Canton High principal to retire

■ Patricia Patton – the first woman to be named a Plymouth-Canton high school principal – is among nine administrators accepting district buyouts next spring.

Canton High School Principal Patricia Patton notified her staff Friday that she will be retiring at the end of the school year.

She's one of nine administrators who are taking the district's buy-out package at the end of this school year, which calls for $60,000 paid out over the next eight years.

Patton, an educator for 31 years who has spent the last seven as principal at Canton, said the decision to accept the district's retirement package was made in the last couple of months.

"I feel proud of my work in public education, and enjoy being around the kids and teachers," said Patton. "But, I need to spend more time with my family. I've changed directions, and they're a top priority for me now."

In a letter to her staff, Patton said, "Much more difficult will be to walk away from the Canton family — the students and staff who have meant so much to me. P-CEP is a very special place, and I feel proud to have been here twice in my career."

Patton was an assistant principal at Canton in 1980-83, before becoming principal at Lowell Middle School through 1995. In her second stint at Canton, Patton said the biggest change she noticed was the diversity of the high school complex.

"And that made it a richer place to be," she said. "A lot has come from our student leadership to help us under-

Schools celebrate diversity for MLK

Last year, controversy surrounded Black History Month when a Salem High School senior questioned the validity for the celebration in a letter printed in the school newspaper. Nearly 300 parents and students, most African-American, protested the student's letter, believing it was racist.

This year, Plymouth-Canton school officials want to make amends by showing the community it's taking notice of its diversified community. The district will not have classes tomorrow, Martin Luther King Day. Instead, there will be diversity and sensitivity training for nearly 1,000

Along with a luncheon, Taulbert will be the keynote speaker for an early-morning session with educators. Then, there will be 52 different sessions for educators to attend throughout the morning.

"We want to show this community that we value diversity, and we want to celebrate diversity," added Ryan. "To fix the problems, our celebration of diversity needs to be embedded into everything we do."

The district plans to have a number of activities for students to celebrate the life of King in January and Febru-

The neon sign above the door said "Open," but the door was locked and the shelves were empty. A notice posted on the door announced that the store was "permanently closed."

A piece of paper, taped to the outside of the window, fluttered in the blowing wet snow. The hand-written message said, "We'll miss you, Canton Bread Company."

Inside the closed store, owner Jerry Sprague was taking things down from the walls and packing boxes.

The bakery, which opened three years ago at 7676 Canton Center Road and had become a kind of mecca for student field trips, was a victim of bad circumstances.

"A year ago we were going into our third year of business," Sprague said. "We were just starting to enter the black and things were going very good ... and then they tore up the road."

He was referring to the Canton Center reconstruction project, which affected businesses along the road for several months.

Cops: Charges on hold in Warren Road fatal

BY JACK GLADDEN

Canton police are awaiting the results of a second blood-alcohol test on a 24-year-old Westland man involved in the Jan. 1 death of a Canton teen.

One set of test results, received last week, showed the man's blood alcohol level registered .05. In Michigan a blood alcohol level of .08 to .099 is considered legally impaired. A reading of .10 or higher is considered legally drunk.

Canton Police Sgt. Todd Mutchler said the test indicating a blood-alcohol level of .05 was administered about three hours after the 3:10 a.m. crash. The department is now awaiting the results of earlier tests administered by the hospital, which Mutchler said might show a different reading.

When the second set of results come in the case will be presented to the Wayne County prosecutor's office for review. The man could face charges of OUIL causing a death or manslaughter, both 15-year felonies. He was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, and was released a few days after the accident.

Eric Dodsworth, 19, was killed when the car he was driving was struck head-on by a Ford F-150 pickup driven by the Westland man. Police said the pickup crossed over the center line on Warren between Lilley and Haggerty and struck Dodsworth's car traveling at least 45 mph. There were no skid marks.

A passenger in Dodsworth's car, Charles Michael Savino, 17, also of Canton, was critically injured. He suffered a collapsed lung and broken legs. He is recovering at home.

A passenger in the pickup, Cristie Laurie Operhall, 23, of Dearborn Heights was taken to University of Michigan hospital. Hospital officials said she is out of a coma caused by the accident, but has periods of unresponsiveness. A second passenger in the pickup, Kevin Michael Swope, 23, of Garden City was not injured.

Vandals strike Canton home; damage estimate is $5,000

The owner of a house in the 1400 block of Longfellow reported to police Jan. 15 that the house had been ransacked.

He said he leases the house and the man who lives there had been out of town for several weeks. The homeowner said he checked on the house on Jan. 11 and everything appear to be OK. When he checked again on Jan. 15, the house had been vandalized.

Police, who were called to the scene, reported an odor of fresh paint throughout the house. Furniture was slashed, a television in the family room was destroyed, mattresses were slashed, bureau drawers were dumped and bottles containing liquid had been emptied.

The vandals had spray painted mirrors and beds with black spray paint. A Bible had also been spray painted and a picture of a young child had been cut in half.

Police said entry appeared to have been through a sunroom window, although screens had been removed from a rear door-wall and a bedroom.

An initial damage estimate was placed at $5,000. Police were attempting to contact the resident.

Computer taken

Two members of a survey crew said they had parked their truck on Brunswick near Sheldon Center the afternoon of Jan. 15 while they surveyed the area.

When they returned to their truck, a $2,000 laptop computer was missing.

They said they had seen three people walking in the area while they were there. Police have no suspects.

Garage theft

A resident of the 3200 block of South Sheldon said that sometime on Jan. 12 someone stole two snow throwers and a chain saw out of her attached garage.

She said she didn't know if the garage was open or closed at the time.

The items were valued at $1,800.

Sign damaged

A Dearborn Heights man said he arrived at his building site in the 7700 block of N. Canton Center the morning of Jan. 15 and found his "For Lease" sign had been run over.

Large tire tracks appeared to have come from Canton Center, over the curb, over the sign and into a nearby parking lot.

The man said the sign had been hit before on Jan. 9, but wasn't damaged as badly.

Tires slashed

A Canton resident said she was parked in the 42000 block of Ford Road on Jan. 17. She said she checked her car about 5 p.m. and it was OK.

When she returned to the car about 6:30 p.m. both driver's side tires were slashed and the rear window was broken.

Damage was estimated at $1,500.

Dowling, Jr., Virginia Hauck, Ross K. Smith, Judi Fleischaker, Mark Alsager, Hazen Hiller, Matt Adams, Mary Bleecker, Nicki Wilson and Terri Clucci.

The bill creating a third judgeship was signed by Gov. John Engler on Jan. 9.

The 35th District Court covers Canton, Plymouth, and Northville townships and the cities of Plymouth and Northville.

Gerou is a Plymouth resident.

Wireless store opens

Verizon Wireless, a provider of wireless phone service, recently opened a new store in Canton.

The store is located in the Canton Corners center, on the southwest corner of Ford and Lilley roads. The company also opened new stores in Ann Arbor, Fenton and Southfield.

Each store offers a variety of wireless communications products and services. The company now has 47 stores and kiosks in Michigan.

School board

The Plymouth-Canton school board meets Tuesday at 7 p.m. at Fiegel Elementary School, 39750 Joy Road, Plymouth.

ary, which is Black History Month.

"There have always been activities surrounding Martin Luther King and Black History Month, but we just weren't as organized. We didn't have the bar high enough to show we value diversity," said Ryan. "I think, now, there's more awareness that we need to do this, and there's more intensity."

The Plymouth-Canton school district is one of the most diverse in the state. While the school community of 16,425 students consists mostly of white students (13,873), there are significant pockets of Asian (1,586), African-American (715), Hispanic (341) and American Indian (97) students throughout the district.

"Dr. King spoke passionately about human rights," said Superintendent Kathleen Booher. "He was, in the context of leading African Americans, about bringing together the many cultures represented in today's society."

ADVANCEMENTS IN FOOT CARE

— presented by —

Canton Foot Specialists

CORNS & CALLUSES

Corns and calluses are accumulations of dead skin that grow to protect foot bones from excessive trauma. Friction can stimulate the skin to grow faster than the body can shed it. Callus forms over diffuse areas such as the ball of the foot or the heel. Corns develop over smaller precise locations such as on or between toes. Corns and calluses have no roots and they are not contagious. Elective toe surgery is a routine procedure, performed under local anesthesia, that can correct a problem in one visit. It eliminates repetitive visits to the podiatrist.

We specialize in non-surgical relief of heel pain.

Ice fest is winter family frolic

BY BRAD KADRICH

It didn't take young Ryan Frazer long to pick up his first ice festival souvenir.

Five-year-old Ryan, an afternoon student at New Morning School, clutched a big chunk of ice he'd picked up at the feet of some of the carvers on hand for the 20th-annual Plymouth Ice Sculpture Spectacular. He held onto it tightly as he and his dad, Rick Frazer of Livonia, made the rounds of the sculptures already up around Kellogg Park in downtown Plymouth.

"He got himself a piece of ice," Rick Frazer said with a laugh. "We'll probably have it in the freezer until May!"

The Frazers were among the many spectators already taking in the ice festival Thursday morning. Thousands more streamed in over the weekend, watching high school, college and professional carvers compete and viewing the dozens of sculptures scattered around the park, and around the downtown area.

The sculpting competitions actually got started Thursday night, when a half-dozen people took part in the "Celebrity Sculpting" competition. Among the celebrities were 35th District Court Judge Ron Lowe, Judy Coy, the weather personality from WJR radio, and Jerry Millen, who does sports for both UPN-50 and WJBK-62.

Lowe, carving with Tom Morse, won the competition, followed closely by Coy.

"Last year, we carved a figure of Charlie Brown saying 'Good-bye, Chuck,' because Charles Schultz had just died," said Lowe, who this year went with an eagle. "People didn't like it. Maybe it was too deep. So we went with the eagle this year."

Millen finished out of the money, but enjoyed his first ice-carving experience. Carving with local pro Tajana Raukar, Millen sculpted a seal balancing a football.

"It was cool," he said. "Being the non-artistic person I am, I found out there's a lot more to it than you'd think. It would have been a bunch of ice cubes without Tajana."

For once, Mother Nature even seemed to cooperate, delivering temperatures in the 20s up to about 30, perfect weather for the carvers.

"The quality of the ice is better when it's this cold," said Jeff Wolf, a culinary arts and ice sculpting teacher at Macomb Community College. "The ice cuts better, things hold together better, and the integrity of the ice is better."

Teen photo exhibit showcases diversity

BY JACK GLADDEN
STAFF WRITER
jgladden@oe.homecomm.net

"Focus on the Mission," an exhibit of photographs taken by high school students in the metropolitan Detroit area, will be on display at Summit on the Park from Saturday, Jan. 26, through Friday, Feb. 8.

The traveling exhibit is the culmination of a diversity workshop for the students conducted by the Community Arts Department at Focus: HOPE. Photographs will be on display in the lobby area of the Summit Banquet Facility.

The opening of the local exhibit coincides with the fourth annual Storytelling Festival, which features a family performance at 1 p.m. Jan. 26 and an adult performance at 7:30 p.m. Both events are sponsored by Canton Project Arts.

The goals of the "Focus on the Mission" project, according to Focus: HOPE, are to create an awareness of and respect for cultural differences, to encourage positive interaction among diverse individuals and to better familiarize students with their surroundings by introducing them to various cultural areas of metro Detroit.

The program takes place over a six-week period in February, March and April. The students work in small groups with volunteer mentors who are professional photographers or arts educators.

They visit, and take photographs of, such places as the Bhaktivedanta Cultural Center at the Fisher Mansion, Elmwood Cemetery, St. Anne Catholic Church, Mexican Town, the Arab Community Center for Economic and Social Services, several Arab-owned shops and the business district in Hamtramck.

"They always seem to go to some of the older cemeteries and come up with some really neat photographs," said Dick Dionne, president of Canton Project Arts.

This year, Dionne said, 52 student photographs, one from each student participant, will be on display.

There is no admission charge for the exhibit. Tickets for the storytelling festival are $3 each for the family performance and $5 each for the adult performance.

Both the photo exhibit and the storytelling festival are Passport to the Arts and Culture events, which means that students in that program can get their passports stamped once for each event.

stand each other. It's a little United Nations around here."

Patton, the district's first female high school administrator, believes teamwork has helped her become a successful principal.

"We have a collaborative team effort in making decisions," said Patton. "The way we respond to and manage the size here is through that leadership."

Joyce Deren, principal at Hoben Elementary the past 11 years, believes it's time for a change ... for both her and the Hoben staff.

"I've given what I can to the staff here, and I think it's time for someone else," said Deren, who plans to spend a lot of time with her 12-year-old son, read books and work with various organizations.

"It's been a wonderful career in Plymouth-Canton," added Deren, who has spent her entire 31-year career in the district. "We have the most fabulous staff anywhere."

Marcia Porterfield, principal at Central Middle School, plans to spend time with her husband in retirement after a 23-year career in the district.

"I love Plymouth-Canton Schools ... I raised my children in the district," said Porterfield. "I will miss the students, parents and staff."

Other administrators whose retirements are expected to be approved by the Board of Education at Tuesday's board meeting are Dave Farquharson, principal at Field Elementary; Becky Moore, principal at Hulsing Elementary; Jerry Sullivan, assistant principal at East Middle School; Mary

Patricia Patton

Kay Frey, assistant principal at Canton High School; Lynne Lonigro, assistant principal at Canton; and Mary Uhl, community education and Plus pre-school program.

Superintendent Kathleen Booher said it will be a challenge to replace that many administrators at one time.

"I've come to appreciate all of them. We'll be saying good-bye to some extraordinary talent," said Booher. "The market is tight, and good candidates for administrative are tough to find."

"On top of that my wife was diagnosed with a rare cancer in February of last year," he said. "They told us it was untreatable."

The week after his wife came home from the hospital, Sprague was in a car accident and was "laid up for a week."

The couple then went on the Internet and found a doctor in Washington, D.C., who had been treating this particular form of cancer - pseudomyxoma peritonei - for 10 years with an 80 percent effective rate, Sprague said.

They went to Washington in April. Sprague's wife, Kimberly, a teacher at Bentley Elementary, was scheduled to have the procedure - "very radical chemotherapy" - done in September.

