragonflies for his next painting.

Businesses strike bargain with artists

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN

Patrons of Ann Arbor businesses and cafes are enjoying pleasant and intriguing art works while drinking their morning coffee, shopping for furniture, or picking up a sandwich for lunch.

The Ann Arbor Art Center's innovative off-site exhibition program provides nine different venues for Michigan artists such as Susan Heitman, Plymouth and Bruce Janda, Livonia to display work in Ann Arbor. The exhibits create a valuable connection between the community and artists increasing appreciation, public awareness and support of the visual arts.

Family ties: Bruce Janda of Livonia displays color photographs, inspired by his family's history, as part of the Ann Arbor Art Center's off-site exhibition program. This photograph is titled "Left Bank Scene – Prague and Bohemia."

"The goal is to support local and emerging artists in our area," said Sharon Currey, Ann Arbor Art Center gallery director. "But in return the businesses have an enhanced atmosphere."

Currey took over the director position in March with the idea of expanding the off-site exhibition program begun in 1993. She immediately went looking for businesses with good lighting, a high traffic area, and an appropriate atmosphere for displaying art.

The newest venue, Workbench Contemporary Furniture will show "Twisted Fables," a series of colorful narrative paintings that refer to the childhood of Ann Arbor artist Amanda Miller. The show opens Monday, Sept. 15, with a fresh twist. Workbench will feature talks by artists on the last Wednesday of every other Month beginning with Miller Wednesday, Sept. 24.

"It's a unique sort of idea because people can listen to the artists as they stand in front of their work," said Currey. "The talks give insight as to what makes the artist tick."

Workbench manager Dawn Nadeau came up with the idea for the artist talks. She describes herself as "very interested in art but by no means a connoisseur.

"I think, it's important when you're putting up an off-site exhibit to have someone who knows about art," said Nadeau. "We're in the furniture business and can't really tell people about the art."

The off-site program allows Workbench to support the surrounding community and a large pool of talented artists in the area. In addition, the store provides a perfect environment to show customer's the stylish look possible when coordinating Workbench's living and dining room sets with art.

Rebel with a bow: Reformed bad-boy violinist Nigel Kennedy is the featured guest at the Farmington Area Philharmonic's opening season concert.

Farmington Philharmonic rebellious and lovin' it

BY FRANK PROVENZANO
STAFF WRITER

What: Farmington Area Philharmonic's 1997-98 season opening concert featuring British violin virtuoso Nigel Kennedy
When: 8 p.m. Friday, August 29
Where: Fuerst Auditorium at Novi High School
Tickets: $15-$40. Available at Ticketmaster outlets and the Farmington Area Philharmonic, (248) 478-2075.

Nixon and Kennedy will meet again. And soon.

The sequel not even Hollywood producers could have thought was possible will sound much more melodic than stale political rhetoric. Still doubtful?

Okay skeptics, meet Karen Nixon-Lane, the irrepressible music director and founder of the Farmington Area Philharmonic.

In yet another showdown with the stuffy traditionalists of the classical music world, Nixon-Lane and the Philharmonic have collared an internationally acclaimed musician to perform with the 70-member orchestra.

Reformed bad-boy violinist Nigel Kennedy will be the featured guest at this Friday's concert in Fuerst Auditorium at Novi High School.

Flamboyant by even rock music standards, Kennedy ends a five-year hiatus from the classical stage. He left proclaiming to "never again play the music of dead composers."

Either Beethoven has risen from the dead, or the blazin' Brit has had a change of heart. Kennedy is expected to perform Beethoven's "Violin Concerto" in his trademark frenetic, take-no-prisoners style.

Returning to the stage earlier this year in Europe, Kennedy's performances featured the music of Bartok, Bach and Hendrix – as in Jimi "Purple Haze/Are You Experienced?" Hendrix.

The choice of Kennedy – who recorded one of the biggest-selling classical albums of all-time – underscores Nixon-Lane's passionate effort to reform the notion of an orchestral concert where "fun and educational" replace "laborious and academic."

If it's up to Nixon-Lane, the upcoming Nixon-Kennedy rematch will be remembered as a symbol of the fledgling orchestra's spirit of rebellion.

Breakin' the rules

Like the rambunctious Kennedy, the Farmington Area Philharmonic doesn't apologize for breaking the rules in the staid and conventional classical music world. The rule they most vehemently target states that community orchestras are a rough assemblage of students, part-time musicians and musician wanna be's.

"The problem is that we're labeled a 'community orchestra' even though 75 percent of our members are union, and all other out," said Nadeau.

This is the second off-site exhibit for Susan Heitman of Plymouth, who is showing impressionistic portraits combining painting and architecture through Tuesday, Sept. 2 at Annie's Delicatessen.

Heitman, who received her bachelor's and master's degrees in art from Eastern Michigan University, first learned of the off-site program after showing work at the Ann Arbor Art Center's Art Home last year. She has also exhibited at the Detroit Artists Market and Erie Street Museum in Jackson. Two of the art works on display at the delicatessen were recently featured in the Observer's Weekend Guide.

Bruce Janda, a graphic designer by profession, has had a lifelong interest in photography. His exhibit with images of landscapes and cityscapes around Prague, the Czech Republic, where he lived for two years, is also on display at the delicatessen.

Janda, who was born in Czechoslovakia, became interested in photography in his early teens but put it aside for many years. He returned to Bohemia, he said, in 1993 and 1994. He made a pilgrimage to the Sumava region, a mountainous area on the Czech-German border, to photograph the landscape of this historical land.

"I was interested in showing the landscape and the people," he said. "I wanted to show the Czech Republic as it is today, not as it was 50 years ago."

Janda, who is originally from Prague, became serious about the medium only about five years ago. He has shown work at the Czech/Slovak Festival in Wyandotte and at another Ann Arbor Art Center off-site location last spring. The exhibition program enables Janda to reach a larger audience with his photography.

"For years, I'd been showing my work to friends and associates and they said why don't you exhibit your work," said Janda, a marketing specialist for Ford Motor Co. customer services in the Detroit Renaissance Center. "But what really influenced me to exhibit was when a friend saw my photographs and said she almost wept."

The Ann Arbor Art Center, Michigan's third oldest center for the arts, exhibits artist at the center as well as off-site. Through Aug. 31, artists Shawn Skabelund and Valerie Mann examine the impact of industrial and technological advancements on agrarian communities.

Artists interested in showing work at off-site locations in Ann Arbor should contact Sharon Currey at the Ann Arbor Art Center, (313) 994-8004, Ext. 122.

Haase recently was nominated for "Best Supporting Actress" by the Detroit Free Press for her performance in the University of Detroit's "Home Fires."

"I was hoping to get a call but wasn't expecting it because of all of the schools in Livonia," said Haase. "Every little bit helps and that was more than a little bit."

Tiffany Bowers thought her chances of winning were slim as well. Bowers graduated from Churchill where she played in the wind ensemble and the marching and concert bands. Bowers has had a love affair with music since she began playing flute in fifth grade so it's only natural that music therapy is her major of choice. The arts commission scholarship will help pay the $9,000 for tuition and room and board at Michigan State University.

BOOKS

When traffic gets heavy, relax with an audio book

VICTORIA DIAZ

If you're planning a long drive to a vacation spot, or if you're stuck in gridlock due to endless highway construction around town, these audio books can make the experience seem not just shorter but definitely more pleasurable.

"Personal History," written and read by Katharine Graham (Random House, $18, 3 hours). From the time her parents first met until the present day, Washington Post chief Graham takes us on a fascinating and highly inspiring trip through her own personal history. Picture a wonderful and highly articulate aunt with an upper-crust background who's telling you riveting stories about people she's met, the places she's been, plus what it all felt like, and you have a good idea of Graham reading her best-selling autobiography.

You'll get an up-close look at Graham herself, of course, as daughter, wife, mother, journalist and history-making chief of the Post, which was acquired by her multi-millionaire father when the now 80-year-old author was in her youth. You'll also get some telling glimpses of such notables as editor Ben Bradlee, reporters Bob Woodward and Carl Bernstein, Lyndon Johnson, John Kennedy, ex-attorney general John Mitchell – all of them bringing to life, though Graham's remembrances, the historic political events of the '60s and '70s.

The most dramatic facet of this book, however, is Graham's moving depiction of her often-troubled marriage to Phil Graham, who acquired (together with her) the Post from the author's aging father. Plagued with manic-depression and involved with another woman, he suffered a number of public "breakdowns" before taking his life at the family home one afternoon as Katharine napped in an upstairs bedroom.

What is especially inspiring is that this – the most painful moment in a long and full life – marks the time when Katharine Graham agreed to take the reins of the paper, a job she apparently has no idea she could ever do.

The rest, as we say, is history.

"Charles Kuralt's Summer," written and read by Charles Kuralt (Simon & Schuster, $12, 1 hour). Maybe you're like me in that I can never quite say if it's Charles Kuralt's words that are so impressive in themselves, or if it's the way they sound when he reads them in his good-old-boy, mellifluous baritone.

Either way, this selection of reports from his fondly remembered "On the Road" TV series is a delight. Go "tubing" along Wisconsin's Apple River. Visit Mark Twain's birthplace, Hannibal, Mo., on the Fourth of July. Drop in at a deadly serious horseshoes competition in the heart of America on a summer's day. There's a cornucopia of treats in store for you on this tape.

Charles Kuralt not only will open your eyes, but your ears and (best of all) your heart as well.

"Angel's Ashes," by Frank McCourt (Simon & Schuster, $24, 4 1/2 hours). After I finished reading this superb memoir a couple of months ago, I had a thought: If we built shrines to books, I would put together a special little place for "Angela's Ashes." Maybe I'll do it, anyway.

This absolutely remarkable book, set mostly in County Limerick, Ireland, during the '40s and '50s is easily one of the finest books I have ever come across. Writing of a childhood that was poorer than poor (sometimes not just materially but spiritually, too), McCourt takes you directly into its gritty milieu: "Worse than the ordinary miserable childhood is the miserable Irish childhood, and worse yet is the miserable Irish Catholic childhood."

But even with all that misery, "Angela's Ashes" is sparked with hope and energized with sharp, fresh humor. In my lifetime, I have laughed often and cried some. Sometimes, I have laughed until I've cried. But I never thought it was possible to literally laugh and cry at the same time, until I experience "Angela's Ashes."

This story is like nothing else you have ever encountered. And McCourt, it turns out, is not just the only one to write it. His audio version may convince you he's the only one to read it aloud as well.

Drive safely.

'The Ax' takes nasty look at corporate downsizing

The Ax
By Donald L. Westlake
(Mysterious Press, $23)

BY HUGH GALLAGHER
STAFF WRITER

This is a nasty book. But then it's about a nasty subject, and its cold, machinelike tone is perfectly fitting.

Westlake is a writer known for both his crime novels and his wit, and this book is mordantly funny with a decidedly Hitchcock touch to it.

The book's narrator has been downsized from his job at a papermaking company. He is middle-aged, middle management cast aside by his longtime employer with the usual "capitalism with a human face." He's been eased out with a small severance, meaningless job "retraining" and sanctimonious counseling.

Realizing it is impossible to fight the corporation, he decides to kill his competition for a job at another paper company, a job he plans to open by killing the person who has it.

Westlake's narrator tells us all this with the cold, dispassionate tone of a human resources person. He makes it all seem so logical, so fair. After all, this is war, and he has his family to protect, a family that is disintegrating in the ways that many modern families do.

Along the way Westlake, through his murderer narrator, offers some pungent commentary on business practices, business "ethics" and Reaganomics. Despite the healthy economy, real wages have actually gone down, college educated former middle managers are working in lower paying jobs that don't use their acquired skills and many workers are terrified to demand their fair share. Westlake's narrator dates all of this from the time Reagan crushed the air traffic controllers union. He finds himself in competition with other downsized middle managers, each with a sad story of his own.

It is the deadpan, nearly remorseless account of horrific events that sets this excellent novel apart. Westlake manages to capture the indifference of the economic system in the tone of his narrator. It is gruesomely funny, as the narrator plays with our usual beliefs about right and wrong. A description of how the narrator handles his son's problems with the law is especially interesting to anyone who's had to deal with the legal system's approach to young criminals.

This is a book that has already found a wide audience. And though it's set in Connecticut, it should have a special resonance for metro Detroiters who grapple with these same questions.

are paid for rehearsals and performances," said Robert Libcke, executive director of the Philharmonic.

The community orchestra label connotes a less-than professional performance whereby quality is compromised for the sake of community participation, said Libcke.

That kind of brash assessment usually stirs up the grapevine in the rather small metro area classical music community. But the Libcke and Nixon-Lane are on a do-or-die course for recognition.

Since last March, the Philharmonic intensified its campaign for younger audiences and as a family entertainment alternative while continuing to pursue the ever-evaporating corporate funds. Libcke, who earlier this year oversaw the merger of statewide arts organizations into ArtServe, assumed administrative responsibilities at the Philharmonic in the spring.

From their theme concerts celebrating Ground Hog Day to their stunning coups in convincing acclaimed artists like Kennedy and pianist Alicia de Larrocha to perform in a high school auditorium, the Philharmonic has drawn kudos for its music-for-music's sake approach.