"It took us almost five weeks there," Sprague said. "Meanwhile this place is losing a ton of money because the road's torn up and we're going through all these personal things."

After going through the treatment in Washington, Kimberly was able to return to work.

"He (the doctor) gave us an extremely good prognosis, but we have to hunker down and wait. She has been told that for the next five years she has to get blood tests and CAT scans about every six months."

Lost lease

But this month, Sprague's lease on his bakery was up. The landlord raised the rent and wanted a two-year commitment. Sprague asked for a six-month lease.

"I said, 'Look, my wife has been ill, the road was torn up for six months of my lease. Let me see how my business will do until July 1. Then if I feel like I can take that risk, I'll give you a two-year commitment.' And he said 'no.'"

Sprague said if circumstances had been different, "I probably would have done the two-year commitment, because we were really starting to do well."

But he said he's not selling any of his equipment.

"I'm going to store all this stuff and in a couple of years, when my wife is OK and we're back on our feet, I'll do it again."

Some of his neighbors in the small strip mall, between Canton Center and Sheldon Center, say they're sad to see the bakery close.

Firas Jiddou, co-owner of Cottage Inn Pizza a couple of doors away, said when he gets large pizza orders he would often send along some sweets or desserts that he'd get from the bakery. And Jiddou was upset that Sprague couldn't get the six-month lease he wanted.

"One thing you don't want to do is drive people out," he said. "At a time when we're talking about an oncoming recession, it doesn't make much business sense to make it hard for tenants to survive."

But Sprague said he has no hard feelings.

"I don't feel particularly negative toward the landlord or anyone because I am forced to close," he said. "It just seems to be the right thing to do now."

Tony Zimba, owner of La Mocha Gourmet Coffee House in the mall, also bought bakery products to serve to his customers. He said the bakery will be missed.

Joe Olds, Sprague's main baker who's been with the company for two-and-a-half years, said many regular customers were upset to learn of the closing. "We've had a lot of very upset people come in lately. They say they don't know where they're going to go now."

And Olds isn't sure where he's going either. "I love it here," he said.

Field trips

But it may be the school children and their teachers who will miss the bakery most of all.

At the urging of his wife, herself an elementary school teacher, Sprague started offering field trips for students in grade 3 and under in March 1999.

The students got to knead dough, sample bread and watch the bakery equipment in action. At the end of the visit, Sprague, who also has a band and performs in various clubs five nights a week, would bring out his guitar and have a sing-along with the students. And they got a complimentary loaf of bread to take home.

He estimates that since the field trips began in 1999, more than 10,000 students have toured the bakery.

"The thing I will miss most are the field trips," he said. "I didn't start to feel sad or nostalgic until I started to remove the field trip stuff from the walls. All those small hands in dough and singing voices echoing in that bakery was very gratifying."

YAMAHA PIANO FACTORY SALE

Yamaha Quality

10 Year Warranty

A semi truckload of these American made pianos have been delivered to Hammell Music. They are now available at any of our three showrooms on a first come, first served basis at prices far below those of retail costs.

Each of these fine professional quality pianos has a minor cosmetic blemish that cannot be seen from the outside and will have no affect on performance and warranty. Yamaha has authorized Hammell Music, Michigan's largest piano company, to liquidate these pianos. Wholesale price reductions and factory incentives make this one of the best values in Hammell's 53-year history.

Area Cadillac dealership sold to large auto retailer

BY TONY BRUSCATO
tbruscato@oe.homecomm.net

Don Massey has been in the car business for 60 years. He started as a porter, then worked the parts counter, graduated to used car salesman and finally got his first dealership, a used car lot on Michigan Avenue in Wayne in 1961.

However, most know Massey for his success as one of the nation's top Cadillac dealers, with his flagship dealership in Plymouth Township.

"...at I-275 and Ann Arbor Road in the magnificent community of Plymouth, Michigan," says the gravelly voice of Massey on his radio commercials.

At age 73, Massey has decided to sell virtually all his holdings, including 16 dealerships, to Sonic Automotive, Inc., in Charlotte, N.C. Sonic is a Fortune 300 company and is among the largest automotive retailers in the United States, operating 154 franchises and 29 collision repair centers in 13 states.

"It's more of an estate issue," said Massey. "Sonic is a fine organization. This will be benefi-

Arbor Road in Plymouth, where the current Dick Scott Dodge dealership sits. He moved his business 22 years ago to the current Plymouth Township location, and added dealerships, mostly Cadillac, along the way, becoming the 19th-largest dealership group in the country.

The sale includes 16 dealerships in Michigan, Colorado, Tennessee, Florida, California, Texas and North Carolina, which have total annual revenues reported in excess of $1 billion.

According to a release by Sonic Automotive, "consideration for the acquisition will be in the form of cash and 1.4 million shares of Sonic Automotive, Inc. Class A Common Stock."

Sonic officials aren't releasing the amount of cash, but said the deal was consummated in the fourth quarter of last year. Sonic stock was trading at about $18 a share at the time, which would put the stock worth at $26.5 million. Since the deal, the stock price has risen another $8 per share.

Bruton Smith, Sonic's chairman and chief executive officer, said "This acquisition continues the execution of our strategy to overweight our representation of luxury brands. In this case, Cadillac. Cadillac has an outstanding product plan and management team, with a solid future as General Motors' principal luxury car brand."

The acquisition by Sonic of the Massey dealerships is expected to close in the second quarter of this year, according to Sonic officials. The deal also needs approval of General Motors, which has high praise for Massey.

"Don Massey has been a member of the General Motors family for 35 years, and is an incredible success story," said Bill Lovejoy, group vice president of vehicle sales, service and marketing for General Motors. "He's not only an amazing automobile dealer, but a generous and giving member of his community. We look forward to continuing to work with him."

Massey is well-known in the Plymouth community for generous contributions. Massey originally invested $40,000 to develop what is now known as Massey Field in Plymouth. Last year he donated another $17,000 for improvements to the baseball field. He most recently donated $10,000 to the Plymouth International Ice Sculpture Spectacular to help bail it out of financial problems.

"He's been a big community philanthropist, a huge promoter of the Plymouth community," said Plymouth City Manager Paul Sinecock. "He's taken a lead role in that respect, and encouraged others to step up."

Yazaki staff will get skills grant

A $300,000 grant from the Michigan Economic Development Corporation will be used to upgrade the skills of 349 employees of Yazaki North America and 20 new hires at the Haggerty Road headquarters building.

The grant, funded by the MEDC's Economic Development Job Training Program, is part of a statewide drive to help companies improve their work force. More than $3.8 million in grants will be used to train 6,458 workers across the state.

Under the program, employees must provide a 25-percent match for training.

"To ensure Michigan workers are the most skilled and qualified in the country, we must continue to invest in job training programs," said state Rep. Bruce Patterson (R-Canton). "I am pleased a business in Canton will be able to use this money to remain in the forefront of technology."

CARRIER OF THE MONTH: CANTON

Joe Wilson, 13, was named Canton Observer Carrier of the Month for December. The son of Malcolm and Sharon Wilson, he has one brother, Eddie, 13. An eighth-grader at Discovery Middle School, his favorite subject is math. His hobbies include hockey, scouts and playing bass clarinet. He is on the Honor Roll at Discovery and is working towards becoming an Eagle Scout. He would like to attend the University of Michigan, U of M Dearborn, Michigan State University or Michigan Tech in the field of Technology.

He said he enjoys having the extra spending money that being a carrier provides. He feels that having the route has taught him efficiency, has made him more outgoing and has given him more confidence in himself.

cial to all our employees, the manufacturer and myself."

Massey said he'll still be around as a consultant for Sonic. However, his main concern was the best deal for those who work for him.

"Several companies have been courting me the past 10 years, and this one is the most appealing for the employees," added Massey. "It's all about the employees. They are entitled to some protection. We have talented people. I wouldn't want to sell them out."

Massey said his duties for Sonic will probably be limited to Plymouth, Lansing and Detroit, where he has dealerships.

"I forgot titles 30 years ago," said Massey with a laugh. "I will be a consultant for them (Sonic) on the Cadillac side. All the details of the sale have not yet been worked out. But, I think it will be completed in about 60 days."

Massey started his automotive empire in 1967, when he became a partner in a Cadillac-Oldsmobile dealership on the corner of Main and Ann

We're growing. Come grow with us.

A Letter to the Community:

The response to our recent Job Fair on January 12 was outstanding with over 300 people seeking employment at St. Mary Mercy Hospital. I would like to personally thank those who took the time to stop by and visit the hospital.

While health care facilities nationwide are experiencing a workforce shortage, we at St. Mary Mercy want to assure the community that we are committed to meeting our mission of providing exceptional care and service to each and every one of our patients. Through our recruitment efforts, we continue to attract the most qualified healthcare personnel in the area. The hospital provides:

- a supportive environment for employees
- educational opportunities
- employee recognition programs
- attractive health care benefits and
- an award winning Child Care Center.

In addition, our location in Livonia makes us part of a community recognized as one of the safest in the nation and one of the most desirable for raising a family.

St. Mary Mercy Hospital is one of the fastest growing hospitals in Michigan. Some of our recent accomplishments include being named a Top Tier Hospital by Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan and becoming the only community hospital in Wayne County whose cancer program is accredited by the American College of Surgeons (ACOS). We've also experienced growth in many services such as Wound Care, Diagnostic Services, Surgery, Cardiovascular Care and the Emergency Center.

We're proud of these accomplishments, but they would not have occurred without the strong commitment of our employees, physicians and volunteer staff. On their behalf, I extend my appreciation for your support as we continue to care for the community into the New Year and beyond.

Sincerely,
David A. Spivey
President and CEO

Jean Taylor, 87, of Stuart, Fla. died Wednesday, Jan. 2 at her home.

She was a long-time resident of Plymouth, where she was a member of the Episcopal Church, the Women's Club of Plymouth and a past member of the DAR. Mrs. Taylor was preceded in death by her husband, Ralph H. Taylor.

Survivors include daughters, Ann Taylor Doman of Stuart, Fla., and Betsy Taylor Fettes of Livonia; son, Robert S. Taylor of Stuart, Fla.; brothers, Richard Strong of Allison Park, Penn. and Edward Strong of Tucson, Ariz.; four grandchildren; and five great-grandchildren.

SOPHIA R. PIOTROWSKI

Sophia Piotrowski, 93, of Northville Township (formerly of Dearborn) died on Jan. 17 at the Sunrise Assisted Living facility in Northville. She was born Feb. 17, 1908 in Pittsville, Wis. She was a homemaker.

She is preceded in death by her husband, Kasmier Piotrowski.

Survivors include daughter, Elisabeth L. McGibbon of Plymouth; daughter, Dorothy P. Anderson of Bloomfield Hills; five grandchildren; and six great-grandchildren.

Arrangements made by Vermeulen Funeral Home-Plymouth.

MARY BADYNEE HAJDUK

Services for Mary Hajduk, 92, of Northville were held Jan. 14 at Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church in Plymouth, with burial at Parkview Memorial Cemetery.

Mrs. Hajduk was born Aug. 27, 1909 in Poland and died Jan. 9 in Livonia. She was a resident of Livonia for 25 years before moving to Northville. She was the owner of a restaurant.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Ignacy Hajduk.

She is survived by daughters, Mary Timoshuk, Helen Jackson and Donna Wenner; 15 grandchildren; 19 great-grandchildren; and seven great-great-grandchildren.

KARIN L. CORLISS

Services for Karin Corliss, 42, of Westland, will be held Monday, Jan. 14 at the Schrader-Howell Funeral Home.

Mrs. Corliss was born October 4, 1959 in Kalamazoo and died January 11 in Westland. She was a graduate of Schoolcraft College with an associates degree and from Eastern Michigan University with a bachelors degree, both Magna Cum Laude. She home schooled her children. She enjoyed organic gardening and loved drama. She met her husband at Schoolcraft College while in a play. She was a member of the Sunshine Home School and founder of Home Educators Circle. She was also a member of the Libertarian Party of Michigan.

Survivors include husband, Michael Corliss of Westland (formerly of Plymouth); son, Eric of Westland; son, Nathan of Westland; daughter, Lindsey of Westland; sister, Erika (Brad) Sharpe of Dearborn Heights; sister, Lisa (Dennis McCully) Rathbun of Whitmore Lake; brother, Kyle Rathbun of East Lansing; parents, Phillip (Phyllis) Rathbun of Novi; and mother-in-law, Suzanne Corliss of Atlanta, Ga.

Memorial contributions may be made to Hospice of Michigan. Arrangements made by Schrader-Howell Funeral Home.

Teddy bears find unexpected home, thanks to Canton girl

The Sept. 11 tragedy in New York City effected many Americans in different ways. For Canton resident Megan Reilly, the realization that so many kids would spend the holidays without their parents was difficult.

That's why the 7-year-old decided to do something about it. Reilly collected Teddy Bears and other assorted toys from around the country in hopes of sending them to the kids in New York City.

Megan and her mother, Diane, discovered that New York City kids have received more Teddy Bears than they could use, however. The family then decided to donate the toys to Canton's Police Department.

According to Officer John Dunfee, the Teddy Bears and toys were distributed to needy families living in the Sherwood Mobile Home Park on Haggerty Road south of Michigan on Christmas Eve.

"These were families I knew were struggling," said Dunfee, a Canton officer since 1999. "There were about 20 kids that received bears and toys like Barbie dolls and Hot Wheels."

Remaining items were donated to the Salvation Army and some were presented to Walker-Winter Elementary, a Wayne-Westland school located in Canton on Michigan Avenue.

As part of his community policing assignment, Dunfee patrols Sherwood, Academy, Glenn Ridge and Westpoint mobile home parks located south of Michigan Avenue.

Friends of the Rouge happy to find stone flies in river

BY CRAIG SULLIVAN
SPECIAL WRITER

Good things come in small packages.

For the Rouge River, the proverbial package is a stone fly, an aquatic insect in its larval stage which is no larger than a half-an-inch long – small to be sure, but significant enough to raise the eyebrows of environmentalists and scientists if it's found in unexpected places.

On Jan. 12, several dozen people visited various stretches of the Rouge River in search of winter stone flies.

Why all the fuss over a bug?

Stone flies are to waterways what canaries are to coal mines.

"They are an insect that is extremely susceptible to pollution. If you find one, it's a pretty good indicator of the overall health of the river," said Sally Petrella, public involvement coordinator for Friends of the Rouge, a local non-profit organization that works to restore the urban river through education and citizen involvement.

Specific temperature ranges, dissolved oxygen levels, nutrient-rich habitats – these are the kinds of information a biologist can surmise by the presence of stone flies. Sampling the river for aquatic insects is nothing new for Friends of the Rouge, however. Periodically, the organization checks the Rouge for benthic macro-invertebrates, a term which basically means any creature without a backbone that dwells at the bottom of a body of water and is large enough to be seen with the naked eye. Mussels, clams and leeches are a few examples of benthic macro-invertebrates; and they are some of the things the organization has looked for during its searches in the past.

The focus of the samplings, however, zeroed in on stone flies during the summer of last year when the organization confirmed the discovery of stone fly nymph in both Johnson's Creek in Northville Township and Fowler Creek in Superior Township. Both creeks are tributaries of the Rouge River, which is approximately 126 miles along and runs through three counties.

Needless to say, Petrella was pleased by the discovery. In fact, in another article she was quoted as being ecstatic because of it.

"My dad made fun of me because of that article. He said, 'Were you really ecstatic?' Yes, dad, I really was," Petrella recalled with amusement.

Because of the discovery, Petrella decided to team up with the Johnson's Creek Protection Group and schedule another search for winter stone flies in January. Petrella had expected a turnout of less than a dozen, but 42 volunteers showed up on Saturday to help out. Equipped with nets, trays, rubber gloves and waders, the group broke up into seven teams which fanned out to 15 different sites in Farmington, Farmington Hills, Northville, Salem Township, Superior Township, Plymouth Township, Plymouth, Birmingham, Franklin, Southfield and Novi.

Anglers go fly hunting

The group – which met at Bueter's Outdoors, a fishing and hunting store in Northville – consisted largely of anglers. Of the search, there was little question that stone fly nymphs would be collected from the Johnson's Creek portion of the river. In fact, John Bueter, owner of Bueter's Outdoors and a member of the Johnson's Creek Protection Group, said that in the recent past five different species of stone flies have been collected from the creek.

"That's more species than have been identified in the Au Sable River," Bueter added.

At each site, the team leaders of the groups were in charge of collecting rocks and leaf packs from the different sections of the river and placing them in plastic trays. The other volunteers sifted through the debris with tweezers. If any insects were found that looked remotely like a stone fly – which has six legs, two hooked antennae and two hair-like tails – volunteers placed them in small vials of alcohol for safekeeping.

By Monday, after reviewing the samples, Petrella had confirmed that seven of the fifteen sites contained stone fly nymph. Four sites on the Johnson Creek in Northville contained the insect, as expected. Fowler's Creek in Superior Township, Fellows Creek in Plymouth Township and Tonquish Creek in Plymouth were the other sites where the stone flies were found.

Petrella said she hadn't say expectations about the sampling and was pleased overall with the findings, particularly the one at the Tonquish Creek because of the efforts of the volunteers.

"They searched all afternoon and didn't find one (stone fly) until the very end. They were excited that they named it Kacey," after the volunteer who found it, Petrella said.

Friends of the Rouge will continue to collect samples to help educate people about the river and the status of its restoration.

For more information about such volunteer programs at the Friends of the Rouge River, contact Sally Petrella at (313) 72-9621 or by e-mail at picoordinator@therouge.org.

Make chili
a family event

Now, and cold winds chilling us to the bone, are good reasons to make a big pot of chili. Cooking chili should be a family event. The kids can help by washing vegetables and opening cans of beans and broth, and that is about it, unless your kids are like mine.

My 3-year-old son Nathan is already trying to tell me what to do in the kitchen.

If your children are a little older, you can have them gather the mise en place (all the ingredients and equipment needed to successfully execute the recipe).

Make it a fun event, turn on the radio and sing along to your favorite songs while you cut vegetables. It doesn't matter who is listening, just sing and cook.

It really does make the food taste better.

Things to remember when making chili

- Stir often to prevent scorching.
- Allow plenty of cooking time, the more the chili reduces the better it tastes.

- Always sauté vegetables until translucent before adding broth. This makes a huge difference in flavor.

- If your chili recipe includes meat, evenly brown the meat, and drain off all fat, before adding broth. If you're using fish, add the gently cooked fish to each serving to prevent over-cooking.

- Add spices in moderation; you can always add more but it is impossible to take them out. Always add seasonings and spices at the end so they don't get bitter.

- Use a pinch of sugar at the end of cooking time to help neutralize the acid in the chili.

- Skim the foam that comes to the top of the chili as it cooks. We call this procedure "skimming the skum" in the food service business, and it prevents food from getting an undesirable aftertaste.

- Be creative when making chili. Recipes are only a list of estimates and you can interchange ingredients to fit your own tastes.

I have a good chili recipe that my family and I enjoy, and I hope you and your family will enjoy it as well.

DUCK AND KIDNEY BEAN CHILI

- 1 1/4 pound ground duck leg meat (turkey or chicken can be substituted)
- 3/4 pound dark kidney beans, cooked
- 1 medium jalapeno, minced
- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 1 large onion, small diced
- 4 stalks celery, small diced
- 2 green peppers, small diced
- 2 tablespoons fresh garlic, minced
- 1 tablespoon fresh oregano, chopped fine, or 1 teaspoon dry
- 3 tablespoons ground cumin seed
- 1 cup chili powder
- 5 cups chicken broth
- 1 (12 ounce can) peeled, seeded and diced tomatoes
- 1 tablespoon granulated sugar salt and pepper to taste

Heat olive oil over medium heat; render meat with onions, celery, peppers, jalapenos and garlic. Cook until vegetables are tender.

Add chicken broth, beans and tomatoes, bring to a boil and simmer. Simmer on low heat 25-30 minutes.

Add all sugar and seasonings and simmer an additional 45 minutes or until the liquid is reduced enough to coat a spoon.

Adjust seasoning and enjoy with your favorite bread and fresh grated cheese on top. Serves 12.

Oh so sweetLocal company satisfies appetite for mild onions

BY ELEANOR HEALD
SPECIAL WRITER

Not so long ago, sweet onions were a spring and autumn treat. Now, however, Saven Corporation in Waterford, importers of OSO (oh-so) Sweet Onions, is proud to say they're bringing the first sweet onions of the new year to area markets.

Available through March, sweet onions can be purchased "loose" at area Hiller's markets, Bush's, Spartan stores and at Costco (in five-pound bags only).

Sweet onions represent more than 15 percent of all onions consumed in the U.S. That's about 250 million pounds and growing. About a decade ago, in a Troy think tank, produce experts Jim Huston, John Battle and Mark Breimeister pondered how they could satisfy the escalating demand for mild sweet onions and bring the first sweet onions of the year to markets during winter months.

They scoured the globe for the right place to grow an outstanding sweet onion that would ship well and retain a reasonable shelf life. Their search ended in Chile and led to the creation of the corporation name Saven, an acronym for South American Venture. Chile's rich, low-sulfur volcanic soil, arid climate with warm days and cool nights, and pure water, sourced from Andes Mountains snow-melt, proved ideal. Such conditions help OSO Sweet Onions retain a high sugar content and crisp texture.

Volcanic soil properties promote a mild onion flavor. On average, low in pungency OSO Sweet Onions contain up to one-third more sugar than other sweet onions.

According to Saven, OSO Sweet Onions maintain their texture, shape, and rich onion flavor in cooking better than other sweet onions available later in the year.

In a decade, Saven has increased production from one million to 12 million pounds and imports sweet onions to 50 states, 14 European countries, Mexico, Canada and Japan.

Sweet onion advantages

Sweet onions are sometimes referred to as "short day" onions because their growing season occurs during autumn and winter. With harvest usually in spring and summer, they are fresh onions, picked and cured for a short time, then rushed to market. Storage or regular globe onions, are harvested in late summer and autumn, stored in warehouses, and delivered to markets throughout most of the year.

Although there is no official industry standard, it's generally accepted that an onion should contain at least 6 percent sugar to be in the "sweet" category.

Some, like OSO Sweets, have recorded sugar levels up to 15 percent. Storage onions usually range from 3 to 5 percent sugar content. They also have high levels of sulfur-containing pyruvic acid that causes a person to shed tears while slicing or chopping them.

Guide to seasonal sweet onion choices

- OSO Sweets – First sweet onion of the new year on market shelves. Origin: Chile. Availability: January through March.

- SpringSweets & 1015 Super-Sweets – SpringSweets are the first spring sweet onions in the market. The 1015 is named for its suggested planting date, Oct. 15. Origin: Texas. Availability: March to mid-June.

- Vidalia – Named for a town in Georgia and grown in 20 specific counties, mandated by a Federal Marketing Order, it is the first sweet onion to be promoted and distributed nationally. Origin: Georgia. Availability: April to late June.

- Walla Walla – Named for Walla Walla County in southeastern Washington state, it comes from a seed originating in Italy that made its way to Washington in the late 1800s. Because this onion does not travel well and has a very short shelf life, it is rarely found in Michigan stores. Origin: counties in southeastern Washington state and northeastern Oregon. Availability: mid-June to mid-August.

- AmeriSweet – Globe shaped and jumbo sized, they have a thicker, deeper-colored skin than spring and summer sweets. They are also a specialty of Saven Corporation in Waterford. Origin: Grand Rapids area farms. Availability: September through October.

- Maui – They became well known because tourists to Hawaii brought them back by the bag. Akin to Vidalias, they originated from varieties developed in Texas, but are the most expensive at $3 per pound. Origin: Maui, Hawaii. Availability: April to late December.

SAVEN CORPORATION

Savory Chowder: Warm up with a bowl of Sweet Onion Fish Chowder.

Director of Produce and Floral Operations for Hiller's markets (in Berkeley, West Bloomfield, Walled Lake, Northville, Ann Arbor and Plymouth). "They have a thinner, lighter-color skin than storage onions and tend to be more fragile because they are so fresh." He also noted that since OSO Sweet Onions are a premium product, the regular price ranges from $1.29 to $1.69 per pound.

They can be used in any recipe calling for onions. Try them in savory, comfort foods such as chunky chowders. Among hot foods served in bowls, chowders, because they have great texture and flavor, are becoming the American "bowl food" of choice. The pleasant onion taste and crisp texture, similar to a celery stock or apple, make sweet onions the perfect chowder ingredient.

If you're counting calories, here's the skinny. One medium sweet onion weighing about 1/3 pound is the normal serving size. It contains 60 calories, but none from fat.

Storing sweet onions

Because sweet onions have both high water and sugar content, they require more care when storing. Under the proper conditions, they will keep from 4 to 6 weeks. Store them away from potatoes which will absorb water from the onions.

In a refrigerator, they can be stored in a single layer in the vegetable bin on paper towels. For

GOLDEN GOURMET

Creative, simple dishes bring relief from the cold

Fifty years ago, grocery stores offered a limited selection of fresh fruits and vegetables. Getting an orange or tangerine in your Christmas stocking was a luxury. In the winter, families enjoyed the fruits of their labor – foods canned in the spring and summer, and stocked in root cellars.

More choices

Modern trucking and air freight has changed this. Your local supermarket carries products from all over the world. We have year-round access to foods grown in warmer climates.

Florida will soon be sending its crop of goodies which includes oranges, strawberries, avocados, oysters and sea bass.

Clementines, cantaloupes and sweet onions will be coming from South America, and the southern United States will soon be netting shrimp.

Don't forget locally grown and preserved foods like dried cherries, nuts, and apples.

Add these foodstuffs together and we truly have ingredients for creating wonderful winter meals.

One pot supper

One pot dishes are great in the winter. I particularly like Michigan Navy Bean Soup. Meals don't have to be complex to be good.

Sometimes simple things like broiled king crab legs served with a little whole butter can be very satisfying.

Risotto served with shrimp, crab or duck is a quick, hearty meal this time of year.

European foods such as potato pancakes can be used with many entrees. I like to serve them with pan-seared scallops and a red pepper coulis.

Winter is also the perfect time of year for bread pudding with caramel sauce.

Exercise some creativity with your menus, but make them simple; it will help you enjoy Michigan winters.

MICHIGAN NAVY BEAN SOUP

Serves 12
2 pounds dry navy beans (soaked in chicken stock overnight. Use enough stock to cover beans)

1 ounce butter
1 onion, sliced
2 ribs celery, sliced
2 carrots, sliced

1 tablespoon crushed garlic
1 teaspoon marjoram
1 teaspoon ground black pepper
Pinch thyme

1 bay leaf
1 gallon ham stock

Garnish:

1/2 pound ham, diced 1/3-inch
3 carrots, diced 1/3-inch
2 onions, diced 1/3-inch
4 ribs of celery, diced 1/3 inch
Salt to taste

Simmer beans in chicken stock until tender (about 50 minutes). Reserve 1/3 of beans for garnish.

In a large, heavy-gauge pot, sweat onions, celery and carrots in butter. Add herbs and garlic; allow to foam. Add ham stock; simmer 20 minutes. Strain ham stock into the beans and chicken stock and puree until smooth.

Place back on fire. Sauté garnish until vegetables are tender but not brown and add to soup. Let cook 10 minutes to develop flavor.

Taste and correct seasonings.

Editor's note: Look for ham soup base at your favorite market and mix for soup.

SPAETZLE

Hearty soups will warm your winter meals

Winter is the perfect time to make a hearty soup. Following are a few recipes for the cold season.

Lentil and Lemon Soup is a simple, delicious and nutritious soup. Soaking the lentils overnight helps them cook very quickly. The preparation time is under 10 minutes and the cooking time is about 20 minutes.