Unquestionably, Nixon-Lane is the heart and soul of the Philharmonic. In 1990, the one-time shy French Horn player in the Michigan Opera Theatre, looked around and noticed the high number of quality musicians not in a full-time orchestras, and the "graying" of audiences.

Under the mentoring baton of Gustav Meier, Nixon-Lane has developed a conducting style that downplays mechanics for a deeper interpretation of music.

"I'm an efficient conductor," she said. "I know what the orchestra is looking for because I've been on the other side of the baton."

Initially, she had to call more than 100 string players before one accepted to play in the precursor of the Farmington Area Philharmonic, an ad hoc orchestra called "Group du Joir." And play they did – just about anywhere.

But without a home base, the musical vagabonds found it difficult to build a following. So, what the Philharmonic lacked in physical space, Nixon-Lane figured to make up in vision.

"I asked, 'Why aren't there any young people in the audience?'" she said. "There was this perceived elitism about attending a classical music concert."

The Philharmonic is hardly alone. Recently, a study commissioned by the American Symphony Orchestra League projected the demise of many American orchestras unless they fundamentally changed the way they did business.

In the last several years, orchestras in San Diego, Birmingham, Ala., Orlando were shut down. Meanwhile, those in Milwaukee, Honolulu and Toronto reduced their performance schedule.

Although these orchestras are considered among "major orchestras," the trend has affected so-called community orchestras of the Philharmonic's caliber.

Hear it to believe it

"Our goal is to find a permanent home and to bring back theme concerts so middle-class families have an entertainment option," she said.

Until last year, the Philharmonic held its annual Ground Hog Day concert at the Old Mercy Center. To set the mood, audiences brought picnic baskets and wore their summer clothes. Another concert combined concertos with music from "Mary Poppins" where the wind section played kazoos.

"We keep telling people they need to hear us to believe it," said Nixon-Lane.

"We want to pump up this organization, put in place more education programs, especially for kids and a subscription series," she said.

"If I get a call from the Cincinnati Orchestra, who knows, maybe I'll tell them I'm happy where I'm at."

great outdoors, just nature itself," said Isakson. "I like camping out in a tent without electricity, lighting a campfire. It inspires me to paint. I bring a camera so when I'm hiking out in the woods if I see something a photo preserves it to paint later."

Isakson exhibited in "The Art of the Garden" at the University of Michigan's Matthaei Botanical Gardens and Canton Project Arts Fine Arts Exhibition before displaying work at Espresso Royale Cafe II. Isakson approached the Ann Arbor Art Center about exhibiting in the off-site program because he thought showing in an intellectually stimulated environment would draw a more appreciative crowd.

"I like Ann Arbor," said Isakson. "It's very culturally diverse and based on the University of Michigan. There are people who have an interest in science and the arts. And as far the location, The Espresso Royale Cafe is a real interesting environment to exhibit. The good thing about showing in a coffee house is the different kind of exposure. More people see my art than just those walking into a gallery."

Spirit Beast: This painting by Jim Isakson is about a dead animal (possibly a deer) decomposing and becoming a part of the earth. The blue ghost-like shapes floating from the head represents this aspect.

Schoolcraft College designs Piano Academy

The music department at Schoolcraft College has reorganized and expanded opportunities for piano students of all ages into a new Piano Academy beginning this fall. To accommodate these new or expanded programs, it has hired two new instructors with master of music degrees in piano performance and piano pedagogy from the University of Michigan.

According to Donald Morelock, director of the piano department at the college, "we are seeing an increased interest in piano study in the community from the earliest ages through the adult years."

This year, for the first time, special recitals specifically designed to appeal to children in Piano Academy programs will be offered. Schoolcraft's piano program begins mid-semester with registration Sept. 6, or arranged individually with the music department. Transfer students are accepted into the program by audition.

Project Piano classes are for beginning, elementary school-aged children grades 1-4. The 18-week program includes a 60-minute group lesson held on Tuesday or Friday afternoons or Saturday mornings with a 30-minute private lesson held mid-week. An interview is necessary and can be arranged by calling the music department. The fee is $450.

The Practicum in Observation/Practice Teaching is a nationally recognized program for piano teachers. According to Morelock, "designing a comprehensive curriculum for a child's first five or six years of training is one of the most difficult skills that a piano teacher must learn. This program and courses in the college's Piano Certificate program offer this training." The fee is $85.

Piano Instruction for Adults in a new state-of-the-art electronic lab for beginning adults is now being offered. Also available are private weekly lessons for beginning and more experienced adults offered for credit or non-credit. Early enrollment is advised. For fee schedule contact the music department.

Preschool Music Adventure is designed for children who are 4-years-old (by Sept. 1) through 6-years-old, if they are not yet in first grade. The 18-week program meets Wednesdays. Fee is $110.

A new program, Private Piano Lessons with Master Classes, is designed for a select number of ambitious precollege students. An audition is necessary. The fee for the 18 week program is $600.

For information on registering, class times and location, or auditioning, call the music department at (313) 462-4400, ext. 5218.

TREATING PERIODONTAL DISEASE

The object of treatment for peridontal (gum) disease is to remove plaque, calculus, and other products associated with plaque accumulation that have the potential to destroy gums, bone, and supporting structures around the teeth. This is accomplished by scaling (scraping) the teeth to remove sticky plaque and calculus (hardened plaque) from all accessible surfaces, as well as by planing accessible root surfaces to make them smooth. As a result of these efforts, bacteria are removed and find it difficult to reattach to tooth surfaces. This, in turn, fosters the reattachment of connective tissue to the tooth. Thus, the treatment improves tooth retention, which is the primary concern of older adults facing the threat of perodontal disease.

At LIVONIA VILLAGE DENTAL ASSOCIATES, we stress preventive denistry for the entire family. We recommend that most patients return at least twice a year for a cleaning and checkup. MOVIES

Dream cast leads intelligent, low key 'Cop Land'

JOHN MONAGHAN

TICKETS PLEASE

Keitel. DeNiro. Liotta. Stallone. Stallone? You ask, noting the obvious false note in what could be a dream cast for the next Martin Scorsese project.

The movie is "Cop Land" and much of the press has focused on how Sylvester Stallone dropped the muscle tone and gained a substantial beer belly to play a small-town Jersey sheriff. Of course, there's always been pain and passion beneath those droopy eyes, but we haven't really seen it much since the original "Rocky" two decades ago.

Garrison, New Jersey, is across the river from New York City. Most cops in New York have to live within its limits, but by pulling time with the Transit Authority, they can reside in the quiet working class neighborhoods across the George Washington Bridge.

We see Stallone's Freddy in the opening scenes hunched over an empty glass at the Four Aces, Garrison's official "blue" bar where only off-duty police congregate. He stumbles out the back door and opens a parking meter for more drinking money, pretty small potatoes compared to what goes on around him.

You see, while Freddy is officially the sheriff, Garrison is really run by Ray (Harvey Keitel), a corrupt officer with mob connections. When Ray's nephew (Michael Rapaport) shoots a pair of black kids because he thinks he saw a gun, it's up to Ray to cover at all costs and with no interference from Freddy.

Freddy, whose bad ear has kept him out of the NYPD, begins to question his role in the town. Should he look the other way, as he's been doing all these years, or bring this rampant corruption to light?

The question is hardly a new one, especially in Westerns, which "Cop Land" resembles far more than your average TV cop show. You may even think you're watching "Rio Bravo" when Ray Liotta appears in the Dean Martin role as a drug addict cop who pals around with Freddy and elicits both our sympathy and scorn.

Robert DeNiro rounds out the cast as an internal affairs investigator who encourages Freddy to do the right thing, but, like so many of his roles in the last decade, it's little more than a walk-on. DeNiro does share a few seconds of screen time with Keitel as the two former academy mates meet in a convenience store and recall what is was like, "back in the day."

For me, the best thing about "Cop Land" is that you're not reminded constantly of Quentin Tarantino, from whose style young directors too easily crib. Writer/ director James Mangold ("Heavy") creates dialogue both stylized and clever, yet it sounds like it's coming from real people's mouths.

If Mangold's movie can be criticized for anything, it's overplotting. While it clocks in at well under two hours, "Cop Land" has enough subplots and vivid characters for four movies; not bad, I suppose, in a summer where most filmmakers are barely able to scrape up enough material for one.

Pilgrims to Poland, different views

BY KEELY WYGONIK
STAFF WRITER

Remembering: Lauren Whitefield and Andy Halberg at Birkenau during the March of the Living.

Andy Halberg of Farmington Hills and I can trace our roots to Poland, but our perspective is entirely different. Andy is Jewish, I'm Catholic.

Halberg was in Poland April 30 to May 6 to participate in the International March of the Living with 59 other students from metro Detroit area Reform, Conservative and Orthodox congregations and schools. From there they flew to Israel, and returned home May 14.

I went with a group of mostly Polish Americans from St. Barbara Catholic Church in Dearborn, June 8-22.

We both attended religious services, and stayed at the Forum Hotel in Warsaw. Our itineraries included the Jewish Ghetto in Warsaw, Auschwitz, and Krakow.

Andy and I went to Poland to learn about our past, but we carried different baggage.

"My mother's family was Polish," said Halberg who graduated from North Farmington High School, and will be attending the University of Michigan this fall. "All of my grandma's cousins, uncles, tons of family died in the Holocaust. Many of my family perished there, I don't know all of their names. I was looking for reasons not to like Poland, and focused on the negative."

My grandpa Bruno Kaleski, the youngest of several children, left Poland for the United States with his brother Pete before World War I. Because they were the youngest there was nothing for them in Poland. The oldest brother would inherit the family farm in Sulejow, a small village near Warsaw. Uncle Pete went back, grandpa stayed, but kept in touch. When he died, the tie was broken. Ten years ago, my father and brother visited, found the family homestead, and met our relatives. They wrote back, but my father and brother, who don't speak Polish, didn't.

I was curious about my grandfather's family, but embarrassed and ashamed that no attempt was made to tell them we received their letters, or to stay in touch. When we got to Poland I asked the Rev. Zbigniew Grankowski, pastor of St. Barbara Church, and our tour leader, to help me find them, figuring it's never too late to mend fences.

Halberg's baggage was weighed with anger. Mine guilt.

During World War II there were more concentration camps in Poland than any other place in Europe. Jews have lived in Poland for centuries, and prior to World War II, the Jewish community in Poland was the largest in Europe.

The apartment where Pope John Paul II, (Karol Wojtyla), lived as a boy in Wadowice was owned by a Jewish family. He has worked to improve relations between the Catholic Church and Jewish community, which are sometimes tense, and kept in touch with childhood friends who are Catholic and Jewish.

Poles, both here and in Europe, get very defensive whenever there is a discussion about the Holocaust, and are quick to point out that many Poles died in concentration camps; others risked their lives helping Jews escape.

The Germans burned my grandfather's village, but his family rebuilt, and they live there today. Andy's family never went back.

While traveling through cities such as Lodz, the textile capital of Poland, I shared Andy's sense of loss but could not feel his pain. The Jewish cemetery founded there in 1892 is the largest in Europe. Pianist Artur Rubinstein was born in Lodz.

One of the women on our trip fought tears as we passed through the city on a bus. Her father, a Pole, died not long after his liberation from one of the camps in Lodz.

The March of the Living from Auschwitz to Birkenau, was one of the most moving experiences of Halberg's trip. He and thousands of Jews from all over the world, including concentration camp survivors walked from Auschwitz to Birkenau to show the world "we're here – alive."

"The Warsaw Ghetto disgusted me," he said. "Just thinking about the decline in the number of Jews in Poland. They weren't treated as individuals, but like cattle, yet they still managed to practice their religion, to smile, and the kids played games."

With few exceptions, every day I spent in Poland was sunny, and clear. It rained a lot when Halberg was there. "We all made a joke, the sun will shine in Israel," said Halberg. Most of Halberg's photos of Poland are black and white. Mine are color.

I shed my first tears in the village when I met my elderly aunt who said, "I can die now knowing my relatives in America are safe." Then we went to mass at the village church, and visited the cemetery where generations of Kaleskis are buried, including Uncle Pete.

Halberg cried at the Majdanek Concentration Camp in Lublin when he saw thousands of pairs of shoes taken from Jewish prisoners. "Some kids near Lublin threw eggs at us," he said. "We experienced anti-Semitism in Poland. Wherever we walked people snickered at us. Walking through the streets of Warsaw we saw graffiti. On the March of the Living some people clapped, some ignored us, some jeered. There were cold hateful words and stares."

But what struck him most were the shoes at Majdanek. "Each pair held someone with a story," he wrote in his journal. "Someone that hugged their mother, and cried. Someone who walked in a forest when they needed to be alone. Someone also took off the shoes before they crawled into bed. Someone unwillingly took them off before their forceful end."

Halberg left Poland sad, but inspired by Jews who make Poland their home, practice their faith, try to make a living, and educate their children in Jewish faith and traditions.

I left with a sense of responsibility for Kaleskis who remain in Sulejow on the farm living a life much harder than mine, and renewed sense of faith.