LENTIL AND LEMON SOUP

- 1 cup lentils, soaked overnight in 1 cup water
- 6 cups nonfat chicken broth
- 1 yellow onion, thinly sliced
- 2 Tablespoons olive oil
- 1 teaspoon dried tarragon
- 1/2 teaspoon dried oregano
- Salt and pepper to taste (optional)
- 1 Tablespoon lemon juice
- 4 thin slices of lemon

Bring the lentils to a boil in the broth. Reduce the heat and simmer until tender, approximately 15 minutes (if you have not pre-soaked the lentils, increase your cooking time by about 15 more minutes). While the lentils are cooking, sauté the onions in oil for 8 minutes or until they are golden brown. Remove from heat and set aside. When the lentils are tender, add the onions, herbs, salt and pepper. Cook for 2 minutes. Stir in the lemon juice and garnish with lemon slices.

TASTY CABBAGE AND TOMATO SOUP

- 1 Tablespoon canola oil
- 2 medium onions, chopped
- 1 medium carrot, grated
- 1 medium leek, white part only, chopped
- 1/3 small head cabbage, quartered and sliced crosswise into 1/2-inch strips, about 6 cups

Heat the oil in a large Dutch oven or saucepan over medium-high heat. Add the onion, carrot and leek and stir to coat with the oil. Cover the pot tightly, reduce the heat to medium, and cook the vegetables for 10 minutes. Mix in the cabbage, cover the pot, and cook for another 10 minutes, until the cabbage is wilted.

Stir in the tomatoes, stock, oatmeal, thyme, sugar, bay leaf and salt. Season the soup to taste with pepper and simmer, uncovered, until the oatmeal is cooked and the cabbage is tender. This should take about 30 minutes if using steel-cut oats, and 20 minutes if using rolled oats. Serve, or cool and refrigerate overnight. When reheating, to regain a soup-like consistency, you may want to add some vegetable broth.

This is a healthy warm-up: Chinese noodle soup.

You can make this soup in less than ten minutes using the packaged cooked chow-main-type noodles, available in supermarkets in supermarkets some Chinese grocery stores. Otherwise, use the Oriental-style instant noodles and discard the seasoning packets because they are very high in salt or use any thin, cooked noodles.

CHINESE MUSHROOM NOODLE SOUP

- 1 Tablespoons vegetable oil
- 2 cups sliced mushrooms (6 oz./170g)
- 1 teaspoon minced garlic
- 4 cups chicken or vegetable stock
- 2 cups fresh chow main noodles or 2 packets (3 oz./85g each Ramen noodles)
- 2 Tablespoons sherry or

- rice wine
- 1 Tablespoons sesame oil
- Dash of hot pepper sauce or hot chill oil
- 1/2 cup chopped scallions

In large saucepan, heat oil over medium heat; cook mushrooms and garlic for 2 minutes. Add stock and 2 cups (500 mL) water; bring to boil. Add noodles, sherry, lemon juice or rice vinegar, sesame oil and hot pepper sauce; reduce heat, cover and simmer for 3 minutes. Stir in scallions.

Makes 4 servings, about 1 1/4 cups (300ml) each.

You can find this recipe and other tasty and nutritious soups in Anne Lindsay's cookbook, Lighthearted Everyday Cooking. Source: The American Cancer Institute

This simple but elegant soup incorporates the fresh flavors of the Southwest. And red bell peppers - high in both beta-carotene and vitamin C - are a wonderfully nutritious vegetable.

ROASTED RED PEPPER SOUP

- 2 red bell peppers, quartered and seeds and stems removed
- 1 large sweet onion, peeled and cut into half-inch wedges

- 2 garlic cloves, peeled and halved
- 1/2 teaspoon dried thyme
- 1 Tablespoons extra virgin olive oil
- 1 can (13 3/4 oz.) reduced sodium chicken broth
- 1 can (15 1/2 oz.) Italian style plum tomatoes with juices
- 1 can (11 oz.) corn kernels, drained
- Freshly ground black pepper, to taste
- 1/4 cup fresh cilantro leaves or coarsely chopped basil leaves, optional

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Combine peppers, onion, garlic and olive in a large baking dish. Bake 35 to 40 minutes, stirring occasionally until vegetables are tender and lightly browned. Cool slightly. Add chicken broth mixture with tomatoes. Transfer to a large saucepan. Add corn and simmer until heated through. Add pepper to taste, ladle into bowls and, if desired, garnish with fresh cilantro or basil.

Serves 4, with 150 calories and 5 grams fat per serving.

Valentine's Day isn't just for lovers - it's a time for expressing love and affection for everyone - from your best friend to your mom.

We often say "I love you" to the special people in our life by preparing their favorite foods. We're collecting recipes prepared with love from readers to share in the Sunday, Feb. 10 edition of Pastimes.

Send your recipe, and short story about why this recipe is special, by Friday, Jan. 25, to Lana Mini, Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 805 E. Maple, Birmingham, MI 48009. Please include your name and telephone number so that we can contact you. Email information as a text file to - lmini@oe.homecomm.net or fax (248) 644-1314 or (734) 591-7279.

For more information call Lana Mini (248) 901-2572.

CLARIFICATION

In the last issue of Pastimes, the caption for a photo of a Polish wedding that was submitted by the Detroit Historical Guild, should have read that the image was captured in the 1970s.

SWEET ONION FISH CHOWDER

- 2 hot or sweet Italian sausages, casings removed
- 2 teaspoons olive oil
- 2 OSO Sweet onions (about 1 1/4 pounds), quartered, then thinly sliced
- 1 pound russet potatoes, peeled, cut into 1/4-inch dice
- 3 bottles (8 ounces each) clam juice
- 1 can (14 1/2 ounces) diced tomatoes with juice
- 2 cups water
- 1 tablespoon chopped fresh thyme or 1 teaspoon dried
- 1 1/2 pounds firm white fish, such as cod or haddock, boned and skinned, cut into 1/2-inch dice
- 1/2 cup (lightly packed) chopped fresh Italian flat-leaf parsley
- 1 teaspoon salt, or to taste
- 1/2 teaspoon freshly ground pepper, or to taste

In a large soup pot, cook sausage in oil, stirring frequently to break into bite-size pieces, until sausage just begins to brown, about 5 minutes. Stir in the onions; cook until soft, about 5 minutes. Add potatoes, clam juice, diced tomatoes with juice, water, and thyme.

Bring to a boil over high heat; then reduce heat to medium and cook, stirring occasionally, until potatoes are just tender, about 10 minutes. Reduce heat to low; stir in fish. Cook until fish is just firm and opaque, about 5 minutes. Stir in parsley. Season with salt and pepper to taste.

Makes about 10 cups

This upscale chowder is simple enough for a weeknight meal, yet elegant enough for entertaining. Serve with crusty bread and mixed greens tossed with a lemony vinaigrette.

SALMON CHOWDER WITH CILANTRO

- 4 slices thick-cut bacon (about 4 ounces), cut into 1/8-inch dice
- 2 OSO Sweet onions (about 1 1/4 pounds), quartered, then thinly sliced

- 1 1/2 teaspoons ground coriander
- 1 pound sweet potatoes (red-skinned, yam variety), peeled, cut into 1/4-inch dice
- 3 bottles (8 ounces each) clam juice
- 1 1/2 pounds skinless salmon fillet (see note), cut into 1/2-inch dice
- 2 cups half-and-half or light cream
- 1/2 cup (lightly packed) chopped fresh cilantro
- 1 tablespoon salt, or to taste
- 1/2 teaspoon freshly ground pepper, or to taste
- Dash of cayenne pepper

Cook bacon in a large soup pot, stirring frequently, until lightly browned, about 5 minutes. Remove with a slotted spoon; reserve. Stir onions into the bacon fat remaining in pan; cook, stirring, until soft, about 5 minutes.

Stir in potatoes and clam juice; bring to a boil over high heat. Reduce heat to medium and cook until potatoes are just tender, about 5 minutes.

Reduce heat to low; stir in salmon. Cook until salmon is just firm and opaque, about 5 minutes. Add half-and-half, stirring, until heated through.

Stir in reserved bacon and cilantro. Season with salt and pepper to taste.

Makes about 10 cups
Note: For variation, substitute coarsely diced shrimp and/or scallops for the salmon, or combine the three for a seafood melange.

This vegetarian soup is high in flavor but considerably lower in calories and fat than most traditional chowders.

MUSHROOM AND SPINACH CHOWDER

- 1 tablespoon canola or vegetable oil
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 1 pound assorted mushrooms, such as crimini, shiitake, and oyster, coarsely chopped
- 2 OSO Sweet onions (about 1 1/4 pounds), quartered, then thinly sliced
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 tablespoon ground cumin
- Generous dash of ground

- cloves
- 3 medium boiling potatoes (about 1 pound), peeled and cut into 1/4-inch dice
- 4 cups water
- 1 package (10 ounces) frozen spinach
- 3 cups nonfat milk
- 1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice

Melt butter in oil. Cook mushrooms over high heat, stirring constantly, until they just begin to release their juices, about 5 minutes.

Stir in onion; cook over medium-high heat, stirring frequently, until soft, about 5 minutes. Sprinkle flour, cumin, and cloves over vegetables; cook, stirring, 2 minutes. Add potato and water. Bring to a boil over high heat; then reduce heat to medium. Cook until potato is just tender, about 10 minutes.

Stir in spinach; cover. Cook, stirring occasionally to break up the spinach, until spinach is separated and tender, about 8 minutes.

Add milk and cook, stirring, until heated through. Stir in nutmeg. Stir in lemon juice, a half-teaspoon at a time, to blend well. Makes about 10 cups longer storage, wrap them in foil. Another way is to cut off a leg from a pair of clean, sheer pantyhose. Drop an onion into the foot, tie a knot and repeat with remaining onions, tying a knot after each. Hang in a cool, dry, well-ventilated area.

Although sweet onions have their seasons, through the use of technology adapted from the apple industry, Vidalia onions can be placed into controlled atmosphere storage for up to six months. That's why they may be available in supermarkets in November and December. Casini believes the process changes the texture of Vidalias. His suggestion is "buy sweet onions in season as they become available."

Bring a large pot of water to boil. Quickly mix all ingredients together until smooth, soft dough forms. Do not over mix. Using a spaetzle machine or a large-hole colander, set over the pot with boiling water, push the dough through the holes into the water. Cook rapidly 3 minutes, drain, shock with cold water and drain again. Keep cold and covered until needed.

To serve, quickly saute in a little butter until lightly brown and heated through. Spaetzle can also be used in soups, in which case they are simply added in and not sautéed.

BREAD PUDDING

- Serves 8
- Butter
- Sugar
- 12 pieces of day old white bread (or dried in the oven), crust removed, cut into cubes (enough to fill the bottom half of a 9 by 12-inch baking pan)
- 2 pints milk
- 5 eggs
- 2 cups sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- Pinch of nutmeg

Butter and sugar baking pan. Add bread cubes. Slowly pour mixture of milk, eggs, sugar and vanilla over bread until saturated and let sit for 10 minutes. Bake in 350°F. oven for 45-60 minutes covered with aluminum foil.

Allow to cool somewhat. Serve warm, with caramel sauce.

JACK DANIEL'S CARAMEL SAUCE

- 2/3 cups sugar, granulated
- 1/3 cup water
- 1/3 cup heavy cream, room temperature
- 1 ounce Jack Daniel's whiskey, optional

Bring sugar and water to boil in a heavy sauce pan. With a clean brush dipped in water, wash sides of pan to prevent crystallizing. Cook sugar until a deep brown color develops. Remove from heat, stir in cream, a little at a time, to a smooth consistency, (if you add cream too fast, it will harden the sauce). Stir in Jack Daniel's whiskey, if desired.

New and improved treatments offer help for troubled skin

When we want to lose weight we join a gym and get on a diet.

DISCOVERING BEAUTY

MARY ANNE TOCCALINO

When we can't stand our hair, we run to our stylist and change the cut, even the color.

So why is it that when we are unhappy with our skin we just grin and bear it? Patience isn't a plus in personality at this point; fast action against acne helps prevent flare-ups and scarring. There are many new and improved treatments that really help you take control of troubled skin.

There are also many advanced treatments to take control of wrinkles, fine lines, large pores, freckles and dull skin. Aestheticians and dermatologists are practicing chemical peels daily.

Applying various types of acid – glycolic, salicylic and trichloroacetic – to remove the unsightly outer layers of skin to allow new, healthier, brighter skin to emerge.

Microdermabrasion is another process where fine aluminum-oxide particles are used to exfoliate the top layer of skin to smooth fine lines. Even though it's newer in technology, thousands of faces are opting for this procedure with extremely gratifying results.

Now the newest immediate skin improving procedure is called "laser toning" or "nonablative resurfacing," this procedure can even skin tone, omit broken capillaries, and tone up loose skin.

Different from traditional lasers that burn off the skin's top layer, nonablative lasers heat the underside, causing thermal damage that allows the skin to produce new collagen.

This is a huge breakthrough in skin technology since collagen really never reproduced itself without injections. And since lasers spare the outer skin this technique can be used on all skin types – light or dark, white, Asian, black.

These procedures weren't available as recently as a year ago, but now these techniques make it possible to improve your skin without missing time from work or events.

You can get the results you want without severe skin peeling and prolonged redness that may take up to three months of recovery time. This is what the old procedures entailed. The difference is you need four or five treatments to get desired results rather than two or three harsh procedures that are much more painful and frightening.

Some inferior complexions may suffer from hyperpigmentation. This is sun-induced freckling and wrinkling that is simply sun damage, which may be cancerous. Other than avoiding the sun (a must), microdermabrasion is the best remedy for this skin condition.

Another problem is oily, acne-prone skin; a multi-product skin care program attacks oil and chronic breakouts. Some of the products are Differin, a vitamin A cream, to decrease oil-gland secretion and improve replenishing new skin cells. Then salicylic-acid peels (known as Beta peels) promote exfoliation and dry up the zits.

Now for lip lines the best treatment is the cool touch laser, which fills the wrinkles by helping the skin rebuild its own collagen.

These new and improved procedures give us no reason to be tormented by imperfect skin.

Just think: Not only will you feel better about yourself, you will be truly able to put your best face forward.

fessional makeup artist and skin care consultant. She studied at Joe Blasco's School of Cosmetics in Hollywood, where her training

SHOPPING BRIEFS

■ WACKY WINTER SERIES

Livonia Mall, Seven Mile and Middlebelt, will start its free Wacky Winter Family Series 2 p.m. Sundays.

The first event in the free series, Wacky Science Show, will take place Jan. 20. Scheer Magic will return to mystify children and adults alike with the magic of science. Laughs are guaranteed.

In the Jan. 27 event, Chautauque Express, Guy Louis will use song, stories and a variety of music to entertain children of all ages. Lots of family participation will be featured.

■ WINTER SIDEWALK SALES

Westland Shopping Center, Wayne and Warren roads, continues its Winter Sidewalk Sales to Monday, Jan. 21, during regular mall hours. More than 30 stores have cleared their stockrooms of winter merchandise to make way for spring fashions.

■ JEWELRY EVALUATION CLINIC

Joseph Du Mouchelle Fine and Estate

Jewellers of Grosse Pointe will present Ask the Appraiser evaluations 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 23, at the Plymouth Historical Museum, 155 S. Main in Plymouth. The evaluations will include the history and current market value on jewelry, gemstones, gold, silver and small objets d'art. Cost is $8 per item, limit of five items per person. Call (734) 455-8940 to make an appointment.

■ SESAME STREET

Now through Friday, Jan. 25, at any Art Van Furniture store, while supplies last, guests may pick up coupons for $3 off the ticket price for Sesame Street Live at the Fox Theatre. The coupons are for the 5:30 p.m. Jan. 25 performance and are redeemable at the box office or any Ticketmaster outlet.

■ BRIDAL SHOW

Art Van Furniture will present a First Home Together bridal show 11 a.m. Sunday, Jan. 27, at the Dearborn Hyatt Regency. The First Home Together program was introduced in 1999 to assist couples with their new furniture purchases. It offers friends and family members the opportunity to help couples receive the home furnishings they have selected by presenting them with a special gift certificate. For more information, visit the Art Van booth at the show.

■ NEW RETAILERS

Twelve Oaks, I-96 and Novi Road in Novi, welcomes six new retailers to the shopping center.

They are Carnival Cafe, a treat store offering many goodies found at a typical fair or carnival; Ecco footwear; GameStop, with software, hardware and game accessories, pre-played games, computer magazines and strategy guides, action figures, trading cards and other related merchandise; The Great Steak & Potato Company, a "meat and potatoes" fast food operation; Haagen-Dazs ice cream; and Seen on Screen, offering products usually only seen on TV commercials and infomercials.

And May We Recommend . . .

When the Elephants Dance: A Novel, by Tess Uziza Holthe (Crown, $24.95.)

"A fabulous novel with wonderful characters. In addition to being mesmerizing, the history is fascinating. We were taught about MacArthur 'liberating' the Philippines, but this book takes us right there, searching for food and hiding from the fighting. It's an amazing novel, a winner. I can't wait to start selling it." - Elaine Petrocelli, Book Passage, Corte Madera, CA

Fast Food Nation: The Dark Side of the All-American Meal, by Eric Schlosser, (Perennial, $13.95 paper)

"This is shocking, comprehensive, and carefully reasoned, and it explains how the fast food industry impacts our health, our culture, our land and the people who work it. It is an important book and has changed me completely." - Kay Marcotte, Page One Books, Albuquerque, NM

Hell's Bottom, Colorado: Stories, by Laura Pritchett (Milkweed, $14.95 paper)

"This book exudes the kind of brutal honesty that its title suggests. Pritchett has taken 10 linked stories and created a small masterpiece about a ranching family in the Rocky Mountains. Searingly harsh and beautiful." - Amanda Tobier, Third Place Books, Lake Forest, WA

Journey to the River Sea by Eva Ibbotson; illus. by Kevin Hawkes (Dutton, $17.99) For ages 9-12.

"A great adventure story set in England and Brazil that includes all the classic elements: an orphan heiress, repellent relatives, a stern but good-hearted governess, and friends in unexpected places. Yet they are woven together in fresh and delightful ways." - Rachel King, Little Book House of Stuyvesant Plaza, Albany, NY

The Secrets of Belltown, by T. M. Murphy (J. N. Townsend Pub., $9.95 paper)

"The Belltown books are great favorites of ours. They're on the order of The Hardy Boys or The Three Investigators." - Carol Chittenden, Eight

Use a strong center of interest to create impact

Many good pictures you see are not the result of a fortunate accident or taken by chance. Most often, they have been planned and created by the photographer.

How do you create strong pictures? Begin by learning good composition techniques which include choosing an effective center of interest for your shot.

For example, have you ever composed a photograph in the viewfinder only to realize that something just isn't right? There's an element missing that if included will give your shot special impact.

Perhaps it's the sunset picture over the lake that just doesn't make it until you include the silhouette of the lighthouse in the viewfinder. Or maybe it's the landscape that lacks impact until you place the dramatic mountain peak in view.

You see, including a center of interest can make a weak composition into one that's strong in viewer interest.

Avoid placing your center of interest in the center of the picture. In the center, your shot may look static and uninteresting. Use the "rule of thirds." When you divide your scene into thirds both vertically and horizontally, the dividing lines intersect in four places. Any of these intersections provides a pleasing position for your center of interest.

"Framing" techniques and "lead-in lines" that I've discussed in past columns also help to add special impact to your main subject.

What better center of interest in California's Yosemite National Park than the famous Half Dome. There are many angles and views from which to photograph it. The one I selected places Half Dome off-center for a stronger composition. I then used the trees, foreground and small pond to further enhance the picture. The photograph's elements all came together resulting in an image that captures the flavor of one of our great national parks.

Monte Nagler is a fine art photographer based in Farmington Hills. You can leave him a message by dialing (734) 953-2047 on a touch-tone phone. His fax number is (248) 644-1314.

Memorable image: Half Dome, quite naturally, makes a strong center of interest in this Monte Nagler photograph taken in Yosemite National Park.

Resolve to create your own Drop Everything Day for Family

No words can account for a broken promise to a friend or loved one, particularly if he or she is one of your children. No excuse will make the pain go away or wipe out the disappointment you leave behind you.

It's time to change your ways — time to turn a bad habit into a good one — by resolving to stop making promises you cannot keep.

You might say, "How can I change something that is inherently part of me?" or, "There isn't anything in my schedule I can possibly drop to make more time for others — or is there?" These sound like excuses.

The answer to these thought-provoking questions is, "Yes, you can change your ways if you put your mind to it." You can resolve to make more time in your life in the coming year to spend with family and friends.

■ You are the key to your resolution's success.
■ You are the only one who can look at your lifestyle and say, "This activity isn't as important as spending time with my children and watching them grow."

■ You are the only one who can admit that the moments of your children's lives that you miss are the ones you will never recapture, no matter how hard you try to re-create them.

Let go of your task-laden lifestyle in five easy steps:

1. Evaluate your calendar.

It doesn't bite. It may overwhelm you when you open it, but remember, that's your own doing.

Skim the days and weeks of the current month. Ask yourself what you think you might be able to eliminate or move to another day and time. Jot those ideas down on another piece of paper so you can think about what you are resolving to change.

Pay particular attention to your after-school and evening time frames when your children will be out of school and in need of your attention.

2. Spot-check your activities.

Now that you've identified activities you might want to eliminate, conduct a more thorough analysis by determining if they can be rescheduled during school hours when your children will be away, or when your spouse is available to carpool.

■ Block out one or more days a week from some or all-extracurricular activities for your family. Simply pencil an "X" on your calendar for this time.

You don't want your children to feel as if they are the ones getting in the way of your schedule.

3. Take baby steps.

Vow to start making more time for your family by eliminating what you consider to be one important activity at a time.

4. Schedule family time into your calendar.

Block out one or more days a week from some or all-extracurricular activities for your family. Simply pencil an "X" on your calendar for this time. When you receive a phone call to make plans on this day of the week, you will know not to do so because you have resolved to make that your family time.

Even if your children are in school and your spouse is at the office on that given day of the week, use your quiet daytime hours to catch up on your work. When your children and spouse return home, you will feel organized and ready to devote time and attention to your family's needs.

5. Make a date.

Use the day(s) you've set aside to simply talk to each other, catch up on family projects, go to a movie or exercise together. Call it your Drop Everything Day for Family. Think of it as your family's weekly holiday together (not including the weekend).

With a good dose of self-discipline and the patience necessary to change an old habit, you and your family can turn your busy schedules around to succeed in your New Year's resolution to make more time for family and friends.

Remember, sometimes you really have to work hard to attain something you really want. One of the greatest rewards is gaining more uninterrupted family time!

TRAVEL

Athens is a jewel despite noise, pollution

BY JUDITH DONER BERNE
SPECIAL WRITER

I was prepared to dislike Athens.

A daughter had visited there as a college student and could hardly wait to leave and head for a more tranquil Greek isle.

A son had visited there, and wasn't permitted to ascend the Acropolis because heavy rains had made the marble stairs slick. What was left, he said, was the noise of motorbikes and pollution. He was happy to fly on to Istanbul.

But it seemed ridiculous not to take advantage of the fact that the ship we took through the Turkish and Greek islands (stay tuned) disembarked in Athens.

So rather than "land and run," we spent two days exploring this ancient Greek city — not nearly enough.

We were totally awed by the Acropolis, despite the cranes and scaffolding of reconstruction. Walking up the steps to the Propylaea gate was Art History 101 come true. There, indeed, Always on Sunday: Street performers delight young and old on an Athens street that's closed to traffic on Sundays.

was the first mixed use of Doric and Ionic columns. Emerging on the other side to see the Erechtheion to the left and the Parthenon to the right was a powerful experience.

The roof of the Erechtheion, the smaller and distinctly more feminine of the two buildings, is supported by those amazing Caryatids (six maiden pillars). What you see are copies, since all but one of the real pillars have been removed to the Acropolis Museum to avoid further deterioration. The missing maiden can be found in the British Museum.

The Parthenon, considered by many to be man's supreme architectural achievement, appears flawless. Its proportions were designed to coincide with the viewer's eye — for example the columns are slightly wider on one end to make them appear perfect. Many of the original friezes and sculpture have been removed for preservation purposes. The Acropolis Museum, neatly tucked into a corner of the complex, fills in some of the blanks — at least those that aren't in the British Museum!

Exploring the neighborhoods, Anafiotika and Plaka, that lie in the shadow of the Acropolis is sheer delight. They are a blend of residences, tavernas, and shops that eventually give way to the central city.

Metro-Detroiters know already that Greek food is delicious. So avgolemono (chicken soup with lemon and rice), souvlaki, moussaka and baklava will be very familiar. I was surprised, and my husband delighted, to find they make Greek salad without beets.

Athens has a host of impressive museums, including the National Archeological Museum that is considered the most important. We had to pick and choose since we also wanted to spend time on the streets and in the National Gardens. Athens' version of New York City's Central Park offers sanctuary from the noise and traffic of the city and includes playgrounds, a duck pond and a small zoo as well as hundreds of species of plants and trees.

We loved the Benaki Museum, the oldest private museum in Athens, housed in a neo-classical building that is the former home of the Benakis family. It displays the historical and cultural development of Hellenism as it unfolded in the course of many centuries. A wonderful roof-top garden cafe is a perfect anecdote to glazed-over senses.

The tiny Jewish Museum was worth the time it took to find it in a renovated neoclassical building near the Plaka district. The exhibits, on seven levels, are reached via a winding staircase with natural light emanating from a domed ceiling. (The architecture is obviously influenced by Manhattan's Guggenheim Museum.) They trace the 2,300 years that Jews have lived in Greece. It is somewhat surprising that just a single level is devoted to the Holocaust in which 87 percent of Greek Jews died.

We stayed at the Athenaeum Inter-Continental, which has a great pool, night-time views of the Acropolis and Mt. Lycabettus, and a free van to Synagoga (Constitution) Square every hour. The square is where the action is: Mime shows for children on weekends; the constant changing of the guard at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier; Athenians meeting and greeting over coffee.

Traveling to Athens between now and the Olympics will allow you to see more than we did of the preparations for the 2004 Olympics. We were happy to set foot on the turf of the Panathenaic Stadium, with roots dating back to 330 BC, rebuilt in 1896 for the first modern Olympics. Its 80,000 seats are deemed too few for today's games.

I ended up loving Athens. Yes, it is noisy and polluted. But we found these small annoyances in the scheme of its overall treasures. It's not only worth a visit but a re-visit. If you are tempted to make reservations for the 2004 summer Olympics, I say go for it.

OBSERVER SPORTS SCENE

Soccer champs

The Canton Eagles under-eight boys recreational soccer team helped open Canton's new indoor soccer facility by winning its division in the first High Velocity Soccer Tournament Dec. 29. The Eagles were undefeated in the tournament, beating the Hawks 8-2 in the final to win the Division I title.

Team members are Marcus Collins, Austin Heinze, Justin Sonic Newton, Tyler Schultz, Max Iafate, Kyle Herndon, Bobby Budlong, Andrew Zhong, Robbie Korstjens, Andrew Fulan, Jacob Alexander, Ian Smith and Brandon Hope. The team is coached by Dave Collins and Tim Alexander.

Youth soccer

The city of Plymouth Recreation Department is taking youth soccer registration from 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m. at its offices in the Plymouth Cultural Center at 525 Farmer.

All registrations require a birth certificate. Fees are: under-six through under-eight divisions, $45 for residents and $65 for non-residents; for under-nine and older, $50 for residents and $80 for non-residents.

For more information, call (734) 455-6620.

CCJBSA registration

The Canton Community Junior Baseball and Softball Association will continue its registration for the upcoming seasons at 9 a.m.-3 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 9 at the Canton Softball Center and 6-9 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 26 at the Summit in Canton.

Boys and girls ages 4-18 years who are residents of Plymouth or Canton, or attend a Plymouth-Canton Community School, are eligible to register.

All players will be required to show a birth certificate or passport to verify age and residency. Registration is on a first-come basis. Space may be limited due to the possibility of limited field availability.

Fees vary from $70 to $105.