Poland is a beautiful country, and in the short time we spent talking, Halberg and I learned that not everything is black and white, or color. We found some gray too.

Krakow was our favorite city. "It was what I would look for in a European city, and sunny on the day we visited," he said.

We learned that while Poland harbors a lot of painful memories for many people, it's also a place to heal.

Indians find success

•The Michigan Indians Sandy Koufax-aged baseball team (14-year-olds) made their trip to the Continental Amateur Baseball Association World Series, held last week in Dublin, Ohio, a happy one by placing sixth in the 30-team field.

The Indians posted a 5-4 record at the tournament, beating teams from North Carolina, Tennessee, Oregon, Georgia and the host Dublin squad. Their losses came against teams from Nebraska, Texas, Illinois and Maryland.

The Indians went 16-0 to win the Little Caesars Baseball Federation regular-season championship. They also won the Battle Creek Mayor's Invitational and were first in the WABA Invitational, en route to posting an impressive 55-11 overall record.

Members of the Koufax Indians are: Jon Loos, Jay Sofen and Oliver Wolcott (from Plymouth Canton HS); Greg Lenhoff, Phil Marrone, Justin Ockerman, Andy Smith and Jay Zak (Redford Catholic Central); Dan Childs (Garden City); Jon Judd (Wayne Memorial); Jason Allen (Livonia Stevenson); Brent Scheffler (Dearborn Divine Child); Jim Phillips, Bobby Marten and Brian Bovier (Allen Park); and Matt Lenhoff (Our Lady of Good Counsel). The team is managed by Greg Lenhoff, with coaching help from Brian Wolcott, Nick Marrone, Mike Phillips, Ken Ockerman and Matt Smith.

•The Michigan Indians 10-and-under Willie Mays Division team concluded their season with a second-place finish in the Orion Indians Classic Tournament, played Aug. 8-10 in Rochester Hills. The Indians had a 3-2 tournament record.

Strong lineup

The University of Michigan women's soccer team will have some familiar faces on it, and hopes for the upcoming season are high.

Ten starters from last season's squad return, including five seniors. But the best of the Wolverines is in their sophomore class.

Seven of those sophomores started at least six games last year, including the team's top two scorers: Mari Hoff, a Plymouth Salem graduate who tied the school record for goals in a season with eight (her 17 points was second on the team); and Amber Berendowsky, who set the school record for points in a season (19), scoring seven goals.

Hoff earned second team all-Big Ten and third team all-Great Lakes Region honors for her performance.

Another returning sophomore is Marie Spaccarotella (Livonia Churchill), who netted 14 points (including six goals).

Kelly Lukasik (Plymouth Salem) also returns for her junior season, as does Laura Fedrigo (Livonia Stevenson), but with sophomore eligibility.

U-M opens its season Friday against Missouri in Lexington, Ky. The Wolverines then play host Kentucky Aug. 31.

PCJBA registration

The Plymouth-Canton Junior Basketball Association will have registration for its third-through-eighth grade boys and girls teams Sept. 4 and Sept. 9, from 6:30-8:30 p.m. at East Middle School.

All students within the Plymouth-Canton School District are eligible.

Rules include tryouts, to equalize teams, and a guarantee that all players will play in part of every game with no player playing in all of it. The season will consist of 10 games plus the tournament, with players keeping their jerseys.

Any parents interested in coaching, and any high school students interested in being referees, should register at the same time.

Registration dates for PCJBA teams in ninth-through-12th grades will be announced later.

Anyone interested in submitting items to Sports Scene may send them to sports editor C.J. Risak, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia, MI, 48150, or may FAX them to (313) 591-7279.

Overall scoring balance elevates Salem

The season got off to a slow start for Plymouth Salem's golfers, but they regrouped to finish fourth in the 20-team Pinkney Invitational. Still, the team that figures to dominate in the league — Livonia Stevenson — was first.

After a lackluster performance at the John F. Sandmann Best Ball Byron Invitational Thursday at Hilltop Golf Course, Plymouth Salem rebounded with a sound performance at the 20-team Pinkney Invitational Friday at Rush Lake Golf Course.

The Rocks finished fourth with a score of 325. Their foursome: Ryan Nimmerguth, 79; Erik Krueger, 81; Adam Wilson, 82; and Mark Runchey, 83.

Livonia Stevenson won the tournament with a team score of 311, led by Steve Polanski's medalist-earning score of 72. Roy Rabe added a 78, Matt Combs shot 80 and Kevin Yuhasz had an 81.

Second went to Hartland (316), just two strokes better than Redford Catholic Central's 318. Leading the Shamrocks were Adam Peters, 74; Greg Berger, 78; Erik West, 81; and Josh Davis, 85.

Following Salem were Ann Arbor Huron, fifth (326); Westland John Glenn, sixth (327); Detroit Country Day and Livonia Churchill, tied for seventh (329); Lapeer East, ninth (335); Ann Arbor Green Hills and Troy Athens, tied for 10th (342); Redford Union, 12th (344); Lapeer West and Livonia Franklin, tied for 13th (346); Pinkney "Black", 15th (349); Dexter, 16th (352); Birmingham Groves, 17th (357); Pinkney "Red", 18th (375); Southgate Aquinas, 19th (379); and Pinkney "White", 20th (393).

At the Sandmann Best Ball Invitational last Thursday, Churchill emerged with the best team score of 149, a stroke better than runners-up John Glenn and Ann Arbor Pioneer (150 apiece).

Grosse Ile was fourth (151), followed by Stevenson in fifth (153), Trenton in sixth (156), Northville in seventh (158), Plymouth Canton in eighth (161), Dearborn Edsel Ford in ninth (162), Salem in 10th (164), Woodhaven in 11th (165), Huron in 12th (168), Redford Union in 13th (169) and Franklin in 14th (173).

The Stevenson two-man team of Polanski and Yuchasz outdueled John Glenn's Craig Piscopink and Chris Tompkins for medalist honors; each two-man team had a 71, with the Spartans winning on the second extra hole.

Canton faces same problems: no height, scoring

Returning veteran: Melissa Marzolf (with ball) is back for her fourth year as a member of Canton's varsity. She is the team's leading returning scorer, averaging 10 points a game as a junior.

BY C.J. RISAK
SPORTS EDITOR

Take a look back at what Plymouth Canton's girls basketball team accomplished last year, and there's just one conclusion to make:

It had to be done with mirrors.

A team with one player over 5-foot-10, lacking great foot-speed and scoring ability — and it still shares the Western Lakes Activities Association championship, rolling to a 19-5 record and reaching the state regionals before losing to the eventual state champs.

Take a look at this season's Canton team, and there's one more simple conclusion to make:

It's going to take a few more mirrors.

That's because as short as the Chiefs were last year, they're even more deficient in size this season. They lost their leading scorer, rebounder and biggest player, Kristi Fiorenzi, to graduation.

Also gone are two other key members of last season's squad, guard Mary Anderson and forward Tiffany Williams.

If that sounds rather bleak, wait — it gets worse.

Canton's schedule includes games with the defending state champions in both Class A (Birmingham Marian) and Class B (Flint Powers), and another with a team that reached the Class B semifinals (Redford Bishop Borgess).

How does a team whose tallest players are 5-9 expect to survive that?

"I think we handle the ball very well, we pass and catch the ball very well," said Canton's Bob Blohm, last year's Observerland coach of the year. "Whether we can score, defend and rebound remains to be seen.

"I think what's going to be the issue is how well we shoot and how well we rebound the ball. We're going to have to get a good first shot, because with our size, we probably won't get a lot of second chances."

Not all is lost for the Chiefs. They do have Blohm, one of the better coaches around; his disciplined style of offense and tenacious defense often takes opponents out of their game.

And they also have plenty of experience. Two key starters are entering their fourth year on the varsity, and another is starting her third.

Leading the returnees are senior guards Melissa Marzolf and Kristin Lukasik. The 5-7 Marzolf, Canton's second-leading scorer last season (10 points per game), has been a starter since her freshman year.

"Melissa's always been a solid passer, and she's great at finding people in the open court," said Blohm. "This year, she's going to have to score more from the perimeter. That's her challenge."

Lukasik, at 5-6, is also entering her fourth year on the varsity. And there's something else she has in common with Marzolf — and that's everything. Both are well-schooled in every phase of the game.

"Kristin's strength is that she's a solid, all-around player," her coach said, noting her six-points-a-game average. "She can screen, she's a good passer, and she has great potential as a perimeter scorer.

"And we'll need that (outside scoring) this year. We hope she can add some points to the equation."

The third senior with extensive experience is Nkechi Okwumabua, now in her third varsity season. The task facing Okwumabua, however, may be far tougher than that confronting any of the other Chiefs.

That's because Okwumabua is 5-9; her six-rebounds-a-game average as a junior is best among the returnees. She also scored eight points per game,

SC's Briggs busy recruiting

BY C.J. RISAK
SPORTS EDITOR

It was a mistake for Schoolcraft College's administration to wait so very long to hire a men's basketball coach.

That said, it appears the administration at least partially compensated for its error — a coach wasn't hired until late in July, when the recruiting season was nearly over — by making the right choice.

The man they hired for the job is Carlos Briggs, a former NJCAA All-American who played at SC 13 years ago and remains the greatest player the school has ever produced.

Indeed, SC has been hard-pressed to produce a winning season since Briggs' tenure.

But the Detroit Benedictine graduate who starred at Baylor University after graduating from SC will bring more than a name and a reputation to his new coaching position. That was apparent when he produced a list of 12 players recruited for this season's squad in the brief time he's had.

Briggs appears well-prepared for his present task — as imposing as it may seem. He knows what he wants. He knows what to do. And he's well-organized, from the small details to the large.

Most obvious among his talents is his ability to recruit, something few of his coaching predecessors did well. Of course, the success of a recruiting class at SC can not be determined until the end of the fall semester. That's when it's announced who managed to pass enough classes to stay eligible for winter semester.

Briggs figures not all his recruits will stick for the whole season because, well, he had to take chances and take players he might not have had he been able to get an earlier start in his recruiting.

"The last three weeks, that's all its been — trying to recruit guys," Briggs said.

The team he has put together isn't full of sure-fire stars — but what JC team is? A lot may depend on how well the players perform in what Briggs figures to be their most important class (at least pertaining to basketball):

Chemistry.

"In the past, we didn't have kids here who played well together," he said. "That's something we're trying to establish — team chemistry."

There are three players who were part of last season's squad that Briggs will be relying upon to provide leadership.

It starts with Kevin Melson, a 6-foot-6, 190-pound forward from Detroit Communication and Media Arts HS, where he averaged 19 points and eight rebounds a game as a senior. Melson suffered an ankle injury last year that sidelined him for the entire SC season.

"He's our best player," said Briggs. "He's 6-6 and very mobile. We're going to ask a lot of him this year."

A weakness in Melson's game, according to Briggs,

Outing fights leukemia

For the third straight year, varsity hockey players from the three Livonia high schools will be the benficiaries of the third annual Rick Laramore Memorial Fund Golf Outing Sunday, Sept. 14 at Idyl Wyld Golf Course.

All proceeds for this year's outing will support Leukemia Research, Life, Inc., which is a non-profit organization that raises funds for the pediatric cancer at Children's Hospital of Detroit and the Children's Leukemia Foundation of Michigan (where designated funds will go to the Special Days Camp for children with cancer).

The outing is in memory of Rick Laramore, the former Churchill hockey player who earned a varsity letter as a sophomore.

Laramore entered Children's Hospital in January, 1995 after being diagnosed with lymphoma.

After putting up a valiant fight, Laramore died on March 27, 1995 at age 17.

Laramore played seven years in the Livonia Hockey Association before making his high school squad.

To keep alive his memory, and remember his spirit, sense of humor and determination, the annual golf outing has benefitted eight seniors from the three high schools.

Last year's recipients included Mike Schmidt and Andy Domzalski, both of Stevenson; Kyle Dawley, Churchill; and Tom Taylor, Franklin.

is his unselfishness: "He has to become more aggressive, he has to want to take over the game. Kevin's our go-to guy right now. We're going to ask him to step up and be a leader."

Another player SC's new coach is counting on is sophomore Pete Males, a 5-11 point guard from Garden City. "He's a good floor leader, and he can shoot the basketball real well. He's the hardest worker we have on the team," said Briggs.

"We're looking for him to be a team leader, on and off the floor. We're looking for him to set the tone."

The third returnee is Jose Bru, a 6-1, 200-pound sophomore swingman from Mexico. "He can play several positions, and he hustles all the time. He can do everything on the basketball court," Briggs said.

At the top of the list of new recruits is David Jarrett, a 6-3, 205-pound forward from Westland John Glenn. A do-everything athlete — Jarrett was a standout in football and track, as well as basketball (15 points, eight boards as a senior) — Briggs called Jarrett "probably our best athlete."

"I don't think Dave realizes how good he can be. If he gets into the gym and really works on his game, he could be one of the best to come out of Schoolcraft.

"But he needs to put in the time, to work on the fundamentals."