For further information, call Chris Angel (T-ball and coach-pitch) at (734) 981-3007; Mark Caples (baseball, 9-12 years) at (734) 416-7233; Jay Obsniuk (baseball, 13-18 years) at (734) 981-3272; or Rich Rehn (softball, 7-18 years) at (734) 398-5933. You can visit the CCJBSA website at www.ccjbsa.com.

Salem baseball clinic

The annual Plymouth Salem Baseball Clinic will feature two sessions on consecutive Saturdays, March 23 and March 30. The 11-15 year-olds' session will be from 9 a.m.-noon on those dates; the 7-10 year-olds' session will be from 1-4 p.m.

Cost is $20, which will include instruction in hitting, fielding, pitching and fundamentals from the Salem baseball coaching staff and varsity players. Lunch will also be included (hot dog, chips, drink and snack).

Checks must be made payable to the Salem Dugout Club and received by March 20. A waiver of liability form is also required. Send checks and participant's name to Bob Wilson, 15223 Thornridge, Plymouth, MI, 48170.

For more information, call Wilson at (734) 420-3569.

Wrestling tickets

Fans wishing to purchase advance tickets for the Michigan High School Athletic Association's Lower Peninsula Individual Wrestling Finals, scheduled for March 7-9 at the Palace of Auburn Hills, may do so by mailing their requests to the MHSAA offices, 1661 Ramblewood, East Lansing, MI, 48823-7392.

All-tournament tickets (for all five sessions) are available for $35 each, which includes parking at the Palace. All tickets will be mailed by Feb. 26.

Those ordering tickets must indicate which division they prefer to watch, which will give them a seat directly in view of the mats for that competition.

Early-bird tickets are available by mail only and must be postmarked by Feb. 1. Single session tickets are $8 and go on sale Feb. 19 at the Palace and at Ticketmaster outlets.

Anyone interested in submitting items to Sports Scene or Sports Roundup may send them to sports editor C.J. Risak, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia, MI, 48150, or may FAX them to (734) 591-7279.

Rocks tie up Churchill, 3-3

BY C.J. RISAK
SPORTS EDITOR
cjrisak@oe.homecomm.net

When the two best teams in the league meet, you expect a close game of epic proportions. When those teams meet again, the same can be anticipated — only multiply those factors.

PREP HOCKEY

In one of the season's earliest hockey games, Livonia Churchill and Plymouth Salem squared off with expectations far different than those at mid-season. Churchill had always been good; Salem never had. When they skated to a 3-3 tie, it was viewed as a victory for the Rocks.

In the rematch last Friday at Livonia's Edgar Arena, prospects had shifted dramatically. Salem was unbeaten through 13 games, the only blemish on its record that early-season tie with Churchill. Churchill was still among the Western Lakes Activities Association's brightest stars, boasting a 7-1-2 league mark.

"We won't sneak up on anybody now," said Salem coach Fred Feiler.

Not on Churchill, certainly. Perhaps the Chargers didn't take Salem as seriously in the teams' first meeting; that mistake would not be repeated.

But others would. A Charger turnover in their own end with six minutes left in the game allowed the Rocks to do the same thing they'd done in the first meeting this season — pull out a 3-3 tie.

Salem is 12-0-2 overall. Churchill is 7-5-4.

"It was a great game, up and down," said Churchill coach Pete Mazzoni. "But I felt we gave the game away. Our mental mistakes killed us."

"We had the lead going into the third period both times we played them and gave it up. You've got to close it out."

Both goalies, Salem's Scott Stukel and Churchill's Jake Archer, were superb. Both made big-time stops throughout the game to keep their respective teams in it.

After Salem scored the game's first goal early in the opening period —

Kevin Wilson got it, assisted by Mark Nagel and Brad Proodian — Churchill took control. The Chargers knotted it with 36 seconds remaining in the first, the goal coming from Aaron Jakubowski, with Adam Staber and John Maley assisting.

The second period featured just one goal, poked in by Staber midway through the period when Stukel couldn't find the puck in a pile of players in front of the net. Jakubowski and Dan Deuby assisted.

"We didn't play our game in the first two periods," said Feiler. "We carried the puck too much."

"We had a little pep talk between the periods."

Hoskins leads Salem past North

BY RICHARD L. SHOOK
SPECIAL WRITER

No matter what you call them — an 'Aircraft Carrier,' a PTP'er or a 'Go-To Guy' — a good team needs a player it can rely on to give it points when they're absolutely needed.

So it was Friday night that junior forward Dave Hoskins picked up Plymouth Salem at critical times and, with a game-high 29 points, put the Rocks in position to earn a 67-59 victory over visiting North Farmington.

Salem is 3-0 in the Western Lakes Activities Association and 5-4 overall. North is 1-2 and 4-5.

Junior Stevland Davis hit a huge triple from the top of the key with 10 seconds to play in regulation to tie the score, 56-56, and cap a comeback from a nine-point deficit that forced overtime.

Pat Abraham went 6-for-6 from the line in the fourth quarter and hit a jumper from the wing as the Rocks outscored the Raiders, 13-4, over the last 4:13 of regulation.

After Jason Neal sank a pair of free throws for North with 4:42 left to make it 52-43, the Raiders missed four free throws to give the Rocks an opportunity to get back in the game.

BASKETBALL

"We made our free throws down the stretch," Salem coach Bob Brodie said. "That's always important in a close game, especially when you know they're going to foul you."

"We didn't make our free throws. They did," North coach Tom Negoshian said. "And that's to their credit."

"I don't think we shot the ball that well, and we made some mental mistakes down the stretch. But I told my kids I was satisfied with their effort. They played real hard."

Neither team shot the ball particularly well, but a large measure of that was due to the defense played on both sides.

North's zone effectively kept Salem to a largely outside shooting game. The Rocks dabbled with a zone but 99 percent of the time played an aggressive man-to-man and kept North's Mike Leach from working the baseline.

Leach led the Raiders with 16 points but seven came in the first quarter. Neal and Brian Johns scored 10 apiece.

Hoskins entertained scouts from the University of Detroit-Mercy and Central Michigan by hitting a 'quiet' 29.

His total included 11 in the third quarter when Salem overcame a 36-29 deficit to close to within a point, 42-41, entering the fourth. Abraham hit 16 (eight in the fourth quarter and two in overtime).

Hoskins plays down low along the baseline or on the wing against zones, but he stepped up top in the third period to get more touches.

He has a couple of things in common with the great players: 1), he knows how to get the ball in the basket and, 2), it looks like he's playing the game at half speed while everybody else is going 120 mph.

Hoskins scored Salem's last nine points of the third period — all in the last 64 seconds — to shrink a 38-32 margin to 42-41.

"There's no question he's a great player," said Negoshian, who had Leach guarding Hoskins most of the game even though the Raiders were in zone — and guarding him effectively, too. Hoskins, in turn, checked Leach a good deal of the time.

Salem sweeps past Canton

BY C.J. RISAK
SPORTS EDITOR
cjrisak@oe.homecomm.net

Label this "A Tale of Two Teams."

One is at, or near, the top. The other is trying to get there.

Last Wednesday at Plymouth Canton, it was readily apparent which was which. Canton strung together a few good spurts, but Plymouth Salem had the big guns to carry it to a 15-6, 15-12 volleyball victory.

VOLLEYBALL

The Rocks improved to 23-3 overall, 3-0 in the Western Lakes Activities Association. Canton is 7-9-4 overall, 2-2 in the WLAA.

The difference in this match was the domination of Salem's go-to person: Katie Good. Wherever the Rocks put her, wherever they set her, the Chiefs were unable to compensate.

In the opening game, Canton led early on 4-2. Salem strung together five-consecutive points before the Chiefs managed a side out, then the Rocks scored four more — all on kills by Good, making it 11-4. They closed out the game with Good serving an ace and then slamming through the clinching kill.

Good's domination was even more evident in the second game. Again, the Chiefs had the early advantage, up 3-2.

Then Salem setter Jordan Falcusan started setting Good almost exclusively. Unlike the first game, in which she had done most of her damage from the left side, Good moved to the middle and was even more devastating.

The Rocks scored seven-straight points; Good had kills on five of them and combined with Nicole Genrich for a block and a point on another.

"Katie Good hit very well," said Salem coach Tom Teeters when asked the difference in the match. "Good hits good."

The Chiefs didn't go quietly, however. They kept chipping away at the deficit, eventually making it a one-point game, 13-12, on an ace by Cindy Rotramel. But Salem got the serve back and closed it out on a Canton hitting error and an ace by Maggie Tudor.

"Our top hitters, we set a lot," said Teeters, including Marylou Liebau in the mix.

Still, despite their impressive record, he knows more must be done to turn the Rocks into a state power. They aren't big — Mandy Bradley, a 5-foot-11 junior, is their tallest player — which means if they have breakdowns in any other part of their game, trouble will follow.

Against Canton, Teeters wasn't particularly happy with the Rocks' serving, a key element if they are to succeed.

"Not particularly," he said. "Jas (Kelly Jaskot), we always serve aggressively. I was pleased with Tudor's serve."

"Consistency — that's what we need now. We have two aggressive servers, and we don't need any more errors."

The Chiefs make their share of errors in all phases, but will also turn in a magnificent point-saving rally.

"It's there," said Canton coach Steve Anderson. "It's just inexperience. They keep making the same mistakes."

Tough underneath: Canton's Steve Thornton saw extended duty against Churchill and responded by scoring nine points.

Chiefs hold off Chargers

Plymouth Canton earned a methodical 55-42 Western Lakes Activities Association boys basketball victory Friday at Livonia Churchill.

Billy Gazsi scored 13 points to lead the Chiefs, now 5-4 overall, and 2-1 in the WLAA. Gazsi made four of five free throws in the final quarter as Canton outscored Churchill 18-15.

Canton made 16 of 26 free throws on the night, while Churchill was 5 of 13.

Nick Houdek added 10 points for the victorious Chiefs, hitting a trio of 'threes' in the second period as Canton led 26-22 at intermission. Teammate Steve Thornton finished with nine.

Senior guard Kevin Zielinski had a team-high 13 for the Chargers, while Shaun Foster added eight.

BASKETBALL

Churchill pulled to within three in the third quarter on a triple by Jerry Murray, but never got any closer.

"They (Churchill) made runs, they hung around and played hard," Canton coach Jeremy Rheault said of the Chargers.

Canton's leading scorer, Andrew Meagrow, posted six first-quarter points before leaving the game with a reinjured ankle.

Taylor Baptist 60, PCA 57: Plymouth Christian Academy played three quarters of solid basketball Thursday at Taylor Baptist Park.

That other quarter, however, was hideous.

The Eagles let a 10-point half-time lead (35-25) get away in the third quarter as the Wildcats outscored them 17-4 to take a 42-39 lead into the fourth. PCA kept it close the rest of the way, but could never overtake Baptist Park, which improved to 3-5 overall, 1-2 in the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference. PCA is 4-4 overall, 1-2 in the MIAC.

"We were in it down the stretch," said Eagles' coach Doug Taylor. "We had a shot to tie it at the buzzer, but the three-pointer went in and out."

PCA missed several chances to catch the 'Cats, including blowing three fourth-quarter layups. Mark Ericson, who finished with seven points, kept the Eagles close with a pair of three-pointers in the fourth.

The difference in the game was Baptist Park's 6-foot-6 center, Ron Nelson. Nelson poured in seven third-quarter points and added 11 more in the fourth, finishing with 24 in the game. Levi Brock added 12 and David Watkins and Adam Hoffman scored 11 apiece for the Wildcats.

Clay Welton topped PCA with 20 points, but only four of those came in the second half. Aaron Ciborowski added 13 points and 11 rebounds as 10 Eagles scored.

PCA has a busy week ahead. On Tuesday, the Eagles play at Southfield Christian; on Thursday, they return home to host Allen Park Inter-City Baptist.

On Friday, PCA will play its Homecoming game against Pontiac Greater Life at Eastern Michigan University. The junior varsity game is at 5:30 p.m., with the varsity game following.

Canton edges Western in key WLAA dual meet

This just might be a turning point in Plymouth Canton's wrestling season.

After finishing fourth at the Redford Catholic Central Invitational the previous Saturday, Canton came home Thursday to host Walled Lake Western, considered one of the Western Lakes Activities Association's top teams. In a meet that came down to the final match, the Chiefs pulled out a 29-28 victory.

The win raised their dual-meet mark to 12-3 overall; they are 3-0 in the WLAA.

"We are not just proud of come-through wins like those of Greg Musser (145 pounds) and Doy Demick (130), each beating an opponent who placed higher than them at the (CC) tournament, but the whole team," said Canton coach John Demick. "And not just the rest of the guys who had strong wins, but the guys that lost and refused to give up extra points, the guys who refused to get pinned."

"That was a team effort. They did it for one another. They really hung together."

Musser provided the game-winning points, just after the Warriors had climbed back into contention with decisions at 135 and 140. Musser, however, clinched it for the Chiefs by edging Western's Jacob Pattenau, 3-2.

The closeness of the match was evident in the overall lack of wins by pin. Each side had a win on a void; other than that, there were just three pins — two by Canton, Shahein Rajae (PC) pinned Chad Strye, 1:02; 215: Phil Rothwell (PC) pinned Ian Shunia, 1:47; 275: Brandon Burns (WLW) won by void; 103: David Murphy (WLW) def. Whalers' defense enough to topple Otters, 3-1

Defense was the key as the Plymouth Whalers held off the Erie Otters 3-1 in the opening round of a home-and-home meeting between the two Ontario Hockey League division leaders Wednesday at Plymouth's Compuware Arena.

The Whalers, owners of the OHL's best overall record (27-7-8-2) and first in the West Division, got the game's initial goal from Chad LaRose with 2:50 left in the second period. Greg Campbell and Damian Surma assisted.

Plymouth doubled its lead when Cole Jarrett finished a perfect set-up from LaRose 1:26 into the third period. Campbell got his second assist of the game on the play.

The Otters narrowed the gap to 2-1 with a power-play goal from Brian Lee 4:15 into the third, but four minutes later the Whalers had regained their two-goal advantage when George Nistas scored, assisted by Kris Vernarsky and Brad Yeo.

The defense, backstopped by the play of goalie Jason Bacashihua, did the rest. The Otters, leaders of the OHL's Midwest Division, slipped to 25-15-3-1.