Among the other recruits are two whose fathers are long-time high school coaches: Brandon Barrett, a 5-8 guard from Southfield-Lathrup who averaged 10 points and 10 assists per game, and whose father coached at Detroit DePorres ("He came from a good program. He knows how to get the scorers the ball,"); and Derek McKelvey, a 6-3 forward/guard whose father coached him at Adrian HS ("He's probably the best shooter we have, and one of our better athletes. He's been playing basketball since he could crawl").

One of the more interesting recruits is Antonio Parker, a 6-5 graduate of Detroit Southwestern in 1995. "He's had some problems," said Briggs. "This is an opportunity for him to put things behind him.

"Here's a 6-5 guy who's quick, can score and can rebound. It's just that, sometimes he's not as focused as he needs to be. That's my job — keep him focused both on the floor and in the classroom. He's my project."

Another "elder statesman" is Gerald Steele, a 6-4, 220-pound swingman who graduated from Taft HS in Woodland Hills, Calif., in 1994. Steele hasn't played organized basketball since, but his size and inside skills were enough to convince Briggs to give him a shot.

The rest of the recruits includes Darrius Burks, a 6-6 forward from Detroit Chadsey who averaged 10 points and six rebounds a game ("He's a project, but he runs the floor well and can block shots,"); Jimar Eddins, a 6-3 forward who averaged 15 points and eight boards for Ann Arbor Pioneer ("He's a good-sized kid, and he gets off the floor,"); Tom Heisner, a 6-4, 210-pound forward who attended, but did not play at, Plymouth Canton ("He's a bruiser — we're going to give him a shot,"); and Emeka Okonkwo, a 6-2 guard and another Pioneer HS grad ('95) who played at Central State (Ohio) as a freshman, then attended Washtenaw CC last year — he'll become eligible in January.

Briggs still has a couple of open slots on his roster, and there are some possibilities remaining. Who knows? Perhaps there's a player with NCAA Division I ability who'll opt to attend SC instead.

One can always hope.

coming almost entirely inside.

"With Nkechi, what you have is an outstanding athlete who's improving as a basketball player," said Blohm. "She gives us a low-post threat; the improved offensive end of her game has helped us big-time.

"She's always been good defensively and a good rebounder."

Her abilities will be tested by almost any of Canton's opponents. Okwumabua will go up against the biggest rivals; her success against them could be the difference between victory and defeat for the Chiefs.

Canton's experience doesn't end there. There are four other seniors, with more limited varsity playing time: Kristin Mayer, a 5-7 swingperson who contributed some solid minutes off the bench last season; Cassie Moore, a 5-5 guard who's "a pretty good perimeter shooter — we'll see if she can't give us some of that"; Angie Lebbon, a 5-2 guard who will supply valuable time off the bench; and Ilona Kouvo, a 5-6 forward and an exchange student from Finland who possesses "good skills — I think she'll help us down the road."

Kouvo isn't the only "exchange student" who will help Canton. Janell Twietmeyer, a 5-9 junior, is transferring in from Lutheran Westland.

"I really like her game," said Blohm. "She's a good rebounder and is tough physically, and she shoots the ball real well. She needs to work on her defensive game, but she's come a long way.

"Whether she starts or not, she's going to be an important part of our team. She's a post-player, but she can step out and score."

Another junior who figures to contribute considerably is 5-5 guard Elise Thornell. "She's a good defender, she's made a lot of improvements," said Blohm. "She gives you a lot of effort all the time. She's a tough kid — physical, strong. She'll challenge for a starting role."

Up from the junior varsity is 5-6 junior Wheatley Coleman, a player Blohm is looking to develop. "She's one of those kids who works real hard and she's a quick learner. She just needs experience."

What Coleman needs, most everyone else on Canton has. That experience will come in handy, with the Chiefs' schedule. Just surviving September will be a challenge.

"I think our non-league schedule will help us see what we need to focus on," said Blohm.

The teams his Chiefs will have to focus on in the league are Plymouth Salem, the pre-season favorite; Farmington Harrison, which has everyone back from a team that lost to Salem in the WLAA Tournament final; Walled Lake Central; and defending league co-champ Northville.

"I like our league a lot," said Blohm. "It'll make it fun for everybody. You're going to have to work hard for everything."

If history means anything, the Chiefs will do just that — and they'll be among those in the title hunt.

NATURE NOTES

TIM NOWICKI

As science learns more about the specific requirements of living organisms, man is putting his knowledge to work in creating habitats.

Wildlife biologists now know the food preferences of white-tailed deer, their need for browse that is not too high and the density of animals that produces a healthy herd. Considering the number of white-tailed deer in the state today, compared to years ago, wildlife biologists have obviously done a remarkable job.

While walking along some of the two miles of boardwalk at Wayne County's new Crosswinds Park (a wetland mitigated as a result of construction at Metro Airport), it looked like a very natural area. Plants like cattail and pickerel weed are growing in this wetland like they do in naturally occurring areas.

Scientists are familiar with naturally occurring wetland plants so they introduced them into the man-made areas to supplement natural seeding. This helps to reduce the invasion of alien plants like purple loosestrife and Phragmites that could become established easily.

Seeding the new wetland with bottom material from naturally occurring sites helps organisms necessary in the food chain become established. Small organisms that are the foundation for a wetland food chain are introduced with this kind of seeding. The turbid water will have to be cleared up before this can be effective.

If native plants indicative to the habitat are used and a foundation of small necessary aquatic organisms is added, there is a good chance the new habitat will be a successful substitute.

While at Crosswinds Park, the six sharp eyes of my comrades and my one good one spotted leopard frogs, a green frog, a wood frog and a gray tree frog that was green. Shorebirds were feeding, herons were wading in deeper water to feed, we were told an eagle hunts in the area and dragon flies patrolled the area for insects – all of these good signs of a successful system.

A mitigated wetland at Woodland Hills Preserve in Farmington Hills shows similar development into a healthy, diverse habitat made from the hands of man.

Tim Nowicki is a naturalist at Independence Oaks Park in Oakland County. He lives in Livonia.

TEN PIN ALLEY

AL HARRISON

During the opening ceremonies of the Les Stanford Chevrolet Hall of Fame Classic and Lew Ansara Thursday All-Star Classic leagues last Tuesday, many introductions took place and a special event occurred.

George Prybyla, longtime proprietor of Thunderbowl Lanes in Allen Park, handed the "key" over to the new ownership. Jim Strobl takes over the helm at this world-renowned bowling emporium.

For Prybyla, it was another milestone in his 57 years as a bowling proprietor. He is not actually retiring. He will stay on with the new regime and lend his guidance to assure that the facility will continue in its time-honored tradition.

Most readers probably don't know who George Prybyla is and George himself is not one to seek attention. But this man is a living legend and link with the past. From humble beginnings in Hamtramck to a position of respect throughout the bowling industry, he has "been there, done that."

This man has been a good friend to the likes of Andy Varipapa, Joe Norris, George Young (described by Prybyla as "the nicest guy in bowling"), Pete Carter, Buzz Fazio, Johnny Crimmins, Tony Lindermann, Eddie Lubanski and Harry Campbell.

Campbell spent many years managing the house with a special flair. Then there is Joe Paulus, one of the legendary bowlers who is a hall of famer as well as a partner at Thunderbowl Lanes.

Back in the 1950s, George was a heck of a bowler, averaging over 200. He had to make a tough decision, whether to be a bowler or a bowling alley owner. He certainly made the right choice, but over the years, he has been so busy running the business, there was rarely any time left for him to bowl.

Prybyla has left his mark here in any ways. He established the Greater Detroit Bowling Hall of Fame in the concourse of Thunderbowl. It is worth the trip for bowling fans or enthusiasts to walk in just to see this impressive display.

He has also given great support to the national Hall of Fame and Museum in St. Louis, for which he and Campbell have raised more than $45,000. He has helped raise more than $250,000 for various charitable causes throughout the Detroit area.

As George puts in, "Bowling has been real nice to me, it's a great pleasure to give something back."

Both of the Tuesday and Thursday All-Star leagues have dedicated their 63rd anniversary season to George Prybyla and that is quite an honor.

Also, during the opening ceremonies, the Dan Ottman team was presented with the Eagle, a trophy for winning the ABC National Tournament at Huntsville this spring. Ottman, a Troy resident, was recently elected to the Greater Detroit Bowling Association Hall of Fame, a sensational year for this most deserving representative of the sport of bowling.

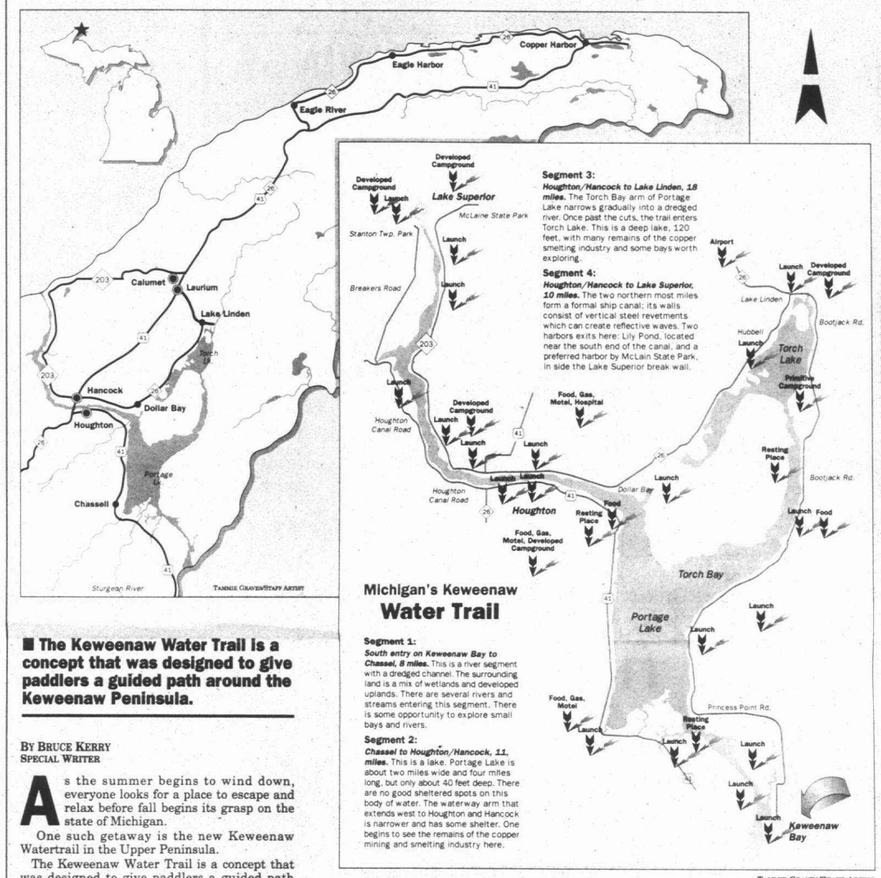
Just to show that Thunderbowl is not exactly standing still, it recently announced a new tournament this season with $100,000 guaranteed for first and $50,000 for second place. It will be a handicap event on an individual basis. That is great news for all Detroit area bowlers and with handicap, anyone has chance to win some big money.

Roy Munson is not eligible to bowl in this event, even with his rubber hand. If you don't get my drift, then you did not see the movie "Kingpin."

Al Harrison writes about bowling for the Observer Newspapers. He lives in Garden City.

WATER WAYS:

Paddlers find trail to adventure



■ The Keweenaw Water Trail is a concept that was designed to give paddlers a guided path around the Keweenaw Peninsula.

BY BRUCE KERRY
SPECIAL WRITER

As the summer begins to wind down, everyone looks for a place to escape and relax before fall begins its grasp on the state of Michigan.

One such getaway is the new Keweenaw Watertrail in the Upper Peninsula.

The Keweenaw Water Trail is a concept that was designed to give paddlers a guided path around the Keweenaw Peninsula. It allows them to have public areas to camp, rest and park their boats throughout the waterway.

The Portage Waterway Segment is completed, allowing paddlers to travel through the Keweenaw Peninsula.

After the completion of the other segments, paddlers will have the same access around the entire Keweenaw Peninsula.

The Portage Waterway Segment is 47 miles, extending from the south at Keweenaw Bay to the north to Lake Superior.

Segment 1 extends from the Keweenaw Bay to Chassell. There are many opportunities to explore in this segment. The surrounding lands have an abundance of wetlands and uplands as well as several rivers and streams.

It's recommended that paddlers begin here as there is no campground in this segment.

Segment 1: South entry on Keweenaw Bay to Chassel, 8 miles. This is a river segment with a dredged channel. The surrounding land is a mix of wetlands and developed uplands. There are several rivers and streams entering this segment. There is some opportunity to explore small bays and rivers.

Segment 2: Chassel to Houghton/Hancock, 11 miles. This is a lake. Portage Lake is about two miles wide and four miles long, but only about 40 feet deep. There are no good sheltered spots on this body of water. The waterway arm that extends west to Houghton and Hancock is narrower and has some shelter. One begins to see the remains of the copper mining and smelting industry here.

Segment 3: Houghton/Hancock to Lake Linden, 18 miles. The Torch Bay arm of Portage Lake narrows gradually into a dredged river. Once past the cuts, the trail enters Torch Lake. This is a deep lake, 120 feet, with many remains of the copper smelting industry and some bays worth exploring.

Segment 4: Houghton/Hancock to Lake Superior, 10 miles. The two northern most miles form a formal ship canal; its walls consist of vertical steel revetments which can create reflective waves. Two harbors exits here: Lily Pond, located near the south end of the canal, and a preferred harbor by McLain State Park, in side the Lake Superior break wall.

TAMMIE GRAVES/STAFF ARTIST

Segment 2 continues from Chassell to the Houghton/ Hancock area. This segment is primarily made up of Portage Lake. In this area, the copper mines that date from the middle of the 19th century can be seen.

Segment 3 backtracks a few miles and extends from Houghton and Hancock to Lake Linden, which sits on the north end of Torch Lake. There are abandoned copper mines and scenic coves to explore.

In addition, this segment offers a developed campground to rest and camp. Segment 4 continues from Houghton and Hancock and finishes the Watertrail at Lake Superior.

This segment is an actual shipping canal that was built to supply access for ships to pick up copper from the mines. This segment also houses the majority of the campgrounds on the Watertrail.

The Keweenaw Watertrail was designed by the Keweenaw Watertrail Association with assistance by the Rivers, Trails, and Conservation Assistance Program of the National Park Service. This program was established to help local communities outline and achieve recreation and conservation goals.

An association membership is available for people interested in helping with trail planning, site work, special events and many other projects. For more information, contact the Keweenaw Water trail association at (906) 482-2388.

OUTDOOR NOTEBOOK

The comment came from a colleague. We were talking about the relative merits of a school superintendent. Standard grist for conversation at a newspaper.

Thep came her response to my point of view. "You're not part of this world anymore, you've been out in the woods too much."

Her adept analysis got me thinking about the nights I spent this summer trying to find elusive beaver ponds where nobody else fished for brook trout. There have been many such nights when I've returned to my cabin mosquito-bitten and troutless.

There were nights in the early spring when frostbite was added to the mosquito problem. I would then ponder the question of why we have to live in a state where frostbite and mosquito bites are endured on the same day.

Our American-European culture offers few answers about why some people spend their time in such pursuits. To conform to that culture, some fishermen and hunters point to freezers full of meat to justify their time in the woods.

With my track record, I can't fall back on such a justification. That's why I've been drawn more and more into the ideas of Native Americans. They see the woods as a classroom that was filled with spirits. Nature is the teacher. Learning how to be alone in the woods teaches you courage. The animals themselves teach us lessons on how to survive in the modern world.

For example, there's the elk. Michigan has a herd in the Pigeon River State Forest near Gaylord. I've seen them at times while fishing the Black and Pigeon Rivers.

They aren't as skittish as deer, and are two- to three-times larger. They aren't fast, but they do have endurance and the grace of a large animal. I think of them when I drive, they help me keep a steady, safe pace that gets me to where I'm going. They have taught me not to go to fast or too slow, but to move quickly but cautiously through traffic.

I explained my summer nights in the Upper Peninsula to Geo Fuhst, a Native American leader from Redford. His response was that most people spend time being entertained by things that make loud noises and that have flashing color.

His point comes from a classic Native American view of the world: People don't spend enough time in the woods listening to the sounds of the woods, birds and animals. Their senses have been deadened by constant exposure to television, traffic, computers and video games.

They have lost the ability to sit quietly, listen and learn.

Only in nature can we get back the senses that we've lost to the modern world. One night I was fishing the upper reaches of the Fox River in the Upper Peninsula with a companion. The fishing hadn't gone well. We had walked to a rarely fished spot, but weren't rewarded with any brook trout. We were miles from any campground, traveled road or town. There had been no man-made sounds during the entire evening.

That silence was broken by night hawks diving overhead. The birds made a sound seemingly as loud as a jet when they made their 90 degree turns. I ducked, feeling as though something was coming at me. My friend laughed. He said he hit the ground the first time he heard one.

He explained that the wings make a roaring sound when the bird turns in the air.

The thought of two, 200-pound, men hitting the ground in the middle of the woods at the sounds made by a small bird made me laugh. What a sight. But fear isn't funny. It's an instinct in our bodies that makes us aware of possible danger.

But in the face of danger, our real senses come alive and there's a nature-induced thrill. It's better than a roller coaster ride. And it makes me thankful that I'm not part of this world anymore.

Vacation home is good deal for many

Owning a vacation home offers some unique tax advantages. Understanding the tax implications of your purchase before you finalize it will help to ensure that your second home meets your personal and financial needs.

The extent to which you or family members use your vacation home determines whether tax law will treat your home as a personal vacation home, rental property or some combination of the two. The tax treatment of property used for both personal and rental use depends on how many days you use the property as a personal vacation retreat and how many days you rent it out.

For tax purposes, your second home is treated as a personal vacation home if the property is rented for less than 15 days during the year. A vacation home you use primarily for your personal enjoyment receives basically the same treatment as your primary residence.

You may deduct mortgage interest and property taxes as itemized deductions, but you may not deduct other expenses such as utilities and repairs. In fact, if you rent your home for less than 15 days, the rental income you collect is tax free. Once your rental days exceed 14, you must report the rental income you collect and keep track of the days you spend at your vacation home so you can allocate your expenses between rental use and personal use.

For example, if your home is rented 30 percent of the time, 30 percent of your rental expenses are deductible. Rental expenses include advertising, insurance, repairs, utilities and other operating expenses, in addition to mortgage interest and property taxes. When your home is treated as a personal residence, rental expenses are deductible only to the extent of rental income. You cannot use your rental expenses to

Crosswinds includes city living

Crosswinds Court, a platted residential subdivision in north central Livonia, offers a new house, all the amenities of a thriving community and the Livonia School District starting at $235,000.

The small development of 18 lots is off Six Mile between Merriman and Middlebelt. Leo Soave developed the site. Sons Marco and Michael will build on an alternating sales basis.

"The big thing is the quality we put in the homes," Michael said. "My father has been building in Livonia for 30 years."

"I think we give people a top-quality home in the heart of Livonia that's still a reasonable price," Marco said.

Brian and Jim Duggan, owners of American Classic Realty, will sell the site.

"People want Livonia services and amenities," Jim said.

"We're one of the safest cities in the nation," Brian said. "School districts are good."

"Livonia has done nothing but appreciate," Jim added.

The city also is known for its parks, municipal golf courses, libraries, historical village and excellent freeway access to all compass points.

The Brothers Soave offer four floor plans at Crosswinds Court.

They range in price from $235,000 for a 2,100-square-foot ranch with three bedrooms and 2-1/2 baths to $269,000 for a colonial of 2,550 square feet with four bedrooms and 2-1/2 baths.

Two Cape Cods with a first-floor master suite also are available.

The three-bedroom plan, 2,000 square feet, carries a base price of $239,000, a four-bedroom, 2,400 square feet, $254,000. Both also contain 2-1/2 baths.

A fireplace, two-car garage, first-floor laundry, dishwasher and basement are included at base price in all plans.

Also included in the standard package are ceiling fans in the great room and master, a carpeting allowance of $1 per square foot and a $250 lighting allowance.

The ranch plan is under construction as a sales model.

The main living area features a great room with cathedral ceiling and an angled fireplace, a library and the kitchen/nook.

The half bath is just off the laundry and pedestrian garage entrance, which makes things convenient for families with active children.

"They can wash there before touching up all the walls," Marco said.

A full bath is tucked around the corner of the great room to service that section of the house plus the two secondary bedrooms.

The master has a separate tub and shower and a walk-in closet.

"What people like about this plan is it's very open," Michael said.

Brick and wood siding are the primary exterior materials on all plans.

The Soaves said they're flexible as to changes buyers want to make in the four basic offerings.

"If people bring their own plans, we'll look at those," Michael said.

Most prospects making inquires at Crosswinds Court already live in the area.

"They're just looking to step up to a little bigger house in a nicer area of Livonia," Marco said. "Their families are getting bigger."

"Everyone I'm talking to so far is young families with kids," Brian Duggan said.

The only entrance into and out of the small sub, defined by a couple of cul-de-sacs, is off Six Mile. "No through traffic makes it safer for kids, less noise," Jim Duggan said.

Crosswinds Court is serviced by city water and sewers. It will have sidewalks.

The property tax rate currently is $31.71 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation, half of market value. That means the owners of a $250,000 house would pay about $4,000 the first year.

To make an appointment to visit Crosswinds Court, phone Jim or Brian Duggan at (313) 591-1900.

produce a tax loss to shelter other income.

Rental properties receive more a favorable tax treatment. For your vacation home to qualify as rental property, your personal use must not exceed the longer of 14 days or 10 percent of the total number of days your vacation home is rented.

You still allocate your expenses between business and personal use, just as you would if the home qualified as a residence. But, in this case if your rental property shows a loss, and your adjusted gross income is less than $100,000, you may be able to deduct up to $25,000 of rental losses a year against regular earnings such as salary. (If your income exceeds $10,000, the $25,000 deduction for business losses start to phase out. It disappears entirely when your income tops $150,000).

To qualify for this deduction, you must actively manage the property. You're considered an active manager if you make management decision such as approving new tenants or authorizing repairs.

Rental income can help you afford the vacation home you've always wanted, but, in most cases, you shouldn't count on rental revenue to carry the full cost of owning a vacation home.

Before you decide to buy, you should make a realistic assessment of the revenue you can expect to get from renting your home. Don't take the broker's or seller's word for it; do your own homework. Keep in mind that, in most areas, the prime rental period is limited to just a few months and, during those months, you'll have plenty of competition.

If you're buying your vacation home primarily as an investment, you'll want to be sure your purchase makes good financial sense. If you determine that the income from your rental property won't be enough to cover your carrying costs, you'll need to decide if the anticipated growth in your property's value will offset your losses, or else whether you might do better investing your money elsewhere.

Keep in mind that another investment may not provide you with the enjoyment you can derive from a vacation home.

Some taxpayers find that the rent they collect, when added to their personal enjoyment, makes the investment, worthwhile, if not profitable.

Keep garden tools sharp for best results

By Reader's Digest Books
For AP Special Features

If you want your garden shears and clippers to make cuts without crushing the stems of plants, you need to keep them sharp, clean and lubricated.

What to use

To sharpen blades that are not made of hardened steel, use a fine or medium-fine single-cut flat file. For hardened steel blades, use a file or a small flat sharpening stone.

Buy a combination stone with a fine grit on one side and a medium grit on the other. Spread a little light machine oil on each of the surfaces. After use, store the stone in a box to keep it from getting clogged with dirt.

■ Don't forget to wear safety goggles when you work at a bench grinder. Never remove the metal wheel guards; they protect you.

Basics

To sharpen a blade, study the original bevel and maintain its angle. Don't rock the file or blade from side to side – that can damage the edge.

After sharpening, gently rub the stone or file along the flat side of the blade (the side without the bevel) to remove burrs – metal that curves under during sharpening or with use.

Pruning shears

Scissors-type pruning shears have a sharp, curved upper blade that cuts as it passes by a curved lower hook. Anvil-type pruning shears have a sharp, straight upper blade that cuts against a flat lower surface.

To restore the cutting edge on curved scissors-type pruning shears, separate the blades if possible. Remove the pivot bolt, pry off the lock switch with a screwdriver and remove the pin. Wrap cardboard around the handle and secure it in a vise.

If the blades cannot be separated, secure the cardboard-wrapped handle in a vise. In either case, use a file or a small stone to sharpen the cutting blade, moving it from the pivot end toward the tip of the blade in a single motion. Gently file off any burrs.

Anvil-type pruning shears cannot be taken apart. Instead, secure the cardboard-wrapped handle in a vise, allowing the blades to spring open. Move a file or small stone in a sweeping motion along the bevel of the cutting edge, maintaining the original angle of the bevel.

Hedge and grass shears

Hedge and grass shears have two cutting blades. If possible, disassemble the shears. To do so, you may have to hold the nut steady to remove the bolt. Draw one blade at a time across a flat, sharpening stone. Follow the angle of the original bevel.

When reassembling, lightly oil the pivot bolt and tighten it until the blades close with a slight drag. If the bolt has a spring, tighten the bolt until the best cutting is achieved.

If hedge or grass shears cannot be disassembled, grip one blade at a time in a vise. Use cardboard to protect the blade.

Sharpen the blade along the original bevel with a smooth single-cut file or small stone. Hold the file or stone perpendicular to the cutting edge. Use straight pulling strokes, working from the pivot end to the tip without any side-to-side movement.

Bench grinder

If a cutting blade is badly nicked or very dull, reshape it on an electric bench grinder before sharpening it. Avoid ruining the blade's temper by letting it get too hot to touch – dip it in water frequently. Hold the blade to the wheel with your bare hands so that you can feel when the blade gets warm.

Don't forget to wear safety goggles when you work at a bench grinder. Never remove the metal wheel guards; they protect you in case the rapidly spinning wheel should shatter.