According to Feiler's numbers, Churchill outshot the Rocks 20-17 in the first two periods. Salem had a 15-9 advantage in the third.

Still, the Rocks had to battle back twice in the final period to knot the game. Mike Chaney tied it at 2-all 3:05 into the third, finishing a pass through the crease from Wilson. Andy Thackaberry also assisted.

The tie lasted just 46 seconds. The Rocks failed to clear the puck from their zone, Ryan Vandette keeping it in and firing a shot from the point. Stukel stopped it, but John Maley was there to knock home the rebound, putting Churchill back on top, 3-2.

Another defensive mistake, this time by the Chargers, led to the game-tying goal. Archer stopped the puck behind his net and tried to pass it to a teammate in the corner. But Nagel, who had been Mazzoni's greatest concern — "He was the guy we wanted to key on" — intercepted the pass and centered it to John Schultz before Archer could get back in goal. Schultz scored easily (Mike Maurer also assisted) and the game was tied at 3-all with 5:58 remaining.

Which is the way it stayed, although both sides had great opportunities down the stretch. "I'm very pleased with the way Archer played," Mazzoni said. "He played phenomenal tonight. He put us in a position to win and we let him down."

Feiler felt the same way about Stukel. "They had chances they couldn't capitalize on and so did we," the Salem coach said, adding, "They're absolutely the best team we've played this year."

Maybe they'll meet again. If they do, it will be in the state quarterfinals.

Wouldn't that be nice — a best-of-three series.

Farmington Unified 7, Canton 2: The Flyers scored the first five goals of the game Thursday at Arctic Edge Arena in Canton and coasted from there.

Keith Hay torched the Chiefs for three goals and two assists in leading Farmington Unified. Brad Heraghty added two goals and three assists, Matt Lee had a goal and an assist, and Jeff Tosoian had three assists. Brett Laird also scored for the Flyers, who led 3-0 after one period and 6-1 after two.

"They jumped on us early and we never recovered," said Canton coach Dan Abraham. "We outshot them 26-21, it's just that their shots went in."

The Chiefs got goals from Mike Carson and David Comiskey.

Aaron Allor was in goal for Farmington Unified. Charles Kemp started in the net for Canton, but was replaced midway through the third period.

"When they understand what's supposed to happen, they can run balls on one of the state's best teams. When we execute, the skill is there."

Certainly there's talent in Stephanie Johnson, Courtney Jarman and Rotramel on the front line. Setter Kristen Lillie, just a sophomore, could develop into a top-line talent. And when senior Colleen O'Brien is back at full strength — she suffered a broken thumb two weeks ago — the Chiefs may begin to climb in the WLAA standings.

Last Monday at Farmington Harrison, Canton's inconsistencies were evident once again; the Chiefs lost the opening game of the match 15-13, then rebounded for 15-7, 15-8 victories.

"It's a learning curve," said Anderson. "The frustration is because you know it's in there, and you want to pull it out."

"When the light bulb goes on, they're awesome to watch."

Canton's problem is, there's no telling when that lamp will light. Salem has no such issue to address, which is why the Rocks are where they are.

Agape still unbeaten

Canton Agape Christian improved its record to 5-0 with a 15-9, 15-2 triumph over Taylor Baptist Park Thursday at Garden City United Christian, Agape's home court.

The loss dropped the Wildcats to 1-4.

Kelly Hayes and Sivilve Moore paced the Wolverines' attack with two service aces apiece.

Salem loses in final

Last Saturday (Jan. 12) at the Comstock Invitational, Salem handled everybody — except Okemos.

The Rocks reached the final with wins over Allegan, 15-5, 15-10; Flint Kearsley, 15-9, 15-2; Hanover Horton, 3-15, 15-13, 15-13; Gull Lake, 15-12, 15-8; and in the semifinals, Horton again, 10-15, 15-13, 15-12. The only loss Salem suffered in pool play was to Okemos, 15-3, 13-15, 15-13.

The Chieftans were again the Rocks' adversary in the final, and the results were much the same — Salem losing in three sets, 13-15, 15-9, 15-6.

The Rocks faced Okemos the second time without Katie Good, who was suffering from back pain. Still, they made a go of it in the final, thanks to 12 kills by MaryLou Liebau, two solo blocks by Jordan Falcusian, three service aces from Kelly Jaskot, eight digs from Maggie Tudor and, in the first game, seven kills by Amanda Bradley.

Macomb drops to 3-11 and 0-4.

Nine different Lady Ocelots scored with Pam Wingate adding eight points and seven rebounds.

Francois, Cameo Brown and Keysa Hamilton each grabbed seven rebounds.

The Lady Ocelots, who led 37-22 at halftime, shot 39 percent from the floor (32 for 82) and 53 percent from the free throw line (8 of 15).

Macomb got 16 points from Theresa Cyr.

Seniors ski at reduced rates on Michigan slopes

As the largest segment of our population-the Baby Boomers-look ahead toward retirement, ski areas across Michigan want senior citizens to include skiing as one of their major recreational activities. Ski areas and resorts recognize seniors as a burgeoning group with disposable income, and more leisure time. More than ever before baby boomers will continue to embrace physical fitness as they age, making the term "senior citizen" take on a whole new meaning. "We want them to ski, not flee to warmer climates," says Steve Kershner, president of the Michigan Ski Industries Association and director of skiing for Shanty Creek in Bellaire. Nearly all facilities welcome senior skiers-some as young as 50-with outstanding discounts and exciting programs.

At Alpine Valley in White Lake, seniors 65 and up ski for just $15 during midweek daytime sessions, holidays excluded. Seniors 80+ who belong to the Over the Hill Gang ski free with membership and I.D. cards. (248-887-2180)

Apple Mountain in Freeland offers $5 off lift tickets to seniors 65+, everyday. (989-781-0170)

At Big Powderhorn of Bessemer in the Upper Peninsula, seniors 65 and over pay $17 per lift ticket. (906-932-3100)

Bittersweet of Oshtemo offers $2 off any rate for seniors, 60+. (616-694-2820).

Blackjack Ski Resort of Bessemer lets seniors, 65+, pay child rates everyday and seniors 62 and older can purchase a season pass for $165. (906-229-5115)

At Boyne Mountain in Boyne Falls and Boyne Highlands in Harbor Springs, lift tickets are discounted 25 percent off regular rates for seniors 65+. (1-800-GO BOYNE)

At Cadillac's, Caberfae Peaks Ski and Golf Resort, seniors 65+ ski for $20 midweek and $25 on weekends and holidays. Ski rental packages for seniors are $20 everyday. (231-862-3000)

Cannonsburg Ski Area in Cannonsburg allows anyone 70 years and older to ski free. (616-874-6711)

Cross Country Ski Headquarters in Roscommon offers an entire Cross Country and Snowshoe Silver Streak week. For 2002, it's Jan. 21 through 25, Monday through Friday. During these dates, seniors 55 and older get their cross-country ski and snowshoe pass on the house and a free chance to try some cross country skis and boots or snowshoes from their demo program. (1-800-832-2663)

At Crystal Mountain in Thompsonville, seniors 55 and older get 50 percent off day lift tickets, cross country trail passes, rental equipment, Nastar racing and group lessons. (800-YOUR-MTN)

At The Homestead in Glen Arbor, senior citizens 62+ ski free. (231-334-5000)

Indianhead of Wakefield offers seniors 65 and over, $22 weekend lift tickets and $19 midweek lift tickets. These seniors can purchase 2- and 3-day passes at a discount. Midweek season passes are $129 and all-day/all area season passes are $189. (906-229-5181)

Mt. Brighton in Brighton, offers 50 percent discounts off their regular lift ticket prices to skiers 62 plus. (810-229-9581)

Norway Mountain of Norway in the Upper Peninsula offers seniors 65 and over half price lift tickets. Skiers 65+ can purchase a season pass for $129 prior to Oct. 31. After that, seniors pay $149 for a season pass. (906-563-9700)

If you're 65-69 years of age, at Nubs Nob in Harbor Springs you pay a reduced rate for a lift ticket. At 70-plus seniors ski free everyday. (231-526-2131)

Seniors get a $3 discount at Pine Knob, in Clarkston. (248-625-0800)

The Upper Peninsula's Pine Mountain at Iron Mountain, offers seniors 60 and over a season pass for just $100 or $10 lift tickets. (906-774-2747)

Shanty Creek in Bellaire offers free skiing to anyone 55 plus from January 13-17. It's their Silver Streak Week and special lodging rates are also available. Those aged 55-69 can purchase lift tickets at teen prices and anyone 70 years or older skis free all the time. (800-678-4111)

Ski Brule in Iron River offers $3 off full price lift tickets to seniors. (906-265-4957)

Skyline Ski in Grayling allows skiers 70+ to ski free and during Silver Streak Week, Jan. 21-25, seniors 65 and over ski free. (989-275-5445)

Snow Snake Mountain in Harrison allows anyone over 70 to ski free. (989-539-6583)

At Sugar Loaf in Cedar, skiers 65 and older ski free. (231-228-5461)

Swiss Valley Ski Area in Jones offers reduced lift and rental fees for persons 65 and up. (616-244-5635)

Timber Ridge in Gobles cuts lift ticket prices in half for anyone over 60 (616-694-9449); and at Treetops Resort in Gaylord, seniors 65 and over receive a lift ticket for just $2, excluding holidays. (989-732-6711).

"With all the discounts offered to senior citizens, there is really no excuse for staying indoors," Kershner says. He encourages everyone, regardless of age or ability, to hit the slopes and trails. "Come out and enjoy Michigan's winter wonderland!"

"We worked hard to get him the ball late in the game," Brodie said. "Early in the game, everybody was shooting too quickly. (The Raiders) weren't playing defense long enough."

"The zone forces you to take outside shots. We got some good looks, but we weren't shooting a lick."

Abraham was fouled and made two free throws 43 seconds into the overtime to put Salem ahead for good.

Missed shots marked the next two possession and five straight turnovers brought the clock down to 1:11, when Hoskins made a free throw that made it 59-56.

He missed the second but Salem, for the first of three times in the overtime, got the rebound, and Brad Clark went back up with a shot that made it 61-56.

North missed two shots and Hoskins made two more free throws to effectively seal the win.

"In the third and fourth quarters and in the overtime, they made the free throws, and they made the plays," Negoshian said. "That's what it came down to."

"One thing that was important was our poise down the stretch in regulation," Brodie said. "When the clock was winding down and winding down, we passed up some shot opportunities to pass the ball and pass the ball until we got a better shot."

"I told the kids to forget about their mistakes and just play. We made a ton of mistakes."

But just enough good plays. And free throws.

Jancevski leads Madonna to win

MEN'S HOOPS

Plymouth Salem graduate Tony Jancevski scored 18 points and grabbed seven rebounds Wednesday to lead host Madonna University to a 79-64 men's basketball victory over Concordia.

MU is now 5-15 overall and 2-3 in the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference. Concordia falls to 3-17 and 1-5.

The Fighting Crusaders overcame a 37-35 halftime deficit, outscoring the Cardinals 44-27 in the second half.

The 6-foot-9 Jancevski, a transfer from Schoolcraft College, had eight points in the final seven minutes.

Noel Emenhiser added 16 points. His layup with 15:40 to play gave MU the lead for keeps, 45-44.

Chad Nadolni, Aaron Cox and Jimmy Woodworth each added 10 for MU. Nadolni also had a team-high 11 rebounds, while guard Joe Greene dished out five assists.

The Crusaders shot 50.8 percent from the floor (31 of 61) and 50.9 percent from the free-throw line (10 of 11).

Forward DeOndre' Head led Concordia and all scorers with 27 points, hitting 3 of 5 beyond the three-point arc. Freshman guard Matt Mikel (Farmington High) added 11. Ben Horstman had 10.

Delvar Barrett added seven each.

Schoolcraft 91, Macomb 48: Guard Javon Clark nailed four triples en route to a game-high 20 points Wednesday as unbeaten Schoolcraft College (17-0, 4-0), ranked No. 4 in the latest NJCAA Division I poll, overcame a listless first half to beat the visiting Macomb Community College (1-3, 9-7).

Schoolcraft led 36-18 at the intermission. The Ocelots then outscored Macomb 55-30 in the second half as Mike Williams tallied 11 of his 17 points.

Williams finished with eight rebounds, while Emir Medunjanin (North Farmington) and Guard Gary Johnson (Wayne Memorial) came off the bench to add 12 points, hitting all four field goal attempts, including three triples.

Center Yaku Moton-Spruill (Westland John Glenn) and point-guard Rulon Harris each contributed 10 points. Harris also had six assists.

Antoine Wilcox and Damon Lenard scored 12 and 10, respectively, for Macomb.

Schoolcraft shot 36 of 68 from the floor (52.9 percent), while holding Macomb to 18 of 60 (30 percent). The Ocelots outrebounded Macomb, 44-28.

Avoid eye injuries from sports activity

BY DR. PAUL A. EDWARDS
SPECIAL WRITER

Since the invention of the sling shot, parents have warned their children: "Be careful. You'll poke your eye out!"

But parents have every right to be concerned about eye safety. It is estimated that 1.6 to 2.4 million Americans sustain eye injuries annually. About 40,000 become legally blind in the injured eye.

People who play sports are particularly vulnerable. Although eye injuries occur in every sporting activity, most injuries are associated with baseball, basketball, football, hockey, lacrosse, tennis, racquetball, squash and paint ball.

The nature of injuries ranges from minor bruising to severe injuries such as corneal abrasions and lacerations, bleeding in the eye, cataracts, retinal detachment and fractures of the bone surrounding the eye. Any severe injury can cause blindness or varying degrees of visual impairment. Injuries can even be severe enough to require removal of the affected eye.

The good news is that more than 90 percent of sports-related eye injuries can be prevented by wearing protective eyewear and headgear. This recommendation is for any sports format, including league and competitive play, as well as summer family get-togethers and one-on-one basketball in the backyard.