Common sense measures for safe use of pesticides

By Dr. Lewis Nelson
N.Y.U. Medical Center

AP – A lush green lawn can be a homeowner's pride and joy. But keeping a pest-free lawn may require using potentially toxic chemicals that must be handled carefully to prevent accidental poisonings.

The most common toxic chemicals used to kill unwanted pests are known as organophosphates and carbamates.

These chemicals are often available in hardware stores, supermarkets and plant stores. But just because organophosphates are available in familiar settings does not mean they are safe.

Here are some protective measures to take when using these materials.

■ Safety begins in the store. Before you buy an insecticide, read the label carefully. Bear in mind that many of the chemicals are packaged as concentrates that are meant to be diluted before being used in sprayers.

■ Consider the weather conditions before spraying your lawn. Do not spray on a windy day. A gust of wind can blow the chemicals back into your face where they can be inhaled.

■ Avoid spraying on a hot day since high temperatures can cause these chemicals to vaporize into the air.

■ Avoid contact with skin by wearing protective clothing: long pants, long-sleeve shirts, closed shoes, a hat, gloves and eyeglasses. If your skin comes in contact with the material, stop spraying immediately, wash the area thoroughly and change your clothes. In any case, you should change and launder your clothes after spraying pesticides.

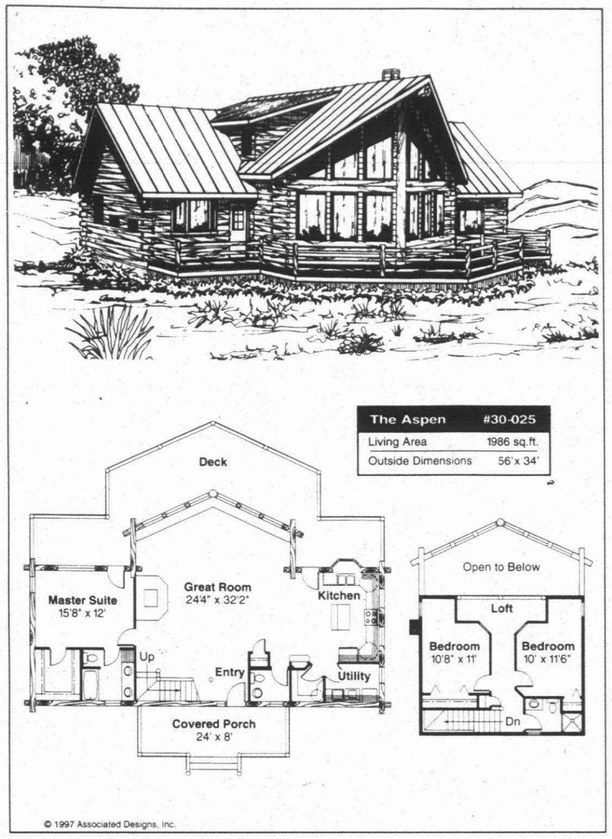
■ Never smoke, eat or drink while applying these chemicals. They can get into the air and land on a drink, sandwich or cigarette and be ingested or inhaled.

■ Do not spray around children or pets and keep them off a sprayed lawn for several days. Young children are especially prone to dangerous exposure because they breath faster than adults and are likely to play or lie on the grass.

■ Many people use "organic" insecticides in the mistaken belief that chemicals termed "natural" are safer than organophosphates. But some of the natural chemicals such as nicotine, can be just as toxic as organophosphates.

■ Those who want to use a less toxic form of lawn insecticide may select one that contains derivatives of chrysanthemums known as pyrethrins and pyrethroids. These can, however, cause allergic reactions in those who become sensitized

■ Finally, be sure to store all insecticides in their original containers and keep them in a cool dry area out of reach of children. And if you have any questions, contact the manufacturer, nearby poison-control center or local nursery.



Vacation home is built with logs

Rustic logs frame the Aspen, a spacious vacation retreat designed to maximize appreciation of the outdoors. Windows, stacked two high, open most of the rear elevation to the view, and a wide deck spans that entire side of the home. Rain and snow slides easily off the long-lasting metal roof.

Log homes endure. Some built early in our country's history are still in use, with updated interiors.

This one has a bright great room at center, warmed by a free-standing wood stove. The ceiling at the rear rises to two stories high near the windows. Two good-sized bedrooms and a bathroom are on the second floor, along with a wide, railed loft that overlooks the great room.

You could actually live in this house year-round. It boasts close to 2,000 square feet of interior living area, more than many homes have, and the roomy deck adds hundreds more square feet of living area when days are warm. It even has three bathrooms, one upstairs and two on the main floor.

The kitchen has plenty of cupboard and counter space, along with a work island and a large walk-in pantry. The length of work island that faces the great room serves as an eating and conversation bar. Potted plants flourish in the small window bay in front of the sink, and a door to the deck makes it easy to move meals outside.

Utilities are nearby, in a full-sized laundry room complete with overhead cabinets and a deep sink.

The Aspen's master suite has a full-size walk-in closet, and private bathroom with dual vanity, tub, and linen storage.

For a review plan, including scaled floor plans, elevations, section and artist's conception, send $15 to Associated Designs, 1100 Jacobs Dr., Eugene, Ore. 97402. Please specify the Aspen 30-025 and include a return address when ordering. A catalog featuring over 170 home plans is available for $12. For more information call (800) 634-0123.

Sick in Michigan

Michigan residents are sicker than those in most other states. In its "Review of the Health Status of Michigan's Citizens," the Michigan State Medical Society examined the numbers related to smoking, obesity, cancer and 11 other factors affecting Michigan people and notes how these factors impact the cost of health care.

This study is intended to help physicians and community leaders understand the challenges Michigan's health care system faces, and the factors affecting health care costs.

"Chronic disease, lifestyle choices, health promotion and prevention, and substance abuse need to be address in relation to cost as Michigan continues to examine its health care system," said Dr. Rhoda M. Powsner, M.D., chairwoman of the MSMS Task Force on Health Status Data.

"Michigan is spending billions of dollars per year on diseases directly related to obesity and sedentary lifestyle, tobacco use and substance abuse," Powsner said. "These lifestyle choices affect health and increase the cost of insurance for preventable diseases."

Children's health is another area in which Michigan does not compare favorably to the rest of the nation, according to the MSMS study. Michigan ranks in the bottom half of states in infant mortality, teen pregnancy and immunizations, although the immunization rate has been improving.

In 1994, the poverty rate of Michigan's children was 18.6 percent, making Michigan the 32nd poorest state. Children from low-income homes often depend on emergency room visits as their usual source of health care, an expensive way to access care.

For information on the study, contact Julie Lester, manager, Health Care Research at MSMS, (517) 336-5768. The report, which will be used to educate physicians, patients, lawmakers, employers and the health care industry, is available online at http://www.msms.org.

Vaccine research

Could a genetically-engineered vaccine to fight prostate cancer be on the horizon? A University of Michigan researcher believes a new clinical trial using a combination of gene therapy and hormone therapy, now under way at the U-M Comprehensive Cancer Center, will go a long way toward answering that question.

Dr. Martin Sanda, M.D., assistant professor of urology and oncology, has begun a trial to test the safety and biological effects of a vaccine for men in whom prostate cancer recurs after a radical prostatectomy.

The test vaccine is a genetically-engineered version of the smallpox vaccine, called "prostvac," in which a prostate specific gene has been inserted to target the immune system against prostate cancer cells. The hope is that the vaccine will encourage the growth of T-lymphocyte cells that will recognize and kill the prostate cancer cells.

The Phase I/II study is one of three nationwide currently looking at the vaccine, but Sanda says the U-M trial is unique because it is targeting the genetic therapy at early states of prostate cancer. "This is a novel approach to develop a new cancer therapy in early disease before it has been evaluated in preterminal advanced cancer," Sanda said.

He pointed out that with advances in screening prostate cancer, most new cases are early forms of the disease, so it makes sense to target early treatment.

Sanda expects to enroll 21 to 24 men in the study. Each patient must: have had a radical prostatectomy; have had a rising prostate-specific antigen level after surgery, which may indicate that the cancer is growing again; and have prostate cancer in an early enough stage to respond to hormone therapy, which uses various hormones to try and stop the growth of the cancer.

The patients will receive the vaccination one week after their last hormone therapy. They will then be tested weekly for the first six to eight weeks and monthly after that. Sanda and his co-investigators will measure PSA levels and look for tumor markers and lymphocyte response.

Those interested in participating should call the University of Michigan's Cancer AnswerLine at 1-800-865-1125 between 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

THE POWER OF PRAYER

BY DIANE GALE ANDREASSI
SPECIAL WRITER

One prescription for good health is absolutely free, has no side effects and you don't have to go to the drugstore for refills.

More and more doctors are looking at the power of prayer as good medicine for their patients. Surveys show that more than 90 percent of women and 80 percent of men pray regularly, according to a leading expert on the subject, Dr. Larry Dossey, in his book, "Prayer Is Good Medicine." In fact, more than 130 documented studies by scientists showed that prayer can be potent, even if the patient doesn't know about the prayers.

One study by Randolph Byrd involved 393 patients in the coronary care unit of San Francisco General Hospital. Prayer groups around the country prayed for patients in one group and not the other. Except for prayers, all patients received the same treatments. And no one involved knew who was in each group.

Byrd learned that the patients who were prayed for did significantly better in a number of areas than patients in the other group.

Dr. Bill McLaughlin, Providence Hospital associate chairman-radiation oncology, is blazing trails locally by heading a drive to open a full-service cancer center with a significant part of the space committed to addressing the spiritual dimension of cancer care. It's scheduled to open in the spring of 1999 in Novi.

"It's hard to include this in the care of patients even though we know it can be very healing and important to them," he said. "Admittedly, it's easy to offend patients in a multi-religious culture. We're trying to appeal to a wide variety and offer various forums, like art, prayer and therapeutic methods, for patients to address the spiritual and psychological crisis that often attends the diagnosis of cancer."

Mind-body connection

There's an interconnection of spirit and mind just now being explored, McLaughlin said. As a cancer specialist, he treats a broad spectrum of patients from those who have no formal religion to others who have strong faith. No matter what, their foundations are always shaken by cancer.

"I hear constantly from patients 'I would never get through this without my faith,' " he said. "It is rare for me to hear of people praying to be cured or praying for a miracle. They are praying for the strength to endure gracefully and come what may. It's a deep honest searching coming to peace. It's extremely rare to find a bitter, rageful, angry person to the end."

People who don't pray and don't have a religion are groping within themselves and are tapping on an inner-self or spirit, he added. "There are so many visions and ideas of what prayer is," he said. "People are in tremendous pain and turmoil spiritually and physically and for whatever reason they work it out."

The cancer center will offer a forum where this deep reckoning within oneself is recognized as a critical part of the problem. "I basically created this from thousands of questions from 'What is cancer?' to 'What happens when you die?' " he added.

Area hospital chaplains also point to how the process of prayer eases tension by giving your problem over to a greater being. "The most common effect is that prayer can calm and quiet people who are anxious and worried about whatever is happening," according to the Rev. Tom Burdette, University of Michigan Health System staff chaplain, ordained in the United Methodist Church. "I can literally watch someone's tension ease by the sheer act of offering prayer. Does the impact of prayer prove the existence of God? I can't say that. It's always going to be a matter of faith."

Burdette, however, pointed to another recent study by the University of California-Los Angeles where a group of people were given patients' names. The findings, again, were that the patients who were unknowingly prayed for had a faster rate of recovery than those who didn't have prayers.

Answered prayers

Burdette was helping a family prepare for the death of a critically ill infant. "The baby ended up living and going home with little or no deficits from the problems he had at birth," he said. "The neurologist said he had no explanation except the power of prayer."

Burdette added, however, that he would never advocate the idea of faith healing or that faith should replace modern medicine. "There's an old Hebrew concept of body and soul as one," he added. "What happens to us physically has an affect on our spiritual well being and vice versa."

The Rev. Kurt Stutz, Botsford Hospital chaplain, said in some ways prayer and science walk hand in hand, because they both involve faith. For instance, scientists have faith if you do the right things in the right way you will find certain answers, like drugs for illnesses. Prayer can also result in unexpected answers.

"Sometime a benefit can be death if someone is really sick and people are praying for that person to leave their suffering," Stutz said. "Sometimes what we pray for we don't necessarily get what we expect."

Like Burdette, Stutz says he also sees benefits from the process of praying. "I can say I've seen people become more comforted and at peace within themselves," he said, adding that he has also seen tangible results.

"I've heard stories from people who say that when they were praying for certain things, like a pain in the back, that it would go away," he added.

A surgeon told Burdette a story about a time he was in surgery. There was a lot of bleeding and he didn't know where it originated. The surgeon asked God to lead him and shortly after the prayer the bleeding stopped.

"It's hard to say whether it would have done it on his own," Stutz said. "It's a mysterious land to be in."

Some people only use prayer to get them out of trouble. Others use it as a sense of confidence that no matter what they face during the day they feel protected. Others envision God as a friend who they can talk to periodically and it gives them a sense of comfort – there's a peace within.

"I know a number of physicians who say that prayer is a part of healing just as using other methods, like surgery," Stutz said. "You use it all. I think that's a healthy attitude."

McLaughlin said personally he believes that "life is a miracle" even from a scientific point of view when you understand childbirth and complexity of life. "It's miraculous every minute, but we don't know it," he said. "We don't see it, we get in a humdrum existence. Prayer is an attempt to remind ourselves that this is magnificent."

Expert says air bags can't do job alone

BY DR. ANTHONY ARENA
SPECIAL WRITER

"An air bag takes another young life," laments a polished anchorwoman on the local TV nightly news. Is it sensationalism or responsible reporting? Stories such as these definitely help ratings, but for the public it's buyer beware. Broadcasts such as these have actually sent panicked car owners to their local auto dealers to have their air bags dismantled. Are such rash measures warranted?

According to the latest National Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) data, air bags are effective in preventing fatalities in 11 percent of all crashes; 31 percent in purely frontal crashes, and 19 percent in all frontal crashes.

Based on the 11 percent overall figure, they have saved 1,198 lives between 1987 and 1995, with 475 lives saved in 1995 alone. With an increase in the number of installed passenger side air bags from 1.4 million in 1993 to 21.6 million in 1996 (and with new federal motor vehicle requirements mandating them in light trucks by the year 1999) this life-saving trend can only be expected to continue.

In other cases, it's complacency rather than panic, that consumers experience. Thanks in part to creative advertising, such as the TV commercial that displayed survivors' high speed, head-on collisions seemingly unscathed, many of us have come to regard air bags as a convenient excuse to forget about the restraint belts once and for all. Yet statistics paint a different picture.

The problems

With all the hoopla generated by the media, we have forgotten to ask an important question: What is the risk/benefit of air bags? It is certainly true that serious injuries and, in fact several fatalities have been blamed on air bag deployment. And minor abrasions and ocular (eye) injuries are common. In one study, 96.1 percent of all injuries were classified as minor, with facial injuries accounting for 42 percent followed by the wrists, forearm and chest.

Most of us would agree, however, that recovering from a broken arm beats death any day. In truth, many of the injuries associated with air bags are seen in those who might not have survived without them.

Some of the most common injuries reported from air bag deployment are eye injuries. Corneal abrasions are most common and are usually not serious. More serious injuries reported include retinal detachment and corneoscleral laceration. Apart from the risk/benefit cost analysis issue, the most pressing concern for those of us in health care, research, and public health fields are the fatalities directly attributable to air bag deployment.

Most of these, paradoxically, have occurred at low speeds where air bag deployment would not have been necessary. The most frequent picture is that of a female driver of short stature who has adjusted her care seat in a far forward position.

When the bag deploys, it strikes the driver at full deployment speed (165-210 mph) resulting in violent forces through the spine, often causing severe hyperextension (whiplash of the neck). Most deaths have been instantaneous, with fracture through the back of the head and traumatic rupture of the spinal cord or lower portion of the brain. And finally the deaths that have stirred the greatest controversy are the infants and children killed by the deploying passenger side air bag.

Possible solutions

Due to the high cost of air bag replacement and the injuries reported in children, TRW and other companies have developed sensors that will allow more sophisticated air bag systems ("smart air bag") to determine whether the passenger seat is occupied. If not the air bag is deactivated. This saves greatly on needless replacement repair bills.

Future child seats will have onboard transmitters that will emit a signal to deactivate the passenger side air bag. However, for parents driving cars with no rear seats, NHTSA continues to allow manual deactivation of these air bags. Be aware that doing so may present unique liability issues in the event that an adult passenger is injured.

■ In conclusion, air bags are generally safe and can save lives when used in conjunction with restraint belts.

This same sensor system will also determine the size, seating position, and proximity to the air bag of drivers and passengers and will allow controlled deployment of the air bag for those in close proximity. As pointed out earlier, deployment thresholds in low speed collisions will also have to be more carefully regulated so that air bags will activate only in crash situations in which their added contribution can be balanced against the risk of air bag-induced injuries.

Meanwhile, as a public health service, physicians can advise their patients to make sure that all children ride in approved child seats and are wearing appropriate restraint devices for all trips, emphasizing that the back seat is the best place for kids. Infants in rear-facing child seats should never be placed in the front seat of a car with an activated passenger side air bag.

The best place for the hands on the steering wheel (to minimize flailing and other extremity injuries) is now in the 4 o'clock and 8 o'clock positions. Pipe smoking should be discouraged and hands (and feet) should be kept off the module cover at all times. The wearing of eyeglasses made with plastic lenses will offer some protection against eye injury.

In conclusion, air bags are generally safe and can save lives when used in conjunction with restraint belts. Newer system designs currently in development can be expected to reduce unnecessary bag development and consequent injuries, and to tune deployment for optimal occupant protection when deployment is necessary. Side air bags and knee bolster air bags will protect occupants in side impacts and offer more lower extremity protection in front impacts in the future.

Dr. Anthony Arena, D.C., represents Arena Spinal Care Center of Livonia.

KEVIN EKUS
CENTURY 21 TODAY, INC.

You will be pleasantly surprised when you enter this charming home just minutes away from downtown Royal Oak, Birmingham and shopping. This 3 bedroom brick ranch has been extremely well maintained and updated by the current owners. There is just over 1000 square feet of updated living space on the first floor and it is delightfully decorated in neutral colors.

The home is in absolute move in condition! Built in 1958, extensive updating in the last three years includes: white formica kitchen cabinets, gray countertops, stove and dishwasher, white and beige ceramic tile bath for easy maintenance, furnace, central air and humidifier just to name a few. The spacious living room has a sunny picture window. There is ample dining space off the kitchen, and a doorwall leading to a 14x13 wolmanized deck overlooks a private fenced yard. The lower level offers a spacious 32x13 recroom with paneled walls and drop ceiling, built-in shelving and a ton of extra storage. A half bath is conveniently located next to the laundry area. 2 car detached garage with automatic door opener and sensor lighting on the west side of the home will make you feel secure. You'll also notice a sense of neighborhood pride reflected in the well-kept surrounding homes and yards.

Thomas Ervin
Let's Talk About Real Estate

"IT TAKES TWO"

When you list your property with a Realtor, you may think that it is now up to the Realtor to get the house sold. It is true that the Realtor does take on the primary responsibility for selling the house. Don't, however, overlook your vital role in the selling process. There are duties that only the Realtor can address and other important tasks that can only be accomplished by you, the owner. Here are the rightful duties of each party:

THE REALTOR
Of course, the Realtor knows the market and must assist you in learning the present value of your property. This is done by presenting you with a Competitive Market Analysis which is a composite view of recent sales and the asking prices of competing houses in your area that are now for sale.

Your Realtor will also provide valuable marketing expertise, including submission of your property statistics into the local multiple listing service, advertising in newspapers, open houses, and arranging for showings to qualified buyers. Assistance and advice are also provided when an offer is submitted, as well as all details of the closing.

THE HOMEOWNER
You, the homeowner, must agree to price the property so that buyers will be encouraged to see the house. You must keep the home in ready-to-show condition and make it available to buyers when they want to see it. Although you know more about your house than any Realtor, you should allow the Realtor to conduct the showing and remain available for questions. If you are going to be gone often, give the Realtor a key to the house so that valuable showing opportunities will not be lost. And finally, let the Realtor use a sign in your yard. Calls received from signs are often good sources for motivated buyers.

Strong managerial and professional hiring ahead

By Sheryl Silver, Career Source

A recent survey forecasts continued strength in the hiring of mid-management and professional level personnel for a broad array of industries.

The survey is the latest in a series of semi-annual hiring projection surveys conducted by Management Recruiters International (MRI), an Ohio-headquartered firm with several offices in the Atlanta area. According to the survey, 52.5 percent of the 4,900 executives surveyed plan to increase their mid-to upper management and professional ranks. This projection comes on the heels of the 49.6 percent increase projected for the first half of 1997.

Of the latest projections, Alan R. Schonberg, president of MRI, said, "These new hire projections are the highest we've seen in more than 16 years of polling. I believe they are a true reflection of today's economy. Opportunities have never been greater for managers and professionals, and in my opinion, there are not yet any signs of diminishment out there."

Although the percentage of executives forecasting additional hiring was highest in the MidAtlantic region at 59.9 percent, hiring projections were over 45 percent for all regions of the country. Commenting on the regional data, Schonberg said, "What stands out most significantly is that the employment situation is strong in every region of the country. There is literally no weak spot."

Planned hiring appears to be strong in a broad cross section of industries as well. Telecommunications and information technology executives forecast the highest levels of new hires at 74.7 percent and 70.5 percent respectively. Not far behind were the pharmaceutical, construction and retail trade industries where over sixty percent of the companies surveyed projected increased hiring of management and professional level staff. Even industries farther down the list are planning relatively high levels of increased hiring; from financial services to health care, more than forty percent of the executives in twelve other industries, reported plans to add management and professional staff during the next six months.

Of these findings, Schonberg said, "An industry increase of even 40 percent is a buoyant increase. With but three exceptions, we range from that substantial level to almost 75 percent in the telecommunications industry." Reflecting on the pace and intensity of hiring generally in the information technology (IT) arena, Schonberg added, "What is going on today in the entire information technology arena is not to be believed. It is a frenzied area with tens of thousands of unfilled positions."

Larry Cooper, general manager of the corporate office of MRI and Sales Consultants of Atlanta, is seeing the same trends highlighted by the survey in the positions he's being asked to fill. "Demand right now is better than we've ever seen it," said Cooper. "The problem now isn't finding enough job orders. It's finding enough qualified candidates to fill all the positions we have."

Matt Albanese, president of MRI of Glendora, California specializes in recruiting logistics and supply chain management personnel. Albanese says he's seen consistently high demand in that field across a broad range of industries for the last eighteen months. "In fact, we've seen a wave developing," he said. "First you start seeing growth in the hiring of engineering and lower management staff. Now, we're seeing that wave moving toward middle and upper management."

Albanese also noted that MRI colleagues around the country who recruit for other fields have told him this is the strongest hiring trend they've seen in ten years.

As to what's fueling the hiring, Cooper commented, "Companies feel confident about growing and companies that slimmed down are now hiring. Some demand is also coming from start-up companies, particularly in the technology area."

With qualified candidates hard to come by in many industries, Cooper added, "High-skilled candidates are worth more now than they ever have been." Indeed, he says salaries are on the rise for those with proven records of success in their fields.

Work Wise®: Humor contributes to management effectiveness

By Mildred L. Culp, Passage Media

Office cut-ups, appearing adolescent or childish, rarely gain respect because of their obvious insecurity. But managers with a non-offensive sense of humor can go a long way in the workplace, according to research by Wayne Decker, Professor of Management at Perdue School of Business, Salisbury State University, Salisbury, Maryland. Analysis of 359 questionnaires returned from 217 men and 135 women (7 didn't mention their gender) of the Business School's alums reflected that, both for men and women, humor contributes to effective management.

Decker discovered that, among the alums, men used humor more than women. They seemed to have a greater sense of humor, enjoying and telling jokes of all kinds--non-offensive, insulting or sexual. Men also seemed to respond to various forms of humor more than women did. They laughed more at humor in advertisements, disparaging remarks against enemies, insulting jokes and sexual jokes. In the arena of racist and sexist humor, men didn't become offended as easily as women did.

Does this mean that women tend to be overly sensitive or humorless? No. They just laugh at other forms of humor. Decker found that by comparison with men, women enjoyed what he calls "nonsense or absurd humor," as well as self-deprecating remarks. However, women 25 years old and older apparently didn't like the use of sexual humor by supervisors, but younger women and men didn't seem to mind. Overall, male supervisors seemed to create environments with more humor, often discussing information about work with humor.

Humor may not appear to have a role in today's fast-paced workplace, because it can be viewed as a time-waste. However, studies have shown that humor contributes to good health. It reduces stress, gives a breather from pressing issues, even provides perspective on sometimes difficult, complex issues. In other words, non-offensive humor improves health.

Offensive humor can be another matter. Sexist or racist jokes can get you and your employer in trouble, even if the recipient isn't offended. (Someone else may be.) In addition, such jokes cloud over the workplace, perpetuating a tradition of denigrating others at their own expense.

Clearly, humor has its place at work. Decker's research showed that it's particularly beneficial to women supervisors, who are perceived as better leader if they use it. Overall, however, it makes work easier.

Whether you're a man or woman, supervisor or employee, you can clearly improve your prospects at work if you use humor. People will enjoy working with you more; they'll feel that they, too, can brighten the atmosphere when it needs it; and you'll be diminishing the stress level of everyone around you.

The safest jokes you can tell are ones aimed at yourself rather than another person, who may be overly sensitive and may find your humor offensive. one particularly overscheduled and frequently tardy business owner opens every meeting by referring to himself as "The Late Mr. X." The remark always gets a chuckle and defuses tension.

Marshall Hryciuk of Toronto's MHW Distribution, a book distribution company, said that self-deprecating humor has little sense of humor about themselves, because they identify too closely with what they think, believe and possess." They also lack self-confidence.