Last year, I cared for a patient who participated in an after-work softball league. A pitcher, he was struck in his left eye by a line drive. The eyeball ruptured and he had a torn retina, internal eye bleeding and bone fractures. We were able to save the eye, but he lost a significant amount of vision. His injuries would definitely have been prevented if he had been wearing protective eyewear.

Regular eyeglasses do not provide adequate protection for sports. When buying protective eyewear and headgear, make sure it has been tested and certified by an agency such as the American National Standards Institute (ANSI), American Society of Testing and Materials (ASTM), Hockey Equipment Certification Council (HECC) or the Canadian Standards Association (CSA). Or check out the Protective Eyewear Certifying Council at www.protecteyes.org. Most devices need to be impact-resistant up to 90 miles an hour for projectiles such as hockey pucks and baseballs.

Participants of basketball, football and other contact sports should wear protective glasses or goggles with lenses that are at least 3 mm thick. The frames should be made of silicone, polycarbonate or another soft protective material that helps reduce facial trauma. For activities involving hockey pucks, baseballs, softballs or other fast-moving projectiles, face

Warning! Don't ignore the symptoms

BY RENÉE SKOGLUND
rskoglund@oe.homecomm.net

Gary Monico, 42, of Farmington, a manager of busy Target store in Livonia, thought he was getting the flu a few weeks ago when the usual trip to the parking lot to retrieve carts proved exhausting. He ignored the symptoms, which included achy joints, and a few days later went to the YMCA to work out.

"I ran a few miles and came back to work. I felt terrible," he said.

When his symptoms didn't subside after a week and his temperature soared to 103 degrees, Monico contacted his doctor. The diagnosis of pneumonia surprised him.

"I've never been sick a day in my life," he said.

Last September, an elderly patient of Dr. Joan Vangel, a staff physician at Henry Ford West Bloomfield Clinic, was too absorbed watching the events of World Trade Center tragedy unfold on her television to pay attention to her persistent cough and runny nose. However, two weeks later the Farmington Hills senior, desperate for relief, drove herself to Vangel's office without an appointment.

She, too, was diagnosed with pneumonia. Unfortunately, pneumonia is an insidious disease. Its beginning is often benign, nothing more than a cold. Even as its symptoms progress — in spite of a regimen of aspirin and over-the-counter cough products — they are frequently ignored.

Pay attention to symptoms, warns Vangel. A physician needs to make a diagnosis through careful listening of the chest, an overall medical evaluation, and a chest X-ray.

"I always tell my patients they never waste my time by coming in and getting checked," she said.

Causes and symptoms

Pneumonia is a serious infection or inflammation of the lungs, in which the air sacs fill with pus or other fluids. Because oxygen has trouble reaching the blood, body cells are deprived of necessary fuel. Combine oxygen-starved cells with a spreading infection throughout the body and the outcome can be lethal.

Until 1936, pneumonia was the number one cause of death in the United States. Since then, the use of antibiotics have brought it under control. In 1997, pneumonia and influenza combined ranked as the sixth leading cause of death, according to the American Lung Association. It ranks even higher in other categories.

"It is the leading cause of death from infectious disease," said Dr. Gregory Neagos, director of Respiratory Care and Medical Intensive Care, St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor.

Although children and seniors may be more susceptible to pneumonia, it is really an equal opportunity disease.

For the most part, it is matter of being in the wrong place at the wrong time.

"The truth is that pneumonia can occur with anybody. It just happens. It's a matter of bad luck," said Vangel.

There are over 30 different causes of pneumonia, including the five main causes: Bacteria; viruses; mycoplasmas; other infectious agents, such as fungi, including pneumocystis; and various chemicals. Typical pneumonia symptoms include a severe cough, fever, chest pain and shortness of breath.

"People think they have a bad cold, but the symptoms don't clear. The chest becomes more congested, and the patient becomes weaker. They generally feel debilitated," said Vangel.

Symptoms often present differently in the elderly. "It's not so much a cough or a fever, but confusion or failure to thrive. They may become incontinent or fall. Then I'm much more concerned that pneumonia is going on," said Dr. Michael Maddens, director of the Division of Geriatrics, Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak.

Treatment

According to the ALA, over half the pneumonia diagnosed is viral. A culture of the phlegm or blood determines if the origin is viral or bacterial, which usually produces a more serious form of the disease.

Pneumococcal pneumonia, caused by a bacteria called Streptococcus pneumoniae, or "pneumococcus," is the most common form of bacterial pneumonia. It can infect the upper respiratory tracts of adults and children and can spread to the blood, lungs, middle ear or nervous system. The Centers for Disease Control estimates S. pneumoniae causes 40,000 deaths and 500,000 cases of pneumonia annually in the United States.

Pneumococcus lives in the noses and throats of up to 70 percent of healthy people at any given time. It is spread from person to person by coughing, sneezing or close contact. Why it suddenly invades the lungs and bloodstream to cause the disease remains a mystery. Because it is difficult to determine if pneumonia is viral or bacterial in origin during an initial examination, doctors usually prescribe antibiotics. However, some bacterial pneumonia has come resistant to antibiotics.

"Bacteria seem to be smarter than we are," said Maddens. "We have a resistant strain that has evolved over the last 10 or 15 years. Now, 30 to 40 percent of pneumonia is not sensitive to penicillin."

Additional treatment measures include supportive care, breathing treatments, cough medicines and lots of rest. Although the fever may subside in a week or two, a full recovery often takes two to three months, said Maddens. Fortunately, most pneumonia patients do not require hospitalization.

While relapse is not common, it can be more serious than the first attack, warns the ALA. Doctors emphasize the importance of completing the course of antibiotics. Resuming normal daily activities is subjective.

"I tell them to let their body be their guide," said Neagos. "But if they have a fever that's an indication there's still an infection and they should continue to rest."

Vaccination

Because pneumonia is a common complication of influenza, the ALA recommends getting a flu shot every fall. Vaccine also is available to help fight pneumococcal pneumonia, one type of bacterial pneumonia. Your doctor will help you determine if you're a candidate for the pneumonia vaccine.

The greatest risk of pneumococcal pneumonia exists among people who:

- Have chronic illnesses such as lung disease, heart disease, kidney disorders, sickle cell anemia or diabetes.
- Are recovering from severe illness.
- Are in a nursing home or other chronic care facility.
- Are age 65 or older.

While the pneumonia vaccination offers protection against almost 90 percent of the pneumococcal bacteria that cause pneumonia, it is not a guarantee against the disease. Also, it does not protect against viral pneumonia. For most people, one vaccination lasts a lifetime; however, those with certain blood cancers or without a spleen may be eligible for re-vaccination.

Unfortunately, people are not taking advantage of the influenza and pneumonia vaccination, said Maddens. "Both are underutilized."

Keep warm to save your heart

People who are outdoors in cold weather should avoid sudden exertion, like lifting a heavy shovel full of snow. Even walking through heavy, wet snow or snow drifts can strain a person's heart. Winter sports enthusiasts who don't take certain precautions can suffer accidental hypothermia.

Hypothermia means the body temperature has fallen below normal. It occurs when your body can't produce enough energy to keep the internal body temperature warm enough. It can kill you. Heart failure causes most deaths in hypothermia.

Symptoms include lack of coordination, mental confusion, slowed reactions, shivering and sleepiness. Children, the elderly and those with heart disease are at special risk. As people age, their ability to maintain a normal internal body temperature often decreases.

Because elderly people seem to be relatively insensitive to moderately cold conditions, they can suffer hypothermia without knowing they're in danger.

People with coronary heart disease often suffer chest pain or discomfort called angina pectoris

Besides cold temperatures, high winds, snow and rain also can steal body heat. Wind is especially dangerous, because it removes the layer of heated air from around your body. At 30°F in a 20-mile-per-hour wind, the cooling effect is equal to calm air at four degrees. Similarly, dampness causes the body to lose heat faster than it would at the same temperature in drier conditions.

To keep warm, wear layers of clothing. This traps air between layers, forming a protective insulation. Also, wear a hat or head scarf. Much of your body's heat can be lost through your head. And ears are especially prone to frostbite. Keep your hands and feet warm, too, as they tend to lose heat rapidly.

Don't drink alcoholic beverages before going outdoors or when outside. Alcohol gives an initial feeling of warmth, but this is caused by expanding blood vessels in the skin. Heat is then drawn away from the body's vital organs.

Independent-living seniors helped by Beaumont program

If you are an older adult who needs assistance around the house but can't hire full-time help, you can find a helping hand through Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak.

"Helping Hands," a non-profit program managed by Beaumont's Department of Older Adult Services, provides companionship and personal assistance to independent-living and homebound senior citizens in the community.

The program serves communities within a 15-mile radius of the hospital.

Services provided by Helping Hands include assistance with bathing, shopping, meal preparation, light housekeeping and transportation.

Please see SENIORS, C7

Program offers non-surgical solution to incontinence Seniors from page C6

Women of all ages are subject to urinary incontinence, the uncontrolled loss of urine that may be caused by weakened muscles in the pelvic floor.

Pregnancy, childbirth, chronic constipation and chronic coughing are among the factors that can weaken this muscle group. However, urinary incontinence in women is most commonly associated with aging. As the American population grows older, more and more women suffer from the disorder.

While incontinence is common, it is not normal and can be treated. Pelvic floor muscles can frequently be treated successfully with physical therapy. Strengthening these muscles can prevent, decrease or even stop the leakage of urine altogether.

Botsford General Hospital has developed a Pelvic Floor Restoration Program focused on physical therapy as an effective alternative to medication or invasive surgery. Treatment is offered by a highly trained professional staff of physical therapists and a certified athletic trainer.

Treatment techniques include:

- Instruction in strengthening exercises or "Kegels" for the weakened pelvic floor muscles.

- Gentle electrical stimulation to help tighten the muscles and help the bladder to be less irritable.

■ Biofeedback training to help the patient learn to correctly tighten and relax the pelvic floor muscles.

Patients must be referred by a physician to the Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation Department at Botsford General Hospital in order to participate in the Pelvic Floor Restoration Program. A typical treatment program involves two to three treatments per week for four weeks.

For more information, call Botsford's Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation Department at (248) 471-8648.

While Helping Hands workers can provide many types of basic assistance, they do not provide medical care or replace maid service.

"The goal of this program is to help seniors continue to live independently in their own homes as long as possible. It is ideal for older adults who need affordable support," said Christine Nielsen, Beaumont's Older Adult Services director.

Helping Hands services are provided 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Minimum service provided is four hours per week for at least four weeks duration. Clients are billed on an hourly basis.

Beaumont is looking for volunteers for Helping Hands. No prior experience is necessary, but applicants must be 18 year old or older. Access to reliable transportation is needed. Daytime work hours are available seven days a week. The hourly wage for each worker is $9.25, plus mileage paid for transportation while on duty.

For more information about Helping Hands or to order the service, call (248) 551-0776 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Nonprofit lends home health lifts to needy

Project Freedom, a nonprofit organization that provides home health lifts to disabled persons who could not otherwise afford one, has opened a Web site at www.projectfreedommi.org. Project Freedom was created by the Hospitalers Committee of Detroit Commandery No. 1, Knights Templar, a Masonic organization.

The lifts assist patients with transfers between their bed and wheelchair, commode, bath or any other location in the room where lifting is necessary. The lifts are available on loan to individuals within 75 miles of Detroit and are installed at no cost to the recipient.

Visitors to the Web site can start the referral process online as well as find information about how the lifts operate, eligibility requirements, the referral process, links to other healthcare and Masonic organizations and recent media coverage of Project Freedom. Persons without internet access can reach Project Freedom by calling (313) 961-6644 during business hours Monday-Friday.

The Hospitalers Committee is based in the Detroit Masonic Temple. The group funds a private 501 (c) (3) foundation that makes contributions to qualified organizations in support of charitable, educational and religious activities throughout southeast Michigan.

Project Freedom joins the many philanthropies of the Masonic fraternity across the United States. Masons serve their communities by contributing more than $1.6 million per day to organizations such as public hospitals, Masonic homes and hospitals, medical research, community support, scholarships, museums, and public buildings.

There are at least 9,000 children in Wayne County right now, who are a part of the foster care system. New children come into care every day.

"Our children need you to become a foster or an adoptive parent."

shields with a protective polycarbonate or wire mask protect against bone fractures around the eyes and should be considered mandatory for these activities.

Paint ball injuries also have increased dramatically over the last several years due to the sport's popularity. This sport can and does cause severe blinding injuries. I cannot emphasize enough the importance of wearing a mask. Most organized sites require eye protection; however, sometimes participants break the rule and remove their masks. Injuries also can occur in pick-up games by individuals who own the paint ball guns and do not follow the eye protection rules.

The best prevention of these sports-related eye injuries is to make wearing eye protection a habit, just like putting on a helmet before riding a bike.

More information about sports eye injuries can be obtained at American Academy of Ophthalmology's Web site: www.eyenet.org.

DO INJECTIONS WEAKEN JOINTS?

In the care of swollen knees and shoulders, the removal of excess fluid, called aspiration, and the injection of steroid preparation is a valuable procedure. My experience is that many individuals in need of such therapy shy away from it because of concern that the steroid injection will damage the joint.

This fear is unfounded. The needle used for the procedure is too small to cause injury to cartilage and scraping the joint does not occur, as the angle of entrance to the joint is oblique. Also, the removal of joint fluid will not cause a "dry socket". All the joint needs for proper lubrication is a monolayer of fluid, and this residual remains after aspiration.

Nor does the steroid itself cause damage. The purpose of the medication is to stop inflammation. Injected steroids accomplish this goal by preventing the lining cells of the joint from secreting inflammatory chemicals. The type of steroid use in a joint differs from the steroids you take by mouth. Injected steroids do not cause hypertension, glaucoma, or high cholesterol.

Nor can the medication act to "soften the joint". Steroids taken by mouth can soften bone, but steroids injected into the knee or shoulder do not have the chemical properties to leach calcium from either bone or cartilage.

The potential problem with a joint injection is introducing infection. Preventing this mishap is a matter of proper and sterile technique by the doctor and requires the same careful preparation that a physician uses for catheterization or undertaking an operation.

Steroid injections have a place in treating painful joints; you should not reject this therapy for reasons that do not hold up to medical scrutiny.