But beware of using this kind of humor if you haven't established your competence with the people at work, either because you're new at the organization or working on a new project that is overwhelming you. You don't want people to believe that you're as incompetent as your self-deprecating humor may suggest.

Avoid insulting humor, whether you're a man or woman. Remarks that jab can put other people off. However, if someone stabs you inoffensively, take this as an opportunity to depersonalize the humor. Focusing humor on work can redirect the sword before the situation becomes unruly.

Not all humor has to be spoken. But be careful about silent imitations of people. What you may think humorous, another may not. imitating a person can drawn a wedge between the two of you when you were really trying to cement a relationship.

If the last time you told a funny story or a joke was a year ago, or if you habitually tell jokes that other people don't "get" or think corny, look around for someone with an excellent sense of humor to emulate. Then, practice. Join Toastmasters, where you can be open about your inability to communicate with humor, and receive slid feedback as your skill improves. you may find that just being in comfortable surrounds brings out the sense of humor you thought you didn't have.

At Work: A job for school is an educated risk

By Lindsey Novak Tribune Media

Q: I'm in my mid-30s and have been in the work force for 18 years. I recently took the plunge and quit my job to go back to school full-time for a master's degree in management information systems. I can complete my degree in one and a half years by going full-time, compared to the four years it would take me going part-time at night. I had balanced going to night school for my bachelor's degree in public accounting with my job, family life and social life for so long I couldn't continue living like that. What are employers' likely perceptions of someone my age leaving the work force to complete a master's degree?

A: Furthering your education is never a waste of time if it's in your area of interest and it's what you want to do rather than what you think you should do. People leave jobs to return to school at all ages, as I'm sure you saw at night school. Your areas of interest are practical and very marketable. As for your age, on your return to the work force, you will still be in your mid-30s.

POTENTIAL EMPLOYER EXPOSES WORKER'S JOB SEARCH

Q. I've been selling commodities on a commission-vs.-draw arrangement for several years. Due to changes in the market-place, the majority of my business is gone and it has been difficult to compete from a cost position: Although the owner has tried to be optimistic, he stopped my draw and I have been put on commission only. I sent out many resumes, including one to a friendly competitor. That company contacted the sale manager and owner of my company without first calling or interviewing me regarding the position. The owner of my company befame quite upset with me and I feel my position is in jeopardy. Isn't there a code of ethics that a company must follow regarding contacting current employers?

A: There are several issues here. First, your boss is naive to think you would not look for a job after stopping your draw in a slow market. Talk to him about your new financial arrangement and ask if he thinks the loss of sales are caused by your performance or by demand drying yup. He may have been faced with either stopping your draw or letting you go.

Second, a draw is not meant to be a salary Commissions should equal and normally exceed a draw. Unless a product requires long-term developing of clients to complete sales, a company can only carry a salesperson for a short period of time when he stops bringing in business. It's likely that your company's competitors will want the same straight commission arrangement if your lost business is due solely to the industry slowing down.

Third, an employer calling your current employer without your permission is unprofessional and unethical, regardless of whether the two owners knew each other; which may be the case in such a tight-circle industry.

When you "shotgun" resumes to companies, state clearly in your cover letter that your job search is confidential. Unfortunately, this doesn't mean that all employers will respect your request, as there are always a few bad apples in every bushel.

Potholes in the road to work-at-home success

By Alice Bredin, Tribune Media

For years I have encouraged my husband to start a home-based business, and now he has. He finally found a great idea, quit his job and set up an office upstairs from mine.

So far, so good. He likes the lifestyle change because even though he is working very hard, he has more time to exercise and we spend more time together than when he left the house for work at 7:30 a.m. and returned at 7 p.m. Also, for the first time in a long time, he is learning a lot from his work. The irony is, I am learning a lot in the process too.

I am learning by getting a reminder of the challenges of starting up a home-based business. While I am very familiar with the start-up process, seeing him go through all of the steps demonstrates to me how many pitfalls exist in the start-up phase.

Luckily, Stu has avoided making any fatal mistakes and has probably made less than his share of inevitable errors so far. Whenever he does stumble, I remind him that mistakes are part of running a business and he should get used to it.

To help you avoid some of the potholes in the road to establishing a business, Stu has said it's OK to share his mistakes.

• Spending money on an idea before it is formed. Most business ideas evolve significantly from their first incarnation. Stu's was no exception. He devised an idea last spring, and the business he runs today is an offshoot of that idea. His mistake was spending money on focus groups to investigate his original idea. A better approach would have been top first spend a few months investigating the market to ensure the idea was sound.

•A tendency to have too many face-to-face meetings. Because of his extensive corporate work experience, my husband has a tendency to want to schedule meetings. His natural instinct is to meet all vendors face-to-face and to set up other appointments. Gradually he has learned that when you work at home, most meetings require you to travel outside of the office. These meetings are extremely time consuming, and he has already become more ruthless with his time.

Wanting to incorporate too early. Luckily, we averted this one. Stu incorporated only last week now that his company direction is established and focused. He wanted to incorporate in spring, which would most likely have been a waste of money because his idea and company name have changed since then.

•Printing stationary before his incorporation was final. He was very through in his investigation of trademarks to determine if the name he wanted was available nationally. He also did some local searches to see if any other New York companies were operating under the name he chose.

Having gotten the clear from several sources, Stu had his stationary printed while his incorporation was still in process. Unfortunately, a small company in upstate New York is incorporated using the name he just spent $2,000 printing on his stationary.

•Spending too much time at his desk. Stu has already adopted some classic work-at-home tendencies. After dinner he often heads for the office, and weekend days are often designated for work time.

•Wanting to overuse an attorney. Having come from an environment in which he had legal resources at his fingertips, Stu wants to use the services of his attorney frequently. I have told him stories of how legal bills add up quickly and have encouraged him to use the attorney's time sparingly and do so as much as possible himself until his cash flow is positive.

Like any other home-based business owner, Stu's minor foibles don't mean he won't be successful or that he is not cut out to be a home-based entrepreneur. It just means that, like any other entrepreneur, he will make many mistakes, learn from some of them and hopefully have fun along the way.

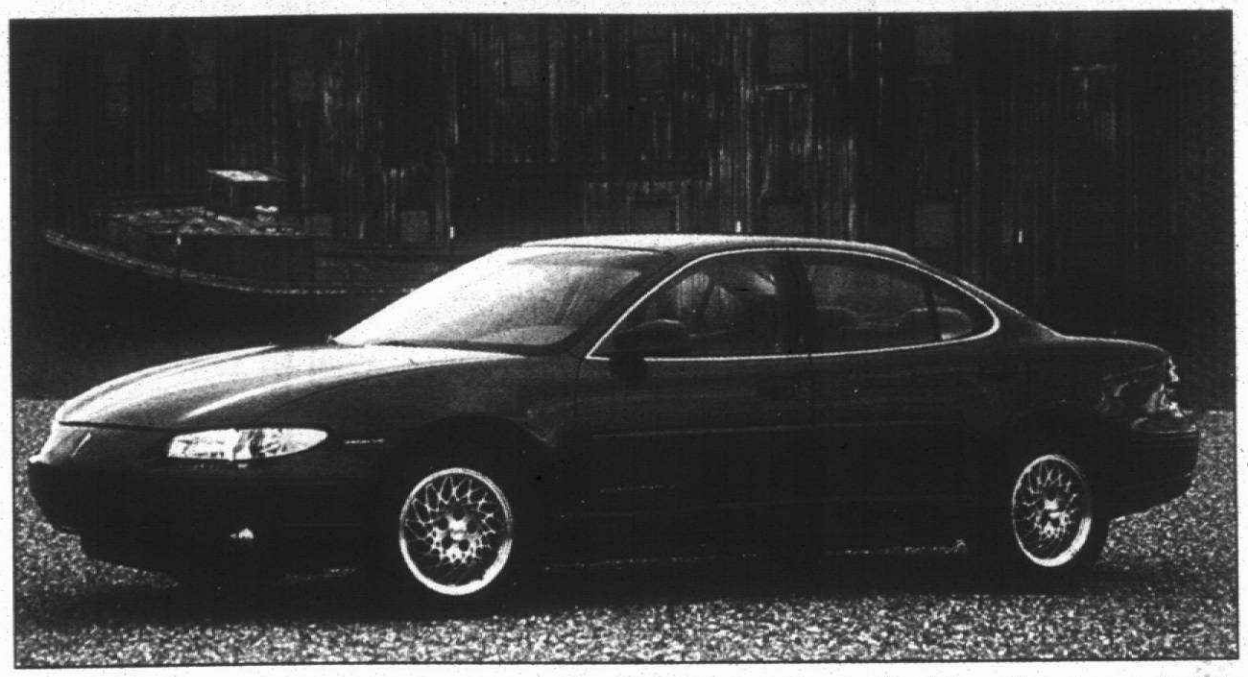
Grand Prix delivers excitement

CAReport

By Anne Fracassa
Avanti NewsFeatures



The 1997 Grand Prix GT with its' "wide track" stance is really appealing. Its' lowered hood line really makes you feel like you're in a small juicy sports car.

Approaching it in the parking lot, it invites you. Its aggressive, wide stance tells you — no, screams at you — we're going to have a lot of fun here.

And fun I had in this 1997 Pontiac Grand Prix.

It's all new this year. The funny thing about it is that it was a great car last year. And, obviously, it's even better this year.

I have to say I was taken aback by the pricetag of the Grand Prix GT: Just under $23,000. But if you want fun, power, response and this kind of comfort, you've got to go with the GT version of Grand Prix.

I hate to repeat what the automakers say about their products. But with the GT, this is true excitement.

Let's start with what's under the hood. No scrimping here, that's for sure. The 3.8-liter 3800 series II V-6, mated to a 4-speed automatic transmission, is a dream to drive. It steps up to the plate, nails it, and you're sailing over left field and outta the ballpark before you know it.

I didn't drive the supercharged version of the 3.8 liter, which gives you 240 horses. The 3800 series I drove only had a measly 195 horsepower. But it didn't disappoint me in the least.

On the freeway, on the street, down my block, it gave me more power than I deserved. It was quick in acceleration, quick in passing and quick enough to maybe get me in trouble. Thank heaven it didn't.

And the surprising thing about all this is that the GT I drove was the sedan — not the two-door coupe.

Regardless, this is a fun car to drive.

Let's get to the interior. Never mind that the cockpit centers around the driver, the one who matters the most in the car. Never mind that its backlit red instrumentation is quite a sight on a warm summer night.

All controls are large enough for a gorilla to use. Everything is angled toward the driver. There's a "driver information center" that tells you just about everything you need to know about the car — including whether your tires are inflated to the proper pressure.

It'll also tell you if the traction control system is on, whether the door or trunk is open and whether you need additional washer fluid or an oil change. I wonder if the next Grand Prix will fix you a sandwich.

The bucket seats are oh, so comfy. Even the rear bench seats are comfortable. There's a center console storage area that can hide a six pack — maybe even 8 — without a problem.

I did have one complaint. The keyfob is designed to unlock and lock the doors, as well as the trunk. There also is a little red button for a panic alarm. I had to press the trunk button about 25 times before it opened. And the lock and unlock buttons were a pain as well because they wouldn't do their job on the first push. It seemed like it had a brain hiccup or something.

Speaking of the trunk, it's large. How large? Well, on a family outing, it carried a crock pot, a laundry basket full of goodies, two fairly large coolers, an oversized duffle bag full of bathing suits, towels and clothes and two Pyrex lasagna-sized dishes.

Lo and behold, I was many miles from home when it hit me that I forgot the hotdog buns on the kitchen table. So I flew into the nearest Meijer in Canton Township, where I put in four packages of buns, two large Tostito chip bags and a couple of clearance bathing suits — and I still had plenty of room. The cargo net came in real handy for the crock pot full of baked beans.

I've got to mention the rear seat pass-through. That allows the center of the rear seat to come down in case you have — oh, I don't know — a pair of skis or something else just as long to transport. While the seat is down, two people can comfortably sit in the rear seats without so much as a whimper.

Again, I have to mention the styling on the Grand Prix GT. Its "wide track" stance is really appealing. The rear treatment is striking. The sides seem to just melt into the rest of the car. Its lowered hood line really make you feel like you're in a small juicy sports car. And, again, we're talking sedan here.

I've got to mention the standard list, because at the starting price of $20,099, you've got to expect a lot.

Let's take a look: 16-inch touring tires on aluminum wheels, 4-wheel independent suspension, traction control, variable-effort steering, power windows lockout, daytime running lamps, programmable power door locks, fog lamps, power mirrors, air conditioning, power windows, full instrumentation (tach included), AM/FM stereo with cassette and cruise control. That's it, folks.

The Grand Prix GT tested had about 2 grand in options, including a rear defogger, steering-wheel radio controls, 6-way power driver's seat, keyless entry, head-up display, compact disc system, rear deck lid spoiler, child seat, full overhead console, cargo net and security system. The bottom line was $22,669.

A bit pricey, but if you want a car that beckons to you as you approach it and doesn't disappoint you when you're driving it, the Grand Prix GT is for you.
